

Baby alliance: helping daddy get a rich mommy chapter 726

“Dream on!” “Hurry up and do your thing!”

In the next second, the door flew open with a bang. Seeing the lewd scene in the room, Megan felt her heart constricting with pain. On seeing her come in, Jimmy hurriedly put on his pants while Meredith also slowly stood up. Since she was now exposed, there was no reason why she dared not admit it. Then, Megan walked up to Meredith. “Meg...”

With a loud smack, Megan delivered a slap across Meredith’s face. “You shameless thing!”

Covering her face with her hand, Meredith stared at Megan. “How could you hit me? When I was about to be forced to death by Selena, why didn’t you come out and help me?”

“That was your own fault; I told you not to mess with Selena! You didn’t listen!”

Jimmy looked at the two sisters quarreling without knowing what to do. Regardless, he hurriedly persuaded them to stop. “Stop, stop. You are both pregnant, and all are the children of the Astley Family. Can’t we discuss this properly?”

Megan stared at him in disbelief, then turned toward Meredith, who avoided her gaze. “You’re pregnant?” However, Meredith simply looked away.

“Yes, Meg. I beg of you to please stop making a fuss. Meredith is now pregnant with my child. When the time comes, I will place her somewhere else, and it will definitely not affect you and our children, okay?”

When Megan heard Jimmy’s words, she felt like her head was going to explode. Other than stealing her man, Meredith even wanted to mess up her life for good!

Thinking of this, she immediately grabbed Meredith’s neck, not allowing Meredith any moment to react. As she gripped her sister’s neck tighter, all the memories from the past echoed in her mind. This sister of hers was really selfish to the extreme! She originally thought that since she was pregnant, she did not want to pursue things of the past anymore, but then, her sister actually hooked up with her man this time.

Stunned by the situation, Jimmy fell on his backside and froze on the spot.

As for Meredith, her face slowly changed color. At this time, Jimmy finally remembered that if he did not do something, Meredith would be strangled to death, so he went over and tried to pry Megan’s hands away. “Stop it! She is pregnant!”

Letting go of Meredith, Megan turned and slapped him. “You filthy son of a b*tch! Why can’t you sleep with anyone else? Why do you have to sleep with her?”

“I-I... This is not...”

Then, Meredith tried to catch her breath as she got up from the ground and quickly ran out before Megan could react. As Megan watched Meredith run away, she began sobbing on the ground.

Why? Why does God have to be so cruel to me?

At this moment, Jimmy came over and tried to hug her. "Don't cry. Be careful of hurting the children!"
"The children? All that's important to you are the children..."

At this instant, Megan finally understood that if a man genuinely cherished her, he would not care about whether there were any children. But if he cherished only children, she would never lead a happy life with him. After all, the worst thing for a woman was to be reduced to a reproductive machine. Who would be good to a machine? "Let's get a divorce."

"What are you talking about? What divorce?" Jimmy, of course, would not get a divorce because he was reluctant to give up his children. However, Megan did not really care.

"I'm serious. Let's get a divorce." Megan had made up her mind.

"Don't even think of it! What's wrong with me spending time with other women outside of marriage? Besides, it was your sister who seduced me first! It's not my fault!" Jimmy suddenly became righteously indignant. "Even if you want a divorce, you have to give birth to my children first!"

At that, Megan stood up. "If you don't want to get a divorce, then just wait for it. I'll have you thrown into prison."

She slowly let out a breath before continuing, "I've been with you for so long. You know well what I have in my hands against you."
