

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

Chapter 56

/ The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

1. He Had Unknowingly Put Such a Woman in His Heart

Initially, Alex thought he was only interested in Jessie's body.

Even if he knew that she was the mother of the children and the woman with such a deep relationship with him, he still thought that it was just that while he was interested in her, there was an additional layer of reason to take her as his own.

However, at this moment, he didn't expect that his own daughter would treat her lightly. He actually minded it very much.

It was as if, in an invisible way, the importance of this woman in his heart was even higher than his own daughter and son...

This realization stunned him for a moment.

While he was in a daze, Jessie glared at him angrily because of him scolding Fia, "I made her vomit. The medicine is too bitter. If you don't know anything, then don't scold her!"

Seeing the angry look on the little woman's face, Alex was speechless. He helped her vent her anger, but she shouted at him?

She simply did not know what was good for her!

He actually unknowingly put such a woman in his heart!

Fia also reacted to what she had done wrong. She took a tissue to wipe Jessie's hands and obediently apologized, "Sorry Aunt Jeje, I did wrong."

Jessie also gradually calmed down. She seemed to be pampering this child more and more.

Only biological mothers would treat their biological daughters like this, right?

But just now, she really could not help it.

She was getting more and more confused. Why would she treat Felix and Fia like this...

"Then this medicine?" The nurse held the medicine and carefully said, "The doctor said that she must take it..."

"Let her take it herself!" Alex walked over with a dark expression and took the medicine. If Fia did not eat it, he would force her to drink it.

Jessie immediately could not care about her relationship with the children anymore. She stood up and forcefully took the medicine bottle, "Let me feed it."

The nurse then left.

Alex went to the sofa with a dark expression and sat down. He turned on his laptop and focused on the screen. He let Jessie busy herself in the ward.

Jessie went to wash her hands and took the clean spoon and chopsticks that were still there when she bought breakfast in the morning. She placed the medicinal pellets in the middle of the spoon and used the chopsticks to carefully crush them. She poured some warm water in and mixed it into a spoonful of medicine. She carefully put it to Fia's mouth. "Come, Fia. You will be fine after drinking it like this."

Fia obediently opened her mouth and drank it all in one gulp. This time, the medicine was not left behind at all.

As her small mouth was bitter to the extreme, Jessie like a magic trick took out a lollipop from somewhere and quickly tore off the candy paper and stuffed it into her mouth.

It was precisely the strawberry flavor that the little girl liked.

Fia's small face instantly turned clear as she smiled brightly. "So sweet!"

Felix could not bear to see this girl's appearance. He also went to the other side of the sofa and sat down. He took a book and pretended to read it seriously.

Felix was in low spirits when Jessie handed over a Grapefruit flavored lollipop that had been peeled off in front of him. Further up was Jessie's gentle smile. "The taste you like."

Felix looked at her in a daze, his bright black eyes blinking.

"Come, open your mouth."

Felix opened his mouth in a daze. Jessie fed the candy to his mouth and rubbed his head.

Her smile was very beautiful. The candy in his mouth was as sweet as Fia had said. Felix felt as if his heart was suddenly filled with joy.

He closed the book and happily licked the lollipop.

He inadvertently turned his head and then discovered that the screen that his father had been staring at was actually black.

He suddenly felt that his father was the most pitiful person, because not only did Aunt Jeje not feed him lollipops, it was no wonder that his father's face was so dark. But seeing his father who had always been insufferably arrogant, why was he so happy? His mood was really great!

After eating the medicine, Jessie saw Alex staring at the computer and looking very busy.

After hesitating, she opened her mouth and said: "Why don't you go back to R City first. When Fia's injuries recover, I will send her back..."

Alex closed the computer and made a soft sound.

He looked coldly at Felix who was beside him. Felix's scalp instantly tightened. He sat up straight and said first, "Aunt Jeje, don't worry about my studies, but Fia's studies are not good. I will stay here to tutor her."

Fia glared at him.

This was too detestable. He exposed her shortcomings in order to stay. He was too dishonest! She swore that from now on, she would not speak to Felix anymore!

Jessie had seen Felix's intelligence before. She looked at him and smiled. "Alright, then let dad go back first. I will send the two of you back when the time comes."

Alex stood up and stared at Jessie for a few seconds. He picked up the computer and walked out of the ward with his long legs.

Felix kindly reminded, "Dad, don't worry. Aunt Jeje will take care of us!"

Fia also became happy and silently clapped her hands. "Have a safe journey, Dad!"

Alex turned around and glared at the two little ones who did not have any conscience. His cold gaze finally landed on Jessie's face.

Under his cold gaze, Jessie's smile froze, but she still continued to smile and waved at him. "Then take care!"

It was fine if she did not speak, but once she said it, he was even more annoyed. He flung the door with a bang.

The three people in the ward were shocked at the same time. Then, they let out a breath together and laughed again.

When Alex heard the laughter inside, he was angry, but at the same time, his sexy thin lips curved into a beautiful arc.

Around eleven o'clock, Jouvita brought lunch over.

When he heard Jouvita's voice at the door, Felix immediately ran over to open the door obediently. "Grandma, Dad? Why are you still here?"

Jessie and Fia, who were having fun guessing puzzles, also turned their heads at the same time.

Coming in with Jouvita, who could it be other than Alex, who was carrying a lunchbox bag in his hand?

They all thought that he went back to R City...

When Jessie looked at him, his deep gaze also happened to be looking at her.

Their eyes met and Jessie's heart could not help but beat wildly.

He was still here and it made her feel even more pressure.

She did not know what he was thinking in his heart. Why was he still here?

She did not dare to think deeper, but she could not help it. The more she thought about it, the more confused she became.

She felt as if she had returned to that ambiguous state with him.

This kind of ambiguous feeling made her feel like she couldn't breathe.

"Why are you in a daze? Why aren't you coming over to prepare the table?" The man's deep and magnetic voice penetrated her confused mind.

She turned her head and saw that Alex had unknowingly walked in and was standing behind her.

In the light outside the window, his tall figure cast a faint shadow on her body.

She could even feel his deep gaze on her face. When she realized that he seemed to be coming closer, she quickly got off the bed and went to pull the table over. She took the food bag from his hand, lowered her head, and took out the food inside.

A pair of chopsticks fell to the ground when it was taken out and Jessie picked it up to wash i

After washing it, she turned around and saw Jouvita walking in.

“Why didn’t you tell me that Alex is a single parent?”

Jessie’s heart was slightly in a mess as she replied, “I don’t know ....”

“At that time, I really thought you were just getting along with the two children and did not think much about it. You called me yesterday and said that you were going to the city to pick up the children. I was very surprised. How did they know about our place?”

“They only found out after asking Sally.”

Jouvita stared at her and lowered her voice, “Tell me the truth. What is the relationship between you and Fia’s father?”

Jessie’s head hurt, “Mom, I have nothing to do with him.”

“Then why did they come all the way here? Why did he buy so many things for me and your grandparents for no reason?” When Jouvita returned from the hospital yesterday, she was shocked when she saw the good stuff in the house.

When Alex came back in the morning, he helped bring lunch to the hospital. She asked about those things. Alex was a calm person. He only said that the two children came to disturb him, and it was just a small token of appreciation.

But in the eyes of ordinary people, this token of appreciation was too expensive and too heavy.

Jessie paused, “I only met them after Mike and I divorced.”

Only then did Jouvita let out a light breath, “If that’s the case, then I won’t ask anything. Although he had two children, I saw that he was not bad and was more composed than Mike. What was even more rare was that the two children treated you like their own mother...”

The more Jessie heard, the more anxious she became. She hurriedly interrupted her, “Mom, you think too much. Really.”

“Mom is crazy and has a bad brain. But there are some things that I can still tell how old you are. Could it be that you’re not looking for anyone after leaving Mike? Mom has always been alone because of this illness, but I still have your grandparents with me. When your grandfather and grandmother are no longer around, and I go crazy again, What are you going to do by yourself?”

Jessie felt sad when she heard this, but there were some things that could not be fulfilled.

She was silent for a while before saying, “Mom, do you know about the Mumen Group?”

Jouvita was so angry that she clenched her fist and lightly hit her. "Mom is talking about proper business with you, why did you change the topic?"

"Alex is president of Mumen Group."

When Jessie finished speaking, Jouvita was completely dumbfounded.

The Mumen Group's businesses were all over the country. There were real estate companies, large-scale shopping squares, hotels, and so on in Hai City. Grandpa liked to watch some financial news. He often mentioned that Alex was one of the most influential people in the business world. As time passed, Jouvita, who had stayed at home for a long time, also knew about this person.

It was just that Alex's name only show in the media and did not show his face. There were not many ordinary people who knew his real face.

When they heard Alex's name yesterday, Jessie's family members were stunned, but none of the three old men had thought about it.

Who would have thought that such a great figure would suddenly appear in a humble family like theirs?

A high and mighty sect like the Laurent family. How could a family like theirs be able to get close to them?

Jouvita's shoulders collapsed all of a sudden, and she could not help but let out a long sigh.

Jessie forced a smile, "Go and eat. When Fia recovers, they will go back."

Jouvita looked outside and then looked at Jessie. Her tone was pained, "Why is he that Alex? Such a good person, but..."

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

Chapter 57

/ The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

1. Your Things and Mine Don't Need to be Separated

In the afternoon, after the doctor confirmed that Fia was fine and that she only needed to come to the hospital for a week to change her dressing, Alex did the discharge procedures for

Fia.

Alex drove the car over at noon.

He brought the children to the back seat and Jessie came out with a bag. Alex took the bag from Jessie's hand and opened the door of the passenger seat, waiting for her to sit in.

Alex did these things to take care of Jessie very naturally, as if he did it subconsciously.

But it was precisely because of this that Jessie's heart became even more flustered.

When they reached home, they heard Fia cheerfully call out 'grandma' and Jouvita came out to welcome them.

Jessie still wanted to ask when Alex to leave, but Alex already carried Fia and walked into the house.

Jessie brought them to her room on the second floor, Jessie found that the suitcase of the LV was quietly placed in the corner of her room.

Alex put Fia on the bed and went downstairs.

Jessie's room had an old-fashioned wooden bed. It was very wide and big. The light blue bed sheets, blanket, and pillow covers looked very clean and soft.

Fia laid on the bed happily and wanted to roll around. Jessie looked at it with fear and trepidation and hurriedly stopped her with a smile, "You have injuries on your hands now, you cannot roll like this."

Fia took advantage of the situation and threw herself into her embrace and softly said in a somewhat embarrassed manner, "Aunt Jeje, I want to take a bath. I did not take a bath last night and felt a little uncomfortable..."

Because Fia was injured last night, everyone had been busy the whole night and none of them had taken a shower or changed their clothes.

"Then you should lie down quietly for a while. I will go and prepare hot water." Jessie got up." Felix, watch her."

"Okay." Felix said, then immediately did his duty by the bedside and looked at Fia.

Fia had just turned over when Felix immediately shouted from behind, "Don't move!"

Fia, "..."

Nanchuan's autumn was colder than R City. Jessie prepared a large basin of hot water and felt that the bathroom was still very cold. Jessie regretted not installing a heater in the bathroom before and now it was too late even if she wanted to install it.

Fia was injured and bathing might take more time than usual.

Jessie thought for a while and walked out of the bathroom to Jouvita's room downstairs to get the heater that was used in the winter.

The downstairs was noisy and Jessie was still wondering why there were so many people at home.

Because of her mother's illness, Jessie's family had cut off all contact with the relatives of her grandfather and grandmother. The people in town also avoided Jessie's family.

Jessie ran downstairs. The people who came and went in and out of the living room were very busy.

A lot of delivery workers moved several air-conditioners, water heaters, and other brand new electrical appliances into the house.

Jessie saw from the crowd that Alex was mixing with installer. He was wearing a light grey sweater and the same labor protection gloves as the workers. He was installing a Vertical Chamber Air Conditioner. He did not have a shelf at all. He moved and installed the Vertical Chamber Air Conditioner together with the installer. From time to time, he would give instructions on where to place it.

Jessie could not tell what she was feeling in her heart. She felt warm and panicked at the same time...

After the air conditioner was installed, Alex raised his head and looked over. Jessie's heart stopped beating and she turned her gaze away with a swoosh.

Alex and the staff carried the bathroom warmer and walked towards the stairs.

"Are you going upstairs or downstairs?" Alex walked up. His low magnetic voice made Jessie's ears heat up. She lowered her head and quickly ran down the stairs beside him.

Alex grabbed Jessie's wrist and said like he was talking to a child, "You run slower!"

Jessie felt her heart burning. She shook off his hand and ran even faster.

Downstairs, a Deliveryman carried a roller washing machine in. When he saw her, he enthusiastically shouted, "Mrs. Laurent, where do you put the washing machine?"

"I am not..." Jessie almost subconsciously retorted.

Alex turned his head on the stairs. "Put it in the laundry room behind us."

"Okay!" The Deliverymans and installers carried the washing machine to the laundry room at the back.

Jouvita's room was also installed with air conditioning, and the house was busy.

Seeing Jessie come in, Jouvita, who was at a loss, hurriedly walked over with a worried look, "What do you think we should do with these things? Go and tell Alex to withdraw these things. These people won't listen to me at all."

Jessie did not know how to put it. With Alex's overbearing character, how could he listen to her?

Jouvita saw that she had a difficult expression and sighed, "Looks like Alex will not withdraw these things. How about this, we will give the money to Alex. Coincidentally, I have been thinking about buying these things. After buying these things, our lives will be more convenient."

The staff had already installed the air conditioner and brought over the remote control. He smiled and passed it to Jouvita. "Madam, you try it. If there's no problem, we'll go and install something else."

"Okay, thank you for your hard work!" Jouvita took it and looked at Jessie, "I have saved all the money you sent back in the past. I will give it to you later. You give it to Alex."

"No need to take it. I have money here."

Since they were installing bathroom warmers, Jessie was not in a hurry to bathe Fia. Jessie went up and helped Fia put on her shoes again, telling her not to touch her injuries and to play with Felix.

Until they were all done pretending, the sky was already getting dark.

Now that they were safe and sound with the bathroom warmer, Jessie went to take a bath for

Fia.

Alex sent the Deliverymans and installers away and went upstairs. Felix stayed on the sofa in his room and watched cartoons with his iPad.

Alex had brought his iPad yesterday, but the elders did not need it, so they played with it for the children.

Alex was not surprised when he heard Jessie bathing Fia. He went to the balcony outside to smoke.

This was probably because of the blood relatives. Fia had never allowed anyone to bathe her since she was sensible. Even if Nanny Jin and Nanny Lisa helped, they would only let the two of them wait at the door of the bathroom. But when it came to Jessie, there was no longer any taboo.

Alex brought a lot of clothes for the children and Fia wanted to wear the new clothes Jessie bought. Jessie did not have time to wash the new clothes and Jessie did not let Fia wear it directly. She brought the clothes Alex brought for Fia to wear inside and then put on the pink dress that she bought for Fia outside.

"So beautiful, like a little fairy!" Jessie could not help but hug the little girl and take a sip.

Fia was extremely happy. She walked a few rounds in front of the mirror and went out to show off to Felix.

"Aunt Jeje also bought it for me." Felix gave her a look as if he was saying, "Are you stupid?" Then Felix continued to watch cartoons.

Jessie took the little guy's changed clothes out and saw Alex smoking on the balcony.

Alex had his back to the balcony and his tall body was slightly bent. One of his hands was on the railing, and the other was holding a cigarette. From time to time, the smoke would disperse in front of him.

This kind of him was more like a mystery man. It made people feel like they couldn't see through him or guess him. "Big brother, I want to see the Magic Fairies." Fia sat next to Felix and stared at the iPad.

"Move aside!" Felix was looking at the Detective Coran with high regard. Fia pouted. "I am a patient!"

"I don't have any medicine."

"Felix, can't you let me see the Magic Fairies?"

mes

"Felix, are you a man? Don't you know that you have to let your sister choose first in everything?" The man's deep voice came from the balcony.

Felix: "..."

This had nothing to do with whether he was a man or not....

Jessie lifted her head and looked at him. Alex's dark and deep eyes stared straight at her.

She quickly avoided Alex and ran to the desk to put her iPad on, "Fia, use this to look at the Magic Fairies."

Fia and Felix each got an iPad and finally quietened down.

Jessie saw Alex slowly walking in and her heart was beating fast again. She hurriedly went downstairs to help Jouvita prepare dinner.

Jouvita saw her and quickly said, "It just so happens that there is no more Ginger at home. You go and help me buy some Ginger. I see that the two little fellows like to eat fish. Just now I went to buy another one but I forgot about Ginger after buying the fish."

"Okay." Jessie turned around and went out. She bumped into Alex again.

She turned around and walked away quickly.

Jouvita saw Alex's tall figure in the kitchen and paused for a moment. She turned the fire down a little and wiped her hands on the apron as she walked out and said, "You guys came all the way here. We don't have anything to welcome you guys. Instead, we let you spend so much money."

Alex entered the kitchen and smiled faintly.

Jouvita looked at him with a serious look. "Alex, tell me the truth. What do you think of Emma?"

Alex had not thought about how to answer.

Jouvita continued, "I only heard about it a while ago. Last time I was hospitalized in R City, You helped arrange it. Emma had suffered a lot in my situation since she was young. So in many things, I tried my best to let her do as she pleased. Although Emma did not tell me much about her previous marriage, But I know, just because of me... She must have suffered a lot of gossips and grievances over there. Emma told me about your family's conditions. If the two of you really want to be together, even if your family doesn't mind that she had divorced before. There will still be a lot of resistance. Are you confident you can handle these things?"

Jessie finished buying the ginger and returned to the courtyard to pick the spinach that her grandmother brought over.

Jessie heard the footsteps and looked up. Alex had taken a shower and changed into a black shirt and pants. The collar of the shirt was open and the exquisite cutting made the man's tall and straight figure look taller.

"I changed my clothes and put them on the bathroom rack. Help me wash them later." Alex walked over and pulled a small stool over. He picked up the spinach next to Jessie's hand and looked at it before putting it down. Alex straightened his long legs and took out a cigarette and lighter from his pocket.

Jessie remembered that she only bought toiletries for Felix and Fia and could not help but ask him, "Did you bring a towel and toothbrush?"

Alex had just lit up the cigarette and narrowed his eyes to look at her, "No, I used the white towel in the bathroom."

"That's mine!"

He acted as if it was only natural. "What's the problem?"

Jessie's face turned red. "How can you casually use a woman's things?"

"We have already slept. Do you still need to be so clear about your things and mine?"

"You..."

A burst of hurried footsteps interrupted Jessie's words.

"Emma!" Following the man's unable to suppress his joy and clear voice, a slender figure walked past the main house and walked towards the backyard with large strides.

The person was a handsome young man in a black suit and a white shirt. He wore a black tie on his collar and held a large and small gift box in his hand.

Jessie stood up and was full of surprise, "Tony, when did you come back?"

"I just arrived. I heard you were at home, so I came over." Tony's handsome face still had a red flush on it. He walked up to Jessie with something in his hand. He hugged her. "We haven't seen each other for a few years, right? Let me think about it. It's been four years, right? Is it four years?" Alex furrowed his beautiful eyebrows.

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

Chapter 58

/ The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

1. Mommy, Dad asked you to go upstairs

. Jessie gently pushed him away and also smiled as she replied, "You don't live here anymore. Furthermore, you are so busy. It would be strange if we could meet."

Tony's family was the only neighbor in town who was friendly to Jessie's family. However, many years ago, Tony's family moved to the city. Currently, the only thing left of Tony's family was an old house that was empty on the foundation.

Tony was a year younger than Jessie. It could be said that Jessie had watched him grow up. Both families only had one child. The two of them had a very close relationship.

"So it was Tony who came back?" Jouvita heard the voice and walked out with a smile on her face.

"Yes Aunt, how are you? I miss you." Tony handed everything in his hands to Jessie and went over to hold Jouvita's hand.

When Alex saw Jessie take the gifts, his thick eyebrows knitted even tighter. He stood up and walked into the front room.

The people in the yard seemed to remember him now.

Tony looked at Alex's tall and straight back and smiled slightly. "Is there a guest at home?"

"Yes, there are some guests at home today." Jouvita smiled and replied, "Tony, have you had dinner? You stay and eat with us."

Jessie was about to say something when Tony smiled and answered, "Ok, Thank you Aunt!"

"Jessie, you two can chat for a while. I will continue to cook." Jouvita took the spinach on the ground in

Tony asked Jessie, "Jes, where was the guest just now? Why haven't I seen him before?"

Jessie could not help but look towards the main room and did not see anyone there before she replied, "He is a friend of mine in R City. He came here for some business, so he drops in at my home."

While she was talking, Alex was still on the stairs, so he heard what she said clearly. He used his leather shoes to step on the wooden stairs, making a creaking sound. Jessie did not think that he was still on the stairs. Thinking that he might have heard her words, she felt a little disappointed but quickly felt relieved. There was bound to be no result between them.

Alex entered the room and the two children each had a tablet computer. They watched with great interest

Alex walked in front of Felix, and slightly bent down to press the pause of the cartoon that was playing in front of him.

"Dad?" Felix frowned in confusion.

"You want Aunt Jeje to be your new mother?"

Fia turned off her tablet and looked at them.

Felix blinked his bright black eyes and nodded in embarrassment.

It would be great if Aunt Jeje would be a member of his family.

She was good-looking and knew how to make delicious cake and milk. She liked Felix and Fia.

Most importantly, Aunt Jeje could control her bad-tempered father.

Fia also ran over and her small face was full of expectation, "Dad, are you going to propose to Aunt Jeje?"

Alex looked at his son and daughter with satisfaction and went to sit on the sofa. "You guys are going to be disappointed. There is a man downstairs. He seems to like Aunt Jeje."

Before he finished speaking, the two Little Guy ran away.

Aunt Jeje was clearly their new mother. No one could change this!

Fia ran down the stairs and saw a bamboo broom in the corner. She paused and ran over. She raised the broom with one hand and followed Felix out.

Two Little Guy rushed into the kitchen, one in front and the other behind. Jessie and Tony were arranging the bowls and chopsticks.

Fia was thinking whether she should smack that man's butt or his face. But he was too tall. Furthermore, she was still injured.

So when she decided to hit his butt, Felix had already walked over and reached out to hold Jessie's hand. "Mommy, dad asked you to go upstairs."

Mom?

Jessie's face turned red like a ripe tomato.

Tony's face, which had been warm just now, turned stiff. "Jessie, are they your children?" he asked. "But didn't you just divorce Mike not long ago?"

Tony had a secret in his heart, and that secret was about Jessie.

He had a crush on her for many years. He wanted to confess to her after graduating from university, but Mike beat him to it.

After she married Mike, Tony thought that he would never have another chance in his life. He did not return to his hometown for a few years.

Until a while ago, when he saw that Mike was going to marry again on the news, the suppressed feelings were revived. He went around asking about Jessie's current contact information, and finally found out from a fellow villager that Jessie had returned to Nanchuan. That day, he rushed back.

But now, this child's words had shattered his dream once again. He did not dare to believe it at all.

Jouvita's actions of serving the dishes paused slightly and quickly returned to normal. There was even a slight smile on her lips.

wa

Jessie was embarrassed and was about to explain to Tony.

Fia had already thrown away the broom and hugged her injured arm as she screamed.

Jessie did not have time to explain and ran over. She squatted down and was very anxious,"

Are you in pain again? Don't move. Let me

Seeing that there was no bleeding at the place where the bandage was bandaged, Jessie's heart relaxed a little. "You can't run away like you did just now. You have to be careful, okay?"

Felix saw that Jouvita had prepared a plate of dishes and he ran over. He eagerly extended two small hands to receive it. "Grandma, I'll carry it!"

"Aye, alright. Felix, be careful." Jouvita smiled and carefully handed it to him.

Felix glanced at Tony, who was still in a daze beside the table. When he approached him, he saw that Tony was still in a daze. He seemed to accidentally touch the corner of the table.

A plate of emerald-green spinach was sprinkled on Tony's suit.

"I'm sorry! Uncle, it's all my fault for being careless. Did you get burned?" Little Guy's anxious look made people unable to blame him.

Jessie quickly ran over as well. "I'm really sorry, Tony. The child was too careless. I apologize to you on his behalf. How about this, you change your suit and bring it over. I'll help you wash it."

"

If it was just a moment ago, Tony would not have believed that she was really the mother of the children. Now, looking at Jessie's appearance, he was completely clear-headed.

As he said that it was alright, he hurriedly said goodbye.

"You just came and left?" Jessie was full of apology, "Sorry, Tony..."

Tony had already left in a daze.

Only then did Felix sincerely apologize to Jessie and Jouvita, "I'm sorry, Grandma, Aunt Jeje. I was too careless."

Jessie smiled and patted his head. "It's fine. You just need to be careful in the future."

Jouvita understood the two little smart kids' idea and smiled. She did not mention the matter just now and only said, "The meal is ready. Go and call your father to come and eat."

"Okay."

Grandfather and grandmother did not come over to eat today. With many guests at home, Jouvita made many good dishes. Jouvita packed some dishes into the lunchbox and let Jessie send over to the two elders.

Jessie did not walk far when she heard footsteps behind her.

She turned her head and saw Alex following her.

He was wearing a black shirt and a dark brown windbreaker. A corner of the windbreaker rose with the wind, making him look even more unrestrained.

Jessie once again lowered her head and walked forward, ignoring him.

The autumn sky was dark early. After they left the town, the sky seemed to have been covered by a layer of black veil, leaving only a few cold stars flickering.

There were shadows of trees by the side of the road. Jessie had walked on this road for many years. She had already gotten used to it and did not feel that it was scary.

She did not know when Alex had already walked shoulder to shoulder with her. He reached out one hand and took the lunchboxes from her. He held her small hand with the other hand and wrapped it around his dry and warm palm. "Why did you run so fast? Grandfather and Grandmother ate late. There's no hurry!"

Even though there was no one in this area, Jessie was still not used to holding hands with him like this.

Just as she was about to struggle, he tightened his grip, making it impossible for her to break free.

Jessie's face was extremely red, and her heart was also beating fiercely. She quickened her pace and walked forward.

A man's legs were long. No matter how fast she walked, it was also equivalent to taking a walk to Alex.

He only let go when he was almost at the entrance of Jessie's grandfather's and grandmother's house.

Jessie did not stop for a moment as she pushed open the door and walked in.

Before Alex could follow her in, Jessie had already sent the lunchbox and came out. She turned around and walked back.

Alex only had time to greet the two elders in a hurry and smiled helplessly. "It's late. I'm worried about her for being alone, so I'll go over first."

The two elders beamed with joy. "Go, come and play in the garden tomorrow."

After walking for a while, Alex held Jessie's hand again. His other hand even wrapped around her slender waist, almost bringing her into his arms.

Jessie felt powerless. She could not help but be angry, "What do you want to do?"

As soon as she finished speaking, her body turned and her back pressed against the hard tree trunk.

Alex pressed against her. There was some displeasure in his deep and magnetic voice. "What do you think I want to do?"

In the next second, he lowered his head and kissed her slightly raised red lips.

He kissed extremely greedily.

These days, he had endured it for a long time. After kissing her last night, he hadn't had a good night.

His kiss was especially good at confusing people. Jessie could not help but feel her body soften.

Alex moved a step further. His slightly cold fingers touched her skin and she woke up immediately. Instinctively, she pushed him away and lowered her head to catch her breath." Alex..."

Suddenly interrupted, the man's temper rose. His voice was cold. "Remove the surname!"

Jessie bit her lips and looked up at him.

In the dim light from afar, the man's eyes were so deep that they seemed to suck her in.

Jessie could understand the meaning of his eyes and a lot of words went through her mind. Biting her lips, she still opened her mouth. "I told you before that it was not a lie that I regretted it. That day was a special case. Otherwise, I wouldn't have gone to find you. I apologize to you again. You might have a good impression of me now. But that's only temporary freshness, it won't last long. Let's stop there. It's impossible for us to get married."

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

Chapter 59

/ The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

1. 5 What You Want Is This kind of Relationship?

His grip on her hand was so tight that her finger bones were about to snap.

as

Jessie forced herself to remain calm, and her eyes were still faintly panicky, "The difference between us is too great, it is impossible."

"Since we can't be together, why do you still want to have sex with me?"

With just one sentence from him, Jessie's face was as red as a tomato. She bit her lips and glared at him.

Alex saw that she looked like she was about to cry. His expression gradually softened. He slightly loosened his grip on her hand and turned to hold her long, slender fingers together." Alright, let's go back and eat!"

Jessie saw that he still did not take her words into account and was even more annoyed. This person was too arbitrary!

She could not help but throw his hand forcefully again. "I said, I can't possibly be with you –"

"How is it?" The man was depressed. His expression became serious again. He blurted out, "Do you think having sex with a man doesn't matter? Can anyone have sex with you? You want this kind of temporary relationship?"

"Nonsense!" Jessie was so angry that she could not say anything to refute him. She raised her other hand to fan his face.

Alex firmly grabbed her wrist and his dark eyes darkened. "Only my wife can move my heart. Think clearly!"

He let go of her wrist, neither retreating nor avoiding, staring deeply at her.

His words were forced. How could Jessie be his match? She angrily pulled back her hand. "Anyway, we can't. Don't waste any more time with me."

"If we can't be together, then who do you want to be with? The nouveau riche from the blind date last time? Or was it a childhood friend who came today? It's fine if they don't know, but if they know that you like me in your heart, what will they think?"

The more he spoke, the more ridiculous it became. Jessie didn't want to listen to a single word again and pushed him away, burying her head in the ground as she walked forward.

Alex saw that she could not speak and thought that he had guessed her thoughts. He held her hand again and his tone became gentle. "You are not young anymore. You have a bigger temper than Fia. If your mother and the others saw this, they would think that I am not good to you."

His words seemed to be hinting that he was good to her.

"Go away. I do not want to see you again." Jessie was annoyed by his words.

It was rare for Alex to coax people with such a good tone, but he did not coax her well. His temper rose again. "I said all this for nothing?"

"If you can't stand me, then hurry up and leave. No one will stop you."

Alex actually let go of her hand, turned around, and strode away without any hesitation.

Jessie looked at the tall figure that gradually disappeared at the end of her eyes, and her eyes turned red for no reason.

Jouvita was leading the two children upstairs and saw that she was alone and asked, "Where is Alex?"

Jessie said in a muffled voice, "He's gone."

"Did he leave?"

"Maybe he went back to R City," said Jessie. Jessie did not see the Land Rover at the door. That person had a very bad temper. He was in a high position and was usually sought after by others. Her attitude just now must have made him angry. He probably drove away at night without even asking for his luggage.

As she spoke, a tall figure walked in from the front door.

Jessie saw him and was stunned.

He did not go far and had been following by her side. It was just that she was thinking about something and because it was very dark at night, she actually did not notice...

Jouvita smiled, "Alex, I will leave the food for you and Jessie on the kitchen stove. I will bring the children to take a bath and the two of you can go and eat by yourselves."

Alex replied with a faint smile, "Felix, Fia, listen to grandma!"

The two little fellows turned around and left for him.

Before Jessie could take a step, Alex had already walked towards the backyard with a solemn face.

She turned her head and wanted to leave. She did not want to eat with him at the same table. After walking a few steps, her stomach growled. Then she thought that this was her home. Why did she want to leave? It should be him who should leave!

She turned around and walked into the kitchen.

Alex had already brought the food to the table. A person was sitting by the table and pouring wine for himself.

Jessie walked over and took a bowl of rice for herself. She sat at the side furthest away from him and ate.

Alex's phone rang in his windbreaker pocket. He took out his phone and looked at it. He still held a glass of wine in one hand and the phone in the other as he got up and went to the door to answer the call.

Jessie took a few bites of rice and could not help but look at him. The gentle light covered his facial features that looked like carved carvings. He had a strong sense of standing and when he spoke, he could vaguely see a light dimple on his left cheek.

The reporters in the media had once said that Alex was the most outstanding man in the political and business world, be it his appearance or temperament.

As they said, there was no place in this kind of man that did not reveal elegance and nobility.

Even if Jessie wanted to try her best to ignore the inferiority in her heart and pretend to be a heartless person, every time she saw him, those things would uncontrollably run out.

Alex's phone call was from Rick. "Found it. Miss Jessie's egg was taken six years ago, but not donated. It was sold. At that time, Mike had entered the entertainment industry and he had paid to join a production crew. Miss Jessie gave him the money, and I went to check the hospital records. Boss, you should know as well, right? Young Master Felix and Young Miss Fia and the rest..."

Speaking up to this point, Rick paused for a moment. "I found out that Bernard had an assistant named Feylin. She was also involved in madam's matter in the past. Feylin's family had some problems now. She was using the matter back then to ask for money from Gina's family. When I found her, she told me all of these things. There was a problem with madam Gina's egg. Since she could not get pregnant, she secretly gave money to buy Miss Jessie's egg and then she gave birth to two children..."

Alex was expressionless. He kept silent for a long time before he coldly said, "Take care of Feylin."

"Don't worry, I will!"

Alex turned to look at Jessie at the table.

Jessie, who was looking at him in a daze, quickly lowered her head and ate in a panic.

Alex hung up the phone and walked over. He saw that both sides of her cheeks were bulging and she looked cute.

The corner of his lips curled up. He took another cup, filled it with wine, and handed it to her.

Jessie looked up at him.

He held the cup of wine and insisted, "Aren't you in a bad mood?"

Jessie struggled to swallow the rice and did not take the wine from his hands.

In the end, she swallowed too hard and choked quite heavily.

Alex stretched out his other hand to help her gently stroke her back and took the cup of wine to her lips.

The man's fingers were long and slender, and his joints were clearly defined. The glass filled with golden wine was especially beautiful.

Jessie stared at it for a while before taking it over. She drank a few mouthfuls in a row and finally managed to catch her breath.

She did not know much about wine and felt that this type of wine was quite good to drink. It was a bit like a fruit drink.

Without realizing it, she drank the entire cup.

Alex continued to pour wine for her. Jessie did not continue to be polite and half a bottle of foreign wine basically entered her stomach.

In the end, when she stood up, her steps were swaying.

After the two children fell asleep, Jouvita went downstairs and saw Jessie drinking till her face was red and Jouvita did not speak to her anymore. Jouvita directly said to Alex, "The room has changed into new bedsheets and bedding. I will go to her grandfather and grandmother's place to sleep. You guys should also rest early."

Jessie stood up in a daze and was about to stop her, "Mom, it should be Alex who left. Why do you want to leave?"

As soon as she stood up, her legs went soft and Alex steadily caught her.

Jouvita could not help but sigh and smiled in her eyes, "Her alcohol tolerance is shallow. Looks like she drank too much today. Please take care of her."

"No problem, I will take care of her. Be careful on the way."

Jouvita smiled even more deeply. "Okay. I will be there in a while."

"No need. I didn't drink much." Jessie tried to stand up but was held tighter by the man's big hands. When she looked outside again, Jouvita had already walked far away.

Jessie shook her head and only later did she realize that it was strange. Jouvita clearly also said that the gap was too big and disapproved of it but why was she helping Alex now? She still wanted him to live here?

Just as she was letting her imagination run wild, Alex picked her up and walked towards the bathroom.

Jessie's heart was in chaos. "What are you doing? Put me down."

Alex asked back, "Do you really want me to let go?"

Jessie had not yet answered when the man really let go.

She was shocked. She instinctively reached out and wrapped her arms around his neck.

The man hugged her tightly again and the smile on his face deepened, "It was you who requested it!"

Jessie was speechless.

She simply did not say anything. She continued to wrap around his neck and she was carried upstairs by him.

She jumped down and took her pajamas into the bathroom to take a shower.

The warm bathroom made her drunk and sleepy as she lay next to the wooden tub.

Alex entered and saw a large piece of snow-white back that was exposed to the water.

He suppressed the dry feeling and walked over to pick her up from the water. He then used a dry towel to dry her whole body.

He wiped very slowly

Jessie's mind was heavy. She did not know how much advantage she had unknowingly been taken by a man.

He wrapped her in his pajamas and picked her up again. He strode downstairs and walked into the room downstairs. He put her on the bed.

The pajamas automatically spread out. Jessie felt cold and subconsciously pulled the blanket to cover her. But she pulled Alex's windbreaker.

"What do you want to do?" His voice was hoarse.

Jessie muttered, "Cold, I want..." Alex did not allow her to continue speaking and forcefully kissed her lips. Jessie's head became even more dizzy from the kiss. Alex kissed her as he took off his windbreaker and pants.

Only then did she manage to regain some consciousness. She pushed him away and crawled out of the bed. "I want to sleep with Felix and Fia!"

Alex grabbed her soft waist and kept kissing her. "Be good, don't mess around. Sleep with me tonight."

Jessie dodged and her voice was full of tenderness. "No, I told them I would sleep with them..."

However, the pain made her speechless.

Alex endured it for too long. Just...

Jessie was still not used to it, so it was inevitable that she would feel pain.

Alex gasped for air and made a series of violent movements.

Jessie only felt the pain and did not have any other feelings. After a while, she did not have time to react at all. Alex hugged her tightly and felt a little awkward.

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

Chapter 60

/ The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

1. Animals Eat Plants!

Luckily Jessie was drunk and did not care about Alex's brief moment. After successfully hugging the blanket, she wrapped herself tightly and fell asleep.

Alex used a tissue to help her clean up. After he went to the bathroom to do a simple wash, Alex came over and opened the blanket to lie down.

Alex saw Jessie sleeping with her back facing him and could not help but be angry. He reached out and carried Jessie over. He lowered his head and started to bite her tender lips again.

Jessie was sleeping comfortably when she was suddenly disturbed. She could not help but slightly frown. She subconsciously wanted to wave away the thing that was disturbing her.

Alex grabbed her wrist and took the opportunity to bring it under the blanket.

Alex's lips and tongue gradually became gentle. Jessie's body's instinct was awakened by him.

In a daze, Jessie's other hand could not help but hug Alex's head, and her delicate white fingers inserted into his thick short hair.

Alex had never thought of this before. Now that he had suddenly eaten it once and tasted its taste, it was very fierce in that aspect. He wished he could make up for what he had lost over the years.

With the foreshadowing just now, Alex was no longer as fierce as before. He kissed Jessie carefully, making her feel better and better.

Jessie felt as if she was lying on a soft cloud. It was so comfortable that she almost suffocated.

Although she was married before, Jessie only had sex with Alex. At this moment, Jessie felt the same as Alex. She also had a taste of the sweetness, and her needs in this aspect were all drawn out.

Jessie and Alex were tightly entangled with each other, leaving only the sound of breathing that rose and fell.

Jessie felt as if she had a dream. It was a very real and absurd dream. She slowly opened her eyes, and the handsome and deep facial features of the man gradually became clear in front of her.

Jessie subconsciously opened the blanket and saw that she was lying naked in the man's arms. Her brain exploded with a buzzing sound.

What did Jessie do last night?

"You're awake?" Alex saw her move slightly and kept her arms tighter. Jessie and Alex's bodies became closer.

Jessie heard Alex's magnetic and hoarse voice and her back went numb. She struggled to get out of Alex's arms.

"Don't move!" Alex's voice became even more hoarse. He held Jessie's big hand tightly again.

Jessie felt that she was so scared that she did not dare to move again. Her face turned red. "GO away. I am going to get up."

Alex would not let her do as she wanted. He turned over and said, "The fire has been lit. You have to be responsible for extinguishing it."

Jessie was not wearing any clothes, which made it convenient for Alex.

Jessie wanted to be reserved and resist, but her body and mind did not seem to be up to her.

Not long after, Jessie was brought into the whirlpool of desire by Alex.

Alex looked at her beautiful face that was red because of love and could not help but think of the five years of marriage between Jessie and another man. Alex could not help but bite Jessie's small earlobe. "When you are with him, you also moan like this? How often did you two do it? Once a day? once a week? once a month?"

Alex had always been a very proud person. Even if he decided to be with Jessie, he never thought that he would care about the things that had happened to Jessie and could not be completely wiped out. Alex thought that he could be calm and at ease, but at this moment, Alex realized that it was actually not an easy thing to do.

"No... He and I have never..." Jessie did not want to answer, but after Alex asked, she did not want Alex to misunderstand and could not help but tell the truth.

"Not even once?"

"Not once! No! Not even once! He'd rather book a room with another woman than go home. Are you satisfied?" Jessie flew into a rage out of humiliation. Her eyes were red and she roared in a low voice. Jessie started to struggle violently under Alex's body.

Alex was so excited that he lost his mind. He pressed Jessie even tighter and kissed her passionately on her face.

"Alex, you are a b*stard!" Jessie was ashamed and angry.

"Scold me! Continue scold me, as long as you are happy!" Alex kissed her fiercely, his mood was extremely cheerful.

The sky was getting brighter and both of them were extremely tired. Alex and Jessie's bodies were still intertwined, and even the air seemed to have stopped.

Jessie could not lift up any strength at all. She let Alex hold her tightly in his arms. She could not describe the feeling in her heart.

What was wrong with her now?

Jessie originally wanted to put an end to her previous life. She wanted to return to Nanchuan and start anew. She wanted to be filial to her grandfather and grandmother, accompany her mother, and start a new life. She wanted to live her true self and never attach herself to any man. She would not change herself for any man.

But ever since the two children entered Jessie's life, everything seemed to be no longer up to her.

Alex looked at the time on the opposite wall and lowered his head to kiss her on the cheek. He pulled a thin blanket over Jessie and wrapped it around her. He picked her up and went to the bathroom to take a shower.

Alex was sometimes overbearing and unreasonable, and sometimes he was so gentle. Jessie could not tell which was the real him.

Jessie also did not know what was going on between her and Alex.

After breakfast, Jessie brought the two children to the fruit garden to help.

The orange in the garden had all matured and needed to be plucked.

This was the first time the two children saw a fruit garden. They were as excited as two little monkeys as they walked through the countless trees filled with golden orange.

After waking up in the morning, Jessie did not speak to Alex anymore.

Jessie did not see Alex when she prepared breakfast, and Jessie did not ask Alex to eat.

After a while, Jessie heard Jouvita say that Alex was arranging heating television for his grandparents' house.

"Mom, why didn't you stop him?" When Jessie heard that Alex was buying things for her family again, the pressure in her heart became heavier.

Jouvita smiled faintly, "Alex wants to be filial to the old man, let him be."

"Mom..."

Jessie still wanted to ask why her mother's attitude was different from before. Jouvita pushed Jessie into the fruit garden, "Quickly go and pluck the orange. It looks like it is going to rain again. Your grandfather also wants us to pluck all the orange today."

After finish do her work, Jouvita also took the basket and scissors and walked quickly towards the depths of the fruit garden.

"Jessie!"

Jessie heard someone shouting from behind and turned her head.

It was the daughter of the old Santonius family who opened a small supermarket in town,

Yoferyna. She was a little younger than Jessie and had just graduated from university this year. Yoferyna went out to work and was dissatisfied with her resignation. After she came back, she had been staying at home.

Jessie had met a few times when she went to her house to buy things in the past few days. She smiled and greeted Yoferyna, "Ryna, why are you so early today? Is something the matter?"

"Nothing much. Your family's orange is still confiscated?" Yoferyna smiled and said, "Let me help you."

"No need. We have a lot of people today, so we can finish it very soon. Thank you." Jessie was actually not very familiar with Yoferyna and did not have the face to ask her for help.

"It's fine, it's fine. Anyway, I have nothing to do anyway." Yoferyna snatched the small scissors and basket from Jessie's hands without giving any explanation and walked into the garden first.

Jessie could not even call out and could only follow.

Yoferyna wore a pink white skirt and black high heels. One look and one could tell that she had not done farm work before. Jessie could not help but feel frightened when she followed her. Jessie was afraid that the branches would scratch Ryna skirt and she could not help but walk side by side and carefully help Yoferyna push the branches by the side.

"Jess, there is a guest at your house?" Yoferyna picked up an orange and cut it as she turned her head to chat with Jessie.

"Yes." Jessie used her hand to pick up the orange by the side.

"Which guest is it? I don't think I have seen it before?"

"R City."

"A big city? Then what is his relationship with you?"

"Friend."

"[Normal friends?]"

Jessie did not say anything else and pretended not to hear anything. She only cared about picking the orange.

Yoferyna came over and her face could not help but turn slightly red, "What does he do? Does he work with you? Which company do you work at?"

Jessie finally understood what she meant.

Yoferyna did not come to help pick the orange. She was clearly called over by Alex.

Jessie put the string of orange in her hands into the basket and looked up. Smiling faintly, "Other than him, do you know that there are two other guests in my house?"

"They are Alex's son and daughter."

Yoferyna deliberately put on an innocent smile that froze at the corner of her mouth. "Son and daughter?"

Felix and Fia ate the orange on the way and were attracted by a large piece of green wheat in front of the fruit garden.

"Brother, there are a lot of grass growing here!"

"Yes."

"Is it for raising cows and sheep?"

"Or is it to raise people?" Felix rolled his eyes at Fia.

Fia chuckled. "That's right. Humans don't like to eat grass."

Felix and Fia each pulled a piece of grass and were studying it. Not far away, a donkey walked over. When it saw the wheat, it lowered its head and started eating.

Fia widened her eyes. "Brother, that thing stole the grass!"

Felix also saw it and frowned.

"Brother, this was planted by the farmer uncle for the cows and sheep to eat. We can't let it eat all of them!" Fia saw that the donkey was eating the grass and Fia becomes anxiously shouted, "Brother, let's chase it away!"

Felix looked at the thing, then looked at his and Fia's small bodies and shook his head. "No, it won't be afraid of us. How about this, you quickly go back and call Aunt Jeje and the others over to help!"

"You be careful!" Fia nodded her head and turned around to run back. She was out of breath as she ran into the fruit garden. Suddenly she remembered that thing and did not know what it was. Fia shouted, "Aunt Jeje, come quickly. Animals have eaten the plants! Animals are eating plants!"

Jessie and her grandfather and grandmother ran over anxiously and finally understood that it was the donkey that was eating the wheat.

—

At noon, Jessie took out the basket of orange that she had picked up and went back to the house to prepare lunch.

The air conditioner and television in Grandma's house had already been installed. Alex was washing his hands under the tap at the door.

Jessie had yet to approach when she heard footsteps in the room.

Yoferyna, who had left the fruit garden early on, came out of the house with a cup of water and ran to Alex's side with a sweet smile, "Big brother, you have been installing electrical appliances all this time. You must be thirsty, right? I used the tea that Grandpa Jane made for you with Tie Guanyin at home. It's warm. Quickly drink a mouthful to quench your thirst."

Jessie could not help but laugh.

Brother? Yoferyna and Alex had only known each other for a short period of time and Alex had actually become her brother!

This lass clearly said that she was going home, but she actually came here.

With Alex's character, hearing that an unfamiliar woman was deliberately getting close to him annoyed him. Just as he was about to ignore Yoferyna, he turned his head and saw Jessie.

Thinking about how he had been neglected this morning, Alex's eyes flashed and he reached out to take the cup of tea.

Jessie's heart felt slightly cold without any reason. Jessie pretended not to see Alex and Yoferyna and went straight into the house and went

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

Chapter 61

/ The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

1. 6 Now Your Life Is Mine

Alex smiled slightly and casually put the tea that he had just received to the side of the pool. He shouted to the room in a deep voice, "Jessie, get a towel to wipe my hands!"

Yoferyna saw that although he did not drink her water, he was disappointed. When she heard that he wanted a towel, she rushed into the room as if she had been injected with stimulants. "I will go and get it for you!"

Jessie also heard Alex shout for a towel. At first, she did not want to help him get it but her feet involuntarily moved.

When she took a new towel from the cabinet in her grandmother's room, her shoulder was hit heavily by Yoferyna, who was running towards her.

Yoferyna took a towel from somewhere and quickly ran out.

Soon Yoferyna's coquettish voice sounded outside the room, "Brother, I will give you a towel!"

Jessie covered her shoulder that was hit and looked at the new towel in her hand. She threw it on the chair at the side snappily.

Outside the room, Yoferyna shyly held the towel and handed it to Alex.

Alex did not even look at it and walked into the room. He looked at Jessie and frowned. "Are you deaf?"

Jessie rolled her eyes in her heart. She turned around and went back to the kitchen.

Alex saw the new towel on the chair. The smile in his eyes deepened. He wiped his hands as he leisurely followed her into the kitchen.

Jessie was cutting the orange-red carrots. Every piece of carrot silk was cut by her until it was thin. It made people feel very good looking at it.

In order to do things conveniently, she tied a simple and convenient bun on her head today. The dark blue apron made her oval shaped face look fairer and more tender. Her skin was so thin that it was almost impossible to see the pores on it.

Alex was behind her and saw her slender and elegant neck. He almost stuck to her back. He went around her and handed a towel. "Go get me a cup of water."

le

Jessie did not even raise her head and said angrily, "I will not pour it. Find someone who is willing to serve you!"

Alex stuck to her back. The man's big hand with clear joints reached over. He grabbed the kitchen knife in her hand and put it down. He pushed her shoulder. "You are my woman. Listen to me. I am thirsty."

Yoferyna who was not willing to give up of him. When she happened to hear this, she shouted, "Brother, you might not know. Sis Jessie is already married. She is married to the superstar Mike!"

Jessie's fingers slightly stiffen and her face also turned slightly pale.

Originally she had just divorced Mike and was already together with Alex. The fact that she was together with Alex made her not dare to accept it. Now Yoferyna's words made her feel like she really did something shameful and she could not bear it in her heart.

Alex felt her stiffness. He reached out his hand and held her cold little hand. He turned his head and looked at Yoferyna coldly. "I never recognize you as my sister. Get out!"

The man's handsome face that was filled with cold air made Yoferyna's heart shiver. Her face turned red and her voice also became softer. "I did not say anything wrong..."

"Don't let me repeat it a second time!"

Yoferyna was scared to tears by him. She covered her face and ran away in a panic.

Jessie was silent for a long time before she shook off his hand and picked up the knife to cut the vegetables again.

Alex stared at her fingers that were cutting the vegetables for a while. He turned around and walked to the window. He took out a cigarette and lit it with his mouth.

The kitchen became quiet, and only the sound of her cutting vegetables could be heard.

Alex put one of his hand into his pocket and leaned against the window. He smoked as he looked at her.

After smoking a cigarette, he lit another one.

Jessie could not help but say, "Can you smoke less? There is only this little place in the kitchen. It choked me to death!"

Alex looked at the cigarette that had just been lit. His fingers that were holding the cigarette turned and extinguished it. He said in a low voice, "Tomorrow is the last, I want to return to R City."

There were many company matters. This time, he came suddenly and did not arrange a lot of work. He was the head of the group. He could not leave for too long without making arrangements.

Jessie actually also thought that since he was so busy with work, it was not easy for him to rest here for two days.

She raised her pair of watery eyes and looked at him. "Then Fia and Felix..."

Alex threw the cigarette into the trash can beside him. "They will go with me. There are family doctors waiting in Mountain and River Residence. Nothing will happen."

"Oh, that's good." Jessie could not tell if she was disappointed or relieved. She looked away and saw that the carrot had been cut and the plate was ready. She picked up the green pepper and cut it again. After cutting it halfway, she remembered that she did not need the green pepper

Alex saw that she was trying to hide her panic and did not point it out. He stared at her and asked, "What about you?"

Jessie simply cut out the green peppers, "What about me?"

"You are not going with us?"

Jessie paused and said, "I sold all the houses in R City and quit my job. I will not go to R City anymore."

Alex nodded, "OK, OK! Since I am leaving, I have something to give you. It is in the drawer of the desk in your bedroom. Go back and look at it yourself."

After saying that, she couldn't say something else. He turned around and strode out. The knife in Jessie's hand fell back onto the chopping board and she powerlessly fell back onto the chair beside her.

The result was as she wished, but she did not know why she suddenly felt empty...

Jessie originally thought that the little fellows had eaten chicken wings for a few days and the big meat in the fish and wanted to make some fresh country stir-fried food for them today. But now that she knew that they would leave the next day, she went to the fridge at home and brought many ingredients over, making almost all of the children's favorite food.

Lunch was full of tables.

Jessie held the two children by her side and personally picked out the fish bones for them. Fia did not have the patience to drink the soup. After Jessie heated the soup, she personally fed the spoon into her mouth.

Alex looked at her without batting an eyelid.

After eating, Jessie did not bother to help collect the orange anymore.

She brings hot water to wash the two little fellows' faces, changed into clean clothes, and took her phone to bring them around to take pictures.

After passing through a few persimmon trees, the two little fellows were attracted by the red persimmon on top until their appetites kept jumping.

"Want to eat?" Jessie was reluctant to let go of their meaty little hands along the way. Seeing them staring at the persimmon on the tree, she asked softly.

Fia nodded her head and smacked her small mouth. "They must be very sweet!"

"Okay, the two of you go over there and wait. Don't let the fallen persimmons smash you."

Jessie let go of their hands and looked at the tree with the most ripe persimmons. She walked over and climbed up the tree trunk.

There were many fruit forests in the outskirts of Nanchuan. Jessie grew up here and had done many things when she was young to climb trees and steal fruits.

Although she had not climbed trees for many years, once she learned the ability to climb trees, she would never forget it for the rest of her life.

Not to mention, The persimmon trees here were all old trees that had been around for many years. Their branches were very thick and very easy to climb.

"Wow!" The two little fellows were both stunned. They raised their little faces and opened their little mouths wide, their eyes filled with admiration.

When Alex chatted with the old man for lunch, he found out that the price of the orange was not good this year. He quickly contacted a food processing factory not far from the local area. After they arranged for them to bring the workers to collect the orange today, they came to find Jessie and the others.

From afar, he saw a slender dark blue figure crawling around on the thick persimmon tree like a nimble monkey.

He thought it was some family's child, so he admired it quite a few times.

It was only when he saw the two children beneath the tree and then looked at the dark blue small figure that his heart stopped beating, and his handsome face suddenly turned black.

Such a tall tree, she actually climbed the tree without any protection measures?

Damned woman, she doesn't want her life anymore?

"What are you doing up there?" He took long strides and rushed to the bottom of the tree like the wind. He raised his head and roared at the top of the tree.

Originally, Jessie would not be in any danger when climbing this tree.

But when he suddenly roared, she was so scared that her heart tightened and her footsteps became chaotic.

When she realized that one of her feet actually stepped on empty air, it was already too late to pull it back.

“Ah –” She screamed as she fell from the tree with her head facing upwards.

Alex’s face turned even darker. Without thinking, he had already rushed over.

The boys of the Laurent family had invited a master teacher to teach them martial arts since they were young.

Alex, on the other hand, liked to practice martial arts at a young age. The Master of Laurent family didn’t need to force Alex to take the initiative to learn martial arts. After he became an adult, his skills would naturally be outstanding. If it was an ordinary person, they would at least lose an arm.

Alex instantly confirmed the plan in his mind.

Before Jessie could react, she was caught by a buffer force, and then she fell into a pair of strong arms. She did not even see his face. Her head was already tightly protected by him. After rolling on the ground a few times, he hugged her tightly.

Her bones hurt a little, but she didn’t seem to feel anything.

She lay on the ground, still in shock and gasping for breath.

“Dad, Aunt Jeje!” The two little fellows ran over, their faces pale.

Jessie then realized that she was lying on Alex’s body. She was still wondering why she was unharmed when she fell from a height of two to three meters.

She turned her head and met the man’s deep black eyes. She was stunned. After a while, she could not think of anything to say.

“You’re too heavy” Alex smirked.

“You’re the heavy one!” Her face flushed red as she quickly got up from his body

Alex laughed in a low voice. His big hand held her soft little hand, and he held her hand as he stood up.

Seeing his exquisite black shirt and black pants were covered in dust, Jessie’s heart could not help but soften and she could not help but reach out to help him pat the dust.

Alex bent over and picked up the coat that was also covered in dust on the ground. He shook the dust in his hands and opened his arms to let her pat the dust on his body.

The three old men also ran over when they heard Jessie's voice.

Seeing that she was safe and sound, they all heaved a sigh of relief.

Jouvita could not help but complain to her daughter, "Luckily Alex is here. Otherwise, you would have lost your little life today. You are already a mother, yet you still climb up the tree. Don't you know how dangerous it is? You also don't know to be a good example for the children!"

Jessie's face was red and the way she patted the dust in her hands became gentler and slower. She did not even notice Jouvita's words.

Alex, who had been staring at her with his head down, noticed that her beautiful, almost transparent earlobe became redder. The smile on her lips became deeper and her thin lips opened slightly. "You heard it? Now your life is mine!"

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

Chapter 62

/ The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

1. He's Gone Through so Much Trouble to Help Us

His tone was too ambiguous and Jessie did not want to answer. She pretended not to hear him clearly, "Your clothes are not clean. Go and change your clothes."

Alex's phone rang. He shook her hand, "There is no hurry. Let's finish dealing with the Orange Garden first."

Jessie looked up at him in disbelief. "Do you want to help me pick the orange?"

Alex pinched her small chin. He picked up the phone and followed Jouvita and the others towards the fruit garden.

"Aunt Jeje, I think you should not hold too much hope." Felix held his hands in his pockets and looked at his father's back as if he was a little adult.

"I think so too." Fia also came over and held Jessie's hand. "My father has never done anything like peeling an orange!"

Jessie was amused by the two of them, "Really? Your dad doesn't even know how to peel an orange?"

"Anyway, I've never seen him peel an orange." Fia nodded.

"Then let's go and take a look?" Jessie was very curious. Alex had always given people the feeling that he was too powerful, as if he was omnipotent in this world. The more perfect a person was, the more she wanted to see his embarrassing side.

"Alright." The three of them reached an agreement.

Each of them ate a persimmon and ran back to the fruit garden. What surprised them was that Alex really disappointed them.

They did not think that Alex would embarrass himself at all.

Instead, Alex was rolling up his sleeves and commanding the workers in the food processing factory in an orderly manner in the fruit garden. He was tall and straight, had a calm and handsome face, and looked like a general who guided the country.

The setting sun shone on his body and seemed to have covered him with a thin layer of golden light.

Jessie could not help but be somewhat dazzled by it.

Was she really qualified to have such a man?

One basket after another, baskets of orange were transported out, weighed, and loaded. It was highly efficient and basically did not have any losses.

Having planted fruits for so many years, the fruits in the past had never been sold so easily and at such a high price. Jessie's grandfather and grandmother were so happy that they could not close their mouths.

Jouvita stood beside Jessie and said meaningfully, "Alex is really good to you. To him, this little bit of money is nothing. He went through so much trouble to help us all because of you." Jessie looked at the extraordinary man in the crowd without moving at all. Her heart felt sweet and astringent.

With so many things going on, anyone would be touched.

However, Jessie had just walked out of a sweet and painful relationship. It was said that a snake would be afraid of a rope that was bitten by a snake for ten years. Furthermore, Jessie had not fully recovered from the injuries she had suffered from Mike.

The wind would pass without a trace, and people's hearts would change easily.

It was probably because Alex was sincere that he was willing to lower his body and do these things for her. But who could guarantee that he would not change after. He was in such a high place. He would come into contact with many different kinds of women. Even Yoferyna, a woman whom he had only met once, would easily covet such a man. What right did Jessie have to think that she could make him be loyal to her?

She was not afraid of losing him, but she was afraid that her heart would turn cold and fall into despair...

After putting away the orange and eating dinner, Jessie went back home to give the two little fellows a bath. After they looked at their tablets or played games, she started to get busy again.

She started to pack Felix and Fia's clothes.

Jessie saw that they liked persimmon, so she packed up a box of fresh persimmon and went to the store in town that specialized in making persimmon cakes to buy it. In addition, she also packed some of the Nanchuan specialty products that they liked for the two little guys.

Looking at the increasing number of boxes in the room, Felix vaguely felt that they were really going to leave.

Although he hadn't received an official notice from his father, his mood had already started to deteriorate.

After Jessie went out to buy things again, Felix walked to the backyard and saw that his father was smoking while answering the work call,

He walked around in the backyard and picked up a peach tree branch to play with. After Alex finished talking, he saw that Felix was still walking around. He did not make a sound and continued smoking his own cigarette.

Felix saw that his father did not talk on the phone. He grabbed the peach and ran over. He looked up at his father and said, "Dad, are we going back?"

Alex cast a sidelong glance at him and nodded. "Yes."

The glimmer of hope that Felix still had was completely shattered. The little guy's pretty face collapsed. "So fast."

"You don't want to leave?"

Felix scratched his head, "I don't want to, but..."

Alex was impatient. "Be a man and be straightforward!"

Felix stood up straight and mustered up his courage to say, "I want Aunt Jeje to go back with us! I don't want Dad to go on blind dates with other aunties! I want Dad to marry Aunt Jeje! I want her to be our new mommy!"

After a pause, he added another sentence. "Fia has the same opinion as me!"

Therefore, if they were to vote, they would also have two votes!

Alex frowned and flicked the cigarette butt out. He stared at him for a few seconds. "Who said she is your new mommy?"

Felix's heart sank. "Do you really not like Aunt Jeje?" "She is your mother!" Alex said and turned around to enter the house.

Use

Felix was stunned. After thinking for a while, he smiled happily and flew into the house." Dad, do you mean Aunt Jeje will also leave with us?"

Alex tidied his luggage in the room and smiled meaningfully. "Before that, help me do something first."

"Okay! No problem!" Felix was so excited that his face lit up. "Dad, just say it."

vass

N1

SS

Actually, he did not understand why he was so excited. He had always been a rational child. But this time, he was excited. He couldn't control it at all!

Furthermore, he did not think that Jessie, this woman, was very outstanding and smart. On the contrary, sometimes her IQ was on par with Fia's. They were all silly, but he just liked her.

It was only later on that he finally understood why he was especially happy when he found out that he wanted to become family with her. So, that was the feeling of being blood related... Even after being separated for so many years, the bloodline relationship would never disappear because of this...

—

Jessie only stopped when she was busy until midnight.

Felix and Fia were already asleep. She took a shower and laid down beside them. She used her elbow to support her chin and looked at their small faces for a long time.

When she looked at them, her heart ached.

In the future, she would never see them again, right?

Just thinking about this, Jessie felt her heart being pulled by something heavy. It kept dragging her heart into the bottomless abyss...

The door opened and her eyes met the tall figure who walked in. She hurriedly lowered her head and wiped away the tears at the corners of her eyes.

Alex walked to the desk and opened the drawer. When he saw the unopened envelope, he frowned slightly and asked her in a low voice, "Haven't you seen it yet?"

Jessie did not say anything.

When she heard him say he wanted to give her something, she remembered the first time she met him. That day, he gave her a huge cheque.

She guessed that this time, he might think that she saved Fia, so he would give her another cheque.

She would not cash such a cheque, so she did not even think about opening it to take a look.

Alex took out the document bag, "Come to the room downstairs!"

Jessie remembered last night and felt embarrassed and shy in her heart. She pretended not to hear him and closed her eyes, not moving.

Alex walked to the door and did not hear her getting up. He turned his head and said in a deep voice, "You want me to carry you?"

Jessie raised her head and stared at him.

Alex ignored Jessie's temper and started to walk over.

Jessie bit her lips tightly and could only get up to put on her shoes. She gently helped the two children cover themselves before walking out lightly.

When she reached the room downstairs, she had just walked in when Alex's good-looking big hand held the file bag in front of her and handed it to her. "Open it!"

Jessie did not take it. She pursed her lips and stared at him.

He had just taken a shower and only wore a light gray V-collar T-shirt and dark pants. His eyes were as deep as the sea, making her inexplicably flustered.

Suddenly, she had a feeling... This document bag might not be a cheque.

But if it wasn't a check, what could it be?

Under his gaze, she felt even more pressured. She turned her head and looked elsewhere. "No matter what's inside, I won't take it. I'll go up."

Just as she turned around, the man suddenly grabbed her slender shoulder and pressed her against the door. "You said you don't need it without even looking. What do you think is inside?"

His actions instead made Jessie afraid. Her almond eyes flickered with panic. "I said I don't want it. Let me go upstairs."

"I put down a bunch of things and came here. Do you really think I am just here to pick up the child?" Not only did Alex not let go, but he also pressed on her hand tighter. "Listen to me. Take a look first!"

"I said, I don't want to and I don't want to look!" Jessie's heart was beating very fast. She could not help but push him with her hands.

"Okay, if you don't look, I will tell you." Alex threw the document on the table at the side and put his hand on the door behind her. His tall and mighty body bent slightly and he pinched her dodging chin. He forced her to look at him and said in a low voice, "Six years ago, you had an agreement with someone..."

There was a loud bang.

Jessie's brain suddenly exploded.

A few seconds later, her face turned pale and her apricot-like eyes seemed to have forgotten to blink. She continued to stare at his dark and deep eyes.

Alex did not plan to let her go. "Have you ever thought about why you happen to match Fia's blood type, and it is such a rare blood type?"

Jessie's body began to tremble violently. She raised her hand to cover her ears and shouted in a trembling voice, "Shut up! Shut up! Don't say anymore..."

"The two of them never get close to strangers. They feel especially close to you when they see you. Do you know why?" On the contrary, Alex was getting tighter and harder.

OV

Jessie immediately squatted down in front of him and begged with a pale face, "Please, don't say it again..."

"You only think of that money and never thought that those sold by you would one day become living lives?"

Felix, Fia! They could be...

She did not dare to think any further and forcefully pushed him away. She snatched the door and fled.

She ran to the second floor and only calmed down a little when she entered the room and saw the two sleeping children.

Her legs felt weak. She threw herself by the bed and looked at the two little fellows who were immersed in their dreams. Her heart seemed to be gripped by something, and the pain was difficult to suppress.

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

Chapter 63

/ The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

1. She Would Beat Him up They're her children?

At that time, Mike had told her more than once that the survival rate of the surgery was very, very low. It was impossible for the kind of thing she was worried about to happen.

She remembered that Mike had brought her to the hospital and said that it was a small checkup. When she was about to enter the operating room, he told her that he had reached an agreement with someone. He knelt in front of her and cried, saying that this was the only chance in his life. He cried so hard that she was upset, and then he personally pushed her into the operating room.

Later, this matter became a secret that she would never dare to think about again.

She pretended that nothing had happened.

Actually, she only needed to think for a moment to know that things were not as simple as they really were. Since someone had paid so much money, it was impossible for them to do something that would be in vain.

In the end, it was just that she had been deceiving herself.

Too stupid!

In her mind, the scene of Fia hugging her tightly the last time and softly saying, I love you, I really love you, felt like her heart was tearing. She was a person who had even sold her soul before. What right did she have to say 'I love you'?

She simply did not dare to imagine. If one day, the children knew how they came to this world, what kind of expression would they use to look at her?

Alex stood outside the door and heard the suppressed sobbing from inside. After a long time, he pushed open the door and walked in.

She squatted there, afraid of disturbing the child. She lowered her head and suppressed her crying. She was so frightened that she looked like a child who had done something wrong.

Alex could not help but cherish her. He slowly walked over and placed his big hand on top of her head. He gently rubbed it. "This matter, it's not your fault."

If one were to really talk about right and wrong, She was indeed wrong. Her fault was that she was too stupid and trusted a man like Mike.

The way he used it was very cruel, but seeing her like this, although his heart ached, he was still quite satisfied with her reaction.

The matter was about to succeed.

With this in mind, Alex handed the document bag back to her, "This is the paternity test I made with Fia's blood and yours."

Jessie still lowered her head.

"If you don't believe me, you can personally bring them to do the appraisal again."

"Enough!" Jessie suddenly raised her teary eyes and stared at him. Her voice was hoarse, "I don't want to know! Not at all! Can you stop talking?"

Alex suddenly grabbed one of her slender wrists and pulled her up. His face darkened. "You don't want to know at all? Did I find a mother for the children or was it my fault? Since you don't want to have anything to do with them, We won't cause any more trouble in the future. This time, we are the ones who disturbed you. Miss Jessie, I apologize to you!"

The last few words almost made him gnash his teeth.

He shook her off, turned around, and strode out.

Jessie panicked and subconsciously wanted to chase after but the little person on the bed slightly moved and rubbed her eyes as she looked at Jessie, "Aunt Jeje, I want to go to the bathroom."

When Jessie heard Fia's voice, she instantly forgot everything and her heart could not help but soften up. She quickly ran over, "Darling, don't move first. It is cold outside. I will get your clothes for you."

She pulled over the small jacket by the side and wrapped Fia up and carried her to the bathroom.

After going to the washroom, Jessie hugged Fia's small body and laid down together.

She hugged Fia very tightly as if she wanted to merge Fia into her bones and blood.

Fia's heart was extremely sweet and she also used her small hands to tightly hug her. She kissed her face and smiled sweetly, "Aunt Jeje. Do you really like me now?"

Jessie's eyes were red as she nodded her head heavily.

She reached out and tucked the blanket over Felix's side. She could not help but use her fingers to gently touch Fia's beautiful little face.

In the past, when she didn't know about it, she liked them very much.

Now that she knew the truth, she wished she could give her heart to the two children.

But when she thought of that agreement, she felt as if a huge rock was pressing down on her, and she couldn't breathe again.

She kissed Fia's fair and tender face heavily and forcefully held back her tears. "I really like you. Baby, go to sleep."

Fia nodded and fell asleep again. In her dream, Fia's lips were all curled up in a smile.

They were her children....

Jessie did not sleep for the entire night and stared at the sleeping faces of the two children for a long time. Her tears were wet layer by layer. It was not until dawn when she was tired from crying that she fell asleep.

In her dream, she saw Felix and Fia looking at her coldly, questioning why she sold them, why she did not want them, and why she let them be like children without mothers who were bullied.

The scene changed. Alex walked further and further away with the two children. She chased after them crazily, but she couldn't catch up to them no matter what. She kept calling Felix and Fia, and they didn't even look back at her.

"Felix! Fia!" Jessie was startled awake and her entire body was covered in cold sweat.

She looked at the ceiling blankly and realized that it was just a dream before she gradually calmed down.

After that, she remembered that the children were sleeping next to her and hurriedly turned her head.

The bed beside her was empty.

"Felix! Fia!" Her heart suddenly tightened and she searched everywhere barefooted.

There was neither upstairs nor downstairs.

Furthermore, she found that Alex's suitcase had also disappeared.

She ran out and found that the conspicuous Land Rover was also gone in the alley.

All of a sudden, she felt as if she had fallen into a dark abyss, and her whole body was cold.

When Jouvita came back, she saw her barefooted and only wearing thin pajamas as she squatted at the door. She quickly walked over, "Why are you dressed like this and squatting at the door? Aren't you afraid of being frozen? Quickly enter the house."

Jessie could no longer bear the endless loneliness and pressure in her heart. She reached out and hugged Jouvita, tears falling down, "Mom, he took Felix and Fia away...".

Jouvita gently patted her back and held her hand as she entered the house. She sighed, "They are not people from our place to begin with and it is only right that they leave. I know you like Felix and Fia but they are not your children after all. How can they stay by your side?" They were her children!

Jessie almost wanted to shout out but she swallowed her words when it was about to reach her mouth. Her heart was very bitter.

In the bedroom, Felix and Fia used things everywhere. They did not have time to take away their clothes, toys, books, and tablets.

Jessie touched them one by one. It was as if she saw them right in front of her.

She wanted to call them several times and say that she wanted to be with them. She wanted to take good care of them, but when she thought of Alex, she had to stop.

The document bag containing the DNA test was placed on the sofa beside her. She picked it up and saw the final evaluation result. She did not have the courage to look at it anymore. She threw it on the sofa beside her and panted.

Her fingers accidentally touched the tablet and Felix and Fia's faces were quickly revealed on the screen.

The background was in the room downstairs. It should have been taken when she left in the morning.

Fia held back her tears and looked at her through the screen, "Aunt Jeje. We have returned to R City. Dad said that he had asked you. You don't want to leave with us. He said you will marry someone else in the future. Give birth to your child, and you will treat them well. Let us not block your path, I really like you... I want you to be my mommy. I told a lot of my classmates last time. You're my mommy. They laughed at me and said I was lying. They said that you wouldn't be my mommy at all. They called me a liar. I only found out today that they weren't wrong. I really became a liar..."

At this point, Fia's tears could no longer fall. Like a broken string of pearls, they gushed out. She used her small hands to wipe away her tears. She sobbed, "But it's okay. I can't be insensible. I can't let Aunt Jeje live an unhappy life. If those classmates want to talk about me again, I'll just fight with them a few more times. They won't dare to say that I'm a liar and they won't dare to say that I'm a wild girl without a mother..."

Then, the tablet was snatched away by Felix. "Don't cry. Do you want Aunt Jeje to feel bad too? Don't be so insensible. Farewell properly. Don't cry even if you don't want to. Did you hear that?"

He faced the camera and lowered his head for a while. Then, he looked up and tried to smile. "Aunt Jeje, you have to live happily. Although we will always miss you, you don't have to miss us too much. You have to be happy. Goodbye!"

Jessie tightly covered her mouth. Her tears blurred her vision again and again...

She was dizzy and did not know how long she slept on the sofa when Jessie suddenly heard lively voices coming from downstairs.

She thought she had misheard and ran to the door to listen. It was really the sound of voices

Her heart started to beat wildly. She quickly opened the door and was about to run out. Just a

As she was about to open the door, she pulled back her steps and went back to open the closet to change into a clean and tidy set of clothes. She quickly wiped her tears off the mirror and tied up her hair before quickly walking downstairs.

However, the people who were talking in the yard were not the two little figures she wanted to see at all.

The person who came was Tony.

Seeing her come out, he continued to help Jouvita choose the vegetables as he looked up and smiled at her. "You're up? I bought the Soup Dumplings and they are still warm on the table. Go and eat some. My culinary skills have improved a lot in the past few years. I'll make lunch for you guys today."

Jouvita smiled and said, "Then we are very lucky. You guys chat first. I will go and collect rice.

"Okay, Aunt." Tony answered happily.

Jessie could not laugh. "Why are you here?"

She remembered that after being played by the two children that day, he never came over again.

Tony paused for a moment, his face carrying an apologetic expression. "Jessie, I was wrong to blame you. I think you're right, even though Mr. Alex has a big background. Since you don't like him, it is right for you to reject him. Furthermore, he has two children. You can't be stepmother for others, right? Don't you know that stepmother can't bear it. You will definitely be at a disadvantage if you are like this. You are not like those heartless women who are ruthless to their children. Those two children of his are not good people. Sooner or later, they will meet the powerful stepmother and discipline them well!"

Jessie's heart tightened, "The powerful stepmother?"

"Have you never heard of it? There were a lot of news now. When stepmother abused the child of her husband's ex-wife, she would ruthlessly beat the child who was not soft-hearted at all. Mr. Alex's two children would probably meet stepmother who was like this." Before he finished speaking, he saw Jessie suddenly enter the house.

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

Chapter 64

/ The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika

1. Naughty Child

When Jessie returned to her room, she took the phone from the table and dialed Alex's number.

The phone rang several times, but no one answered.

She did not know if he did not hear it or if he deliberately did not answer.

Jessie's heart was burning with anxiety.

He only answered the phone after she made the second call.

The man's magnetic voice was distant, "Who are you?"

Jessie was stunned. Then she remembered that this was her new phone number and he should not have saved it. She bit her lips and said, "Have you guys returned to R City now?"

"Does it have anything to do with you?"

"Felix, Fia and the others..."

"Their matter has nothing to do with you." Every word Jessie said was blocked by his coldness. She was silent for a second and he said impatiently, "I have something to do. I don't have time to chat with you. I'm hanging up!"

"I want to talk to you –"

Before she could finish, Alex had already hung up.

Jessie looked at the phone and was stunned.

She knew that he had a bad temper, but he was actually so straightforward.

Tony's words made her tremble with fear. She held her phone and dialed Felix's number.

It was Fia who answered the call. "Hello ~"

Hearing her weak voice, Jessie's heart hurt. "Fia, what happened to you? Does the wound hurt again?"

When Fia heard her voice, she felt like she was going to cry even more, "Aunt Jeje..."

"Fia, do you feel pain? Where is your father? Is he not there?" Jessie was so anxious that she wanted to fly to her side and hug her to comfort her.

"Dad went to socialize."

"Where's your brother?"

It was finally Felix who answered the phone. "Aunt Jeje."

Jessie remembered that Alex had said that in R City, he would arrange a family doctor and quickly instructed him to take care the children, "Felix, Fia's injury is hurting again. Go and get a family doctor."

"There is no doctor here. We are now in the south bank resort."

"You did not return to the R City?" The south bank resort was located in the Nanchuan town. It was next to the South Coast Hill, a famous tourist attraction in the Hai City. "No, dad has a job here, so we came here first."

"What about him?"

"Some uncles are looking for him. He left us in his room and went out."

Fia cried even louder, "It hurts! Aunt Jeje, my hand hurts..." When Jessie heard this, her heart collapsed and she hurriedly said, "I will call your father!" She hung up and then called Alex's phone, but he did not answer. Jouvita was about to go upstairs and call Jessie to go down to eat when she saw her neatly dressed, carrying a bag and running downstairs.

"Where are you going?"

Jessie did not even turn her head. "I have something to do. I will be back soon!"

Tony also ran over from the backyard. "Jessie, can I send you there?"

"No need!"

After getting a taxi, Jessie went straight to South Coast Hill's holiday residence.

It was not far away. She took a taxi for more than 20 minutes to arrive. Before entering the villa, Jessie first asked about the location of the nearest medical center, then went to the front desk to ask where Alex and the rest lived.

In front of the water, in the small building behind the mountain, Fia was comfortably lying on the sofa as she nibbled on the persimmon cake. At the same time, she was worried as she asked her father who had just finished bathing and came out of his house. "Dad, why hasn't Aunt Jeje come over yet?"

Alex did not answer. He went into the room to change his clothes.

Fia then looked at Felix who was also eating the persimmon cake and reading a book. "Brother, is father's method feasible?"

"Don't worry, Aunt Jeje will come!" Felix did not even look up. "Aunt Jeje's brain is similar to yours. She will definitely believe it. She should be on the way now."

Fia's heart relaxed but then she wrinkled her delicate brows, "Felix, what does Aunt Jeje's brain mean by similar to mine? Are you saying that we are stupid?"

Felix raised his eyebrows and did not say anything.

Fia understood his expression and gritted her teeth, "Wait and see. When Aunt Jeje comes, I will tell her that you scolded me and her for being stupid!"

Felix's small face was calm, "You will not say."

"See if I dare!"

"Don't forget, you've already pretended to cry a few times to trick her. I'm a witness."

Fia was so choked by him that she did not want to talk. She said angrily, "Felix, I curse you that there will never be a girl chasing after you!"

Felix finished the last mouthful of the persimmon cake and patted his hands, "Just nice. I like peace!"

"You..."

The doorbell rang.

Fia who instantly angry become joy again. "Aunt Jeje is here!"

She immediately jumped up from the sofa and was about to open the door when Alex, who had walked out of the bedroom, said something cold to her. She was so scared that she immediately put her feet away. "You want to let her see that you are pretending to be pitiful to gain sympathy?"

She shrank her head and went back into the sofa. She even used her other hand to cover her injured hand, ready to pretend to be in pain at any time.

"You two go back to your rooms. Don't come out if I don't tell you!" Alex gave the order and Felix immediately carried it out. He picked up Fia's collar and quickly walked into the room.

Jessie saw a tall man wearing a white shirt and black pants in front of the door. He looked cold and indifferent. Jessie was stunned for a moment. She looked up at him in a daze. "You are back?"

"Miss Jessie, why are you free to come here?" Alex was expressionless. Alex's body blocked the door. He held the door with one hand and did not seem to be ready to let her in.

His attitude made Jessie feel very uncomfortable in her heart. She did not care about his alienation and looked inside. "Where is Fia? Is the injury on her hand still painful?"

"I have already said that the children's matters in the future have nothing to do with you." Alex did not move at all. His handsome face was as cold as ice.

"Can't you let me go in and take a look?"

Fia, who was in the bedroom, was so anxious that she wanted to run out immediately. Aunt

Jessie was already here, why did his father not let her go and see her?

Felix knew that this girl would not be able to hold her temper. He directly used his hand to hold her and used his eyes to warn her not to make a sound.

Alex's face was still as cold as ice. "Do you care whether they live or die?"

Jessie was worried about Fia and was stopped by him again and again. She was also angry. "Why can't I care about them? They are..."

Alex mercilessly interrupted her. "Miss Jessie, your words are ridiculous. You are clearly afraid that they will become your burden and let me take them away. I am doing as you wish now, but you are chasing me and saying that you care about them?"

no

Jessie felt wronged in her heart and her eyes turned slightly red, "Can you not randomly misinterpret the meaning of others?"

Alex stared at her deeply. His deep eyes were sharp and aggressive. "Then what do you mean?"

Jessie's heart was in a mess from being stared at by him.

Alex continued, "The two children are used to being with you now. When I took them away, they cried. I have something to do here. I heard someone from the resort call me, saying that the two of them wanted to find you by themselves. That's why I had to finish my work early and rush back."

The meaning of his words was to let her know that if she left, even if she returned to R City, the two children might run away from home to find her again.

This kind of thing, the little fellows had not only done it once. Alex also knew that Jessie would definitely believe such words.

“They were lucky before that nothing bad happened. But they are still young and I am their father. How can I be at ease? But I can’t tie their hands and feet with ropes.”

Alex’s every word had pierced her heart.

Seeing her face gradually turning as white as snow and her red lips trembling, he paused for a moment, and his tone softened a little. “But you don’t have to care about these things. I said that this matter wasn’t your fault in the first place. You can choose whatever you want. If it really doesn’t work, I can use some forceful methods to prevent them from running around again”

Not giving them any freedom at all?

These words made Jessie’s heart palpitate. They were only five years old children. How was he going to force them? What right did he have to not give them freedom?

Just as she was about to question him, Fia forcefully pulled open the bedroom door and the little girl flew out like a little bird, “Aunt Jeje!”

Jessie’s heart become softened when she saw her. Her maternal instinct made her push away the big man who was blocking the door. She quickly ran in and squatted down to tightly hold the little fellow in her arms. She lovingly pulled her injured hand over to see, “Does it still hurt? Did you take the medicine on time today?”

Fia lay in her arms. She looked pitiful. “I’ve taken the medicine. I just miss you. I miss you so much that my injury hurts.”

Alex glared at Felix, who had come out from behind him, and scolded him with his eyes.

He was about to talk about the critical moment when he was interrupted. He was about to make a little girl submit to him.

In the end...

Fia, this silly child!

Felix shrugged innocently. He did not expect Fia, who had been quietly waiting, to suddenly push him down.

Jessie heard the little girl’s soft and tender voice and felt as if a knife was being twisted in her heart. She hugged Fia’s small face and kissed a few times, “I will bring you to the infirmary to take a look. You haven’t changed the medication today, right?”

"Yes." Jessie held her little hand and saw Felix looking at her from behind. She gently reached out with her other hand. "Felix, can you go with your sister?"

Felix could not wait to see her. He immediately reached out his little hand and held her big white and soft hand.

One big and two small walked out. Alex took his pocket with one hand and was about to follow them to the infirmary.

Jessie turned around and said with a calm expression, "Mr. Alex, continue with your work. I will take the children to change the medicine and send them here."

Mr. Alex?

Very good. He just used Miss Jessie to call her and she immediately returned it.

She was very clever in this aspect!

Felix and Fia looked at his father and smiled. "Dad, you can go ahead and do whatever you want. We just need Aunt Jeje to accompany us."

Alex was speechless. Why didn't he realize that these two children were so annoying in the past?