

The Amazing Son In Law (Charlie Wade)

Chapter 3300-3301

Speaking of this, Zara banks changed his conversation and said seriously: "Only Stefanie Sun has never had a dark history. So far, she has never made any hype in the entertainment industry, nor has she ever done any deeds. All the personal resumes published are 100% true, and many more powerful places have not been exposed at all, and they have even deliberately prevented the media from reporting. They are really low-key and truly cultivated."

Claire asked curiously: "Miss banks seems to be familiar with the entertainment industry?"

"I can't talk about familiarity." Zara banks smiled faintly, and said casually: "It's just that there is no secret in this circle that can be hidden from me."

As she said, she smiled and asked Claire: "Does Mr. Clare know what Stefanie Sun's family does?"

Claire thought for a while and said, "It seems that someone has said that she is in business at home, but it seems that there are few reports on what she does. It seems to be more powerful."

Zara banks smiled and said, "It's not just amazing. The annual profit of her family's industry is much higher than the profit generated by the entire entertainment industry in a year. Therefore, if people like her go to the entertainment industry, it is the phoenix that fell from the sky. , Fell into the flock of chickens, a complete dimensionality reduction blow."

Claire was stunned, and blurted out: "No wonder Stefanie Sun never engages in publicity and hype. She never touches even CP, something that the entire entertainment circle does. In the past, several male stars insisted on following. She speculates on CP, but when the fake news is released, it usually takes no more than an hour. Stefanie Sun's agency will immediately issue a solemn statement to refute the rumors and never give others a chance to speculate...

Zara banks nodded and said with a smile: "But it seems that there are few reports about what it is, and it should be more powerful."

Zara banks nodded and smiled: "So President Claire shouldn't feel sorry for her quitting the entertainment circle. Let me make an analogy. People are actually like a fairy going down the earth. They just come to play and experience life. If I have enough experience, I will naturally return to the Heavenly Court to stay."

Claire nodded thoughtfully and said, "Miss banks's words are very reasonable. According to you, she is indeed unlikely to stay in the entertainment industry forever."

Zara banks glanced at Charlie, who was silent, and said with a smile: "Didn't it also be mentioned in the opening video of the concert just now? Stefanie Sun has been looking for her Prince Charming all the time. I feel that she will join the entertainment circle. It is very likely. It is to achieve the purpose of finding someone."

"Yes." Claire agreed: "I think so too."

Zara banks said again: "You see that she has been pampered since she was a child, presumably her prince charming is not worse than her, or even better than her."

With that said, Zara banks tapped her lower lip lightly with her slender finger, and said to herself: "Oh, so, the analogy I just mentioned is actually not very appropriate... It's good to be a fairy who went down to the world, but they didn't come down to play or experience it. They actually came down to find her, who was also the same descent, Prince Charming, and when they found her, the two went back together."
