1. Fresh and Refined

"What?" Jessie looked at her in confusion as she put on her coat.

Sally had an ambiguous expression. "Him! Boss Alex! That night, he made a passerby like you a big star in R City. You still want to play dumb with me? Hurry up, I will forgive you if you tell me the truth. If you refuse to tell me the truth, I will not forgive you!"

Jessie rolled her eyes speechlessly, "Do you remember the two babies that came to find me in the coffee shop? Boss Alex is their father."

Furthermore, she still remembered that night when he righteously warned her not to get close to them.

She couldn't wait to get far away from him. She wouldn't even try to get close to him. Ridiculous!

"Ah!" All the pink love stories that Sally had fantasized about broke out one after another. Her shoulders collapsed. "I forgot that I saw it on the Internet. Boss Alex is the father of the child. However, if it is a man like Boss Alex, it doesn't matter if he has stepmother, right?"

Jessie smiled, "If there is no harm, then you go?"

Sally thought for a few seconds and shrugged her head while drenched in sweat. "Then forget it. Stepmother is not easy to be. Furthermore, those two children of his are two little devil kings. With my hot temper, I can be arrested by the police at any time."

"Then you are still egging me!"

"Forget it, forget it. Pretend that I did not say anything." After packing their things, the two of them put on their jackets outside their formal attire, picked up their bags, and walked out together.

A hotel's security guard walked over, politely and respectfully inviting the two ladies to the banquet hall. Sally looked at Jessie with an ambiguous smile.

Jessie hurriedly smiled and waved her hands. "Thank you. No need. We are not hungry."

Security guard looked troubled and almost begged, "You two should go. Boss Alex had asked the chef to prepare dinner for you alone. If I did not bring you there, I will be treated as if I did not do my job well. I might lose my job."

Sally knocked Jessie's arm. "Since he said so, let's go. Otherwise, won't your conscience hurt if he loses his job? Furthermore, we haven't eaten for a day. I am indeed hungry."

Security guard saw Sally helping him and looked at Jessie with more sincerity and anticipation.

Jessie's heart softened when they looked at her. "Alright then, let's go over now."

Because they were going to the banquet hall, there was standard clothing inside. Jessie and Sally took off their coats again and continued to wear formal attire to follow him.

"Thank you! Thank you! Really thank you!" The security guard thanked them excitedly, as if he was afraid that they would go back on their word. He quickly went to the front and opened up a path, "Follow me."

Jessie, "..."

Sally was speechless. "..."

Ever since Jessie's performance ended, Yura and Hannah immediately came to the entrance of lounge.

When they heard that Boss Alex invited the two of them to the banquet hall, Yura and Hannah were so jealous that their hearts twisted.

Just as security guard brought Jessie and Sally out, Yura hurriedly straightened her hair and clothes and arrogantly blocked in front of him, "Do you know me? I am hungry, take me to the dining hall to eat!"

Yura's family background was not bad. She was a female celebrity that her parents used all kinds of resources to support and was very popular. Security guard naturally knew her. He was stunned and answered honestly. "Sorry, I did not receive the notice to invite Miss Yura to the banquet hall."

Sally could not help laughing and did not forget to ridicule Yura, "Boss Alex invited us but did not invite you. You also want to go to the front hall to have a meal? Then you should have gone to hook up with Boss Alex back then, and not blindly hook up with Mike, that grassroots with neither power nor status."

Jessie also disliked Yura's manner of stirring up trouble everywhere and did not stop Sally from mocking her.

Yura's face turned red and white and she glared at security guard even more fiercely, "Bring me to the banquet hall. I will give you the autograph photos!"

Sally laughed coldly. "Who cares about your autographed photos!"

"You b*tch, shut up!" Yura roared angrily.

Security guard was stunned.

Sally was gloating. Go on and insult us! If your fans expose you, you will be in trouble!

Hannah quickly pulled Yura's sleeve and softly reminded, "Yura!"

Yura realized that she had cursed in front of a stranger and felt annoyed in her heart. Her expression became even uglier and she warned the security guard, "Don't tell others what I looked like just now. Otherwise, I will make you suffer!"

Security guard's impression of her beautiful image on the screen completely collapsed. He was very disappointed in her. His face darkened. "I'm sorry, I didn't receive any notice. I can't bring Miss Yura in. If Miss Yura wants to go... Go and find Boss Alex yourself. Boss Alex is still waiting to see Miss Jessie. Please move aside and don't delay Boss Alex from seeing Miss Jessie. I'm afraid Miss Yura cannot bear the consequences!"

After saying that, the security guard forcefully pushed Yura and Hannah aside and protected Jessie and Sally as they walked forward.

In the hotel, the security guard was a veteran and his martial arts was very good. With this push, Yura and Hannah almost fell down.

When they stabilized their footing, the three of them had already walked far away and were almost at the main entrance of the banquet hall.

Before entering the luxurious banquet hall, a tall figure walked out from the corner, "Jessie."

This voice was very familiar to Jessie.

Her back froze.

Mike walked in front of her and saw her in a beautiful white dress. His expression instantly became even more complicated and unwilling. "Jessie, I..."

"Yura and Hannah, those two bitches just left and you came again? Are you not done yet? Don't you want Jessie to be a little better? Let me tell you. You, Mike, are stupid, but it doesn't mean that all the other men in this world are as blind as you. The one who invited Jessie was Boss Alex. He was the top Prince Charming that scum like you could never compare with in ten lifetimes! Even if you want to bully Jessie again, Let's see if you can do it!" Sally saw him and immediately became furious. She pulled Jessie behind her and fiercely interrupted him.

When Mike heard her say that the man behind Jessie was really Alex, his heart immediately overturned the Five Flavorings Bottle. He was filled with mixed feelings, and his expression became even more depressed. His voice was somewhat dry and hoarse. "How could I possibly bully Jessie? In the past, it was indeed because I was blind that I divorced Jessie. Now that I'm here... I don't have any other intentions. I just want to remind you. You can't afford to offend a man like Alex, and you can't take him down either. I'll admit it myself. As a man, he does have charm and conditions that all women can't resist. However, it's better for a person to know his own limitations."

"Are you crazy? Whether Jessie can take down Musical Station or not has nothing to do with you. You should take care of your own matters!" Sally could not bear to listen and directly started to scold.

Jessie's face was also cold. "I remember that after the divorce, I told you that we will go our separate ways in the future. You have no right to interfere in my matters, please move aside!"

Mike was so embarrassed that his face turned red. "I'm just afraid that you will be hurt and want to care about you."

"Get lost. The person who hurt Jessie the most was you, Trash Mike. You still have the face to say that!" Sally pulled Jessie and wanted to leave.

As she brushed past, Mike suddenly grabbed Jessie's slender wrist and said in a low voice, "Jessie, I really care about you..."

"Is Mr. Mike deaf or does he not understand human language?" The man's cold and deep voice cut in.

Everyone was stunned.

Alex walked over and reached out his hand to grab Mike's hand. The force seemed casual, but it actually almost broke Mike's wrist bone.

Mike felt intense pain and was forced to let go of Jessie's hand.

Alex naturally pulled Jessie behind him and looked at Mike coldly. "Should I recommend an ear doctor for you, or should I recommend a language teacher to teach you how to listen to people?"

Sally could not hold it in anymore and laughed. Boss Alex's skill was so bad that it was too refreshing to listen to.

ISS

Mike's face turned red and white. He was also frightened by Alex's oppressive aura. After being mocked and scolded by him, his legs became weak and his voice became lower by a few degrees. "Sorry, sorry, Boss Alex. I will definitely respect Jessie in the future..."

Alex interrupted him and his dark eyes slightly withdrew. "Jessie what?"

Mike was so scared that his heart trembled. He quickly changed his words. "Sorry, I am saying that I will respect Miss Jessie's feelings in the future. I will try to learn to understand her words!"

Alex slowly straightened his actually neat suit sleeves. "Looks like you still need to learn how to listen to people."

"I was wrong. I was wrong, Boss Alex. I will definitely do what Miss Jessie wants in the future. I will never pester her again!"

Jessie looked at Mike, who was humble and broke out in cold sweat. She did not know what to feel in her heart.

In a daze, her hand was held by a warm and dry big hand. He pulled her into the banquet hall.

Jessie only woke up when she felt countless burning eyes. Her hand was actually held by Alex. She was so scared that her brain buzzed. She used all her strength to pull her hand out o f his big palm.

When her small hand struggled free, Alex only felt that his palm was empty and a sense of loss arose in his heart.

But he estimated that Jessie's skin was thin. In front of so many people, she would not be willing to hold hands with him and become the center of attention. He also did not force Jessie to hold hands with him anymore.

The scene of Alex and Jessie interacting with each other today was beyond everyone's imagination and expectations.

When they saw the two of them holding hands, even though it was only for a short second, Actually, everyone had already seen it in their hearts.

The friends and clients who were close to Alex immediately came over. They tried to get close to Alex or make fun of him by using all kinds of methods to get information about Jessie's identity and her true relationship with him.

Alex had been in business for many years, and he had long mastered the ability to remain calm. He wore a faint and charming smile, and was able to deal with these people with ease.

He also calmly multitasked. He secretly signaled Rick to take Jessie and Sally to the dinner table that had been prepared.

In order to avoid being disturbed, Rick and the security guard, who had just brought the two in, guarded not far away. They did not disturb the two of them eating and also made others not dare to approach.

The dining table of the two ladies was set in a corner by the huge French window. The outside of the window was brightly lit, and the banquet hall was bustling with noise and excitement

Although this place was isolated by Rick and the others, it was still quiet in a corner.

However, the various 'passionate' gazes that shot over from the banquet hall made Jessie feel as if she was sitting on pins and needles.

How was he asking her to eat? It was as if he was asking her to eat a bomb.

The dishes cooked by the chefs of the hotel on the table were very delicious, but she was so frightened that her taste was as good as chewing wax.

1. What Logic?

Mike's words were unpleasant, but there was a saying that was true, a man like Alex... You can't afford to offend him, and you can't get him either. Although she had never thought of having any relationship with Alex, the fact that he had brought her in front of everyone made her feel a lot more pressured. Sally had been starving for a long time. Now that she saw the table full of delicious food, she did not even want to live anymore. She only cared about eating desperately. She did not think as much as Jessie and continued to eat crazily.

She finally finished eating and when she saw that Jessie did not drink, she quickly urged in a low voice, "Don't just focus on eating and drink this. I have seen this brand of wine on the Internet before. Do you know how much it costs to drink a bottle?"

Jessie casually asked, "How much?"

"It costs at least tens of thousands!"

Jessie was shocked, "Really?"

Sally nodded, "Really! Tens of thousands was still the lowest price of this brand. There is still a bottle worth hundreds of thousands per bottle. Although I am not sure how much this bottle is worth, it is worth tens of thousands per bottle."

"How can there be such an expensive wine?" Jessie was also curious. She took a sip of the wine and felt that it was not much different from ordinary red wine. It just felt that the taste was smoother. She smiled, "It seems to be no different from the wine that I drank a few hundred yuan earlier."

Her understanding of red wine was limited to the competitions she had with the seniors of the company. She had been invited by her master Jerry and the others to eat western food a few times, so she did not know much about it.

Sally chuckled. "I think so too. However, it is expensive because it is worth a lot of money. This sip of wine should be worth at least a thousand yuan, right? It's rare for us to have such a luxurious opportunity, so we can't waste it. It will be very embarrassing for us to tell others in the future. Right?"

Jessie kept laughing at her words and also raised her cup to touch her. "Yes, a sip of wine costs at least a few thousand dollars. We can't waste it. Let's drink."

The more they drank, the more excited they became. They also felt that it was getting better and better. They both wanted to continue drinking.

Jessie was not good at drinking. Her two glasses were already drunk and her face was flushed red. She completely forgot that she was still at the high-end banquet that made her feel stressed. At this moment, there was only fine wine in her eyes. She had completely forgotten all the nervousness and awkwardness.

Not long after, the two bottles of red wine that were prepared for them on the table were finished by them.

Sally was drinking happily. She held the table and stood up. She waved at security guard who was not far away and her tongue could not even straighten. "Handsome, drink. Give us two more slaps!"

Security guard did not dare to make the decision. He turned to look at Rick.

Rick saw that the two of them were drunk and did not dare to make a decision. He took a step forward and was about to ask the Boss when he stopped after two steps. He thought for a while and called the waiter over and instructed him to bring wine to Jessie and Sally.

Security guard was worried and carefully asked him, "Assistant Rick, Miss Jessie and Miss Sally seem to be drunk. Won't they blame us if we let them drink again?"

Rick smiled with a profound taste. "Anyway, she is already drunk. She might as well be completely drunk."

Security guard was speechless.

They were happy, but he was worried that his work would be fired as well.

Rick saw his worry and patted him on the shoulder. "Don't worry, you won't be fired in a carefree manner. Instead, you will be promoted and get a raise."

Security guard was speechless.

What kind of divine logic was Assistant Rick?

However, how could he guess the thoughts of people like them? After all, not everyone was qualified to be Boss Alex's assistant.

The banquet ended and everyone left.

In the grand banquet hall, there were only two drunken women left at the table in the corner.

Sally lay on the sofa chair and almost rolled over.

Luckily Rick rushed over in time and helped her to the sofa chair again.

"Take her back." Alex slowly walked over and said in a deep voice.

"Alright." Rick landed on the ground and carried Sally, who was so drunk that she was unconscious, on his back. He quickly walked away.

Although he did not know where the girl on his back lived, in this situation, the sooner he left, the better it would be for boss.

He left the banquet hall and did not forget to tell the people in the hotel not to let anyone in before Alex came out.

The Hill Hotel had the shares of the Mumen Group, so naturally they would obey his orders.

In the banquet hall, only Jessie was left lying on the dining table and sleeping.

Her hand was holding the empty crystal wine glass, her red face was pressed against a thin arm, and her lips were pressed down to slightly pout.

Her delicate eyebrows were tightly knitted, and her long and thick eyelashes were like wings that cast a small shadow under her eyelids.

Alex slowly walked over, pulled a chair over, and sat beside her.

The warm golden light in the banquet hall shone on her face, making her appear even more gentle and quiet.

The surroundings were so quiet, and he was also silent. His deep eyes stared at her face for a long time, making it impossible for others to guess what he was thinking at this moment.

Jessie felt dizzy at first and when she fell asleep, she felt that she had returned to the summer when she was in high school.

After school, she went through the school building and returned to the dormitory.

“Jessie!”

Someone called her name from behind.

She turned around and saw Mike.

He was wearing a blue and white sports suit, holding a basketball in his arms, and his fair and handsome face was covered in sweat.

She knew that he was the senior year Mike, he was the handsome guy in the school, and the girls in the dormitory talked about him the most every day. Jessie wanted to ignore him, but it was hard not to know him.

When she entered the school, he was in his second year of high school, all the way until she was in her second year of high school. They had been in the same school for more than a year. The two of them had never interacted before.

She looked at him blankly. “What do you want?” Mike’s smile was bright and charming. “Help me buy a bottle of water.”

Jessie was stunned. She really went to the convenience store to buy him a bottle of water. Along the way, she hesitated for a long time whether she should ask him the money for the mineral water. Just now, he only asked her to buy water but did not give her the money.

When she arrived at the basketball court, she discovered that there were countless crazy girls there, holding all kinds of drinks and mineral water and shouting Mike’s name. They wanted him to drink their water.

She stood there stupidly until Mike passed by many people and came over with a smile on his face. He took the bottle of mineral water that she was holding tightly.

The scene changed. She was lying on a hospital bed in the hospital. She was taken out of the ovaries room and it was very painful.

Mike ran over and held her hand tightly. He kissed the back of her hand heavily. His eyes were red. "Jeje, let's get married. I will marry you! I will not let you down!"

She felt that the pain had become irrelevant because of his proposal. Just as she was about to reach out and shake hands with him, the scene changed again.

In the hotel room, Mike and Yura were entangled in a passionate kiss.

He fiercely snatched the marriage certificate and shouted that he no longer loved her. He wanted to divorce her and ask her to get lost.

He was once again pulled into the room by Yura. The two of them crazily tangled together. . .

Jessie wanted to run over and separate them.

But her feet stepped on empty air and she woke up. She looked at the magnificent and empty banquet hall and her eyes were blank. She turned her head and saw a handsome and profound face.

Her dizzy consciousness made her vision somewhat blurry.

She shook her head, slowly lifted her lips, and smiled.

It was alright, it was alright, it was just a dream.

She knew it, how could Mike do that kind of thing with other women?

He was her hubby. He promised that he would never let her down.

She could not help but move her butt closer to his chair. It was rare for her to reach out with two bracelets on his slim waist and lean her face on his broad shoulders.

Alex's deep eyes slightly retracted and he lowered his head without batting an eyelid to see what she wanted to do.

S

She raised her small face and looked into his dark eyes. Like the countless times she tried to let go of the restraint in the past five years, she took the initiative to kiss his lips.

The fragrance of the wine in the man's lips made her entranced. Half of her body was pressed against his firm chest, and her hands were wrapped around his neck. Her eyes were misty, shy and blur.

Alex's eyes were as dark as ink.

However, he did not have any intention of pushing her away.

She threw the red wine on his face. The scene of that night of sex overlapped with the current scene.

The veins on his forehead were faintly floating.

Jessie previously could at most kiss his lips this step and did not dare to kiss again.

Furthermore, whenever she kissed Mike, he would impatiently wave her away. He said that he was tired. He did not allow her to continue the next step.

But at this moment, she was drunk and strong, and Jessie even kissed his neck.

Alex was thirsty. He suddenly reached out and grabbed the back of her head. He turned the passive into active and deeply kissed her red lips.

Jessie was stunned.

She wanted to open her eyes and know why Mike was different today.

Before she could wake up, the man had already carried her over.

Too many things flashed through her mind, causing her to feel even more drowsy.

Finally, the scene settled down to a point.

That was the child.

Ever since they got married, Granny had always used the matter of the child to scold her for hating her.

Mike was actually like this today. She might even have a child.

wa

She couldn't help but have a trace of anticipation in her heart.

She suppressed her panic. Although she had never felt anything strange before, she still tried her best to respond.

He kissed her so hard that she couldn't breathe.

She was dizzy, and her hands could not help but try to hold onto him. Through his vest and shirt, she climbed up his strong chest muscles randomly.

He lowered his head and stared at her unusually red face. His low voice seemed to be dull due to restraint. "Are you sure?"

Jessie only focused on the child and looked at him with misty eyes, smiling foolishly.

She wanted to undo the buttons on his suit and belt.

But she had never done it before.

In the past, Mike would never let her touch it.

Therefore, she tried for a long time but was unable to open it.

She could not help but frown and pout.

Alex suddenly picked her up and gave her a large, thick, and soft sofa to the side.

Jessie's forehead hit the glass window in front of her.

There was a dull sound.

She cried out in pain.

Before she could react, a strong male Aura, the Monger Lotus, poured out.

Jessie's mind buzzed. Because she was in a fluster, she could not help but whisper. "Mike, Mike..."

1. Protect Her Under My Wings

She called Mike.

The men on her body stopped moving.

Mike?

Mike!

Alex's eyes were filled with coldness.

Jessie rubbed her aching head and saw that he had stopped moving.

Her heart ached.

Was Mike going to call for work again?

He wasn't really tired. He just didn't feel anything for her, right?

He and other women could do it, but not with her, his wife.

After the soreness in her heart, anger surged in her. She once again extended a pair of slender arms, forcefully hugging his neck, and was about to kiss him again.

as

Alex's throat kept sliding. He stared at the bottom of her eyes, cold and hot intertwining. His abdomen was so tight that it seemed like it was going to explode in an instant.

Jessie could not kiss him anymore as her body was suddenly lifted up by a strong force.

She was lifted onto the sofa by him.

Two figures that were close to each other appeared on the black glass.

She inadvertently looked up and saw a deep and handsome face that was completely different from Mike's.

Her heart suddenly trembled.

Her consciousness seemed to have returned a little and began to struggle unceasingly.

Alex pursed his thin lips, and his handsome face was ice cold. He was like an enraged beast, and his entire body emitted the danger of devouring people.

"Let me go! Go away!" Jessie was so scared that the drunkenness dissipated. She began to struggle fiercely and her voice trembled to the point of deforming.

Alex was born noble, and he was used to being in a high position. How could he tolerate a woman shouting another man's name under him?

Especially after seeing that it was him, her struggle, her trembling, made him even more furious.

He, the dignified Alex, could not even compare to the male artiste that he was going to lay his hands on?

He roughly pinched her small jaw, forcing her to look into his eyes. He sneered ruthlessly." Let go? You were the one who took the initiative to crawl onto me just now and seduced me to mess with you!"

The man's ruthless and cold face was right before her eyes. Jessie was even more panic stricken. This kind of him was not as warm as when he saved her on the stage. At this moment, he only made her feel afraid.

The sound of metal buttons being unlocked came from behind. Her heart tightened and she struggled even harder, "Boss Alex, I did not seduce you."

That word, she didn't even have the face to say it.

Her slender shoulder was suddenly bitten by him.

"Ah –" The piercing pain made her scream in pain.

She actually dared to admit that the man she wanted wasn't him!

While she was still in pain, the fabric of his cold pants stuck to her skin.

The color of blood on her face faded and she shouted hoarsely: "Let me go! Bastard! Rape offender!"

"If I were really stupid, I would have f*cked you last time!" Alex gritted his teeth, almost pressing her down on the back of the narrow sofa.

Jessie had nowhere to run.

Tears rolled down her face. Even though the back of the sofa was wet, it did not cause any pity from the man.

Alex grabbed her slender waist and his long fingers were about to pierce into her skin. He was only going to punish her for not knowing what was good for her, but at this moment, when he looked at the seductive Jessie in front of him, he realized that he could not control himself anymore. His thoughts were even more turbulent than the last time at the hotel.

All these years, he had been doing his business wholeheartedly. Some people thought that he missed his wife too much, so he had no feelings for other women.

Old Master Laurent and his wife knew very well what kind of attitude his son had towards his deceased wife, Gina. It was also because of this that they were even more worried. They thought that there was something wrong with his body, and even specially found him a doctor to ask him about medicine. All of these were coldly ignored by Alex.

They were too anxious. They even did not hesitate to ask Sammy to give him an extreme method like dangerous medicine, but in the end, they did not see a woman enter his room.

The old couple were now even more worried and nervous.

Alex himself knew that he had no problems at all. He just didn't have any feelings for women.

He did not have the feeling of love that was described in the movie, nor did he have the impulse to do so in the movie.

Sammy and the others suspected that he was gay. Alex had been teased by them too many times and was annoyed. He simply did not refute or admit to gay's words. The few brothers took his silence as a silent agreement and were scared. They were afraid that he would have some unspeakable thoughts about them and would immediately cut off all relations with him.

Alex was happy to hear it.

Marrying Gina Horfoud was an accident when he was studying abroad.

Horfoud and Laurent were friends, Laurent family was the leader of R City, and Horfoud family was the leader of N City. If one wanted to trace their relationship, they could chase after her for several generations.

When it came to the younger generation, their relationship was better than that of siblings.

Alex and Gina were studying abroad in England. They had a gathering on Christmas Eve and drank too much. A few months later, Gina found Alex and told him that she was carrying his child, and that it had been found out that it was Felix and Fia fetus.

Alex took the responsibility of marrying Gina.

The marriage between the two families was a happy one.

After the marriage, Gina was pregnant. The demand for that aspect was even more exuberant. Alex tried his best, and every time, it ended in a cold situation. Later on, he had no choice but to use the fetus as an excuse and did not share a room with her.

In this marriage, Alex was partly responsible for Gina and partly guilty.

Gina gave birth and bled heavily. She died on the operating table. This guilt was even more bone-piercing.

She died for his child, leaving him with a pair of healthy children. She sacrificed her life like a flower. This deep affection alone was something that he would never be able to repay in his entire life.

Towards children, he did his duty as a father, bringing them all to his side and personally raising them

As for women, he had been seduced and forced by his family. He had no thoughts about it. In order to avoid facing the awkward way he would get along with Gina after marriage, he had no more thoughts about it. He had rejected all of them because they could not give birth to sexual desires. As for those who refused to give up, he had dealt with them with iron fist methods.

Other than the mental illness of the two elders in the family who wanted to find a daughter-in-law, he felt that life was still becoming more and more idealistic from time to time,

He thought that he would continue to dream like this.

Until that night in the hotel when he touched her.

He thought that it was because of the medicine, so he didn't take it seriously. He couldn't possibly rely on medicine to sleep with women all his life, so he deleted the hotel corridor surveillance.

But later, just seeing the kiss mark on her neck, he actually reacted again.

She was scolded and silently cried. She fell on the stage and was so busy that she forgot to eat...

He admitted that he had lost control.

He wanted to protect this woman under his wings for no reason

rea Son

Before his thoughts had stabilized, he had already made his move.

A 32-year-old man had long surpassed the impulsive period of a young boy. However, if he were to face her, the self-restraint he had always been proud of would collapse in an instant

He had always been rational, and the thing he hated the most was not being able to control himself. However, he could not control himself.

At this moment, he was pressing her in front of him. He was simply unable to maintain his calm and self-restraint as he had towards women. He only wanted to let himself be.

He even had the idea of imitating some despicable men in the business world, using his social status advantage to force her to stay by his side until the sexual urges he had towards her completely subsided before ending the relationship.

Even if he hated her to the bone after the incident, and she made him lose all his face by using him as a female criminal, he still could not suppress this despicable idea. He was going to do her right now!

The veins on his neck were faintly pulsing, and his eyes were dyed red.

"I beg of you... Go away..." Jessie cried out in a hoarse voice due to the pain.

Alex was annoyed by her resistance and was about to give it a shot when his phone rang.

The spacious banquet hall was originally so quiet that only her crying and his rough breathing were left. The ringtone of the phone was especially abrupt and soul-stirring.

Alex's expression was as dark as this. He hugged her tightly and was unwilling to move.

The person who called was persistent.

Her silent sobbing also irritated him. Finally, he let go of one of his hands and took out his phone from his suit to answer.

He glanced at it. He directly cut off his phone and threw it on the carpet.

When she saw that he was about to roll up the dirt again, her slender body trembled even more intensely.

He stared deeply at her. Finally, he did not move forward, but squeezed her chin forcefully again and covered her lips again.

It did not look like a kiss, but a bite.

She could not catch her breath. It was as if she had tasted the sweetness of blood in her lips.

Her mind suddenly went blank. She seemed to see Yura passionately kissing Mike right in front of her.

seel

At that moment, Jessie felt as if her heart had split into thousands of pieces.

Mike had just warned her to stay away from Alex.

If he knew that she had actually kissed Alex like this, what kind of reaction would he have?

Would he also feel a slight heartache like that day?

If Mike knew that she would still have sex with Alex, what would he feel?

With this thought, she suddenly felt a kind of satisfaction from taking revenge.

The fear just now had thinned out. All of a sudden, she became gentle again, and even took the initiative to soften in Alex's broad arms.

However, she was limp on the sofa.

Alex had already let go of her, fastened his belt, and restored his clothes from before. He was calm and noble.

A man who was as fierce as a tiger just now was simply another person.

And she had no hair on her body, and even had the thought of being cheap.

In an instant, she felt ashamed and embarrassed to the extreme.

She rolled to the ground in a sorry state, picked up her messy gown, and carelessly put it on her body.

When she stood up again, there was no shadow of a man in the almost boundless luxurious banquet hall.

She wrapped herself in a coat and picked up the bag from lounge. She panicked out of the hotel and did not dare to raise her head to look directly into the eyes of the hotel staff.

There was no bus at this time. Autumn Night had a cold, so she wrapped her jacket tightly and went to the side of the road to take a taxi.

A black car sped over and stopped not too far away from her.

Jessie recognized the car plate.

This car had been to a coffee shop before. The car plate with a pair of wings was rarely seen. The number at the end of the plate was quite a few zeros. It was easy to remember at a glance.

The reflective glass of the car was pitch black. Even though she did not see the person inside, she still could not help but shiver.

She instinctively turned around and dodged.

After she walked for a long distance, a steady sound of leather shoes approaching came from behind her.

Immediately after, her arm was grabbed by the man's large palm that was like an iron clamp.

"Let me go!" She struggled, roared, and was almost hysterical.

Instead of hating him for what he had done to her at the banquet, it was more accurate to say that she hated herself.

1. Obstructive

She had clearly divorced Mike. She had also clearly said that she would never think of that person again.

However, just now, she actually had the absurd idea of using Alex to take revenge on Mike. She really disgusted herself.

She had promised to pull herself together, but what was she doing just now?

She was ruining herself for a heartless man?

Alex did not make her struggle or resist. He expressionlessly carried her on his broad shoulders and walked back to the car with big strides. He stuffed her into the backseat and sat in the driver's seat.

This car quickly merged with the traffic in R City.

Jessie was tired from shouting and there was no more sound. She curled up in the soft and spacious back seat. Tears fell from the corners of her eyes one after another.

Alex heard her suppressed and aggrieved voice and was very angry. His thin lips were pressed into a straight line, and he did not speak along the way. He drove the car very fast, and it didn't take long for the car to stop at the foot of CnX Apartment.

Just as the car stopped, Jessie had already opened the car door and got out. She did not even look back as she entered the building.

When she waited for the elevator, she could not help but look at the entrance of the apartment

However, the black car had already left. It only left her with two red taillights...

The next day, Jessie suddenly went to work at night.

So, she turned off her phone and fell asleep in Sally's single apartment until noon.

Alex sent her to her house last night. She did not even enter the door when she hurriedly took a taxi to Sally's place at night.

When she came to Sally's house, Sally was sleeping very soundly.

She also did not know how Rick found Sally's home address and sent Sally back.

Sally slept until noon and woke up. Sally had already gone to work early in the morning.

Around 3 o'clock in the afternoon, Jessie went to the coffee shop.

The store manager, Leny, was different from her usual high and cold attitude. When she saw her, she immediately ran over enthusiastically. Leny even took the initiative to hold Jessie's arm and intimately asked, "Have you had lunch? There is a newly made pastry in lounge. Want to try it?"

Jessie was a little nervous, "I have already eaten. Len, what happened yesterday..."

"Let's go in. Let's talk inside!" Leny hugged her even tighter and walked towards the direction of lounge.

Jessie looked at Sally who was in the back counter for help.

Sally smiled and did a reassuring gesture to her.

"Come, come, come. This is the blueberry dragon cake. Try the taste." Leny brought a plate of blueberry dragon cake and sat beside her. She picked up a piece and was going to feed it to Jessie.

Jessie was flattered and nervously smiled, "I will do it myself. Thank you Big Sis Leny."

"Okay, you can eat it yourself." Leny's hands hung down to her knees. She rubbed her knees and said, "That, Jeje. I usually treats you well, right? When you came to the Louisdin at that time, you didn't know anyone. I've been taking you along. You said you liked to make coffee, s o I introduced Jerry and the others to you. Thinking about it, time really passed really quickly. In the blink of an eye, a few years have passed."

Jessie smiled cautiously.

In the past, it was indeed Leny who introduced Jerry to Jessie, but Leny's intention was not so simple.

Jerry was famous for playing with women. He saw Jessie in the company photo and wanted to know her.

Leny introduced Jessie to Jerry in order to please him.

Jessie only discovered his character after getting along with Jerry. Because of this, he had taught Jessie some things. However, Jessie did not have any reaction when she heard that he was hospitalized last time.

"After being together for so many years, you can also see it. I have a bad temper. Yesterday, the headquarters manager sent me a video of you falling on the stage, and I was worried that you were hurt. But... The headquarters manager kept scolding me, and I was stunned by his scolding. So my attitude towards you wasn't good, either. But I really don't blame you, I was just worried, Don't take it to heart." Leny said to Jessie.

Jessie smiled and said, "I didn't. Sis Leny, don't say that."

"You really don't blame me?"

Jessie nodded.

Leny suddenly grabbed her hand tightly and her eyes were filled with anticipation. She said, "Alright then, Jeje. Seeing that we have experienced these three years together, you must help me in the future, okay? You also know that... I've been working in our Feng'an Area for almost five years, and I've been thinking of going to headquarters. Unfortunately, I didn't have the chance. I've been waiting for a long time. Finally, this day has come. Jeje, you are the pride of Cheng'an District. Also, you are too low-profile! You know Boss Alex, a person with a very high status. Why haven't I seen you mention that you know him?"

"Huh?" Jessie was stunned, and said, "That, actually..."

"Jeje, you really make me admire you! This time, you were mentioned by the headquarters as a flower pulling training master. Actually, you already knew in advance, right? In the future, you don't have to stay in this small branch store anymore and don't have to serve customers at all times. You only need to attend a few training classes every week, and then bring along new people. When you arrive at the headquarters in the future, Don't forget our colleagues from Cheng'an District..."

Leny said a bunch of things again...

After coming out of lounge, Jessie was still in disbelief and shock. She could not wake up.

When she came out, other than a few colleagues who were receiving customers, almost all the other colleagues surrounded her.

“Jeje, you have to leave tomorrow. This is the pearl bracelet that I have always worn. I will give it to you now. In the future, when you have nothing to do, ask me to go shopping with you. As long as you ask me out, I’ll definitely be there!”

“Jeje, I don’t have any good gifts for you. I have always carried this wallet with me. Inside the wallet. There’s also a photo taken during our dinner. I’ll give you this wallet as a gift to congratulate you on your promotion. You can’t forget about me!”

“Jeje, Jeje, I live in F District. It’s very close to our headquarters. Can I go to the headquarterst o play with you in the future?”

“Okay, okay, okay...” Jessie smiled but did not dare to accept the gifts.

She had been in Louisdin for a few years and this was the first time she was so popular.

Jessie was a little frustrated.

Jessie waited until Leny came out and shouted out the exciting suggestion that she would treat everyone to a big meal tonight before Jessie was able to break out of the encirclement.

She escaped into the counter and looked like she was relieved of a heavy burden.

Sally brought over a cup of freshly ground coffee and passed it to her, “Everyone in our shop saw yesterday’s video. You are a woman that can be personally saved by Boss Alex. Naturally, you are not on the same level as us mortals. No wonder they are all trying their best to curry favor with you.” Speaking of Alex, Jessie’s mind could not help but recall the scene from last night. Her face was hot and she pretended to be calm. “This was just an accident. If it were anyone else, he would have done it.”

“I don’t think it’s that simple.” Sally got closer to her and said, “Assistant Boss Alex brought those two cute children to you this morning. He called you when you turn off your phone. I said you went to work in the afternoon and then he left so fast. Actually, I feel that Boss Alex i s really special to you. Those two children also like you very much. Do you want to consider being with Boss Alex?”

Jessie thought of those two children and her heart softened. But then she thought of their father. She could not laugh anymore and said, “There’s nothing to consider. I don’t want to talk about relationships anymore.”

Sally knew that Jessie was hurt badly by Mike, so she shrugged and did not say anything else.

va

Jessie tidied up her mood and wholeheartedly threw herself into the new work at the headquarters.

Jessie had to participate in a one-day training before he could officially be promoted. She was busy studying, getting to know her new colleagues, and getting used to the new environment.

She was busy and fulfilling every day.

OW

One day after work, she received an unknown number. "Hello, Miss Jessie. I am Boss Alex's assistant, Rick. I am sorry to disturb you. Did Young Miss Fia go to look for you today?"

Jessie was stunned, "Fia? No. What happened?"

"Fia, Young Miss Fia, she's gone. The driver saw her come out after school this afternoon. In a blink of an eye, he did not see her again. We have already try to search many places but we didn't find her. Boss Alex went on a business trip and wasn't at home. Now, all of us have gone to look for her but we didn't find her. I think she likes you. Maybe she'll come and find you."

Jessie also became anxious, "I did not see her. Did she disappear after school? It has been a few hours now. Have you guys been looking for her near the school and Mountain and River Residence? Where can such a young child run to?"

"We've all been looking for her. We didn't find her. Now everyone was anxious to the point of going crazy, but Young Miss Fia did not have a phone..."

"I will also go and help look for her. Call me if there is any news!" Jessie hung up the phone. At that time, she had already arrived at CnX Apartment's house downstairs. When she saw that her phone was about to run out of battery, she was afraid that she would not be able to use her phone to pay for the taxi later. So she ran into the elevator and prepared to go home to get the battery before going out to help look for the child.

The elevator slid open with a ding sound.

From afar, she saw a small figure squatting in front of her door.

"Fia?!" Jessie recognized it at a glance and quickly ran over.

"Aunt Jeje, why did you just come back? I have been waiting for you for a long time!" The little girl pouted and complained. She held onto the door and stood up.

At this time, the little girl's usually neat and beautiful braids were scattered. The red and purple pieces on her school uniform looked like a color plate. Her school bag was on her back, and her face was dirty as well.

"Fia, how did you end up like this? Who bullied you? Does it hurt anywhere?" Jessie pulled her to her side and carefully looked around.

"It doesn't hurt. These are all colored brushes. Kenny was the one who felt pain. I pushed him to the ground and made him fall." The little girl said complacently.

"Who is Kenny?"

"He's my classmate sitting behind me. He's really detestable. He keeps saying that I don't have a mommy and that I'm a wild child, so I beat him up every day."

Jessie did not know whether to laugh or cry. Thinking that the Laurent family was still in a hurry to find someone, she quickly took out her phone and dialed Rick's number.

Fia hurriedly used her fingers to grab her phone and pitifully looked up at her, "Aunt Jeje, can you not tell my grandparents about my fight?"

"Okay, I won't say." This classmate called Kenny teased a child without a mother. He deserved to be beaten up by a little girl. Jessie suddenly wanted to protect the little girl. "But Kenny is a boy, right? Can you defeat him? Do you want your father to tell the teacher?"

"No need, no need! He's afraid of me now. He was beaten up badly by me again today. In the future, he won't dare to make fun of me anymore."

Jessie smiled, "Is that so?"

"Hee hee."

Jessie made a call with the Laurent family and told them that the child of the Laurent family was with her. She would send Fia back later.

Fia held her hand and whispered, "I don't want to go back. Aunt Jeje, can you let me stay here for a night? Can you send me to school tomorrow?"

1. Has Our Lady Gone to Look for You

"Fia, this won't do..."

"Can't I stay for one night?" The little girl pouted and was about to cry

The little girl looked as she pleaded and Jessie's heart melted. She tried to discuss with Rick," Mister Rick, Fia said she wants to stay here for one night, is that okay? I will definitely take good care of her and send her to school tomorrow. Is that okay?"

Rick was in a dilemma. "She wants to stay for a night? Then let me ask the old man."

"Sorry to trouble you."

Grandpa Rudolf and Grandma Restall on the other side heard that Aunt Jessie was a young and beautiful girl. She was very close to the children and had a friendly heart. They were immediately very excited and wished they could immediately go and see what kind of girl Aunt Jessie was. Would they have the chance to let her and Alex know each other?

In the end, it was Grandma Restall who calmed down first. "Don't be happy too early. We don't know what Alex's attitude is yet. I'm afraid it's our wishful thinking again and it will scare Miss Jessie!"

Grandpa Rudolf also suppressed his excitement. "You are right. This kind of thing needs to be done step by step."

Housekeeper Bart said, "Then let Young Miss Fia stay at Miss Jessie's place tonight?"

"Stay! Of course!" Grandpa Rudolf decided.

Jessie brought the child into her own apartment.

Fia had already been here once. When she went in, it was as if she was at her own house. She curled her little butt and climbed onto the sofa.

The little fellow's body was covered in a thick layer of paint. It could not be dried at all. Even touching it felt cold.

Jessie went to the bedroom to find clothes suitable for her to wear.

After taking a bath, she gave the little girl a cotton T-shirt, a sweater, and elastic underpants. Although the size was a lot bigger, no matter what, at least it would not freeze Fia.

Jessie went to cook and the little girl stayed on the sofa. She ate the apple Jessie peeled for her and watched TV contentedly.

Sally took the key and opened the door to enter.

She and Fia, who was on the sofa, looked at each other for a few seconds.

Sally looked in the direction of the kitchen and shouted loudly, "My dear, where did you get such a doll?"

Fia stood up on the sofa, "My name is Fia, not a doll! Who are you? Why did you enter Aunt Jeje's house without knocking?"

"Aunt Jeje?" Sally understood and smiled, "Your father is Alex?"

"Yes, yes, you know my father?"

Jessie took the spatula and ran to the kitchen door and quickly introduced the two of them, "Fia, this is my friend Mrs. Sally. Sally, she will stay here tonight." Sally pretended not to know, "I don't understand. I don't understand at all." Jessie rolled her eyes at her. "She will stay here for the night. You accompany her to watch T V for a while. The meal will be ready soon." Sally got off work early today and specially came over to freeload. In the end, there was already a freeloader waiting here.

The Magic Fairies was on the television and the little girl was very engrossed in watching it.

Sally sat by the side and looked at her for a while before coming over, "Hey, Fia, why did you come here?"

Fia's eyes did not leave the television. "I miss Aunt Jeje, so I came over.'

"Oh ~ You really like Aunt Jeje?"

Fia gave her a look as if she was saying, Aren't you talking nonsense?

Sally touched her nose. "Why did you come here? Won't your family be worried? Where are your father and brother?"

The little girl was attracted by the television and ignored her.

Sally looked at the little girl and had always wanted to inquire about gossip. She thought about it and got close to the little girl. She smiled and lowered her voice, "If you chat with me, I will give you the key to Aunt Jeje's house. How about it?"

"Really?" The little girl immediately stared at her.

"How could I lie to a brat like you!" "Okay, pull the seal!"

"OK!"

One big and one small reached a contract.

Fia sat up straight and put her hands behind her back. She looked serious. "I took a taxi by myself. Just now Aunt Jeje had already called my family. Dad is away from work and is not home."

"Oh, then who else in your family?"

"There is also Grandfather, Grandmother, Housekeeper Bart and Nanny Lisa. Uncle Rick, Uncle Fin, Uncle Sean..."

"Wait, wait!" Sally stopped her, "This is enough! Other than Aunt Jeje, are you and your brother so close to other aunties? Where's your father? Has he ever had any romantic relationships with other aunties?"

"Brother and I only like Aunt Jeje." The following questions were a little difficult. Fia tilted her head and thought for a while, "As for father, he is very close to many aunties. Auntie Miranda, Madam Cyntia and the like. There are still many, many more."

Sally, "..."

It turned out that he had the same attribute as the scumbag man!

Jessie just came out with the dishes and coincidentally heard this sentence as well. Her impression of Alex could not be any worse.

Seeing that Sally still wanted to ask, Jessie hurriedly said, "Sally, the rice is ready. Come and bring the dishes over."

Just as they were about to start eating, the doorbell rang.

"Who is it?" Sally bit her chopsticks and went to open the door. She did not see anyone and was about to close the door.

"Hello, Auntie!"

She looked down and saw a handsome boy dragging a small suitcase.

Jessie and Fia also ran over to take a look.

Fia widened her eyes. "Big Brother, why are you here?"

Felix rolled his eyes at her and dragged his suitcase into the house.

Jessie quickly took the suitcase and asked worriedly, "Felix, did you run out too?"

As she spoke, she was going to take her phone and call Laurent family.

Felix held her hand. "Uncle Rick sent me here. He only left after he sent me into the elevator."

Sally crossed her arms in front of her chest. "My dear, his luggage has been moved here. These two children are planning to rely on you."

Jessie was worried that Sally's words would make the children think that she disliked them. Jessie patted Sally, "Go and eat your meal."

She asked Felix again, "Have you eaten?"

Felix smelled the fragrance of the food the moment he entered and shook his head.

Jessie brought him to wash his hands and eat. She still called Rick to confirm that it was really him who sent Felix over. Only then did she feel relieved.

Now there were a lot of people. Sally, who was originally prepared to freeload here, had to go back after eating.

She went to the door and said to Jessie.

"The two children are indeed very cute. I like them very much. You will definitely like the softhearted ones too. But just now, you also heard that their father... He has the same moral character as Mike, but his conditions are much better than Mike's. Compared to Mike, there are a lot of women who have feelings for him. The last time I asked you to consider him, it was my fault. I take back what I said before, my dear. From now on, you have to protect yourself. You must not crawl out of a quagmire and fall into another deeper swamp. You have to remember." Sally advised earnestly.

Jessie did not mind and smiled as she said, "Don't worry, I am not that stupid..."

Before she finished her words, her eyes looked deeply into the eyes of the man outside who had been standing there for who knows how long.

She immediately felt guilty and her face turned pale.

It was like saying bad things about people behind their backs but getting caught red-handed.

Alex was wearing a black trench coat and a pair of pants of the same color. He stood very straight, showing his tall leg and tall figure. He was wearing a sky-blue shirt and a black suitcase beside him. His thin lips were pursed and his brows were deeply furrowed. He stood there looking majestic.

"Yes, you are not stupid. You are just blind." Sally said and noticed Jessie's strange behavior. She also turned around and looked back.

When she saw this, she swallowed all the words back to her throat and her heart was beating wildly.

She turned around again and gritted her teeth as she stared at Jessie and softly said, "When did he come?"

Jessie also wanted to know this problem.

Sally squeezed out a smile that was uglier than crying and turned her head again, "That, Boss Alex. Hello, you came to look for Jessie, right? Then you guys can chat. I will leave first!"

After saying that, like a gust of wind, she quickly ran towards the elevator.

Jessie, "..."

What about the agreed to take the risk together? Did she not even explain the trouble Sally caused? She really did not have any sense of sisterhood!

Alex cast a cold glance at her and walked in with long legs. His tall body stood at the entrance and said in a deep voice, "Felix, Fia, go home!"

Felix and Fia trembled when they heard his voice.

"Why aren't you rolling out? Do you want me to go in and find you?" Alex scolded again.

Jessie wanted to say something to help the children, but when she saw his cold face and thought of the words she had said to Sally just now, she could not help but shut her mouth.

The two children were shouted at and slowly walked out.

Felix gathered his courage and said, "Dad, grandpa and grandma have agreed that we will stay with Aunt Jeje tonight..."

Fia hid behind Jessie and held her hand tightly. She looked at Jessie pitifully with her big eyes, making people feel pity for her.

Jessie could not bear to be looked at by the child. She lifted her eyes to look at Alex. The man's dark eyes were like a bottomless pool. Being stared straight at by him made people feel a pressure that made them have nowhere to hide. She bit her lips, "Why not let the children stay here for a night first. Tomorrow I will send them to the kindergarten. I have already promised them..."

Alex forcefully pulled Fia who was behind Jessie over and stared at her deeply, "The person that you do not have a good impression of is their father. Didn't you say that you will never see them again? Don't be stupid again. Jump from a quagmire to another quagmire!"

Jessie, "..

Was this person gambling with her? She had indeed said such words that day. But at that time, he was the one who warned her first. That was why she said those resolute words. It was not that she really did not want to see Felix and Fia again.

No matter what, she was in the wrong.

Felix's small face fell. "Then I'll go and get my luggage."

Seeing him drag the luggage out, Fia suddenly cried and ran towards Jessie again.

Alex picked her up with one arm, with one hand dragging his own luggage, and said coldly, "Felix, follow me!"

Felix reluctantly dragged his suitcase and followed.

"Aunt Jeje! Aunt Jeje! I want to sleep with you!" Fia turned around in Alex's arms and looked at Jessie, shouting and crying at her.

Jessie looked at her like this and felt very sad in her heart. Her eyes also turned red.

When they were waiting for the elevator, Felix turned his small body. He could not hold it in anymore and looked at Alex. "Dad, I want to go to the toilet."

"Bear with it!" "I can't hold it in anymore. No, I'm going to pee!" Felix shouted anxiously.
