

The Amazing Son In Law (Charlie Wade)

Chapter 3294-3295

At this moment, Stefanie Sun's song "Tomorrow I Will Marry You" has come to an end on stage.

When Stefanie Sun finished singing the last note, all the accompaniment instruments in the audience stopped abruptly at the same time as her voice.

Everyone did not expect that this song would end suddenly, as if it had been cut off with a single knife, it felt abrupt, but there was an unexpected, and then developed a feeling of unfulfilled feelings.

What's even better is that when the singing and the accompaniment of the musical instruments all came to an abrupt end, on the stage, Stefanie Sun and her team of dancers and accompaniment team stopped at this moment, as if they had been imprisoned. The same as the fixation technique, motionless.

The audience in the audience cheered excitedly, and many people shouted uniformly, asking Prince Charming to take the initiative to propose marriage on the stage.

But no one thought that after Stefanie Sun stood still for a while, she said, "Thank you all. I will sing here today. Thank you again for your continued support and love. Thank you! Goodbye!"

After that, Stefanie Sun, who was wearing a white wedding dress and standing on the stage, suddenly began to sink, and gradually disappeared into the center of the stage following the elevator.

No one thought that Stefanie Sun would end this concert like this.

Many people are still waiting for her to confess her confession to her prince charming in public, or waiting for her prince charming to come up on stage to propose to her.

But who could have imagined that she was so dashing and exited without looking back.

It's like sending your lover to a distant place, hugs, kisses, and mutual complaints are not enough. I always feel that the other party should turn around in tears and say goodbye before getting in the car.

However, after hugging, kissing, and exchanging heartfelt feelings, the other party happily got into the car, and then the car door slammed shut, and simply took your lover to the distance without any muddle.

Just when the audience hadn't recovered from the two or three hours of hearty performance, a line of white handwritten fonts appeared on the big screen again.

Immediately afterwards, Stefanie Sun's voice read the words she had written by herself:

"I once swore that after I found him, I would quit the entertainment circle permanently, and then stay with him intently, like his mother and my mother, to be a competent wife and mother..."

"So, here, I am very sorry to officially announce to all fans who like me that I will permanently quit the entertainment circle after this tour is over. Thank you for your continued love for me."

"I hope you can understand me and forgive me for this selfish decision. I also hope that you can all reap your own happiness in the future."

"After this concert, the rest of my concert tour will be officially renamed 'Stefanie Sun Farewell Concert'. Next, I will go to a dozen other cities across the country and several other countries around the world.

My farewell concert is to bid farewell to fans across the country and even the world, hoping to draw a successful end to my singing career and give all fans a perfect memory."

"At the same time, I will also donate all the box office income of this farewell concert to the China Charity Foundation.

This money will be used exclusively to rescue orphans across the country, so that they can have a better growth environment and be able to grow up.

To enjoy better living conditions and educational resources, my agency will also publish the financial income data of each concert on the entire network, and ask the notary office to be fair."