

Baby alliance: helping daddy get a rich mommy chapter 741

Pierre roared in anger and frustration. At that, Selena looked at Pierre and hurriedly stopped his way. "There's a bomb."

Hearing these words, Pierre also immediately stopped in his tracks. "Son of a b*tch! Get the hell out of here! Otherwise, I will let you die without a burial!"

However, the other party did not say anything, no matter how much Pierre yelled. Selena sighed and said, "She must have escaped." "D*mn it, I can't believe I let her get away." Pierre secretly clenched his fists.

"Let's think about how to save the child first." Selena worriedly looked at Juniper. Juniper's mouth was sealed, and she could not say anything. It seemed that she was also tired of such a game, and so an anxious expression began to appear on her face. Moreover, she even wanted to break free from the ropes on her own.

"Don't move, Juniper. Be good and behave. Don't move! I will save you soon."

Pierre wanted to go over but was stopped by Selena. "This should be a safe distance. If my guess is correct, this bomb is not very powerful, and the distance for it to be effective is only this much. Otherwise, if Linda wants me to die so much, she can just detonate the bomb directly."

Carefully analyzing the situation, Selena felt that Linda did not really want to detonate the bomb. Perhaps it was because of the trace of compassion left in her that she wanted Juniper to survive. She was hoping for Selena to kill herself so she didn't need to denote the bomb.

Suddenly, Joaquin came in from outside, holding the computer. "Let me try."

With that, he lay on the ground and began to operate; he did a scan when he was in the car and knew that this was an electronic bomb. Thus, he tried to enter the program of this bomb to disarm the detonation device. Time passed very slowly, and as Selena looked at Juniper's anxious look, she could only silently appease her.

Throughout the whole time, Joaquin's fingers were tapping rapidly on the computer keyboard when suddenly he stopped.

Then, he raised his head to look at Pierre, who asked, "What's wrong? What's the problem?"

"Strange, I've already entered the program of this bomb, but I can't find the detonation program in it." Only by changing the detonation program completely could this bomb be completely deactivated. But Joaquin couldn't find the detonation program, which made him break out in a sweat. In fact, he thought he could do it.

Pierre squatted down and touched Joaquin's little head. "Calm down; don't be nervous. Juniper will be fine. Look for it again."

Joaquin nodded, wiped a handful of sweat from his forehead, and continued tapping on the computer. Selena felt heartache for him to be given so much pressure as a child. She didn't even dare to breathe, and she didn't dare to speak for fear that she might say something wrong and put even more pressure on Joaquin.

Joaquin tried several times, but it turned out that there was still no such thing.

"It's not there; I've searched twice." Joaquin looked at Pierre anxiously. This was the first time that Selena saw her son, who was always calm, with such an anxious expression on his face.

"Think about it again. Did you miss something?" Pierre, however, was calm as could be. At that, Joaquin gritted his teeth. Now his sister's life was in his hands, so he must not give up at this time. Thus, he began to try to search those impossible places to not miss any area.

At this time, Pierre's phone rang. He looked at the number on it and answered the phone.

"I got it."

"Knew it!" Just as Pierre hung up the phone, Joaquin shouted excitedly.

"Know what, Jojo?" Pierre looked at Juniper and then at Joaquin.

"This bomb is a fake!"