

The Amazing Son In Law (Charlie Wade)

Chapter 3410–3411)

When Gorka led a thousand soldiers from the Wanlong Palace to the western wing hillside, he had completely fallen into Hunter (Hamid)'s encirclement in the western wing.

Just when Gorka was worried about delaying the warplanes and leading the crowd to charge at high speed, he didn't notice that there were already multiple stone gaps around him, which suddenly turned into flat and dark holes.

Immediately afterwards, the tongue of the machine gun burst out instantly!

For a time, the gunshots were loud!

Gorka only heard gunshots all around his ears. Before he could react, he heard the miserable howls around him and the sound of soldiers hitting the ground!

One thousand people were completely aimed at the muzzles of more than two hundred light and heavy machine guns and dozens of RPG rockets.

Then, there was an unscrupulous blow at the time of saturation.

The bullets vented wildly and brought down the soldiers next to the Gorka in rows. It was no different from a massacre.

Gunshots and explosions came and went one after another. In just one or two minutes, Gorka's team lost more than half!

He was shocked and shouted: "Damn! We are in ambush! Hurry up and organize a breakout!"

However, he didn't know that now they had no possibility of breaking through.

These thousand people simply fell into the death trap surrounded by more than 30 dark fortresses.

No matter which direction they break through, they are actually hitting the muzzle.

They also tried to fight back, but surrounded by such firepower, they couldn't even find a hidden place, and it was even more difficult to fight back.

After all, their opponents are all hidden in steel and concrete fortifications, and their weapons are difficult to bring effective damage to their opponents.

On Hunter (Hamid)'s side, only a handful of people were hit by bullets shot into the fortification by the opponent.

As the number of soldiers in the Wanlong Temple became less and less, some soldiers knew that there was no hope of escape, and blurted out: "Hurry up, protect the warriors!"

Immediately afterwards, many people from all directions shouted the words "Protect Warlord", and at the same time they surrounded Gorka.

Soon, Gorka was surrounded by dozens of people.

Seeing the brothers continue to fall, Gorka was very sad and indignant. He shouted with red eyes, "Brothers, today I am ambushed. It is all my improper command of Gorka. I hope you can forgive me!"

Several soldiers cried and said, "Combat, we are all soldiers you brought out. From the day we followed you, we have never regretted it!"

Gorka choked up and said: "It is the three lives of my Gorka that are fortunate to be able to fight with you side by side!"

After finishing speaking, he gritted his teeth and said: "There is no hope of life right now, why bother you guys are protecting me like this, so you all get out of the way and let me fight these bastards! So I won't be so embarrassed to die!"

Dozens of Ten Thousand Dragons Temple soldiers had tears in their eyes, and still surrounded him tightly, unwilling to go away. As more and more peripheral comrades were killed, there were only 40 or 50 of them left in the team of 1,000. People are still persevering.

At this time, the firepower of more than 30 firepower points had all been aimed at them and fired.

Gorka saw the soldiers next to him fall down more than 20 people, pushed a few soldiers away in front of him, raised his assault rifle towards a spot of firepower not far away, and fired back violently while shouting: "Bad son! I have to pull you together when I die!"

After that, he took a step and rushed out.

As soon as the other soldiers who were still alive heard this, their blood came to their heads, and a group of people shouted uniformly: "Fight with them!"

Then, desperately followed Gorka rushed out.

However, this kind of suicide charge, in addition to making them feel less aggrieved, has almost no effect on the situation of the battle.

As soon as Gorka rushed out, he fell to the ground with more than ten bullets in his body and died instantly.

The other mercenaries who followed him also failed to escape this fate. They were quickly shot to death like cutting wheat. In less than 30 seconds, all of them were killed!