

Baby alliance: helping daddy get a rich mommy chapter 737

Jameson shook his head. "I don't know either." "Then I will take you to the children's art center to see if there are any classes you like, okay?"

"Mmm, okay!" Jameson immediately became animated. Selena asked Joaquin if he wanted to tag along, but the boy refused, so Selena took Jameson out alone. The children's art center had a lot of classes, so many that Jameson was taken aback. "Jamie, what classes do you like?"

"I like drums and street dance!" This came as a bit of a surprise to Selena, who had thought that Jameson would prefer more relaxing classes, such as art classes, due to his lazy nature.

"Okay, then let me remind you that once you're learning something, you cannot easily give up, okay? To learn it, we have to stick to it." "Sure!"

Thus, Selena quickly enrolled Jameson into the drums and street dance classes, and both would officially start next week. On the way back, the sun was setting, so Selena looked at the time and realized that Juniper should almost come back by now. While discussing with Jameson about what to eat in the evening, Selena's phone rang.

"Mrs. Fowler, something happened! Young Mistress Juniper has disappeared!" "What?"

The nervous voice of the bodyguard came from the other end of the phone. "Speak slowly!"

"We have been waiting for Young Mistress Juniper outside, but she has not come out until now. Thinking that perhaps Dr. Werner wishes to talk more with her, we did not care much. But she still hasn't come out when the sky was already dark. Thus, we thought to go in and ask, but Dr. Werner said she has left!"

These words made Selena panic for a moment, and she could not react for a while. "Mrs. Fowler, what should we do now?"

"Did Dr. Werner say when Juniper left?" "He said that today's class ended indeed a little late, but she has been gone for half an hour."

"Half an hour... Half an hour... She is just a child and won't run far. You guys calm down first and look for her in the neighborhood. Maybe she is just playful. I'll head there now!"

Hanging up the phone, Jameson worriedly looked at Selena. "Mommy, is something wrong with Juniper?"

"Juniper is missing, Jamie, so I can't eat with you guys today. I have to go find Juniper quickly, so you and Jojo be good at home, okay?" Jameson nodded obediently.

Then, Selena hurriedly rushed over to where Juniper went missing. Andy had also begun a search party, but after combing through the entire mountainous area, they couldn't find Juniper at all.

Andy comforted Selena, "There's still no news, but it's also a good thing."

Since there was no sign of Juniper, at least she was still alive and not mauled by the beasts of the mountains, nor did she fall down the cliffs or anything like that. Where? Juniper, where on earth are you?

Just when Selena was at a loss, she received a phone call. "Is this Selena?" The other party's voice had been processed with a voice changer so that Selena did not know whether it was a man or a woman.

Hearing this, Selena was instantly alerted. "Who are you?"

"Haha, I am the person you want to see the most, and your daughter is in my hands!" "What do you want?"

"Prepare 50 million for me right now, or I'm going to kill her!" "Don't hurt my daughter, don't!" "Then do as I say, otherwise I can't guarantee that your daughter will be safe."

Beads of sweat flowed down from Selena's forehead as she shouted, "How am I supposed to believe you? The least you can do is let me hear her voice."

"Mommy!" Juniper's voice came over the phone.

"You heard her, right? Now you should believe me, right? I'm telling you, don't play tricks on me, or your daughter will die a horrible death!"

Then, the line disconnected.