

The Amazing Son In Law (Charlie Wade)

Chapter 3549)

Then, Helena's father discovered Helena's congenital illness, but in order to allow Helena to inherit the ruling one day in the future, he did not tell the royal family about it, but privately found the best for Helena. Doctor, use the best method to treat Helena, and strive to make Helena live longer.

Helena's father believed that although his chances of inheriting the Datong were slim, as long as Helena's birth defects were concealed, and Helena could do everything possible to make Helena live to 25 years old, Helena would have the chance to inherit the Datong before she died. System.

Because he and Helena's grandma are only thirty years old, but Helena and her grandma are sixty years old.

Under normal circumstances, the current queen will almost live to be more than 80 years old.

If Helena could live to be twenty-five years old, then her grandmother would also be eighty-five years old.

As long as Helena can sustain her grandma's death, then she can successfully ascend the throne.

As a member of the royal family, the only pinnacle of life is to inherit the Datong.

Therefore, in her father's opinion, as long as Helena can successfully ascend the throne, even if she only becomes the queen of one year or even one month, her life can be regarded as complete.

In the past ten years, Helena's physical condition has been hidden very well, but when Helena's father died, Helena suffered a heart attack at the funeral due to excessive sadness and was sent to the hospital for emergency treatment.

Helena's grandmother, who is also the current Queen of the Nordic countries, realized that she had been deceived, so she resolutely deprived Helena of her inheritance rights, and instead named Uncle Helena's daughter, Helena's cousin, as the number one. Heir in line.

And Helena, who lost her father's blessing and also lost her inheritance qualifications, was immediately marginalized in the royal family.

Even with a serious illness, Helena still failed to escape the fate of exchanging benefits for the royal family, and was forced to marry the Wade Family.

Even if the royal doctors determined that she had three to five years of life at most, the royal family was still unwilling to give her freedom.

In the eyes of the royal family, three to five years are enough. They plan to make good use of the three to five years and try to get some resources and financial support from the Wade Family. They will definitely benefit a lot.

The reason Helena agreed to all this was also because the royal family used her mother's later years as a threat.

If she does not agree, then after her death, her mother will be expelled from the royal family and lose all royal treatment, which means that her mother will not even have a pension in the future.

Helena was reluctant to let her mother die alone and no one to rely on, so she was forced to accept her helplessly.

Recently, she has been walking on thin ice.

While worrying about being discovered by Wade's family, he was also worried that after he married Jon Wade, who had no emotional foundation, he might only accelerate his death.

In that case, he would not even have a chance to spend time with his mother before he died.

Thinking of this, Helena couldn't help but shed two lines of tears.

The feeling of being manipulated by fate, unable to resist, and involuntarily in a foreign country alone is too painful.

At the same time, she couldn't help thinking of Charlie.

So, she couldn't help but slander in her heart: "Does that Charlie really see that I am sick?"

"I heard people say that Chinese medicine has the saying of 'look, smell, ask, and cut'. It is said that you can see a person's physical condition by just looking at it. Could it be that he is a great Chinese medicine practitioner?"

Thinking of this, Helena couldn't help sighing inwardly, thinking: "What is the use of Chinese medicine? Even if I can see my illness, it will not be possible to cure me."

"My disease was diagnosed when I was born. More than 20 years have passed. Doctors all over the world can see what disease I am suffering from, but there is no cure..."

"My heart, cardiovascular, cerebrovascular, and cardiopulmonary blood vessels have huge defects. Even a heart transplant can't be cured..."

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 3549