

The Baby's Mother Need Love by hika Chapter 8

1. Don't Keep a Man Who Doesn't Love Me Anymore.

"I have!" Felix was afraid that his father would take back his phone, so he quickly dialed the number.

However, he made two phone calls in a row, but no one answered.

Was the aunt busy right now?

He thought for a while and decided to send a text first.

[Auntie, I am Felix, who asked for your help in the hospital. My sister picked up your stuff. Please reply to my phone number if you receive this message. You must call me! (I will wait for you to call me!)]

After he finished writing this message, he shyly deleted the last sentence.

However, after a few seconds, he added the last sentence. He hesitated for a while and decided to send the message to her.

After sending the message, he tightly gripped his phone and said: "Dad, Auntie is busy right now. She didn't answer my phone, so I sent her a message. I'll return the phone to you after she calls me back."

Alex looked at him suspiciously, but didn't take the phone back.

Felix held the phone tightly. He thought of the beautiful auntie again. He looked even more embarrassed. She was the most beautiful girl he had ever seen in his life.

She was even more beautiful and gentle than the aunties Uncle Sam had introduced to his father.

It would be great if he could see her again. ..

After Jessie left the hospital, she called Mike.

The call had been picked up. But when he saw that it was her number, he immediately hung up.

When she called him again, his phone had already been turned off.

At this time, Jessie realized that other than this phone number, she did not have any other number that could be used to contact others.

She did not have his manager's contact information, his assistant's contact information, and the contact information of those close to him.

Furthermore, he had never introduced her to them.

She had once asked him for his manager's phone number. He said that it was unnecessary to ask for his manager's phone number, so she didn't think too much about it at that time.

Now she remembered that he should have been ready to divorce at any time.

What was laughable was that she actually thought that as long as the two of them got married, they would definitely love each other for the rest of their lives.

She smiled sarcastically.

She finally understood now that marriage was ultimately unable to make him love her all the time. Moreover, she now understood that marriage could not keep a man who did not love her anymore.

She wiped away her tears, hailed a taxi, and returned to her home in the suburbs.

The radio in the car was broadcasting the latest entertainment news.

"Then Miss Yura, you were moved by Mr. Mike because of the 365 night phone call, right?"

"You can say that too. But, actually, I still like him."

“At that time, you guys weren’t lovers yet, but Mr. Mike persistently called you to say good night every day. That was too romantic! If it was another girl who experienced this, she would definitely be moved. Then, M 1. Mike must also love you very much right now, right?”

“Yes. At least, ever since we were together, his goodnight call never stopped.”

“I’m so jealous that you have such a pampered boyfriend! Miss Yura, you’re so happy!”

“Thank you!”

Yura’s sweet laughter made people feel her happiness through the radio.

Jessie turned her head to look at the street outside the window and could not help but laugh at herself.

She originally thought that in this world, she was the only one who was stupid. But she did not think that a woman like Yura, who had everything, would also be moved by Mike’s continuous goodnight call.

If she knew that Mike was a person who could abandon conscience for fame and fortune, would she still smile so sweetly?

When she returned home, she took the key to open the door, but no matter how hard she tried, she could not open it.

She bent down to take a look and found that the lock in the house had been changed.

And no matter how hard she pressed the doorbell, no one responded to her.

They had really gone too far! Jessie angrily returned to Olive Hotel.

From the update on Weibo, she could tell that Mike was still in R City. If he did not stay at home, then he must still be in that hotel.

When security guard saw her in the hotel, he actually stopped her at the door and didn't let her in.

Jessie was exceptionally angry and said, "I am here to stay at the hotel. Are you guys going to refuse to let the guests stay?"

"I am sorry, lady. Our hotel is booked today. If you want to stay in a hotel, there is another hotel 500 meters ahead." security guard patiently explained.

"Did Mike ask you to stop me?" She asked angrily. Actually, when they stopped her just now, she had already thought of this reason.

Security guard said awkwardly: "No one asked us to stop you. Our hotel was booked today."

Jessie did not make things difficult for him anymore. Moreover, even if she wanted to make things difficult for him, she could not do that.

After walking for a while, she returned to the hotel.

She planned to stand guard at the entrance of the hotel.

When she picked up her phone to look at the time, she saw the unread message.

She recalled the two cute children she met at the hospital today, and she became a little happier.

She sat down beside the flower bed and called the child back.

The little boy quickly answered the phone. He politely asked, "Hello, I am Felix. Did you call to find my father?"

Because when someone called him earlier, Felix would always call his aunt directly, but in the end, they were all looking for his father. Therefore, now that someone called him again, he didn't dare to call her aunt directly

After Jessie heard Felix's voice, she became happier. She smiled and answered him, "I called you. I'm sorry, I didn't see the message just now, so I called you a little late."
