Chapter 1249

Claire gawked at Ruka, and her eyes were wide with disbelief. “Are you in a relationship? Who is it? Why haven’t we met him yet?”

Robert was equally puzzled as he cast a curious glance at Ruka.

Ruka nodded with a blushing face and confessed, “Yes, I am in love with someone.”

That’s why he behaves as he does in the restaurant.

Claire’s exasperation grew along with her understanding. “You could inform us earlier. Tell me more. I’m curious about him and his family background. Is he also handsome?”

Ruka pursed her lips. She wasn’t sure how to answer her mother’s questions, but when she did, firin sounded. “He’s a successful man who’s out of reach.”

“Then what do you do for a living?” Claire pressed impatiently.

However, Ruka simply shook her head in response.

“I will inform you once it is official. We just started seeing each other.”

“In that case, you’d better make sure it’s trustworthy. I don’t want you to bring home a hooligan,” Claire warned her daughter.

Ruka texted Ren as soon as he got home that night. What are you doing?

She didn’t expect him to answer so soon, but she did, and her heart skipped a beat. He texted me: ‘I just got home. You?’”

“Me too. Guess what? My parents actually arranged an appointment for me today. She lay on her bed as she waited for his possible answer.

Ruka was shocked by Ren’s call and almost dropped her phone. He had just passed him through when he heard his deep, seductive voice ask, “What happened?”

“I’ve upset his parents and my parents have given me a good fight,” he said quietly with one hand over his mouth.
