

Baby alliance: helping daddy get a rich mommy chapter 471

It was a lucky day. After they finished their meals, the night descended upon them. Wyatt became nervous as he took a look at the clock on the wall and felt that time was moving too slowly. Should I even mention it to her first?

Having seen through him, Jude walked over and rested her chin on his shoulder. "What is your favorite color for a nightgown? Or do you want me to wear lingerie?"

Wyatt stiffened in an instant. "I-I'm fine with anything." "I have a black nightgown with straps. Do you like that?"

He gulped. "Sure." At that instant, the image of Jude in a black strappy nightgown came into his mind. It was a well known fact in showbiz that Jude had a curvy figure.

"I'll take a shower now. You can take some time to do some research." After patting his shoulder, she stepped into the bathroom.

At that moment, Wyatt felt his heart leaping into his throat. I'm a doctor, so I'm well aware of how sex works. But why am I so anxious? Look how calm she is! He patted his face. "Wyatt, calm down!"

Meanwhile, Satan was roaming along the streets of Digton in his car. Digton was a metropolis, so the city looked magnificent at night. In fact, he had only been to this city several times. This was the place Jude grew up in. The reason he came to this city for the first time was to fetch Jude, so this was the place where their story began.

The car was running at full speed. He rolled down the window and let the night breeze get into the vehicle so that he could feel better. It was then he realized that he could never forget Jude as her smile was imprinted in his mind. I can't believe she's found another man so quickly. That man is young with fair skin and a warm smile, but to me, he's just a pretty boy.

Then, he recalled that Jude was asked about the kind of men she fancied in an interview. Her answer was that she loved young men. Yeah, she loves young men, not someone as mature as I am.

As he was absentminded, he didn't realize that his car was on a viaduct in the wrong direction. He wasn't aware of it because his mind was occupied by Jude.

When he saw the coming car, he finally came to his senses and turned the steering, but it was too late as the two vehicles crashed into each other. At that instant, it was as though time had stopped. As smoke started billowing from the vehicles, the other drivers stopped their cars.

Satan felt that his mind had gone blank. For a moment, he thought he saw Jude. When he blinked, he realized that his blood was dripping down from his head.

Gazing at his phone, he tried to grasp it with difficulty and dialed Jude's number. As the call was being connected, he closed his eyes and felt that he would pass out at any moment. Even though he was about to lose his consciousness, he still told himself to stay awake as he listened to the dial tone. I'm really tired...

While Jude was humming a song in the bathroom, Wyatt walked over and knocked on the door. "Jude..."

"Yeah? I'll be done with shower soon. It'll be your turn." "No, I mean... it's not the right time for us to have a child." "Why not?" She turned off the running water.
