

The Amazing Son In Law (The Charismatic Charlie Wade Chapter 3953)

The entry threshold for Jiqingtang is RMB 10 billion, which translates to approximately US$1.6 billion.

It sounds like a lot, but in fact, there are nearly 3,000 rich people with global assets exceeding this amount based on the statistics.

In addition, I don't know how many invisible billionaires who never disclose their assets to the public.

Therefore, Charlie was not surprised at all to sign up for 500 people in two hours.

However, Elaine and Jacob at home, because of the news of this auction, rarely started to get angry with their noses and eyes.

When Elaine saw the news feed on her mobile phone, she blurted out almost without thinking: "This Jiqingtang didn't let the donkey kick in the brain! What a broken auction, the registration requires the threshold of 10 billion assets. This is not the case. Bullshit? Who would dare to be so arrogant at auction!"

In Jacob's heart, in fact, Ji Qingtang has always been a shadow.

At the beginning, he broke the vase by mistake in Jiqingtang and almost scared him out of a heart attack.

After finally throwing the pot to Charlie to want to run, people caught a few slaps, how embarrassed and embarrassed.

Therefore, after he learned of the news, he immediately said with a look of annoyance: "What the hell Jiqingtang, I think they are here to speculate! I have been in the antiques industry in Aurous Hill for so many years, what level of Jiqingtang can I do? Do you know? Let alone compare with top auctions like Christie's and Sotheby's, even domestic Poly is dozens or hundreds of times stronger than it."

After that, Jacob disdainfully continued: "People at Sotheby's and Christie's auctions have never dared to do anything about capital verification with fanfare. In addition, they can participate in the auction by paying a one million deposit. A Jiqingtang dared to set a threshold of 10 billion. It was ridiculously f*cking to open the door, and it was ridiculously home!"

Elaine nodded, then squinted and asked, "Hey, could it be because of what is special about this rejuvenation pill?"

Jacob curled his lips: "What's so special about this? Is it possible that you can rise to heaven after eating it? I think it is about the same! Even if it is an Angong Niuhuang Pill, isn't it hundreds of thousands? I think they just want to hype This Jiqingtang has been tossing for so many years and hasn't caused any movement. I guess this time I want to use three indiscriminate methods to try and pay attention."

Elaine agreed with him and said: "You are right, it is probably just like the former internet celebrity who called the sister. Tian said with a face that his IQ was unmatched in the first three hundred years and three hundred years later. Go abroad to do manicures for others?"

Jacob smiled and said, "I thought that Jasmine really had such a great skill. I didn't expect to come up with such a low-level trick, which is really shocking."

After that, he asked Charlie: "By the way, Charlie, aren't you familiar with Jasmine? Before, she partnered for auctions and sent you an invitation letter. She didn't find anything about it this time. Do you discuss it?"

Charlie said with a smile, "I don't have any business dealings with Miss Moore, and there is no need for others to discuss with me."

Jacob said with a serious face: "Aren't you the Master Wade among the wealthy people in Aurous Hill? Before they make a decision, don't they ask you to do the fortune-telling and see Feng Shui or something? I remember who bought a house before. Are you going to ask you to come over and have a look?"

Speaking of this, Jacob exclaimed and blurted out: "F*ck... Charlie... Are you a thunder?"

When Elaine heard this, she hurriedly asked, "My son-in-law, are you really thundering?! After that, will anyone spend millions to invite you to see Feng Shui?"

Seeing the nervousness of the two of them, Charlie shook his head and smiled helplessly, and said, "My main business now is to look at Feng Shui. As you know, when you look at Feng Shui, you basically look at the real thing, the ancestral grave, the house, and the office space. Jasmine just believed me again, and it is impossible to discuss with me about specific business."

Jacob smacked his lips, nodded and said, "This is also..."

As he said, he was too busy to ask: "By the way, Charlie, you go back and ask Jasmine, is this auction a hype, or is it really going to be done? If you really want to do it, see if you can ask her for it. An invitation letter or something, I'm going to see at that time, which fool will come to participate."

Charlie said casually: "It's probably just a hype gimmick, dad, don't pay attention to it, but how is your Calligraphy and Painting Association?"

"Very good!" Jacob said vigorously: "Our painting and calligraphy association has become more and more influential in the city, and we will soon cooperate with the city in a series of cultural promotion activities. Our city is friendly with Daejeon, South Korea. In the city, the city plans to hold a cultural exchange event with Daejeon recently. If this matter is set, I will be with you when the time comes.”

As soon as Elaine heard this, her eyebrows were immediately overjoyed, and she blurted out, “Jacob, are you going to Korea for exchanges?”

Jacob thought that Elaine wanted to mock her inferiority, so he subconsciously asked her: “Why? Can’t it? I, Jacob, is also the vice president of the association anyway, the second in command!”
