

Baby alliance: helping daddy get a rich mommy chapter 349

“Meredith needs to leave the entertainment industry!” Another person got to his feet as he repeated the first man’s words, and the crowd quickly caught up with their protests. “Leave the entertainment industry!” the crowd chanted in unison.

All the fame and popularity that Meredith had gained over the years amounted to the shame and embarrassment that she felt at that moment. The crowd’s voices, their faces, and most of all, Selena’s face—all of them seemed like devils that were trying to eat her up. She felt her vision blurring as her eyes rolled backward; she had fainted on stage.

When Meredith woke up, she found herself in a lounge area. The first person she saw when she opened her eyes was none other than Selena, the woman she despised the most! “I want to kill you, Selena Yard!” Meredith shrieked.

Immediately, Selena turned her phone camera directly toward Meredith. “Go on. Go ahead and scream. I’ll record all of it and post it out for your fans later. I’ll show them your true colors.”

Once Meredith saw Selena’s camera that was directed at her, she seemed to understand the whole situation. “It’s you. It was all you, wasn’t it? You were the one who schemed this entire thing, right?”

Selena dragged a chair over to sit on it. “That’s right. I planned it all out, but I do have to give your beloved sister some credit—she was the one who told me the truth. She told me that Pierre is Juniper’s biological father, and she told me all about the plan you guys formulated in the past.”

“She was the one who...” Meredith’s voice faded as she spread her lips into a wide grin. Then, she began to cackle like a madwoman. I really didn’t expect this. I can’t believe Megan was the one who ended up destroying me! My biological sister was the one who did this! “Megan was the one. I can’t believe it. My darling sister, you’ve really ruined me...” she cried.

“What about you? You ruined her life as well. You were the one who tripped me in the hospital. That was why I accidentally fell onto Megan, and that was why she rolled down the stairs. I assume you were also the one who put all of the blame on me once she woke up? You wanted her to hate me because you wanted to make her kill me, right?”

Selena had underestimated Meredith’s capabilities in the past. She had always assumed that Meredith was a relatively tame woman, so she hadn’t expected Meredith to be capable of such cruelty. I guess the saying is true—dogs that bite don’t bark.

“Yeah! It was all me! Why does that matter?! The Lake Family isn’t going to take her in even after she has given birth, so why can’t I just put her to some good use? She won’t be able to find any meaning in life after the Lakes abandon her anyway. All of this is due to her own stupidity! She was the one who failed to handle her simple tasks!” I wouldn’t have ended up in this horrible situation if Megan actually did something right for once, Meredith thought.

Meanwhile, Selena’s gaze was filled with shock as she stared at the woman before her eyes. I would have never expected Meredith to say such cold-blooded words. “Regardless, she’s still your biological sister. Even though she was an arrogant and demanding child when we were younger, I’ll always remember how she would never allow others to bully you.

If anyone ever messed with you, she would always be the first to teach those people a lesson—even though she lectured you at the same time. She might be harsh with her words sometimes, but she still loves you in the end.” Selena let out a long sigh. “Unfortunately, she doesn’t know that her sister—the one she loved and cared for—was the one who caused her so much pain.

Who are you to assume that the Lake Family wouldn’t take her in after she has given birth to that child? She would’ve been the child’s biological mother, so the Lakes would’ve fed her and kept her alive as long as her child was alive. But now, she’s stuck in jail, where she’s barely treated like a person. Don’t you feel guilty at all, Meredith?”

“Heaven destroys those who don’t look out for themselves! Everyone’s living for the sake of themselves!” Meredith screamed.

A bitter smile spread across Selena’s face as she shook her head. This woman is helpless, she thought. “Alright. Let me tell you this—I was the one who received the ring when Pierre proposed to me.

I got someone to send it over to you so that you would wrongly assume that he was about to propose to you. That’s right; I wanted to destroy you when you were at your happiest! The higher you go, the harder you fall,” she said.
