Jian's expression froze, and he exclaimed: "They are not tempted for five billion dollars?!"

"Yes..." Fei Kexin said helplessly, "I don't know what they think. It's just a pill, no matter how powerful it is, it is impossible to get such a terrible price of 5 billion US dollars. If I were the client, instead of taking the risk and waiting for the auction to be held, I might as well just take out the medicine and exchange it for 5 billion US dollars."

Jian said solemnly: "If this rejuvenation pill is really the great opportunity that Grandpa Orion Exeor got at the beginning, the price of 5 billion US dollars is really not high, if it really goes to auction, the price will be tens of billions. The U.S. dollar is also normal..."

Fei Kexin said in surprise: "It's not possible, grandpa! What is the concept of tens of billions of dollars... can buy a Ford-class aircraft carrier! Who would spend so much money on a pill? Not to mention absolutely nothing. Most people probably don't know what effect the ammunition has, including me."

Jian sighed and said: "Don't talk about you, even I don't know what exactly is the effect of this rejuvenation pill, but I have an intuition that if nothing unexpected happens, the final transaction price of this thing, It must be more than tens of billions of dollars."

As he said, Jian thought of something, and then said: "I understand! No wonder the client behind this rejuvenation pill is so confident! He has already counted everyone in! By then, the rejuvenation pill will surely shoot out an extreme High price!"

Fei Kexin asked hurriedly: "Grandpa, what do you mean by counting everyone in, I didn't understand."

Jian said: "Think about it, why do they have to make a rule so that successful bidders can take the rejuvenation pill on the spot?"

Fei Kexin said: "I can understand this. First, they want to use this requirement to ensure that all the big names are not allowed to send spokespersons, and they cannot be commissioned to bid by telephone. They must be present in person; secondly, they should want to make sure. This thing won't be hyped up by people with interest again; thirdly, it must be full of confidence in this medicine, and I want the other 199 bidders to witness the efficacy of this medicine with their own eyes."

"Yes!" Jian exclaimed: "Your analysis is right, but there is only one thing missing."

Fei Kexin asked puzzledly: "Grandpa, is there anything else I missed?"

Jian opened the mouth and said: "Think about it, why did the client take out two rejuvenating pills? And why are the two not sold together, or sold one by one, but split one of them into Sell in four copies?"

Fei Kexin hesitated for a moment on the phone, and then suddenly blurted out: "Grandpa, you mean, he wants to pave the way for the last rejuvenation pill that was broken into four parts?!"

"That's right!" Jian said admiringly: "Ke Xin, you can see through at a little bit, really is the most promising person in my Fei family!"

Fei Kexin did not fluctuate in his emotions, and calmly said, "Grandpa, you have passed the prize. I still strive to understand it by myself without using your points in the future."

As she said, she continued with some worry: "Grandpa, if the client really wants to use these four split rejuvenation pills to pave the way, as you said, there is no doubt that, as long as everyone sees the first successful bidder, After taking the first rejuvenation pill, the price of each subsequent one will be higher than the previous one, and every time the auction ends, it is a huge stimulus to the people behind, so step by step. When it comes to the last whole rejuvenation pill, I am afraid it will really be sold at a sky-high price!"

Jian smiled helplessly: "In my opinion, 10 billion US dollars is not enough! Even if it doubles, doubles, or triples, it may not be enough."

Fei Kexin hesitated for a while and asked him: "Grandpa, what is your psychological price?"

Jian didn't speak for a while, and after a long time he said seriously: "Grandpa doesn't have a psychological price. I am determined to get this pill, but on this basis, the less money I spend, the better."

Speaking of this, Jian couldn't help but sighed and said: "It's just that I don't know yet. Who is the same as me who is as determined to win this pill. If the opponent's strength is stronger than me, then I can only miss it..."

Fei Kexin said solemnly: "Grandpa, I understand...Let's do it, don't worry, I have submitted the registration materials to them, and I want to use our strength to be able to enter the final two hundred people's congress. Of the list."

After that, Fei Kexin said again: "From now on until the auction officially begins, I will try my best to find out the client of Rejuvenation Pill, and try to reach a deal agreement with him in private. Whether it is 10 billion US dollars or 20 billion US dollars, I will try my best to help you finalize this matter before the auction!"
