

The Amazing Son In Law (Charlie Wade)

Chapter 3476)

The state of Chen in the Wanlong Palace these few days is indeed as Charlie guessed, extremely suffering.

He thought that if the army was suppressing the territory and surrounding and not fighting, it would definitely bring huge psychological pressure to Hunter (Hamid) and his men. It would not take long for Hunter (Hamid) to become distracted and even defected.

But what he didn't expect was that after several days, Hunter (Hamid) hadn't even run out of a dog.

In fighting this kind of siege, the most feared is that the enemy is united.

Once the other party is not afraid, it will really be consumed indefinitely, until Hunter (Hamid) runs out of ammunition and food, or he can't support it.

In the past few days, his fiscal deficit is alarmingly high.

His adjutant found him and reported to him anxiously: "Commander, our current salary and various expenses are at least 30 to 40 million U.S. dollars for these 5,000 people. If this continues, our money will not be able to support it. too long."

The four kings of the Wanlong Palace all adopt an independent accounting mechanism, which is equivalent to the fact that each of these four people has opened a branch company. The financial aspect must be self-sufficient and the profits must be guaranteed. If there is a deficit, you can only do it yourself. Internal solution.

When Chen heard this data, the expression on his whole person was more uncomfortable than that of his dead father.

He gritted his teeth and said: "It's definitely not possible to continue this way. Send my order. Starting today, as long as there is no war, everyone's salary will be halved!"

When the adjutant heard this, he said nervously: "Commander, everyone is complaining recently. If you deduct half of their salary, I'm afraid they will protest collectively!"

Chen asked annoyedly: "This group of people stays in the barracks all day long and has nothing to do. They don't have to fight, take risks, and get paid. Why do they complain?"

The adjutant said embarrassingly: "Everyone has had a lot of negative emotions in the past two days. On the one hand, everyone is extremely dissatisfied with the current food. On the other hand, it is the accommodation conditions. Yesterday they sent a few representatives to complain to me. Chase, I want me to find you to solve it."

Chen said with a black face: "You explain to me clearly what they are dissatisfied with."

The adjutant said hurriedly: "Then let me talk about it one by one. First of all, it's the food issue. Now, except for middle-level and high-level officers, everyone else has the same food standards as the local government soldiers, even the suppliers. The local food is the same. Not suitable for the habits of our soldiers..."

"Our soldiers attach great importance to physical fitness, so their usual eating habits are more Western-American. They eat a lot of beef, vegetables, milk and even peanut butter and ice cream every day."

After speaking, the adjutant said: "As for the accommodation issue, the main reason is that everyone is really not satisfied with the current marching tents."

"These tents were pieced together by government forces everywhere. Most of them have been placed in warehouses for a long time. Leaking wind and rain is commonplace. It happens to be the rainy season. So the tents are very humid. It feels like living in them. Too bad;"

"Furthermore, the power supply problem cannot be guaranteed at all. The only few generator sets can not meet the common use of more than 30,000 soldiers on both sides, so now we can only use the power supply in turn. On average, each soldier can The power-on time should not exceed four hours."

"So, everyone is now asking for a unified replacement of modular prefabricated houses, and then ensuring 24-hour power supply."

Chen scolded angrily: "These bastards, are they here for war or on vacation?"
