

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika Chapter 6

1. You Know That I'm Sick?

Director Harry was an expert in orthopedics. After he touched Jessie's hand bone a few times, he suddenly squeezed with force, and Jessie's dislocated wrist bone was connected.

Jessie spun around her wrist twice and the pain had disappeared. She was pleasantly surprised. "Alright, I don't feel any pain anymore. Thank you, Director Harry!"

"You're welcome. I haven't asked you yet. Are you from the Laurent family?" Director Harry looked at her with a smile and asked.

Jessie shook her head and said, "My surname is not Laurent."

Just as she was speaking, a woman's anxious voice sounded at the door, "My little kid, I have finally found you. Do you know that Nanny was frightened by you? You are not allowed to run around in the future. If you are captured by bad people, something bad will happen!"

A middle-aged woman in a dark red sweater quickly walked in. She immediately pulled the two cute children into her arms. Her heart ached.

Felix was speechless.

What a headache. When could Nanny Lisa not look down on his intelligence anymore?

If he met a bad person, with Felix's IQ of 140, it was still uncertain who would be taken away!

Fia was slightly shorter than Felix. Fia being hugged by Nanny Lisa like this, she was somewhat out of breath. Although Nanny Lisa was very warm, she missed the warm and fragrant embrace of the aunt just now. She quickly whispered, “Nanny, I can’t catch my breath...”

Nanny Lisa only reacted at this moment. She smiled apologetically and hurriedly let go of the two children.

Almost at the moment when she let go, Fia turned her head and ran into Jessie’s embrace.

Phew, so comfortable!

Jessie was stunned. Looking at Fia’s small head in her arms, Jessie thought that the little guy really had a conscience. Just now, she had helped her a little and this little girl was actually so grateful to her. Thinking of this, Jessie’s heart softened like water. She also extended her hand and gently rubbed the little girl’s head.

Felix saw that his sister was not polite and went straight into Jessie’s arms. He felt embarrassed and covered his face.

“Who is this?” Nanny Lisa saw that Fia and Felix were so close and she thought that Jessie was Doctor Harry’s friend. She smiled and asked Doctor Harry.

Doctor Harry hurriedly said, “Just now Felix and Fia fell. It was this young lady who helped to prevent young master and young miss from getting hurt.”

As he spoke, he also gave Jessie an apologetic look.

Jessie understood that he probably did not want the child’s family to worry. She smiled and said, “It’s nothing. It was nothing.”

After all, a child climbing up to the roof was indeed too scary.

“Thank you so much!” After Nanny Lisa thanked him again and again, she took the children to find their family

Only then did Jessie realize that Nanny Lisa was the nanny of these two children. The children's family members were in the hospital.

Fia reluctantly waved at Jessie.

Jessie looked at Fia's reluctant big eyes and her heart also inexplicably felt some reluctance. She smiled and waved at her and said, "Goodbye!"

Suddenly, a piece of paper and a pen were handed over from her waist.

"Auntie, can you leave me a phone number?" Felix's fair little face was slightly red. He did not even dare to look at Jessie.

Doctor Harry and Nanny Lisa were both stunned. They looked at the scene in a daze.

Jessie could tell that the little guy must have mustered some courage. She readily took the pen and paper and said, "Okay."

He tore the paper from his medical record book.

When Jessie wrote her phone number, the little guy stood on his tiptoes and looked at it. He told Jessie in a serious manner, "Auntie, don't write it wrong!"

"Don't worry. I remember my phone number very well. It won't be wrong." Jessie finished writing and handed it to him.

"That's good." The little fellow carefully folded the paper and put it into the pocket of the suit. Then, he used his little hand to press heavily on his pocket.

Doctor Harry and Nanny Lisa were speechless."

It was the first time they had seen Young Master ask someone for his phone number so seriously. This really surprised them.

The two little fellows returned to their grandfather's ward. When the two little fellows saw the tall man inside, they stopped walking and shouted, "Dad."

The man standing in front of the hospital bed wore an exquisite dark blue suit. He did not wear a tie. The buttons on the collar of the black shirt inside the suit were opened, revealing his sexy and tough collarbone.

When they thought of what their father had said before, the two little fellows immediately didn't dare to go forward.

Grandma Restall saw that they had returned and immediately came over to pull a child with each hand. Before she could say anything, Alex lectured the child, "Who told you to leave the ward? I asked the two of you to come to the hospital to accompany Grandfather. If you don't stay here well, why are you running around?"

Seeing his beloved grandson and granddaughter being scolded, Grandpa Edison, who was in the hospital bed, was unhappy. "I asked them to run around casually."

Grandma Restall also hurriedly nodded and echoed, "Your father saw that the children were so bored in the ward that he let them go out to play for a while. It's not like they will run far."

Fia forcefully nodded her head. She nodded her head and said, "Yes, Father. It was Grandfather and Grandmother who asked us to go out and play."

Alex's sharp eyes swept over and Fia immediately hid her little head behind her grandmother's back.

Grandma Restall's heart ached and she stared at her son unhappily and said, "You are their father. Can't you be nicer to them? Look at these two children being scared by you. They are pitiful enough. They don't have their mother's love, but their father is still so fierce to them. If you continue to be like this, Even if I have to forcefully snatch them, I won't allow them to go back to your place to live!"

Being taught a lesson in front of his son and daughter, Alex's face darkened even more, but he still said gently, "Father is ill now. You two don't have to worry about the two children anymore. I will take them back now to avoid disturbing dad and affecting his rest."

Grandpa Edison got angrier when he heard this. He asked angrily, "So, you know I'm ill? Let me ask you, what happened last night? You left before Miranda came. Tell me, where did you go?"
