

The Amazing Son In Law ( Charlie Wade )

Chapter 3471 )

After all, the Wanlong Palace had long let go of the cruel words after losing face, and even a fly in Hunter (Hamid)'s base could not get out alive, so he gave Zayne the courage, and he didn't dare to run.

Zayne was sent away, and Charlie and Hunter (Hamid) came to Hunter (Hamid)'s office.

It's an office, but it's actually a tunnel with a larger area.

Going in from the tunnel, there are about a dozen square meters of internal space, which is filled with electric lights, and there is a ventilation pipe that directly leads from the tunnel entrance to the interior, constantly sending air to the interior.

After entering, Hunter (Hamid) introduced to Charlie: "We are now fully excavating a large number of hidden fortifications and tunnels. It won't be long before these tunnels can be connected together. Even if they cannot be fully connected, they will at least be ventilated. , Water supply and power supply are opened, and then the internal environment is continuously improved to make the tunnel more livable!"

Charlie nodded lightly, and said, "I think the buildings in your valley are basically flattened. Do you have any plans for such a big place?"

"What's the plan?" Hunter (Hamid) said: "Once the opponent starts the attack, the artillery will first hit the valley. The valley mouth has a small bottom. It was originally the best target for artillery, so there is no practical use."

Charlie said: "I suggest that you simply demolish all the houses, remove the construction waste, and then dig some five or six meters deep cuboid deep pits on the spot to store water. Take advantage of the rainy season now, use these The reservoir stores a large amount of fresh water, and then finds ways to put a cover on it to reduce evaporation, so that even if it is besieged for a long time in the dry season, there is no need to worry about running out of water.

The Middle East is relatively arid and hot, and the rainy season in Syria is not long. Once the rainy season has passed, fresh water resources can not be said to be very scarce, but they are relatively precious.

Charlie is not worried about Hunter (Hamid) being taken away by his opponent, but he is somewhat worried that his opponent will encircle him in an all-round way, forming a situation where he will be surrounded for a long time without fighting.

In fact, for Charlie, the easiest way he could think of to solve Hunter (Hamid) was to deploy troops to completely cut off Hunter (Hamid)'s connection with the outside world from the sea and land.

In particular, it is necessary to cut off the access of all materials, so that Hunter (Hamid) cannot obtain any materials from the outside world.

In this way, Hunter (Hamid) could only consume his own reserves until he was consumed.

Food and ammunition are relatively easy to store. In a place like the Middle East, it is not a big problem to find a dry and dark environment and store it stably for two or three years.

But only a large amount of fresh water resources are not easy to preserve.

It is not a big problem to use bottled water to store drinking water, but it is difficult to guarantee domestic water.

Groundwater resources are originally not abundant. If there is another dry season and there may be no rain for several months, the groundwater will also be greatly affected.

In that case, if the base wants to ensure normal water use, it must be transported from outside.

But once the enemy cuts off traffic, fresh water resources cannot be effectively replenished. Once thousands of people are short of water, morale will steadily decline until they collapse.

Therefore, Charlie suggested that Hunter (Hamid) first think of a way to do some water storage projects.

Seeing that Hunter (Hamid) hadn't figured it out yet, Charlie said: "Anyway, your base has been bombed out of shape. The enemy's artillery fire is so fierce that your base can't be reactivated. It's better to dig a hole to store water. , Make more preparations for the future."

"Furthermore, the deep-dug reservoir is not afraid of shelling, even if the water turns into mud, it can be kept for daily use as long as it passes through sedimentation, primary filtration, and simple sterilization."

Hearing this, Hunter (Hamid) said in agreement: "My brother, you have a great idea! I will arrange for one or two hundred people to start tomorrow!"

Charlie nodded, and then, when he remembered something, he asked Hunter (Hamid): "By the way, I heard that the reason why Wanlongdian cooperated with the government army is that after you have been eliminated, you can be approved in Syria. Build a mercenary base, don't know if it's true or not?"

Hunter (Hamid) asked in surprise, "Brother, I just heard about this news last night. Where did you know it?"

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 3471