

The Amazing Son In Law ( Charlie Wade )

Chapter 3408–3409 )

This design is like the interior of a ship with multiple waterproof doors.

The function of the waterproof door is to close all the waterproof doors in this area immediately if a location breaks and pours seawater into it, preventing seawater from pour into other cabins, so as to ensure the safety of the ship to the utmost extent.

It is a pity that this wave of government forces' offensive came too fast, and Hunter (Hamid) had no time to build such a large project, so he could only build some independent hidden firepower points first.

In order to snipe the Army troops, Hunter (Hamid)'s 300 soldiers entered more than 30 firepower points, and immediately closed the entrance of each firepower point from the inside.

In this way, each firepower point became an independent bunker, and the soldiers had no way out of it.

Although this method has many drawbacks, it does have an advantage, that is, the soldiers inside are almost broken and must coexist and die with the bunker, so their fighting will is very high.

According to the size of the area and the angle of design, each firepower point can be configured with five to ten people.

The firepower configuration inside is light and heavy machine guns and RPG rocket launchers.

In addition, there are very sufficient ammunition reserves, as well as enough food and drinking water to be used for more than one month.

From this point alone, it is enough to see how strong Hunter (Hamid)'s current strategic reserve awareness is.

He even plans to use a few years to open a strategic base with hundreds of thousands of cubic meters of space inside the surrounding mountains.

At that time, huge quantities of weapons and ammunition, food and medicine, and fuel supplies can all be stored.

More ruthlessly, he wanted to dig a few equipment depots at the foot of the mountain.

At that time, the armored vehicles and armed helicopters will all be stored in it, even if the government forces continue to bomb him for a month, it will not cause him substantial damage.

At this point, the frontal battlefield feint has been going on for five minutes.

Originally, there were still five minutes left before the attack time set by the Gorka.

However, Gorka saw that the friendly army suffered heavy casualties, for fear that these guys would have to be beaten back if they couldn't last ten minutes.

Once the opponent's feint attack is repelled, then he will no longer be able to copy from the side and hit the opponent by surprise.

So, after roughly confirming the location of Hunter (Hamid)'s firepower, Gorka said to a thousand elite: "Brothers, we are not waiting! Everyone joins me in avenging the dead brother! We want to take Hunter (Hamid)'s Human head, come to pay homage to the brothers who just sacrificed!"

When the crowd heard this, they suddenly shouted the slogan vowing to take down the head of Hunter (Hamid)!

Seeing everyone's enthusiasm, Gorka nodded in satisfaction, and continued to speak: "Once we confront the enemy head-on, no one can hesitate or hesitate! As long as it is an enemy, regardless of men, women, young or old, we must kill on the spot and strive for a shot. Head! Do you understand everything?!"

A group of people firmly nodded their heads, and the color of killing was beyond words.

"Okay!" Gorka only felt a burst of enthusiasm, and he immediately shouted: "Fight for me!"

Just when the thousand soldiers in the Wanlong Palace rushed to the Gorka with passionate sentiment, at least half of Hunter (Hamid)'s three hundred soldiers were able to directly observe the Gorka's team through the hidden gap in the shooting port.

And they didn't fight back, but held their breath one by one, for fear that any movement would be discovered by the other party.

The reason why they have not returned the attack is because the soldiers of the Gorka and the Wanlongdian have not entered the middle of their firepower coverage net.

Since it was an ambush, it was natural to wait until the enemy was in the middle of the ambush circle before firing.

Only in this way can we cut off all the enemy's retreat while attacking the enemy in all directions, leaving them nowhere to hide.

Even, there is nowhere to go back!
