

BABY MAFIA 801

I BECOME BABY MAFIA BOSS

Chapter 801 - "88th High-ranking Mafia Family"

Ainsley didn't know that her half-siblings would surprise her at her birthday party.

Right now, the baby had just received the symbolic crown and straightened her back.

"With this, I declare the Sloan Family as the 88th high-ranking family of our Godlif country's mafia society."

The old woman, the leader of the current mafia council, immediately got someone to record the Sloan Family's registration and changed their status from a mid-rank family to a high-rank.

There were many high-ranking mafia families, almost reaching 100 families, but most of them had fallen, and the mafia council didn't bother to change the order.

Among the 88 families, maybe only 50 had been true high-ranking families, and the rest was just an empty shell.

Even those who attended the 7 great families' high-ranking family alliance party before hadn't been genuine high-ranking families.

Many of them weren't that active or powerful anymore and were actually declining but still eligible to be a high-ranking family.

Now, their circle welcomed a genuine new high-ranking family who climbed to the top from almost being demoted to a low-rank family up to this position.

And the one who led the family to its current position was only three years old.

Many of the oldies sighed as they looked at Ainsley, who was already hugging Cellino while making a parade around the venue.

As the one getting the first rank in the tournament, she deserved to show off along with her family's elites.

The oldies from the old high-ranking families could only look at the baby with envious gazes.

If only their grandchildren or their children were half as good as this toddler. Would their family decline??

The oldies lament that the future of the mafia society would end up in the youngsters' hands, but they didn't think the youngster was this young....

The whole parade was also broadcasted live, and Ainsley proudly introduced Elliana, her five buds, the 9 generals, and other important people in her family.

The broadcasting site also sent pictures of Grandpa Yofan and the other 7 elders, glorifying them and the other members.

Many mafia families had known about these big shots at the Sloan Family, and a lot of older generations recognised the 7 elders.

"Huuu...that's Yofan, isn't it? He has lived for so long...I thought he would witness the Sloan Family's demise when it almost got demoted to a low-ranking family..."

"Yeah, yeah. But he's so lucky to find such a good family head. Their family only rose further and didn't decline!"

The oldies who didn't attend the ceremony would force their children to watch the broadcast.

Those who attended but didn't bring their children also asked their children at home to watch the broadcast.

"Look, look, that girl is younger than you, but she's already a multi-ability user and a good family head!"

"Look at you, son. You are almost ten and still playing around all day! When will you make your family proud?"

Even the teenagers who were studying at the academies were also forced by their mafia parents or relatives to watch the broadcast.

"Cousin, quickly graduate and help our family. Next year, our family has to advance to be a high-ranking family!"

"Big brother, hurry, come home and inherit the family head's throne! Dad is already talking about retiring..."

"Hey, hey, if you can't enter the Elton Academy next year...just see!"

Even the nobles also used this chance to visit the mafia society network and let their children or any youngsters in their family to watch the broadcast.

"Look, she's only three but already so amazing. All of you are almost adults yet so useless!"

"What can you guys do other than playing around? Go and enter the military academy next year, you hear me?!"

"When will you enter a good academy? Even academies abroad are also good."

The parents made Ainsley as an example and motivation for their children, but Ainsley became 'other people's children', whom everyone envied.

The youngsters and the children were all jealous of Ainsley but also wondered how such a young kid could be so amazing.

Maybe her parents' genes were better than their parents' genes?

But many of the young adults dug out Ainsley's life history and found out that she was abandoned when she was very young.

Her father left the family that had no direct heir other than her. Her mother was just a surrogate mother who also disappeared after giving birth to Ainsley.

This child is more miserable than them in any aspect! As soon as she's three years old, her father left her, and her mother had long left her after she had been born.

The family was about to become a low-ranking mafia family and had lost many territories.

Their total members were even so small that they couldn't be a proper mid-rank mafia family.

Amidst such a harsh living condition, Ainsley was the one who brought her family out of the darkness and led them to the light.

Which child of a wealthy society would experience that? As soon as they're born, they're all spoiled and get their parents' full care.

Even the illegitimate children didn't have such a harsh living condition compared to Ainsley.

Seeing this, many parents thought that maybe, putting their children into a harsher environment would make them better than spoiling them...

Of course, the mafia children had all been disciplined and received harsh training as early as when they're five years old.

They began to learn fighting and using their abilities when they were ten, and then they were sent to famous academies to learn.

These academies not only teach them how to use their abilities but also teach them a lot of things they have to know to be a good leader!

I BECOME BABY MAFIA BOSS

Chapter 802 - "Birthday Party H-7"

The children were also given a lot of experiences as they attended the academy for 8 years in total.

However, almost no children would be like Ainsley, directly facing a life and death situation after she had just awakened her abilities!

Maybe because of the pressing circumstances, Ainsley awakened so many abilities when she was only three.

Her environment pressured her to awaken new abilities!

If not, maybe the baby would have long died.

This baby had such a strong desire for survival that she became a multi-ability user at the age of three...

Ainsley's broadcast video inspired many parents and also made her even more famous among the children.

However, a lot of ordinary people still didn't know about her existence and only heard of rumors.

After all, ordinary people never cared too much about their children awakening their abilities or not.

If their children awakened abilities, the family would rise in status and they would be happy, but they didn't depend on their children to live well.

Even ordinary people had their ways to live a good life in this world full of unique abilities.

And so, Ainsley was only famous among the ability user society, especially the mafia society and the nobles.

Now, all mafias would know about Ainsley, and even a little mafia family knew about her. If someone didn't know, they might be seen as idiots...

Half of the upper echelon of the government and the noble circles knew about Ainsley, but the lower level only heard one or two things about the miracle baby.

They only knew that there was a genius child named Ainsley Sloan who awakened more than two abilities at the age of three.

As for her life history, her achievements, her abilities or her appearances, they didn't know just yet.

After the parade, Ainsley went back to her seat and watched other families getting promoted to be the new batch of high-ranking families.

The whole ceremony lasted for two hours and it was already 10 p.m by the time the ceremony ended.

Ainsley and her people directly went back to the hotel and planned to go back home tomorrow morning.

After all, it was almost the end of the year, and Ainsley could finally relax.

She only had to care about her upcoming birthday party and officially establishing her own guild!

After resting for a night, the group woke up early the next day and departed at 8 a.m.

They used their magic carriage and didn't bother using Teleportal, afraid of disturbing Jake.

When they arrived at Roane Region, it was already 10 a.m, and the people at the mansion had all been busy with their work— mainly related to the branch families moving out.

Two of the branch families had set off to live in other mansions at the Sloan Family's other territories.

Now, the third branch family would set off to occupy the Naran Family's mansion.

The Naran Family had many scattered territories, and the Sloan Family generously picked out the best territories before 'selling' the rest to other mafia families.

They didn't need so many territories when they focused on developing Pandora Island, anyway.

With three branch families moving out, the main mansion became less populated but soon, more mafia members occupy the empty spaces.

Ainsley ordered someone to renovate the mansion and divide the mansion into four floors.

The first two floors belonged to the mafia members, and the other two floors were for the higher-ups and the direct family members.

The main mansion was still connected to other small mansions that belonged to the branch families.

But now, Ainsley transformed those small mansions to be military barracks.

Ainsley divided the troops into several districts, and each district had one of the 9 generals to be the leader.

With that, the Sloan Family had an even neater military management, and the family's military strength grew by leaps and bounds.

The branch families were also allowed to recruit new members after the main family approved the members' identity and qualifications.

With that, the branch families didn't need to rely on the main family all the times and they indeed became branches that supported the main family.

It was rare to find a big family like the Sloan Family with so many branches had so few internal disputes, but maybe it was all thanks to Ainsley.

The people at the branch families had long been 'educated' with several traitors' live executions as their examples.

Not to mention that the main family kept a tight watch on their movements...

The branch families never thought of separating from the main Sloan Family and was already grateful they could have their own mansion, members, and territories.

Of course, many new mafia members wanted to enter the Sloan main family, yet they were not qualified, a.k.a too weak, they were still accepted, but by the branch families instead.

Over the last few weeks, reaching the end of the year, Ainsley mainly stayed at home and was busy managing the family's internal affairs instead.

She also silently recruited people who wanted to join her Irregular Tamer Guild and was ready to announce her new guild soon.

Of course, the building was ready, but for now, it was only a branch building at the Roane Region near the Sloan Family's inner territory.

As for the headquarters, they had to wait until they had built a base at Pandora Island before making the guild's headquarters.

While Ainsley was less busy than before and was enjoying time with the Godfather, Grandpa Yofan, and the others...

The rest of the Sloan Family members were actually bustling with excitement.

"It's only a week until our boss' birthday! Have you guys prepared the gift?"

I BECOME BABY MAFIA BOSS

Chapter 803 - "Picking Gifts For The Little Boss"

One of the senior mafia members asked the juniors while they were hanging out around the mission hall.

"It will be the boss' birthday soon? Oh, my, I haven't found a suitable gift! Senior, what did you prepare?"

The junior member had actually already been in the family for more than three months, almost becoming a sixth-month-old member.

But the senior had been with the Sloan Family for years, even before Ainsley became the family head.

That's why the seniors would still become their seniors.

They're all legendary members who fought alongside Ainsley against the Aretha Family and many other wars!

"I bought a unique toy for her to play with. The boss is mature, but she needs to relax and play more!"

"I bought her a cute wooden horse..."

"Me, me, I make a scarf! Handmade!"

"Bah. I'm part of the kitchen staff who will make food for the boss' birthday party!"

"I'm part of the decoration team!"

"I'm part of the planning team..."

"Me...I'm only a member of the security team. I can't even enter the birthday party venue, ah. So sad!"

"Don't be sad. Guarding the little boss' birthday party is actually honourable, you know. When will you have a chance to indirectly protect the little boss?!"

After all, the little boss was so strong!

"Right, right!"

"Aishhh, I pity those who were sent to the branch families and Pandora Island instead. They can't even attend the birthday party...or be a part of it."

"True, true. But I heard that the branch families would all attend the birthday...would the mafia members there tag along?"

"Only a selected few. The others have to guard the mansion, okay?"

"I'm so glad I'm not sent to the branch families! If not, how can I look at the little boss every day?"

The main family's mafia members had the privilege to see the little boss every single day. They're living in the same mansion, after all!

Even if the mansion was huge and was now similar to a castle, there was still a chance to meet Ainsley when the baby explored the mansion or something.

As for those sent to the branch families or sent to Pandora Island and other important territories...

They couldn't see the little boss for months...

"But I heard that there will be members rotation for the Roid Valley and the Godfather Mausoleum?"

"Oh, right. There are those at the Crimson Lily Forest and Xocolet Lake too!"

"All of them rounded up...around 500 members? 100 for Roid Valley, 150 for Godfather mausoleum and 250 for Crimson Lily and Xocolet Lake, right?"

The Xocolet Lake was also a very popular 'tourist' destination because it could trigger ordinary people to awaken special abilities.

Although the chance was small, it was still there.

The Crimson Lily forest also provided many rare herbs for the family's potion business, while the Void Valley became a place to train air troops and the family's monster tamers.

"When will the rotation happen? Once every six months? I heard that new members below 3 months old will also go to Pandora Island..."

The seniors only needed to think about whether they're going to be relocated to Crimson Lily forest, Void Valley, Xocollet Lake or the Godfather mausoleum.

But the newbies were more worried about going to 'serve' at Pandora Island!

"The little boss announced through the app system that going to Pandora Island for 6 months will force us newbies to train hard..."

"Of course. One of the members sent to that island sent me a detailed report about his experience, and it's really hellish."

"Really??"

"Yeah. You will meet monsters anytime and anywhere. Even the base isn't that safe. No wonder the little boss uses the island for newbie training."

"Ah, ah, let's not talk about that. Let's talk about the birthday party, okay..."

"Okay, okay. Look, my uncle is one of the Sloan Family's higher-ups and he got news for me..."

"What is it? Related to the little boss' birthday party?"

"Yeah! In the morning and afternoon, the party will be held only for insiders like us. They won't invite anyone outside of the Sloan Family."

"Ohhh, that's good! What about evening and night?"

"They will hold an evening tea party for important guests and then hold a lavish night banquet for a lot of guests."

"Ohhhh. Won't the little boss be tired, though? Parties all day..."

"Well, I thought so too. But the little boss planned the party to be that way. Anyway, we can give our gifts to her in the morning and in the afternoon!"

"Hum. I'll quickly buy some gifts...what about a new water gun? A shark type this time?"

"A Jellyfish hat is also good. The little boss will like it."

"How about scooters? She also needs some small vehicles to roam around the mansion and her territories, right?"

"Ah, that's too expensive! Let's just buy a tricycle?"

"Well, I heard that the higher-ups gathered together to buy a small helicopter for the little boss."

"Isn't it a mini car? Not a sports car like the one she used at the coronation, though."

"I thought someone would give her a pony...a winged pony."

"Why not give her a small pegasus or a small unicorn right away?
Hahahahah."

"Tsk. That's too hard! But maybe catching unique beasts for pets are also good."

The mafia members weren't the only ones racking their brains to think of a gift for Ainsley's 4th birthday party.

The others who would be invited to attend the night banquet were also racking their mind to curry favour with this toddler.

This is a chance to get on the baby's good side!

There would be so many guests, but who could successfully curry favour with the little boss?

I BECOME BABY MAFIA BOSS

Chapter 804 - "New Year Party"

Ainsley's night banquet was estimated to be a big one since she had to invite a lot of people so as not to offend them.

Ainsley would invite a lot of business partners both inside and outside the mafia society...she would also invite several big guilds....

Even the mafia council and the government's representative would be invited because they're involved in Pandora Island's project.

Thankfully, the main hall for receiving guests and holding parties is much bigger now. It can fit such a flood of guests.

Of course, Ainsley's five little friends would also attend, but Ainsley thought of inviting them to the private tea party before the night party.

Only some close friends would be invited to the tea party, such as the big guild leaders, Evan, Jake, her five friends, and many more people who had helped the Sloan Family a lot.

Well, right now, Ainsley's little friends were also busy thinking about Ainsley's birthday.

The academy would start the new semester soon, and they would have to go back after the new year celebration.

But all of them thought of taking a leave of absence the day Ainsley held her birthday party!

The five children immediately made a separate chat group to discuss Ainsley's birthday party.

[Arlin: Have you guys thought of a gift for little Ain?]

[Larsen: I have. I planned to give her a smart robot capable of making small toys and handguns.]

[Azkar: Fck! That's so expensive! As expected of a shaman family. You're rich!]

[Arlin: hey, hey, I only thought of buying her an ice cream machine...is it too childish?]

[Caca: But your ice cream machine is expensive too, isn't it? It can create all sorts of weird ice cream, and little Ain can experiment with it.]

[Arlin: Yeah! Is it good?]

[Caca: Good. As for me, I prepared a set of combat clothing with the same design as her usual little pink uniform.]

[Zenon: Durable clothes...?]

[Caca: Yep.]

[Azkar: What about you, Zenon? What did you prepare?]

[Zenon: A super computer that can block all normal hackers and most special hackers.]

[Azkar: Ohhhh! So thoughtful! Say, what should I give to little Ain? Maybe a beast? But I heard she already got a little mutant Phoenix...]

[Arlin: She doesn't have a yacht yet.]

[Azkar: Ohhh! Perfect! I heard that she's trying to develop her treasure island. She will need a yacht! Good!]

Azkar didn't hesitate to ask his parents to buy a yacht for Ainsley and give the gift in the name of their family.

Even Azkar's parents agreed right away. After all, a yacht is nothing compared to their cooperation with the Sloan Family.

Even the five children's families also thought of other presents to give aside from their children's personal gifts for Ainsley.

Some of them bought a beautiful submarine for Ainsley. The others created furniture from dark woods or crystals.

Many high-ranking families even thought of giving a piece of their territory to the little baby.

Just like that, amidst the crowd's anticipation, a week passed by.

Everyone had celebrated the end of the year with their family, and also celebrated the start of the new year with close friends and business partners.

The influential powerhouse at the capital also held a gala for those in the government's camp, while the mafia council held a huge feast for all the mafia families.

Ainsley attended the party on 1st January and saw many mafia families from low-level families to high-ranking.

Even the 7 great and 7 sacred families attend the new year party.

Most of the youngsters also had come back from the academies and had a two-week holiday to stay with their families.

Those people attended the party with their parents.

The moment Ainsley came, the whole hall seemed to be bustling with activities.

Ainsley met a lot of children and youngsters whom she had never met before...and they're all so enthusiastic.

"Hi, you're Ainsley, right? You're so great! Once you become five years old, you should enter the Elton Academy– just like me!"

"No, no, come to our Military Academy. We don't discriminate between mafia and non-mafia!"

Many senior students tried to rope Ainsley to their academies...and it's all because of their teachers or instructors.

"Remember, if you can make that little prodigy enter our academy, you will get academy merit points! A million points!"

Many other academies told the same thing to their senior students, especially those mafia children.

The Elton Academy had also heard of Ainsley's name and had started to pay attention to her.

Many people speculated that the Academy would invite Ainsley to attend the Elton academy without testing her!

A lot of children and youngsters gathered around Ainsley, wanting to curry favour with her.

Their parents had all told them about this miracle baby and tried hard to climb this golden thigh!

The low-rank mafia families and the mid-rank mafia families were especially eager.

After all, this kind of party where all mafia families gathered together would only happen once a year.

They didn't know when they would have a chance to interact with the big shots, not to mention the rising star– the Sloan Family.

But in the end, Ainsley chose to leave with her five little best friends rather than socialising with those bootlickers.

She herself was also active to make connections when she was only the head of a mid-rank mafia family.

But now, she's aware that her status has changed, and she shouldn't be too friendly to everyone. She would only tire herself.

The new year party became the six children's first meeting after so long, especially when Ainsley was busy with the tournament and Pandora Island's project.

However, there would always be some thick-skinned people who approach Ainsley even when she's with her friends...

I BECOME BABY MAFIA BOSS

Chapter 805 - "Young Master Belva"

Ainsley was chatting and talking with her friends when a group of children around five to ten suddenly approached her group.

There were six children, and four of them were boys, with only two girls that looked the youngest in that group.

Ainsley's friend group noticed the six children's movement and Arlin, the 'big sister' of the group, couldn't help but frown.

"Who are those six people? They're heading in our direction. Any of you guys know them?"

Ainsley and her friends were sitting on the sofa, circling the round glass coffee table in the middle.

They were also a group of six but with three girls and three boys.

The girls sat on one long couch while the boys had their own single-seat sofa, all of the seats surrounding the coffee table full of sweets and drinks.

It was clear that the group wanted to have their own little time and didn't want to entertain the other children at the party.

But those six children were actually so dense and didn't know that their group didn't want to be disturbed?

Hearing Arlin's question, Ainsley looked at the approaching children dressed in glamorous clothes and she also furrowed her eyebrows.

"They're not from the low-rank or middle-rank families. They're children from the 7 sacred families except for the Aretha Family."

Ainsley knew a lot about the 7 sacred families, including the heir of those families.

If she's not mistaken, each family had two to three legitimate children, and the youngest was around five to ten years old.

They should be Blair's friends, in a sense. But Blair was nowhere to be seen. She didn't even see Finley, the Walter Family's heir, at the party.

She saw Evan but didn't see Finley.

Ainsley squinted at the six children, and the six children had walked right to their resting place.

Each of the children looked arrogant as they scanned Arlin and the others with a scrutinising eye.

"Are these Lady Sloan's friends?" One of the boys, probably the oldest in the group, looked at Arlin and the others with a slight smile on his face.

He was smiling, but his smile didn't reach his eyes at all. He looked at Arlin and the others as if they were all unworthy to be in his eyesight!

Arlin and the others instantly changed their expressions. They now realized that these people came to make trouble...not to Ainsley but to them!

Arlin, as the oldest in Ainsley's group, three years older than the boy, lifted her chin and replied coldly.

"Yes, I am one of little Ain's friends. Who are you? I have never seen such a rude boy before."

The boy had a higher family background than Arlin's, but he was younger than her by three years.

He really should be a bit more polite when facing Arlin.

The boy snorted and ignored Arlin right away as he beckoned his other little friends to surround the couch.

Almost instantly, the three boys in Ainsley's group straightened their backs, going on full alert mode.

These are the youngest children of the 7 sacred families.

All of them had awakened their abilities except for those below seven years old.

Currently, only one of them, a girl, was five years old and hadn't awakened her ability yet.

But the rest of the group had, and they were rumoured to have a strong ability despite having only awakened one ability.

Not to mention that...they might have a sacred beast with them! Their older brothers or sisters might lend the sacred beasts to their younger siblings.

Ainsley's group was tense, but Ainsley herself was calm.

She patted Cellino's fur as the cat laid on her lap and slowly looked over the four boys and the two girls.

"I wonder what do you want to do to my friends, young master Belva?" Ainsley looked at the ten-year-old boy and mentioned his family name.

The Belva family was the second strongest family among the 7 sacred families.

No wonder he could be the leader of this small group when Blair and her two older siblings weren't present.

Young master Belva was taken aback for a second before smiling politely at Ainsley.

"Nothing. I just think that they don't look that great...I wonder how they manage to latch onto Lady Sloan's golden thigh."

Young master Belva was someone smart and knew how to socialise well, but he would only befriend people with equal social status as him or higher.

In his eyes, Ainsley's friends were not fit to be in Ainsley's circle at all.

Their families were indeed top families among the high-ranking families, but they were far weaker than any of the 7 great or 7 sacred families.

Whereas, the Sloan Family had a chance to squeeze into the 7 sacred families, and young master Belva acknowledged Ainsley as worthy of being in his circle.

But when he saw Ainsley befriending these types of people...he couldn't help but express his disdain.

"I thought Lady Sloan doesn't know a lot of people just yet, and that's why she picked these people...if Lady Sloan mingles more with us, you will be enlightened."

The meaning is...Ainsley should mingle more with people from the 7 sacred families because they're all from the same 'roots'!

Ainsley's face changed and she looked at young master Belva with a cold look.

"Maybe young master Belva doesn't know the whole truth or something...but don't you know my family has a blood feud with almost all families in your 7 sacred families?"

Young master Belva's smile froze on his face.

The other three young masters from the Yefta, Fraun, and Dedrick families also looked tense.

Ainsley disliked the 7 sacred families? They knew! And isn't that why they're here?

I BECOME BABY MAFIA BOSS

Chapter 806 - "Being Courted By A Boy"

The children knew Ainsley didn't have a good relationship with their 7 sacred families, and they also didn't care to befriend her before.

But ever since the baby got her hands on the inheritance stone's mine, the 7 sacred families changed their attitudes.

At first, they wanted to collaborate together and rob the mine, but looking at the government alliance' war result ending up in peace, they didn't dare to wage war.

The government and their allies have been aggressively attacking Pandora Island, but in the end, they also accepted the unfair agreement, isn't it?

It means that they're actually the losing party!

A lot of top-notch formed the Téserra Alliance families from all sorts of factions.

The 7 sacred families alone couldn't defeat the Téserra Alliance, considering that two of the 7 great families were even inside the alliance.

Not to mention the mafia council!

How could they attack the mafia council through the Téserra Alliance? That would be the same as committing suicide.

Thus, they thought of another way...and that's to befriend Ainsley.

But Ainsley disliked the adults and hated Blair.

So...maybe they had to send their older children so as not to repeat the Aretha tragedy?

Yet the other families couldn't send their heirs to befriend Ainsley due to their age gap.

Teenagers and toddler wouldn't get along well, right? It would be awkward.

That's how they thought of sending their youngest children to be Ainsley's friends, replacing Arlin and the others.

Not too long ago, Arlin and the others were high above Ainsley, and Ainsley had to play tricks to befriend them for benefit.

But now, the position switched. Yet none of the children used their friendship for benefit.

They got along well with Ainsley and naturally became her friend without thinking about the benefits.

Yet these newcomers seriously offended them with their intentions...

Young master Belva understood that Ainsley disliked all the 7 sacred families, but he kept smiling as if he didn't notice it.

"It's okay. Your hatred is justified. It must be because of some misunderstandings or our family's fault. We can apologise to you, right, pals?"

Young master Belva looked at his friends from various 7 sacred families, and all of them nodded obediently.

They're not as shrewd or as clever as young master Belva, but their parents also told them to befriend Ainsley.

Thus, they blindly followed young master Belva.

Truthfully...young master Belva's aim wasn't only to befriend Ainsley.

The boy who was about to enter the Elton Academy this year smiled gently at Ainsley and slowly approached her.

"I have heard a lot of things about Lady Sloan, but seeing you in person is way better. You are even better than all the rumours and news outside!"

Noah Belva's voice was full of admiration, and even the look in his eyes wasn't faked.

He truly admired Ainsley and even thought that...

She's a better marriage candidate than the spoiled Blair!

When Ainsley saw Noah's expression, her lips twitched.

She instantly knew that the boy was subconsciously trying to seduce her...his gaze just felt wrong.

But she's only three! And he's only ten! How come he had already thought that far to actually seduce her?!

The mafia children really did mature early...but it was too early!

Ainsley didn't respond, but Noah didn't mind. He casually took Ainsley's palm and suddenly kissed the back of her hand.

"Lady Sloan is really cute. I'm honored to meet you."

In that instant, Ainsley got goosebumps. Noah's movement was so fast that she couldn't respond in time.

It was Cellino who suddenly jumped and puffed up all his fur in anger.

"Hisss!"

The cat instantly clawed Noah's hand, which made Noah subconsciously let go of Ainsley's hand.

Noah's response was pretty quick, and he didn't get injured at all, but the boy was still startled.

His face immediately darkened, and he looked at Cellino with a wary gaze.

"Hahah, Lady Sloan, your sacred beast is so protective of you!"

Ainsley pursed her lips and didn't speak, but her friends, who were so shocked earlier, started to speak up for the little baby.

"You! Of course, little Ain and Cel will be shocked if you suddenly take her hand and kiss the back of her palm!"

Azkar was the most worked up since he's also a boy, and he's around Noah's age.

In Ainsley's old world, kissing the back of someone's palm might only be a polite gesture used among the nobles, but it was different here.

That gesture is quite intimate and only used when men want to court women!

Ainsley still didn't know the meaning of that gesture and was just uncomfortable because she wasn't used to being touched by strangers, but Cellino knew the truth.

And that's why he exploded.

His master is only three years old! Even if her soul is way older, her body is only three! How dare this boy court his master?!

Even Zenan, the quiet boy, also looked at Noah and shook his head.

"This is only your first meeting and you're already so bold, young master Belva. I see that you're impatient..."

Of course, he's impatient. The girls under the age of ten with an equal status quo weren't many, and the good seedlings were even rarer.

Blair was one of the good seedlings, but Ainsley was even better! If Blair was gold, Ainsley was a diamond.

He believed that this toddler would be the best match for him!

They only had to be childhood sweethearts, and they could naturally get together when they were older.

Noah ignored Azkar's sarcasm and looked at Ainsley with a gentle gaze as if to coax her.

"I'm sorry, did I scare you?"

Chapter 807 - "A Mysterious Boy Appears!"

"Did I scare you?"

When Noah said that, Ainsley felt goosebumps. She suddenly felt that this boy is really annoying.

Does he think she doesn't know what he's planning to do? He's seducing a three-year-old toddler, isn't he?

He's indeed only a child, so it can't be counted as a pedophile, but that's still abnormal!

Which ten-year-old boy would look at a three-year-old girl with such a gaze?

Ainsley was about to reply to Noah and kick him away when suddenly, a cold voice of a boy sounded from behind the couch she sat on.

"Young master Belva? I didn't know you would be here."

The voice was a bit immature, sounding younger than Noah.

However, the coldness inside the voice was so intimidating that the children couldn't help but shudder.

Such a pressure...the children had only sensed it from their parents or older acquaintances!

Everyone subconsciously looked back and saw a blonde-haired boy with a neat tuxedo standing right behind Ainsley's couch.

The boy wasn't that tall, but because the couch wasn't that high either, half of his body was still revealed to the children.

From his height and his voice, it was estimated that he's around eight years old, not much younger than Noah.

But his lean figure did make people think that he was weak.

Compared to Noah, who was a little bit taller, people would subconsciously think that Noah was stronger than this boy.

But the chilly aura around the blonde-haired boy alone was enough to defeat Noah several times.

Both sides didn't use their abilities just yet, but from the aura and temperament alone, the blonde-haired boy seemed to be superior in all aspects!

When the children saw the blonde-haired boy, they didn't react for a moment, still confused and dumbfounded.

They...didn't recognise the boy in front of them, simply because the other party had a mask on his face, covering almost all his face except for his pair of emerald eyes.

If the children knew a lot about fashion, they would immediately realize that the boy was wearing eye contact.

So, that crimson pupil should be fake.

But even Arlin didn't realize this fact because she was still subconsciously frightened by the other party's aura.

Such a strong momentum...who is this boy? He must be a genius!

The others couldn't recognise the boy, but the sharp-eyed Noah noticed the emblem on the boy's chest, and that family crest looked familiar.

...isn't that the symbol of the Walter Family?

The Walter Family was famous for its blonde hair and light crimson eyes.

But rumors said that the heir, Finley Walter, had different eye colors because of his contract with a fairy.

Noah had seen Finley once or twice before and never saw the boy wearing a mask like this.

He also showed his emerald eyes openly, not bothering to use contact lenses to hide his unique eye color.

But now...what happened? How come this young master suddenly chose to disguise himself?

No wonder not a lot of people notice him at the party!

That emblem on his chest was also so tiny that people could easily overlook it.

Noah gulped nervously and smiled at Finley, but his smile was a bit stiff.

"Young master Walter...what a coincidence. I thought you had gone to Elton Academy already."

Rumors said that The Elton Academy already accepted Finley even before the new students' enrolment started.

The geniuses class available for kids below ten years old and were five years old or older also didn't open the registration yet, waiting for the new semester to start.

But some geniuses above geniuses had received a direct invitation, and after the instructors tested them, they were immediately enrolled.

These geniuses had started to integrate with the other students at the academy and would be formally introduced to the rest of the academy when the new semester started.

He heard that Finley Walter was the only one who had such a different treatment among all children in Godlif Country!

Noah, who hadn't enrolled in the academy, felt really jealous over Finley.

The boy was rumored to be a multi-ability user at the age of eight, having around three powerful elemental abilities!

And his contract with a royal fairy elevated his status even more.

So jealous!

Noah's words when greeting Finley were full of hidden jealousy, but the children couldn't detect it.

All they heard was the 'young master Walter' thingy.

....young master Walter? The only one who can be called with this title is Finley Walter, the genius heir of the Walter Family.

So...this boy...

The children's faces instantly changed. Noah's friends stiffened while Ainsley's friends were astonished.

This boy is the legendary mysterious genius boy who awakened his ability when he was six years old?

One of the most promising geniuses among their generations!

He has more than two elemental abilities, and all his abilities are top-notch, not your usual elemental abilities.

He also contracted a royal fairy, and the fairies favored him.

The children seldom saw Finley.

Some of them had never even seen Finley face-to-face, all because Finley was really mysterious and rarely showed up in public.

Even his pictures on the internet were somehow unattainable. There were barely any sneak shots or information about the boy.

They only knew about his achievements and strength from rumors circulating in the upper society.

Now...the legendary mysterious boy appeared just like that! And he seemed to be defending Ainsley?

Finley ignored the children's shocked and curious looks. He quickly cast a glance at the stunned Ainsley before looking at Noah with a stern face.

"Young master Belva, I heard that you're free-spirited and often play with men and women. But I didn't think you would covett a three-year-old toddler..."

Chapter 808 - "Finley Wants To Abduct Ain?"

Finley's voice was soothing, but people who had heard his real voice before would notice that the boy used a voice-changing potion.

His real voice was way more beautiful and magical, maybe because the fairies bless him.

Noah's lips twitched at Finley's disguised voice, and his face turned black and Finley's accusation.

Since when did he play with men and women? He's still ten years old!

He never played with any prostitutes and only got along with boys and girls from prestigious families!

And what's with coveting a toddler? He didn't have that kind of intention! He only wants to invest for the future!

"Haha, young master Walter must be joking. I never play around...and I'm not coveting Lady Sloan either. I just want to be her friend. Is that wrong?"

Noah felt that something was wrong for Finley to suddenly appear and insist on going against him.

In the past, Finley had never given him a single glance.

The boy was always surrounded by the other families' heirs, and he usually only interacted with people older than him.

Yet now, he stepped down from his high pedestal to talk to them...is it because of Ainsley?

Does Finley also want to covet Ainsley?

Noah was instantly alarmed. After all, Ainsley was indeed a very good seedling.

In the past, people said that only someone like Blair was good enough for Finley Walter, but Ainsley suddenly appeared.

Both children were on the same side, and the Walter Family Head was even close to Ainsley Sloan.

It was more likely for Finley to get along with Ainsley than Blair, who was in the opposite camp.

But the 7 sacred families wanted to drag Ainsley to their camp and made use of her inheritance stone's mine!

Noah's face was ugly, but Finley only calmly glanced at him and laughed.

"Is that so? So, young master Belva only wanted to make friends...if that's the case, forgive me for interfering."

Finley seemed to apologize, but he didn't really mean it. The boy didn't go away, and even stood beside the three girls' couch.

"Since Young Master Belva wants to expand his social network...I also want to do that. Ladies, may I?"

Finley was really polite and a perfect gentleman. The way he greeted the three girls was also pleasant.

He didn't forget to look at the other three boys and nodded politely at them.

Such a mysterious and handsome boy...even the 'old' Caca and Arlin were fascinated.

"A-ah, yes, yes, it's alright. But we don't want to bother young master Walter. So..."

Arlin was about to ask someone to bring a new couch or something when Finley laughed softly.

"No, it's okay. I can't stay for long. I'll just greet Lady Sloan..." Finley looked at Ainsley and kept his acting, as if he was never Finnie, the little fairy.

"This is our second meeting, right? My father told me to greet you for a moment. Forgive me if I disturb you and your friends."

Finley directly spoke to Ainsley but also didn't ignore her friends.

He smiled politely, and that smile was really somewhat mysterious in the children's eyes.

Only Ainsley raised an eyebrow and silently snorted.

Finley Walter again. This fellow is the one who imitates Finnie, right? Hmph!

Ainsley restrained her dislike of this young master and nodded politely.

"Greetings, young master Walter. This is indeed the second time we met. The first time should be at my potion auction event."

She didn't remember Finley's appearance at that time, but she believed he was also not showing his real appearance.

Maybe this one wasn't his real appearance either.

The boy is really full of mystery, ah! Why wouldn't he show his face to the others? Is he ugly, or maybe he's too handsome after being blessed by the fairy?

All sorts of conspiracies ran inside Ainsley's mind, but she kept a poker face outside.

"I haven't greeted uncle Evan yet, so..."

Ainsley didn't see Evan or Jake just yet and wanted to use Finley to find Evan. Finley immediately sensed her intention and nodded.

"Just call me brother Fin like what you called me before. Right, if you want to find my dad, I can guide you to him. Uncle Jake is also there."

Ainsley knew that Evan was close to Jake, so it means Finley should be close to the young man too.

But her focus was completely on the boy's first sentence.

...what brother Fin. I never remember calling you that?! Or maybe that's when I'm still relying on my cute image to fool everyone??

Lately, Ainsley didn't act cute anymore because she's strong enough to rely on her status rather than her cuteness.

So, why would she intimately call someone with 'big brother' ??

Ainsley rolled her eyes but didn't want to embarrass Finley. She nodded and obediently called out.

"Big brother Fin."

The girl paused before looking at her five friends with an apologetic smile.

"Big sis, big bro, I'll follow big brother Fin to see uncle Evan first. Wait for me here, okay? It won't be long!"

Ainsley wasn't accompanied by her little bodyguard team anymore, but everyone in the party was not accompanied by their guards.

The little baby looked so vulnerable alone, and the five children were worried if they let her roam alone.

But now that Finley Walter was here, maybe they could leave her to him.

"Okay, okay, go on. We will wait for you!" Azkar quickly replied to Ainsley and even winked at the little girl.

"Big brother will prepare sweets and desserts for you, so come back soon."

"Yeah, yeah."

The other four chipped in, seemingly flaunting their close relationship in front of Finley and Noah's little group.

So shameless and childish, ah!

Chapter 809 - 'Becoming Closer To Finley Walter'

Ainsley laughed at her friends' response and quickly promised them to come back early before leaving with Finley.

Of course, the invisible Godfather and Zev also left with Ainsley, but the duo was busy talking to each other through telepathy.

[Dave, don't you think that Finley boy is a bit strange? I didn't see his fairy, but...]

Zev already knew that Finnie was actually Finley.

Now that Finley Walter approached Ainsley in his true identity, Zev felt somewhat nervous.

What is his motive to approach his little host??

[...it is him, not a fake. And yes, the little library fairy and the boy are the same person. The fairy...the fairy is hiding somewhere inside the boy's clothes.]

The Godfather didn't think that Finley would harm Ainsley, but somehow, he just felt annoyed at the boy.

It was as if someone was trying to steal the little cabbage he planted and cared for so meticulously!

The duo made sure that this Finley wasn't an imposter before gossiping about the boy with sour faces.

[Do you think this boy likes my host? Maybe he wants to court her? But her body is only three years old! Not even four years old yet!]

Zev grumbled at the Godfather, and he boldly drilled into the Godfather's arms, nestling comfortably inside the man's embrace.

While bad-mouthing Finley, Zev lazed around in the Godfather's embrace and the young man actually didn't kick Zev away.

He casually patted Zev's short hair and snorted.

[If that Finley boy dares to touch Lil Lass, we can haunt him every night. Hmph!]

The Godfather took Ainsley as his dear disciple, his daughter. Why would he give her away to someone they barely knew??

Zev nodded vigorously as he watched Finley and Ainsley walking side-by-side, crossing the huge party hall to find Evan.

Right now, the duo wasn't talking at all, but after a few seconds, Finley started to open his mouth.

"So...I heard that you have another cooperation with my dad?" Finley pretended to not know anything even though he actually knew a lot of things.

Ainsley heard Finley mentioning Evan, and the baby couldn't help but soften her expression.

"Yes. You should have heard the rumors about Inheritance Stone's mine on a mysterious island, right?"

"Yeah, I heard some of it on the internet. But I don't know the details."

Ainsley didn't suspect Finley because she knew that the boy already entered the Elton Academy somehow.

Maybe the Elton Academy blocked their students from the outside world if it's not time to gain experience.

After all, the outside world events and news could distract the students, even giving them bad influences.

Without the outside world's influence, the students would slowly forget their family feuds, their misconceptions of some races, and so on.

That way, the various races attending the Academy, the various royal families, high-ranking families, and all sorts of families could coexist peacefully.

This academy was also backed by the World Union, and became one of the bridges to connect future influential people of all races.

It all started when these people were still young and built friendships at school.

After they graduate, even if they aren't as close as before, they will have no conflicts when they interact with each other in the future.

These people were all needed by the World Union to maintain world peace between a lot of races and cooperate together to block the demon races from invading their homes.

Knowing that Finley might not know a lot of things about Pandora Island and Evan might not tell him about it, the baby started to tell Finley about Pandora Island.

The conversation was short, only a few minutes, but the atmosphere between the two had improved a lot.

"Ohhhh, that's such an interesting island! If the Academy ever holds a study tour, I'll ask the academy to bring us to Pandora Island."

Finley had a smile on his face as he joked.

Pandora Island could really develop into an interesting place for everyone, but it might take a year or two.

Even Ainsley also took Finley's words as a joke, thinking that the Academy could bring their students to other races' continents for a study tour instead.

Little did they know that this kind of joke would happen in less than two years...

After talking about Pandora Island, the tournament, and so on, the duo became closer than before.

Ainsley also didn't feel restricted when talking to Finley and somehow found him a bit familiar.

Finley's aura really made people want to get close to him. He's like the warm sunshine overlooking the world, gentle yet bright.

Or maybe because he's blessed by the fairies...

Anyway, Ainsley found out that she could relax around Finley just like how she could be herself around Finnie.

As expected of the one favored by the fairies...maybe even Finnie, the library fairy, would also like Finley if the two of them met.

Right after Ainsley thought so, Finley had already found his father and brought Ainsley to Evan and Jake.

Because of that, Ainsley tossed away her messy thoughts and energetically greeted Evan.

"Uncle! Happy new year." Ainsley grinned from ear to ear as she chatted with Evan as if he were her own dad.

She also saw Jake and didn't forget to ask about the young World Tree that Jake promised her.

"When will it arrive? I want to plant it inside the magic prairie quickly!" Ainsley sulked at Jake but didn't tell him she was anxious to repair her wounded soul.

The World Tree's aura could heal one's wounded soul, no matter how severe it was.

One only had to spend a long time around the tree if their soul wound was much more severe.

How magical is that?

I BECOME BABY MAFIA BOSS

Chapter 810 - '4th January'

With the World Tree's magical effect, Ainsley didn't need to risk her life by boosting Code-B' luck to summon a soul healer spirit....

She only had to sleep around or play around the young world tree!

Jake smiled at Ainsley's words and couldn't help but stroke the toddler's head.

"Don't worry. The tree will arrive on your birthday. But it won't be my birthday gift for you, of course. That's a separate matter."

Jake winked playfully, and Ainsley couldn't help but laugh.

"Okay, I'll be waiting! As for my birthday party...I will also hold a tea party before the night banquet...Jake, you have to come!"

After all, the tea party would only be for those close to her, unlike the night banquet where all sorts of people would attend.

"Hum. No worries, I'll definitely attend. Right, will you invite Finley too? I just saw you're quite close to him."

Jake glanced at Finley, who was talking to some of Ecan's friends.

Jake didn't have any intention when mentioning Finley, and Ainsley also didn't have any big reaction.

She only raised an eyebrow and cleared her throat.

"Right, I forgot. I only talked to him twice so far...and I'm not that close to him...but since I'll invite Uncle Evan and big brother Fin is here..."

Ainsley didn't plan to invite Finley to the tea party at first, thinking that he would still be at the academy.

But since the other party was here, if she didn't invite him, it would be awkward.

"I'll just invite Uncle Evan but ask Uncle Evan to bring big brother Fin along."

In other words, Finley wouldn't be invited, but he could come together with Evan.

Jake laughed at Ainsley's response and suddenly felt that befriending her back then was really a good investment.

"If that's the case, can I bring my mother too? Or someone else? You know, I have a lot of non-human races friends..."

Ainsley's eyes instantly lit up at Jake's words.

"That's okay! You can bring your non-human races friends...because sooner or later, I'll visit their continents."

But if their first meeting were at her mansion, she wouldn't be so nervous anymore, thanks to her environmental advantage.

Jake didn't expect Ainsley to agree so fast. After all, his friends indeed wanted to meet Ainsley to discuss the Inheritance Stone's mine in advance.

They all wanted to get early access to buy the stones before their own races got to know the stones' existence.

Jake's friends would usually be the royal family, nobles, or merchants. This time, the ones very interested to see Ainsley were the merchants.

The royalties and nobles couldn't visit other races' continents so easily without alarming the human government.

Only the merchants could do so.

Sherleen, the elf that came with Jake months ago, was an exception.

She's not a merchant, but she went to the continent for official reasons through Jake as the middleman

This time, the one wanting to meet Ainsley didn't have any official reasons to go and only wanted to talk about cooperation, business and deepening their relationship with the baby.

Such a tea party was really suitable for their own convenience.

Jake was only stunned for a while before nodding.

"Okay, I'll inform them so that they can arrive before 4th January. There are still three or four days...they can arrive quickly if they go to my Port Island."

The non-human races couldn't visit the human territories through any type of teleportation, because it was too dangerous for the humans' safety.

Even humans couldn't do the same thing when visiting non-human races' territories.

Because of this, Port Island and Pandora Island, which were conveniently trapped by several large non-human races' territories, became the perfect 'airport' for these merchants.

They could use the Teleportal in Port Island to arrive at the Godlif country's capital, and from there, could travel to other human countries and territories.

Of course, this wasn't illegal because Port Island became the one filtering those who wanted to enter the capital.

It was also why the government didn't dare to mess with the Billios Family.

If the Billios Family was offended, they could smuggle a lot of non-human races to the capital, and the government would suffer.

Of course, Port Island also had countless Teleportals heading to other human races' continents!

Definitely, not all non-human races had a connection with Jake, but the big races were all somewhat close and friendly to Jake.

Ainsley also intended to develop Pandora Island to be like Port Island, housing many non-human races and becoming the transit route of the merchants and travelers.

With Pandora Island's size, they could house more merchants and travelers, and could share Port Island's burden, lessening the pressure on Port Island.

Jake pretty much loved to share the burden of being a transit island to Pandora Island instead.

He has had it enough to make Port Island the gathering of countless merchants, but to also house influential travelers for the sake of convenience...

He didn't want that, ah! His Port Island wasn't that big, okay?

Only as big as two or three big cities, definitely not as big as Pandora Island, which could cover an entire Roane Region!

And so, Ainsley kept talking to Jake about Pandora Island's development while the poor abandoned Finley would glance at Ainsley from time to time as he entertained the oldies.

Ah....when would he have a chance to be with Ainsley, just the two of them alone?

He didn't have any romantic thoughts, but he quite missed his friend, Ainsley, okay??

Just like that, the new year party ended quietly.

After the party was over, time passed by. Three days were gone in a flash.

It was finally the 4th of January...Ainsley's birthday!
