

The Amazing Son In Law ( Charlie Wade )

Chapter 3346-3347

At this moment, Hunter (Hamid), wearing a camouflage uniform, was standing in the highland fortifications on the southernmost side of the base, using a tripod-style high-powered telescope to look south.

Thirty kilometers is actually very far away, so ordinary telescopes can't see it at all.

This kind of high-power telescope can only see roughly, and the distance is too far, the lens distortion is serious, and it is very uncomfortable to see things.

but. From the field of vision of the telescope, he saw the army advancing towards him in the distance.

He is a little puzzled. Hasn't the government forces been fighting those relatively large-scale resistance forces recently? Why did you free your hands to your side so quickly?

then. He immediately instructed his adjutant: "Go, hurry up to contact the secret sentry in front, and immediately prepare to deploy the drone. Within five minutes, tell me their number and equipment status!"

"Good commander!"

Hunter (Hamid)'s lieutenant immediately turned and left, ran inside and used the radio to contact the secret whistle in front.

quickly. The secret whistle immediately released several civilian aerial drones purchased from China.

This kind of ordinary drone, which only sells for a few thousand yuan in China, is nothing more than a toy for photography enthusiasts and aerial photography enthusiasts in China, but in the Middle East, the strategic role of this thing is very powerful.

The first is that it flies high. After a little modification, it can fly to an altitude of one or two kilometers.

The image transmission can reach nearly ten kilometers in open areas, and the flying speed can reach sixty to seventy kilometers per hour.

The key is that the original fuselage only needs It was slap big, it went up into the sky and flew to hundreds of kilometers, it was invisible to the naked eye, and its flying noise could not be heard. It was really suitable for battlefield reconnaissance.

If you are facing a modern army with advanced equipment, this thing is definitely useless. It was discovered and beaten down before it went up.

But if you are facing an ordinary motorized unit, then the opponent is really hard to defend.

Therefore, this kind of drone is widely used in the military field in the Middle East.

As soon as several drones were taken to the sky, the size of the enemy force was quickly investigated.

The adjutant reported back to Hunter (Hamid): "Commander. The size of the opposing army is about 8,000, with ten armored vehicles, thirty-six towed howitzers, and more than sixty transport trucks. The investigators in front said, it looks like it should be a Russian-made 152mm towed howitzer."

"Damn!" Hunter (Hamid) cursed: "The fuck is the firepower of two artillery battalions! What do they want? Do you want to blow us up?!"

While talking, the deputy commander hurried in and said out of breath: "Commander, I just got news that the government army is from an overseas mercenary group called Wanlongdian.

Ten thousand mercenaries are hired. It is said that this Ten thousand mercenaries are extremely powerful and have already conquered many rebels in succession! Including Hafez, who had a good relationship with us before, was beaten up the night two days ago!"

Hunter (Hamid) was stunned suddenly: "What?! Hafez was slapped? Why have I never heard of this?!"

The deputy commander said embarrassingly: "Everyone is scattered in the ravine, the information is not smooth, and we are desperately engaged in infrastructure recently, how can we have time to manage outside affairs..."

Hunter (Hamid) hurriedly asked again: "What is the origin of that Wanlong Palace?"

The deputy commander explained: "The Wanlong Temple is a non-governmental mercenary organization that has emerged in recent years. They have multiple mercenary training bases around the world,
