1. He Gave You the Legendary Black Card

"If there's no problem, shall we sign the contract now? I still have to go home to pack my luggage for tonight's flight."

Jessie and Sally looked at each other and agreed readily.

Since he had already said so, there was nothing that they could not agree with.

After more than an hour, both parties signed the lease agreement. Jessie still wanted to pay for a year's rent, but the landlord said that they must follow the agreement and only charge five thousand.

This made Jessie feel ashamed.

But the result was that everyone was happy.

The young man handed the two sets of keys to Jessie, took the agreement, and left in a hurry.

Jessie was happy in her heart and pulled Sally to start looking around. She started to think about where to place the tables and chairs, where to place the bar counters and the like.

After the young man left the shop, he lifted his sleeves and wiped the sweat off his forehead. He dialed a number, "Assistant Rick, it has been settled. I will send the agreement to you now.

"Okay, thank you for your hard work." Rick hung up the phone and entered the president's office. He replied that boss's matter had been settled.

Alex looked up from the computer screen. "Did he reveal anything?"

"No. If there were any flaws, Miss Jessie and the others would definitely not sign the contract.

Alex nodded. A satisfied smile appeared on his handsome face.

She had always been simple and easy to deceive.

After Rick went out, he called Jessie.

Jessie was planning the layout of the store. Her tone could not hide her excitement. "I found the store."

"Are you satisfied?"

"Yes, I am satisfied with the arrangement. Do you know where it is?"

The smile on Alex's lips deepened. He asked even though he knew the answer.
"Where is it?"

"I won't tell you first. I will give you a surprise on the opening day." Jessie was in a good mood and maintained the suspense with a smile.

"Okay. I will wait. If you need anything, you can tell me."

Jessie's heart was sweet. "Okay, I understand."

After hanging up the phone, the smile on her face was still hanging by her mouth.

Sally, who was stuffed with dog food for no reason, could not stand it anymore.
"Big Boss Jessie, can you consider the feelings of a single dog?"

Jessie laughed out loud. "If you envy me, I will also introduce you a boyfriend?"

"If President Alex can help me find a boyfriend, you must tell me immediately. I will definitely fly over to meet him!"

Jessie and Sally stayed in the store for another two hours before coming out. When they locked the door, she inadvertently looked up and saw a few big words on the tall building next door: Mumen Group.

Sally also saw it. She looked up and exclaimed, "This fate between the two of you is really amazing!"

In Jessie's mind, she could not help but think of what that man said last night, 'I will make a store for you tomorrow'.

However, she saw the property ownership certificate clearly. The landlord's name was Sammy Smith. He was not Alex, Rick, or anyone else from the Laurent family. Moreover, he had promised to let her find it herself. He would usually keep his promise and not interfere with her.

She believed that just like what Sally had said, the fate between her and him was destined.

Thinking of this, she looked at the big building next to her. Thinking of the man who was currently working in an office inside, she could not help but feel a sweetness in her heart.

Seeing that it was almost time for the children to finish school, Sally would go to the Tianji Residence for dinner today. Jessie would go with her to the large shopping supermarket across the street to buy groceries.

After buying the groceries, they came out and saw a row of stores by the side. Jessie was attracted by a man's watch placed in the Omega window.

Silver steel watch, dark blue watch, simple design, low-profile but not lacking in luxury.

Seeing her standing there, the salesperson in the shop immediately welcomed her warmly. "Are you going to buy a gift for your boyfriend? This is the new male watch that our shop has just released."

When Jessie heard the word boyfriend, her brain heated up. She stuffed the shopping bags in her hands to Sally and followed the shopping guide into the store. The shopping guide took out the new watch from the counter and attentively introduced it to her.

Jessie touched the watch and remembered that time he applied medicine to her. His watch kept scratching her legs and her ears were slightly red.

She could not help but want to see the appearance of this watch on his exquisite wrist bone.

Sally carried two big bags of shopping bags in and saw Jessie wanted to pay.

When she saw the price of the watch, she sucked in a breath of cold air and got close to Jessie and whispered, "Did you look at the price?"

Jessie nodded and continued to take out the card.

Sally was surprised, "You sold the house just to exchange money to buy this watch for him?"

"This is not the money for selling the house." Furthermore, compared to what he made for her, it was not worth mentioning that she bought him such a gift.

"This is not the money for selling the house. Did he give you a black card?"

"Why would I want his card? I have my own money." Jessie smiled and rolled her eyes at her. She readily paid the ten of thousands of yuan.

Although in many aspects, she might not be able to close the distance between her and him in this lifetime, at least in terms of love, she wanted to maintain a relationship that was basically equal.

Seeing Jessie spend so much money without even blinking her eyes, Sally shook her head. "Alright, you are about to become a rich madam."

She paused and did not forget to remind her. "But you better be careful. Don't be too stubborn. It is the reality that being careful of men is the reality of pig hooves!"

Men are all pig trotters?

Jessie smiled and did not respond to her words. It was not that she already trusted Alex. It was just that since she had decided, she would persist without distractions until the end.

Before leaving, Grandma Restall decided to give Alex one last chance. She took the initiative to call her son, "Alex, tell me honestly today, when are you going to bring that Miss Jessie back?"

Alex remembered what Jessie had said. He said calmly, "No rush."

"Do you think you are still young? You're almost forty years old, and you're still not getting married. Are you planning to wait until your beard and hair turn white before walking into the auditorium with a walking stick? I can't afford to lose face like this!"

"You're not saying anything because you find me annoying again, right? Alright, I won't bother you anymore. You can get married when you're a hundred years old. I don't care anymore!" Old Madam hung up the phone angrily.

She turned around and immediately ordered the driver with a smile, "Let's go!"

She had already asked for his opinion anyway. The daughter in law was the ones who were unwilling to come, so Granma Restall could not be blamed for looking for her. Future mother-in-law personally visiting her future daughter-in-law was a huge honor!

The car arrived at Tianji Residence, and the driver prepared to accompany Grandma Restall upstairs.

Grandma Restall stopped him, "You go back first. I want to meet someone here. Will you go back for a while? I'll call you after I'm done."

"Okay."

Grandma Restall entered the elevator and went straight to the top floor.

Rick thought she would be scared if he only gave her a rough idea.

He did not think about how smart she was. President Alex had many properties under his name. But the house closest to the children's school was the house of Tianji Residence. How

- could that Miss Jessie abandon the Tianji Residence, which was so close to the children's school, and live somewhere else?

Old Madam filtered out the locations of those properties and guessed that there was a 80% chance that Miss Jessie would live here.

At the door, Grandma Restall cleared her throat and took out a small mirror to check the makeup that she had specially put on today. Only then did she pick up the serious expression and ring the doorbell.

Originally, she did not want to come either. But that day, she introduced such a good Miss ne thing that he didn't like her, but he also splashed water on her, causing her to have no face to contact her anymore. Therefore, she had no choice but to take the initiative to meet this Miss Jessie that she had heard about for a long time.

She wanted to see just how charming this Miss Jessie was, to make Alex, such a violent person, willing to listen to her words.

She pressed the doorbell for a long time, but no one opened it.

Could it be that her judgment was wrong? Did the Miss Jessie not live here?

She saw a cat's eye on the door. She stood on her tiptoes and leaned against the door. She narrowed her eyes and looked into the cat's eye.

"This Old Madam, what are you doing here?" The security guard saw her from the surveillance camera and immediately ran up. As soon as he stepped out of the elevator, he asked in a loud and serious voice.

This heavy scolding scared Grandma Restall, who was unprepared and staring intently at the cat's eyes. Her soul scattered and her legs went weak as she sat on the ground,

Security guard thought that she was guilty and said even more sternly, "This is a private district. You are not the person who lives here, right? How did you come in?"

Seeing that it was security guard who came, Grandma Restall rubbed her chest and said snappily, "Of course I am the owner of this place. Otherwise, can I come in?"

"Are you the owner? Which family?"

"This one!" Grandma Restall gestured at the closed door and supported herself up, but she did not get up. "Quickly come over and help me up. If something happens to me when I fall, I will sit at your house and eat!"

Security guard still did not believe her, but he still came over to help her up. He asked fair and square, "You said you are the owner of this house. Open the door now and let me see!"

Not long after he came to this neighborhood, So he didn't know if she lived here or not.

"I don't have a key, how can I enter? This is my son's property."

"Then call your son!"

"Why don't you believe me? I already said it was my son's house!" What a joke, if she called him, wouldn't she expose herself!

Security guard saw that she did not dare to call her son even though she did not have a key. He was even more disbelieving. "I think you mixed in, right? Tell me honestly, what is your purpose?"

Jessie and Sally came out of the elevator and bumped into security guard who was dragging Grandma Restall towards them.

"What are you doing?" Jessie hurried over and reached out to support Grandma Restall, who was so angry that she almost fell down. She frowned and looked at security guard. "Is this how you people treat the owner?" "I'm sorry! So she is your family. Old Madam has been unable to produce proof that she is the owner of the house. That's why I misunderstood. I'm really sorry!" The security guard recognized Jessie. She often brought the child in and out, which was very eye-catching.

He heard Jessie say the owner. Grandma Restall's words were stuck in her throat. She blinked her eyes and looked at her with a smile, "How did you know that I am the owner of this place?" Jessie was speechless.

1. 9 Felix, Do You Have to Make Me Angry?

Sally quickly walked over and helped to cover up, "You must be Old Madam Laurent, right? I am Jessie's friend. I heard Jessie mention it before. She felt that a person like owner of this place, or you are here to find someone you know. No matter what, you definitely won't make security guard suspect that you have ulterior motives."

Jessie also came back to her senses and smiled to Grandma Restall to express her agreement with Sally's words.

"You are right. Do you guys also live here? Which floor and which house? My son is not home. Can I go to your house to play for a while?" Old Madam saw that Jessie's friend was like a good person and immediately pleaded.

Jessie and Sally were speechless.

They were still thinking of randomly saying a floor and turning around to leave. How could they dare to agree to Old Madam's request?

Sally leaned over Jessie's ear and whispered, "Worthy of being the biological grandmother of those two children. Those two children's pestering skills were actually learned from her."

Jessie was afraid that Grandma Restall would hear, so she hurriedly pulled Sally and walked forward with a smile, "I am really sorry. Actually, I am also staying at my friend's house here. Her boyfriend is currently at home and it might be a little inconvenient. The next time I find a good house, I will definitely invite you to play at home."

"It's fine. I will just go to your house to drink some water. After drinking, I will continue to wait here." Grandma Restall said and directly held Jessie's arm. She smiled and even helped Jessie carry the shopping bag.

Jessie had a headache as she looked at Sally. Sally knew that Jessie wanted to wait to at least have a career before openly going to see the Laurent family, so she could only shrug her shoulders to show that she was useless in dealing with this kind of sudden situation.

Grandma Restall pulled Jessie even tighter, "Let's go. It is tiring for you to carry so many bag. You two little girls really know how to buy vegetables and I have not eaten dinner yet. Thinking about the food you guys made with these things, I can't help but want to drool."

It was as if she still wanted to eat the food they made.

Jessie believed that if she really had a home here and brought her into the house, Old Madam would definitely wait for them to eat dinner together.

This was not important. What was important was what she should do now.

After thinking for a while, she took out her phone and sent a WeChat message to Alex. "The child's grandmother is at the entrance of the Tianji Residence. She wants to see my home.

Quickly give her a call and tell her the password so that she can enter."

After sending the message, she slowed down her footsteps and anxiously waited for Grandma Restall's phone to ring.

Before Grandma Restall's phone rang, Jessie's own phone rang.

When she saw the number, her heart could not help but tremble. Afraid that Grandma Restall would hear the sound, she carefully let go of Grandma Restall's hand and pulled out a smile. "Sorry, I will take the call first."

Without waiting for Grandma Restall to say anything, she quickly ran for a long distance before answering the phone. "Why did you call me?"

"You take her in first. I'm already on my way. I'll be right there." Alex's tone was calm and composed.

Jessie's heart skipped a beat. "Me?"

"Yes. You just need to bring her in. I will explain the rest to her when I return."

"But...I..."

"Don't you already have a shop?"

Jessie was speechless.

She did say that she would go with him to see his family after the store was opened. But she did not expect it to be so fast.

Sally saw that she was in a dilemma and walked over. She whispered, "I pretended to answer the phone and said that there was a fire at home?"

Jessie bit her lips and her panicked expression calmed down, "He asked me to bring Grandma Restall into the house."

"You? Can you?"

Jessie clenched her fist. "I will tell her sooner or later!"

"Okay, I admire your courage and support you spiritually!" Sally patted her shoulder and stuffed the shopping bag in her hands into Jessie's hands, "Darling, do your best!"

"So? Aren't you going to accompany me?"

"This is between you two. It's not good for me to get involved." Sally giggled and turned around to say goodbye to Grandma Restall before leaving.

Jessie was speechless.

Why did she make such a heartless friend! How many times had Sally escaped?

"Jessie, why did your friend leave?" Seeing the elevator going down, Grandma Restall anxiously asked Jessie.

Jessie took a deep breath and braced herself to walk over, "I am here. Didn't you want to go to my home? I will bring you in now!"

"Oh, okay. Could it be that your friend saw that I appeared and was worried that there wouldn't be enough food, so she went to buy more? Actually, I don't eat much. Uh, no, what I meant was that I really only went to your house to drink some water. I didn't want to eat at your house."

Jessie smiled at her, "Let's go."

Grandma Restall was worried that she would reject and they really did not want to keep her to eat later. She quickly moved closer to her and blinked her eyes. "But since the two of you are so enthusiastic, I will stay for dinner."

Jessie's heart was as heavy as a mountain and even her footsteps seemed to become heavy.

Jessie really did not know how disappointed she would be when she know later.

It will be extremely difficult for Jessie to make up for her impression in her heart in the future.

Grandma Restall saw Jessie walking towards the door of her son's house and her mind was a little confused.

Jessie looked at her with guilt and shame and her eyes seemed to have thousands of words.

Grandma Restall pointed at her and then at the door, "This?"

Jessie lowered her eyes and entered the password. The door opened with a ding.

At this moment, even if Grandma Restall was a block of wood, she had also gained enlightenment.

They have a same name and that was 'Jessie'.

That day, she just said that she had met the woman she had met at the airport. Alex immediately hung up the phone and rushed back.

Although Grandma Restall did not know why Alex had lost his temper at Jessie at the dining table, he had gone after Jessie later on.

So they were the same person!

Old Madam's face immediately darkened, "So, from the moment we met at the airport, you already knew who I was but pretended not to know? We have met two or three times already. You have been pretending not to know me in front of me?"

Jessie's nose felt sore from her words, "It is not like that. I really didn't know it was you at the airport. Then it was because..."

"Why aren't you guys going in? Why are you standing at the door?" Alex, who was dressed in a suit, carried a laptop in his hand and walked towards them from the elevator step by step.

Grandma Restall did not look at him. She snorted heavily and pushed open the door to enter.

Jessie looked at Alex helplessly and her eyes could not help but turn slightly red, "What should we do? It is all my fault. I should not have hidden it from her from the start."

Alex stroked her face. "Rick is waiting downstairs. You go and pick up Felix and Fia. I will explain to her."

His low and deep voice finally calmed her panicked heart a little. "Then help me explain."

Alex smiled and pinched her white and tender cheeks again. "Don't worry. You just need to use your heart on me. You don't have to worry about anything else."

Jessie looked at him angrily and went to pick up the children.

After she left, Alex carried the shopping bags into the house. Grandma Restall crossed her arms and sat on the sofa with her arms crossed. She still looked very angry.

Alex put all the shopping bags on the table in the kitchen. Then he took the laptop and sat on the sofa beside her. He had a calm expression on his face. "It's my idea. The company recently had an important project. I'm going to introduce her to you and Dad after I'm done with it. If you're angry, come at me."

Grandma Restall was so angry that she lifted her leg. She kicked his leg. "I knew it must be you deliberately did not bring her back, causing me to blame her for so long. Let me ask you, what exactly do you think in your heart? If you only want to play with her and don't give her any promises, then I'll be the first to disagree!"

Alex retracted his legs. His slightly furrowed brows gradually relaxed. "I will do as I see fit."

"What do you mean? Try saying such irresponsible words again?" Alex did not respond to her words. Instead, he said casually: "It's almost dinner time. Do you want me to call the driver over to pick you up?"

Grandma Restall glared at him unhappily because he did not answer just now. Her gaze then fell on the shopping bags on the dining table. There were bright red tomatoes and fresh beef in the bag. She liked them all. She deliberately said, "I'll wait for Jessie to go back with the children. Today, all of you will go to old residence to eat with me. Your father will have a feast tonight. He won't come back for dinner. I don't have an appetite to eat alone."

Alex signaled with his eyes to the dining table, "Jessie has already bought all the dishes. She will come back to cook."

Grandma Restall had already said so. Alex did not even open his mouth to let her eat together.

She was so angry that her stomach hurt. "These vegetables and meat will not deteriorate when placed in the fridge. I don't care. All of you come back with me!"

How could Alex not understand what his mother was thinking? He pondered for a few seconds. "Why don't you stay too?"

Grandma Restall immediately smiled and came in front of him. "How is Jessie's cooking? Looking at her clever appearance, the dishes must be very delicious, right?"

Alex continued to finish his work in the Laptop. He said calmly, "Her cooking skills are average. Don't hold too much hope."

"Hmph, your mouth is even more picky than mine. You can even specially wait for her to eat. Her culinary skills are definitely not bad. I know you too well. You just want me to go back, don't let me disturb you guys here. I won't leave!"

Alex was speechless.

Jessie did not know that the two at home were not angry anymore and were waiting for her to go back to make dinner. Her heart had been tense all along.

Just as she was thinking, Felix and Fia came out.

Jessie put away her thoughts and quickly ran over to hold their soft hands and ask them about the interesting things that happened at school today.

"Mommy, I want to eat that. I have never eaten that before. Every time I smell it, I want to eat it." Fia looked at a stall selling sausages and shook Jessie's hand like a spoiled child.

Felix rolled his eyes. "Little idiot!"

"Felix, do you have to make me angry?"

Jessie lowered her body and put the two children in front of her. She said gently, "Grandma and Dad are waiting at the home in Tianji Residence. We are not going to eat snacks outside today. How about I cook for you guys when we go back?"

"Alright then." When Fia heard that her grandma had come, she no longer argued about eating sausages.

"My baby, you are so cute!" Jessie kissed her tender little face and also on Felix's face.

Because a lot of his classmates were looking at them, Felix's little face suddenly turned red. He put up his collar and quickly ran into the car with his short legs.

"Felix actually knows how to be shy too? It's too fun!" Fia bent her small body and laughed non-stop, "Mommy, we must tease him more next time!"

1. Your Daughter Doesn't Do Homework
She won't let go of such a good opportunity!

Jessie smiled as she scratched his little nose and pulled them from the car.

At the door of the house, Jessie's heart began to beat rapidly again.

Grandma Restall was watching a palace drama on the sofa in the living room by herself.

Jessie held the child and walked over. She was so nervous that she did not know how to speak.

Grandma Restall took advantage of the time when the advertisement was being broadcasted o look at her, "Jessie, you are finally back. Quickly go and cook. I am hungry."

Jessie was speechless.

Grandma Restall's tone was calm and her expression was very easy-going.

- Jessie was a little confused and then she thought that it should be Alex who explained everything to relieve Old Madam's emotions. She was suddenly moved and looked up at the study.

The door of the study was only half closed and she could see him sitting on the computer in front of the desk.

His short hair was combed meticulously. He had a handsome face with sharp edges. The collar of his iron grey shirt was open, revealing his sexy collarbone.

It was said that men who worked hard were the most charming. Jessie looked at him and her heart was filled with sweetness.

“Grandma!” Felix and Fia had already let go of Jessie’s hand and happily ran towards Grandma Restall.

“You guys are back! Let me hug you guys!” Grandma Restall said happily.

While grandmother was hugging Felix, Fia climbed onto the sofa and switched the television t o a children’s program.

“My television series!” Grandma Restall put down Felix and rushed over to grab the remote control.

Fia immediately hugged the remote control tightly in her arms. “I want to watch cartoons. Grandma, you are an adult. You have to give in to me.”

“The television series is about to end. You can watch the cartoons after I watch the television series.”

“No, I’ll take it from you. That’s what you said last time.”

Grandma Restall had indeed said this many times.

Grandma Restall cleared her throat, “Did the two of you do your homework?”

Fia’s expression did not change, “We do not have homework.”

Felix frowned beautifully over there, “Fia, don’t expect me to stay in the classroom with you tomorrow!”

Fia turned her head and glared at him.

Grandma Restall understood and turned to the study room and shouted, “Alex, your daughter doesn’t do homework!”

Fia was speechless.

When Jessie finished cooking, Fia barely finished her homework under Alex’s coercion.

The dishes were served one by one. Grandma Restall smelled and ran over first. She took the initiative to help carry the bowls and chopsticks.

Jessie saw her like this and could not help but bend her lips.

She set up the last bowl of soup and Alex also walked over from the study.

Jessie looked at him and her eyes were filled with gentleness.

Alex did not seem to see her eyes, so he asked Felix and Fia to wash their hands.

Jessie followed the children over and used a towel to wipe their hands.

"Mommy, do these bubbles look like kittens?" Fia used a washing bubble to paste her hand on the small palm and asked Jessie with a smile.

"You can't play anymore. It's time for us to eat." Jessie smiled and nodded. She grabbed her mischievous little hand and stretched it into the faucet to wash it clean before wiping it dry for her.

Jessie washed their hands and then washed her own hands.

The two little fellows saw that she was still washing and stood there waiting for her. Fia's small body stuck to her legs, "Mommy, have you finished washing? Hurry up, I'm hungry."

"I'm done washing. Let's go." Jessie washed her hands and held the two of them as she intimately walked towards the dining table.

Grandma Restall saw the intimacy between the children and her and felt both curious and gratified in her heart.

In the past, no matter what kind of woman it was, these two little fellows had always rejected them even more fiercely than Alex. Many of the girls racked their brains to curry favor with the two of them and were forced to flee in a sorry state.

Who would have thought that these two children would be so intimate with Jessie.

Seeing them together, Grandma Restall inexplicably had an illusion that Jessie was their biological mother.

When they raised their heads, their facial features seemed to be somewhat similar.

Perhaps this was the destiny of the heavens?

Jessie met Grandma Restall's complicated gaze and her heart became nervous again. She seemed to have acted too intimately with the children. ..

"You should also quickly sit down and eat." Grandma Restall kindly smiled at her and called her to also sit down.

"Okay." Jessie's face was red as she sat down in the middle of the children.

Her knee bumped into a long leg, and then a large hand landed on her knee and gently pressed on it as if to comfort her.

Her heart beat faster, and she raised her eyes to look at the other side.

Alex was holding a pair of chopsticks and picking out the fish bones from the fish meat.

When she looked over, he raised his eyes and stared at her calmly for a while.

She knew his intention was to make her not nervous.

However, the large hand he had placed on her knee had not been taken away.

His hand caressed her knee.

Jessie's heart beat even more violently. She gently moved her leg slightly to the side but his large hand forcefully grabbed her knee, making her unable to move.

Grandma Restall and the children were still at the dining table. She did not dare to resist too obviously. Separated by her jeans, she felt that the heat from his big hand had spread to her four limbs and she did not even dare to look up. She was afraid that Grandma Restall would see something.

Grandma Restall saw Jessie's ears turn redder and thought that she was still nervous, so she smiled and said, "Jessie, the food you cook is really delicious. Can I come over to eat often in the future?"

Jessie hurriedly nodded her head.

Before she could say anything, Alex's lazy voice interrupted her. "Doesn't old residence have a cook that specializes in cooking for you?"

Grandma Restall knew that he was unwilling when she heard that. She pouted unhappily. "I love eating Jessie's dishes now. I am asking Jessie not you!"

Jessie was afraid that Alex would say something that would make Grandma Restall unhappy and quickly rushed to say, "If you like it, come often. I will cook for you every day."

"You are so good."

Jessie calmed down a little, but Alex was getting more and more excessive and even squeezed his long legs over.

Jessie could not help but secretly glare at him.

However, he acted as if nothing had happened. He continued to eat his meal elegantly and calmly, but his actions under the table became more and more impudent.

Jessie could not push him away and her heart was pounding. She could not do anything to him at all. Her face was about to be buried in the rice bowl.

“This prawn is hard to peel. Mommy, you can have it.” Fia originally wanted to peel a prawn for her but after peeling it for a long time, she was unable to peel it clean and could only gloomily throw the half-peeled prawn into Jessie’s bowl.

Jessie smiled and thanked her before reaching out to hug the little fellow.

Seeing her carrying the child, he then retracted his legs and hands.

Jessie gently hugged Fia and then began to peel the prawns for the little fellows.

She peeled one and stuffed one into Fia’s mouth. Fia was happily eating in her arms.

“Fia, do you not have hands? Go back to your seat!” Alex put on a stern face and lectured her.

Fia hugged Jessie’s waist even tighter and ignored him.

Alex’s eyes met Grandma Restall’s stunned gaze and looked rather helpless. He lightly curled his lips, “She likes to spoil children.”

Jessie was only focused on peeling the prawns and did not notice the changes in the surroundings. The two little fellows were also obedient.

They naturally cooperated very well.

Grandma Restall had previously heard that the children had a good relationship with Jessie. When she saw this scene, she could not help but laugh even more happily. She was about to have a daughter-in-law!

After eating, Jessie tidied up the bowls and chopsticks.

Grandma Restall wanted to help but Jessie did not let her.

Grandma Restall also did not insist and got up to call the two little fellows, “Felix, Fia, the two of you come and watch TV with me.”

Felix readily agreed, “Okay, grandma.”

Fia grabbed a chair and said, "Then I want to watch cartoons. Don't watch ancient people!"

Grandma Restall argued, "What I watch is a Qing Palace drama. The Qing Dynasty is not as ancient as you say!"

Fia blinked her big eyes. "I don't care. Do you agree with me?"

Alex frowned slightly. "Fia, who allowed you to negotiate with the elders?"

"Dad, don't you talk about terms before doing business? Grandmother and I are also doing business here. Why can't we talk about conditions?"

Alex's face darkened. He directly took her off the chair and threw her into Grandma Restall's arms.

Grandma Restall smiled and said, "Don't worry. I don't want to watch TV dramas anymore. Let's watch cartoons."

Fia was speechless.

It must be because there were no TV dramas from ancient times during this period of time that her grandmother agreed to watch cartoons!

Grandma Restall handed the remote control to Chen and pulled Felix to sit on the other side of her. She asked casually, "Do you two like Aunt Jeje very much?"

Fia answered. "She is not Aunt Jeje. She is Mommy."

"Who asked you to call her that?" Grandma Restall's tone was very gentle.

"Father." The two little fellows practically said at the same time.

"Did your dad really agree?"

"Yes."

Grandma Restall paused and then asked, "Are you willing to let Aunt Jeje be your mother?"

Fia immediately replied, "Of course I am willing. I like her."

Felix also nodded with a very solemn expression.

Fia did not know what Grandma Restall was thinking but Felix could roughly tell that his grandmother deliberately came over to ask them about Aunt Jeje.

"Aunt Jeje will be your mother if she married your father. The two of you have no objections?"

The two little fellows shook their heads in unison, indicating that they did not have any objections.

Grandma Restall heaved a sigh of relief, "You two continue to watch cartoons."

Fia nodded her head and pulled over a large pillow. Her small body leaned over and started to wholeheartedly watch the cartoons.

Felix looked at Grandma Restall with some worry. "Grandma, do you not want Aunt Jeje to be our mother?"

When Fia heard this, she turned her head again and stared at Grandma Restall with her big watery eyes. She asked nervously, "Grandma, are you going to learn from those ancient people dramas you watched and separate my dad and mommy?"

1. I Have to Meet My Parents Before Your Wedding

Felix asked seriously, "Grandma, will you do that?"

Grandma Restall looked at the two children's nervous look and smiled gently, "You two like Aunt Jeje and want to live with her. Why would I let you guys break up? Don't worry. As long as you guys like her, I will definitely support you guys. I will also urge your father to quickly marry Aunt Jeje. How about it?"

Only then did Felix smile in relief.

Fia patted her own chest. "Then I am relieved!"

Grandma Restall was amused by her relieved look and could not help but pinch her little nose, "Let's continue to watch cartoons."

After watching the two children for a while, Grandma Restall stood up and walked towards the kitchen.

- Alex had already returned to the study room and Jessie was washing the dishes alone in the kitchen. She was neatly cleaning the bowls and putting them back into the kitchen cabinet one by one.

Grandma Restall walked in and picked up a piece of dry cloth and a bowl. She casually ed the bowls, "My son has a bad temper. I have never seen him feel sorry for others.(This novel will be daily updtaed at www.) Because of these reasons, I wish I could find him a wife as soon as possible. His father and I will die sooner or later. We don't trust him to live alone."

Her words reminded Jessie of what Jouvita had said to her. All the parents in the world had the same thoughts. Thinking of this, she felt a little sad.

Just as she was lost in thought, she heard Grandma Restall's gentle voice asking her, "Is your family in R City?"

Jessie paused and honestly replied, "My hometown is Hai City's Nanchuan. They are not in R City."

Grandma Restall heard Hai City and nodded, "What do your parents do?"

"My family has an fruit garden. My grandfather and grandmother are managing it together with my mother. My father passed away a long time ago."

Grandma Restall was stunned. Then, she apologized, "Sorry, I didn't mean to ask you this. I just wanted to know you better. You can understand, right?"

Jessie smiled slightly, "I can understand. My father died when I was born. I don't have any impression of him. You don't have to worry about this."

Grandma Restall suddenly felt a little more heartache towards her, "Poor child."

Jessie smiled and lowered her eyes to continue wiping the bowl, but her movements were clearly much slower.

She knew that it was normal for Grandma Restall to ask these questions. But the inferiority in her heart suddenly appeared again. She could not help but feel a little uncomfortable.

Grandma Restall looked at her lowered brows and her heart could not bear to continue asking. Until they finished wiping the bowls on the table, she could not help but ask, "In the future, when you marry Alex and have a new child, will you still continue to treat Felix and Fia like this?"

Jessie did not know why, but she suddenly remembered Alex's words. (This novel will be daily updtaed at www.)She finally understood why Alex did not give a definite answer at that time.

She realized that some promises could not only be expressed verbally.

She had not thought about what would happen after she married Alex. She was not sure what would happen in the future, but her attitude towards the children would never change. They were her children to begin with.

However, she couldn't tell Grandma Restall these words. She didn't want anyone to know the true background of Felix and Fia, including Felix and Fia themselves.

Seeing her silence, Grandma Restall deliberately put on a stern face. "So you can't guarantee that you will always be good to them?"

"I just feel that this kind of thing cannot be guaranteed. My feelings for Felix and Fia does not conflict with whether I will give birth or not."

"How can it not conflict? Felix and Fia are not your biological children. If you and Alex have children again, won't you treat them differently?" Grandma Restall was a little anxious when she mentioned this question.

This matter was related to the future happiness of her family, so she had to be careful.

Jessie was so anxious that she blurted out, "They are also me..." "Mom, what are you doing here?" Alex walked in and interrupted their conversation.

Grandma Restall glared at him unhappily, "I am chatting with Jessie. Why did you come in to interrupt?"

Alex opened the fridge and took the water. "You should go out. The driver from old residence is here. He is waiting for you in the underground garage."

Grandma Restall snorted and walked towards the kitchen door.

She stopped halfway and turned around. "Make arrangements for when it will be convenient Your father and I will go to Jessie's hometown."

Jessie's heart trembled as she looked up at her.

Alex also knitted his thick brows.

Grandma Restall continued, "Before your wedding, I have to go and meet Jessie's parents first. This is the basic etiquette."

It was rare for Alex to let Felix and Fia stay here to sleep.

Jessie and the two children were very happy. After helping them take a shower, she laid down on a large bed and told them stories.

The next day, the children still had to go to school, so Jessie did not dare to play with them too late. She turned off the big light at nine o'clock on time and only turned on the night light to sleep with them.

The children were all asleep but Jessie could not sleep. (This novel will be daily updated at www.) Thinking of what Grandma Restall said in the kitchen, she did not even have a trace of sleepiness.

She was afraid of waking the child, so she got up and went to Alex's room.

After she pushed open the door, Alex was leaning against the bed in his pajamas and looking at the laptop. Seeing her come in, his eyes revealed tenderness and Jessie's heart melted. She walked over and lifted the blanket to sit next to him, "You are still not sleeping?"

"I am waiting for you." Alex closed the laptop and placed it on the bedside table.

Jessie immediately guessed what he meant. She blushed slightly and whispered coyly, "Pervert!"

"I only treat you like this." Alex smiled and held her slender shoulders with his big hand.

Jessie vaguely realized that Alex did not wear a condom. She gently pushed him and shyly said softly, "You go and get that thing."

"Which one?"

Her face became even redder and did not dare to look into his eyes. She shifted her gaze to his shoulder.

Alex did not move.

Jessie still cared about what Grandma Restall said in her heart. The last time at the airport, the two children also asked her this question. She did not want the children to have any psychological burdens, so she decided not to have children anymore. She already had Felix and Fia and did not need other children anymore.

Seeing that he did not want to go, Jessie began to push him. Alex was a little unhappy, "Can you be more focused?"

Jessie blinked her watery eyes and showed a begging expression, "You need to bring a condom..."

Alex frowned. He said coldly, "I didn't prepare a condom."

Jessie knew he would say that. She lowered her eyes and her long eyelashes trembled. "I prepared a condom. It is in the bedside drawer..."

"It's not comfortable wearing a condom!"

"Didn't you always wear a condom before?"

Alex stared at her for a while. Jessie moved to the side and looked stubborn. (This novel will be daily updated at www.) "Go and get a condom."

Alex tried a few more times. She was too resistant. He got off her body in disappointment and laid to the side. He reached out and took the cigarette case and lighter from the bedside table. His tone was very fierce. "I'm not in the mood to have sex."

Jessie actually did not want to make him angry like this.

She licked her dry lips and got off the bed.

Alex looked coldly at her through the light green smoke as she walked from the side of the big bed naked. She went around the end of the bed and walked over here again.

She pulled open the bedside table on his side, took out a small box from inside, and sat next to him with a red face.

Alex held a cigarette between his fingers, narrowed his eyes, and cast a cold glance at her.

Jessie clenched the box in her hands and lifted the blanket to lie down, preparing to please him like last time.

Just as she got into the middle of the blanket, she was suddenly pulled out by his strong long arm.

He did not know when the cigarette between his fingers had been snuffed out. He pressed her down and kissed her...

Jessie woke up before the alarm clock rang the next day.

She had not sent Felix and Fia to school for a long time. When she thought of this, she felt a little excited.

She had to wake up early to prepare breakfast for them.

Alex was still asleep. His usually cold and tough face was no longer cold. Instead, it was more casual and unruly.

Jessie looked at Alex's sleeping face with some fascination for a while. She gently lifted his arm that was pressing on her body and prepared to get up. (This novel will be daily updated at www.) "Why don't you watch for a while longer?" He still had a sleepy magnetic voice above his head, and his arm wrapped around her even more tightly.

Jessie did not expect him to discover it and a layer of pink appeared on her pretty face, "I didn't look at you!"

Alex laughed mockingly, "I did not say you looked at me."

"You are so annoying! Let go of me and I'll go make breakfast."

Alex wrapped her soft body in his arms and kissed her beautiful neck. "It's still early. You can sleep a little longer."

Jessie gently pushed him. "Making the cake takes some time... You can sleep for a while more..."

"Why do you make cake for them every day? Just buy them some food today!"

"But I want to make cake." The children liked the cake she made. Jessie wished she could keep making it for them.

"There is still a lot of time." As Alex spoke, he stretched out his long arm and pulled open the drawer of the bedside table.

Jessie's face became even redder. She coyly said, "You better control yourself!"

"Then why did you buy so many boxes of condoms at once?"

"I bought them together because these boxes were tied together." There were so many people in the supermarket, she was too embarrassed to open them...

"These things have a shelf life. You bought so many of them, we have to hurry and use them. It's a waste if they expire."

1. At Most You Have a Bad Temper

After making breakfast, Jessie went to the children's room to call for the children.

Felix had already dressed and went to Fia's room to call her.

"Fia, wake up." Jessie knelt on one leg on the bed and picked up the little girl with long hair that was hanging loosely under the blanket.

A sound suddenly sounded in the air.

Fia woke up and her little face turned red as she randomly pointed at Felix who was by the bedside. "I wasn't me! It was him!"

Felix was speechless and laughed, "No one disliked your fart."

"Felix, if you say it again, I will ignore you!"

Jessie smiled and carried the little girl into her arms. "It's okay. You are very cute."

Fia covered her small face that was like a red apple, "How embarrassing."

After breakfast, Alex sent them off.

Felix and Fia were very excited when they heard Jessie was going to open a coffee shop. They asked for help.

Jessie pinched their tender hands. "Okay. I have a task for you guys now. Help me think of a shop name. Tell me everything you have thought of. When the time comes, we will choose one of them."

Alex glanced at her from the rearview mirror.

She really dared to ask two five-year-old children to come up with a shop name. Fia was very excited, "Can you really use the name I gave you?" She had grown up and had always been treated as a child who did not know anything. She did not have the right to speak.

However, Felix was the same age as her, but her grandparents were willing to listen to his opinion.

Jessie actually let her participate in the matter of naming the shop. This feeling of being valued was really great!

Jessie smiled and nodded. "Yes, all of you think about it together. But you are not allowed to think about it in class. Think about it when you are free. We will decide on this Sunday."

"Okay, Mommy." He picked up his short arms and put his short legs back into the chair. He leaned against the back of the chair and looked like he was seriously thinking about it.

Fia mimicked him and raised a small hand to hit her chin. She seemed to think for a few seconds and her big eyes lit up. "Mommy, how about using my name?"

Felix sneered at her. "Childish!"

Jessie also smiled and shook her head. "Of course your name sounds good. But I don't want to let too many strangers know my baby's name."

Fia thought for a few more seconds and quickly thought of another one, "How about 'Fragrant coffee shop'? How is it?"

Felix mercilessly scoffed. She said, "Vulgar!"

Fia was so angry that she kept shouting. "You are the one who is vulgar!"

But they were clearly a family!

After sending the children to school, Alex opened the passenger door and let Jessie sit in.

He started the car and casually said, "I'll get the Planning Department to give you a name."

"No need." Jessie fastened her seatbelt and shook her head to refuse, "Felix and Fia will help me get it."

Alex stretched out his hand to hold her soft hand. He did not mention the name of the store anymore and pretended not to know the address. He casually asked her, "Where is the address? I'll send you there."

Jessie looked up at him and smiled. "I want to surprise you. I won't tell you for now. Just stop at the intersection in front. I'll go by myself."

Alex reached out a big hand and pinched her pink cheeks. He stopped the car at the intersection and turned his hand behind her head. He lowered his head and kissed her lips.

Jessie subconsciously looked outside the car. The last time she was knocked on the window by the volunteer auntie, she still had lingering fear as long as she kissed in the car.

Seeing her nervous look, Alex could not help but laugh. "You are still young. You always shy even when kissing."

"I am younger than you!" Jessie blushed and whispered. She pushed open the car door and walked quickly

After taking a few steps, she could not help but take another step. She turned around and shyly bit her lower lip and waved at him in the car.

She was wearing a white, loose high-collar sweater, blue jeans, white shoes, and a simple bun. In the morning sun of the early winter, she looked like a little warm sun.

When she waved a slender, white hand at him, her expression was so shy that it was cute and seductive.

Alex did not respond to her wave of a hand. He started the car and sped past her.

When he brushed past her, the thin lips of the man in the car obviously showed a happy smile.

Jessie curled her lips and turned around to run to the bus station.

Alex saw her back through the rearview mirror. He slowed down the car and watched her get on the bus before speeding up again.

His phone rang. It was a call from Sammy.

He answered the call, and his lips were still slightly curled up.

"You took the shop from me and rented it to two beautiful women? What's your relationship with them?" When Sammy heard the news, he immediately called to express his gratitude.

"What relationship do you think it is?" Alex asked with a smile. He did not wait for him to answer and continued, "When you come back, I will introduce you to each other."

Sammy was stunned for a few seconds. Soon, the smile on his face became bigger and bigger. "My future sister-in-law? That's what you mean, right?"

"Yes." Alex was in a good mood. He did not complain about his exaggerated reaction and calmly gave him an affirmative answer.

"It wasn't easy. I'll book the nearest flight and come back now. I want to be the first to see my new sister-in-law among my brothers!"

x laughed. "She's my wife, not your wife. Come back after

"Why are you in such a hurry?" Al you've finished your vacation!"

"It's even rarer for you to find a wife than to bump into a planet on Mars. Of course, I'm in a hurry to meet her. I want to see who exactly she is. She can actually take down a man as difficult as you."

"I'm very difficult to deal with?" Alex's smile was cold.

"Did I say that? I didn't say it. You must have misheard me. At most, you have a bad temper and cruel means. Everything else is pretty good."

"I think you don't want to come back from Jiya Island?"

"Don't be so petty. Let me tell you, you must be thick-skinned enough. This way, your wife will definitely love you more than now."

"Go to the side!"

"No matter what, you can take the initiative to suggest that we introduce your woman. Spending money to set up a shop for her, you are worried that she will feel pressured. If you don't let her know, it proves that you really like her. We're very pleased. Congratulations!"

Sammy said in a rare serious tone, "Do you remember? The last time you married that lady from the Horfoud family. You didn't introduce her to us. It was her who told us about the two of you."

Alex thought of Gina and fell silent.

When Jessie arrived at the store, Sally had already arrived.

There were several trucks parked at the entrance of the store. One Deliveryman after another moved the equipment, electrical appliances, and tables into the store.

Jessie had only discussed with Sally yesterday about how to arrange the specific arrangements. They had not decided what kind of tables, chairs, and bar counters they wanted to buy

Just as she was surprised, Sally was instructing the Deliveryman how to arrange it as she walked out of the shop.

Seeing Jessie walk over, she smiled and asked loudly: "Hurry up! Look at how I set it up. I'm sorry, I didn't get your permission, so I brought all of these here."

Jessie looked at the decorations in the store that had already started to take shape and really liked it. There were all kinds of professional coffee machines, food processing equipment, water system equipment, and other auxiliary equipment, including many consumables.

The marble material table, the wooden tables and chairs. Jessie especially liked every one of them. "It's been hard on you, Sally. You didn't sleep last night to choose these, right?"

She thought that all of these were things that Sally chose online last night and settled the bill. That was why there were Deliverymans sent over today.

"It's not hard. Actually, it's a friend of mine." Sally's eyes flickered as she chuckled. "He once opened a coffee shop before. Later, he had other matters to attend to, so he didn't open it. The things were all piled up in his warehouse. When he heard that we were going to open a shop, I brought all those things over. He also wanted to get rid of these things a long time ago, so the price he gave us was very cheap."

"Is that so? Is there such a good thing?" Jessie was also happy when she heard that. "But why have I never heard you talk about such a friend before?"

"Ah? Is that so? Then I might have forgotten." Sally scratched her head.

"Luckily you have such a good friend." Jessie hugged her very gratefully, "How much did he charge? I will give the money to you."

"Okay." Sally secretly let out a sigh of relief and reported the price she had thought of beforehand

The price was much lower than Jessie had expected and Jessie suggested to wait for the store to open and let Sally invite that friend over for a meal.

"I will listen to you. We will talk about it when the time comes."

"This store will definitely bring us luck!" Jessie was in a very good mood. She took a pair of gloves and an old shirt, put them on, and prepared to tidy up the store.

"Hello, may I ask who is Miss Jessie?" A middle-aged man walked in and asked respectfully.

Jessie did not know him and walked over with a smile, "I am. Who are you?"

"Our Chairman and madam want to see you. They are outside." The middle-aged man bowed slightly and said to the outside.

Jessie and Sally looked at each other. She subconsciously thought of the grandparents of the two children.

"Go quickly. Leave the store to me." Sally urged her.

Jessie nodded and her heart was once again filled with nervousness. Even though her child's grandmother had already accepted her. But she had yet to see her child's grandfather.

A black Mercedes-Benz stopped at the side of the road a few meters away. When Jessie walked over, the car door was quickly pushed open and a woman with an elegant and graceful appearance walked out. She was not the grandmother of the children and Jessie did not know her.

1. You Can Mess with Anyone but Don't Mess with Alex's Woman
"Miss Jessie, I'm sorry to bother you." The woman had an apologetic expression and her tone was very polite.

"It's alright. We don't seem to know each other. Why are you looking for me?" Jessie smiled and the hands that she was nervously holding loosened.

The woman paused. Her expression was hesitant, as if she could not speak.

But she did not ask Jessie to wait too long. In a few seconds, she revealed her identity and purpose.

She was the mother of Yura and Hannah.

Their father was still sitting in the backseat of the Mercedes-Benz.

When Jessie heard that it was them, she slightly frowned.

The woman suddenly went forward and grabbed her hand. With a sincere expression, she said, "Miss Jessie, I am here to apologize to you today. My daughter has been spoiled by me. They have developed a spoiled and willful character. This matter is all my fault. I hope Miss Jessie can spare them this time, okay?"

Jessie finally understood the purpose of this woman's visit.

But no matter if it was the kidnapping of her mother and sending them out of R City or the last time they ran into each other at the entrance of the amusement park, it was always her two daughters who had the upper hand. Although Alex later brought people over to save her and the children, in the end, Rick only hit the thugs brought by her daughter. They did not do anything to Yura and Hannah.

Jessie did not say anything but Yura's Mother held her hand even tighter. Her eyes were red, "Both of my daughters were imprisoned. After being locked up for so many days, they also had a taste of suffering, Miss Jessie. They are about the same age as you. If they continue to stay in there like this, They will all be ruined. My daughter's countless mistakes are all because we were unable to teach them well. I beg you, for the sake of their young age, help me beg Boss Alex. Can you let them out?"

"We can make up for the things that they have done to you in the past. No matter how you want us to make it up to you, we have no objections. I only beg of you to be magnanimous and not bicker with them. Please let them live, I beg of you."

It turned out that Yura and Hannah were imprisoned!

Jessie thought of how they were unreasonable and overbearing every time they saw her and she could understand why Alex would be so heartless towards the two women.

She lowered her head and gently pushed Yura's Mother hand away. Her face was cold. "Then do you know what your daughters have done? Since you came to find me, I think you should know that what they have done is indeed a crime. Since it is a crime, they should be punished, right?"

"I know that they were wrong. They had also been punished, but Boss Alex wanted them to stay inside for the rest of their lives. They are still young, the same age as you. What was the point of staying alive if they were to be locked up like this? If they were to be locked up for another day, they would collapse! Miss Jessie, show mercy. Help us, please. Can I kneel down for you?" As she spoke, she really wanted to kneel down.

"Don't be like this!" Jessie quickly stopped her, "You also know that if you do something wrong, you should be punished. You did not teach them well, but you could not bear to let them suffer. Then what if they come out again and repeat the same mistake? Do you also want to kneel down and beg for mercy like now? At that time, you will make them feel that no matter how big of a mistake they make, you will bear it for them and you will save them. You can completely let them have nothing to worry about? Ask yourself, do you really think that this is for their own good?"

Yura's Mother eyes were red as she spoke urgently. "No, they will not repeat the same mistake again. They already know their mistakes. These few days, they have been regretting in prison. They have already promised that they will not do it again, really!"

Jessie did not believe what she said.

Yura and Hannah could be willful to the extent of committing a crime. It could be imagined how much their parents indulged them.

Jessie's face turned cold. "I am very sorry. Forgive me for being unable to do anything. Please return."

She once again brushed away Yura's Mother hand and quickly walked back to the store.

Yura's Mother looked at her back view and her two hands could not help but clench into fists.

She got into the car and Yura's Father eyes were cold, "She did not agree?" "No, her heart is very hard." Yura's Mother coldly snorted, "It is also our daughter's misfortune to provoke such a coquettish woman. One look and you can tell that she is not a good person. No wonder she can hook men around her one by one. Even the famous cold man in the upper class of the Laurent family is willing to stand up for her!"

Yura's Father impatiently interrupted her, "Enough, stop nagging. It's more important to think about how to save our daughter!"

"Why don't we go to that coquettish woman's hometown and kidnap her crazy mother?"

"Your daughter hasn't come out yet, and you want to get yourself in trouble?"

"Then what do you think we should do?. Could it be that both of our young daughters are waiting for death inside?"

Yura's Father no longer looked at her. He sternly ordered the driver in front of him. "Let's go to prison!"

"Yes!"

Sally saw that Jessie's expression was not good after she came back and she came over to greet with concern, "What is it? What did the two elders of Laurent family say? They came over to find you on purpose to not let Boss Alex know and specially came over to make you break up with their son? Just like on television, they gave you a cheque right from the start?"

Jessie shook her head, "It was Yura and Hannah's parents. They said that their daughters were locked up in prison for a long time. Their parents came to beg me and asked me to find Alex and ask him to let them go."

Sally relaxed her heart and smiled, "Boss Alex is really a man! My dear, if there is such a man protecting me, I will also marry immediately. You must hold onto such a good man tightly. Don't let other women snatch him away."

Jessie thought of the scene when Alex pulled her into his embrace that day. Her face turned slightly red and she smiled somewhat disappointedly. "If he is a man who can be snatched away by a woman, no matter how good he is, I will not take him."

Sally sighed, "That's true. You can't just ask for a big pig's hoof! But fortunately, Boss Alex had not had any scandal regarding women in so many years."

R City Prison.

"You guys went to beg that woman? Who told you to go? Why did you go to beg her? She broke my engagement. What right do you have to beg her?" Hearing that her parents went to look for Jessie, Yura was so angry that she immediately stood up and shouted.

The prison guard came over and pushed her back into the chair. He sternly shouted, "Quiet, don't make noise!"

Yura was just about to resist when Hannah by the side hurriedly pulled her sleeve and only then did Yura stop talking. But her chest was still violently rising and falling due to anger.

Yura's Father old face darkened. "The sins that you guys have committed have nothing to do with other people! If it wasn't for the two of you being disappointing, we wouldn't have thrown away this old face and pleaded with a young junior like her!" "Don't say anymore, don't you see that the children are suffering!" Yura's Mother interrupted him and went forward with red eyes, "The two of you have lost weight again. What should we do?"

"Didn't you say that you would find a way to save us? Then quickly find someone to help!"

Yura stared with her eyes wide open and urged.

"We found someone!" Yura's Mother choked, "You can provoke anyone, But, you can't mess with Alex's woman either. Who doesn't know that he has always been ruthless? You have to go to jail twice because of Mike. Since when did he care about you? Now that he is in love with the granddaughter of Laurent family, Yura, you should give up on that man. Don't do anything wrong for him anymore. We don't even know how we can save you now."

"Wait a minute, Mother, who do you think Mike is with now? The granddaughter of Laurent family? The daughter of Alex's dead sister?" Hannah's eyes lit up all of a sudden.

"Yes, I heard some rumors too, but I have never seen it before."

Hannah rolled her eyes, "Mom, you go and find out about this matter. If they are really together and you ask that girl from Laurent family to come out and save us, you tell her that we have something to tell her about Mike!"

"She can save you guys?" Yura's Mother eyes also lit up and she quickly understood what her daughter was planning. She quickly nodded, "Okay, I understand. Mike that ingrate wants to marry the Laurent family's daughter, he will definitely not tell her about his past. We can use this to exchange for her help for the two of you!"

"Yes, you should hurry up and go!" "Okay!"

On the day of the coffee shop's opening.

Felix and Fia were not very focused on school that day. They thought about how they went to the coffee shop they named after school after school and were very excited.

During the last class, Fia could not hold it in anymore. She turned around and bragged to Kenny behind her, "My mommy opened a very beautiful and luxurious coffee shop. Do you know the name of the shop?"

Kenny immediately leaned over his round head and smiled evilly, "Don't tell me it's called a stinky coffee shop?"

"Stinky brat, you're itching for a beating again, right?" "I won't say anymore. Tell me, what's its name?" "Felixia Coffee Shop!" Fia's pretty face was full of pride, "My brother and I thought about it together. Using my brother's and my name together, it is the same as Felixia Coffee Shop. Aren't we very talented?"

"I think it was Felix who made it. With your brain, you probably won't be able to think of it even when you grow up. At most, you can choose a 'Enjoy your coffee shop', 'Fragrant coffee shop'." Kenny covered his mouth and laughed.

Fia was guessed by him at once. She was angry and reached out to hit him. Suddenly, an earth

-shattering shout fell from the top of her head. "Fia, Kenny, what are the two of you doing?!"

When they met Teacher Mirna's eyebrows and vertical eyes, Kenny was so scared that his neck shrank and did not dare to make a sound.

Fia was already used to this kind of sudden situation. She raised her small face and faced Teacher Mirna's stern face and giggled. "Teacher Mirna, Kenny is stupid. He doesn't even know this word. Let me teach him."

Teacher Mirna coldly snorted, "The two of you, one is the last in the class and the other is second from the bottom. You still teach him how to read? One of you really dares to listen, and the other really dares to teach?"

"It's alright. I happen to know the word he asked. It's 'beating'!" Fia's little finger pointed at the word on the book. She was quite pleased with herself.

Teacher Mirna "..."

Felix covered his face and sighed heavily in his heart.

As he expected, Fia was kept in the hall again, and he sadly wanted to stay in the hall with her again

When Teacher Mirna asked him to call Jessie to pick them up, he held the Phone Watch in his hand and did not have the face to dial a number several times. Today was Mommy's shop opening but they stayed in the hall. It was so embarrassing.

1. Dad Said He Would Ruin Our Relationship

Jessie received the children and went to the coffee shop together. The new dessert master, Rafael, welcomed them at the entrance and smiled as he carried the children up high.

These two days, the children came over every day after school. They had been quite familiar with the sunny and handsome Rafael.

Rafael and Jessie were about the same age. He loved desserts from a young age. Although he was young, he had many years of experience in making desserts. He also went to France, Italy, and other countries to study and specially learned the culture of desserts from other countries. Jessie saw his resume on the Internet and called him over. The things he made were almost on par with several confectionists in the Louisdin.

Jessie and Sally were very satisfied with him. After discussing the salary, they left him behind on the spot.

Their store was only a street away from the store they used to work at. In many ways, this shop was definitely not as good as the Louisdin chain in the whole country. However, they needed to put more effort into the taste of food to be able to stay in this bustling commercial district for a long time.

Fia had never been raised high before. After she was raised by Rafael once, she pestered him every day.

At this moment, she was also having a lot of fun. "Uncle Rafael, go higher! Go higher! Interesting!"

"OK! Let's fly!" Rafael was 1.8 meters tall. After he carried Fia a little higher, Fia shouted even louder.

Jessie and Felix laughed along beside him.

Alex drove over and saw the scene of the two adults and the two children laughing happily together.

That warm scene made him feel that it was eye-piercing.

He suddenly accelerated the car and rushed to the parking lot in front of the coffee shop to stop. The sharp sound of the brakes made the people at the door look over.

Jessie saw Alex's car and quickly ran over in black high heels. Her gentle smile was filled with joy. "You got off work? I was worried that you wouldn't be able to find this place and wanted to call to ask you."

Alex got off the car and did not look at her. His cold gaze landed on Rafael, who had put Fia down not far away from him.

Jessie smiled and introduced him, "This is Rafael, the dessert master hired by our store. The food he makes is very delicious."

She intimately reached out and held Alex's arm, her face blushing. "Rafael, this is the father of Felix and Fia, Mr. Alex."

The word Rafael had already made Alex feel uneasy.

When Jessie introduced him, she actually did not say that he was her man, but instead called him the father of the child. She even called him Mr. Alex, and his handsome face darkened a little.

After Jessie introduced him, Rafael ran over smartly. He smiled warmly and nodded his head. "Hello, Uncle. Please take care of me!"

Alex's face was completely black.

Alex did not respond to a single word. He walked past Rafael and went straight into the store.

"Sister Jessie, what happened to uncle?" Rafael was embarrassed and asked Jessie in a low voice.

Jessie was speechless.

He called her sister and Uncle Alex. It would be strange if Alex would be happy.

"Rafael, when you see Fia's father in the future, just call him Mr. Alex." Jessie said tactfully, then turned around and went into the store to chase after Alex.

Rafael scratched his head in confusion.

Felix kindly reminded him, "Uncle, you called my mom 'sister'. How can you call my dad 'uncle'? He is my mom's future hubby. If you call him that, of course he won't be happy!"

Rafael was speechless.

He saw Alex's cold face and powerful aura, so he called Alex uncle. He only expressed his admiration for Alex, not saying that Alex was old.

"Good son! Good daughter! Do you miss your godfather?" With a muffled sound, a bright blue sports car drove over and stopped in the parking lot.

Sammy wore a pink suit and came out of the car with an exaggerated bouquet of flowers in his arms. In his other hand, he carried a set of barbie dolls and a set of transformers.

Felix and Fia turned to look at him. When they saw the toys in his hands, they smiled in unison. They ran towards him with short legs. "Uncle Sammy!"

Sammy hid the toys behind his back and put on a handsome face. "Call me Godfather!" Felix looked troubled. "But... My dad doesn't allow us to recognize you as Godfather."

"Dad said he was afraid that you would ruin our relationship." Fia did not forget to add another stab.

Jessie followed into the store, Sally and two part-time student were busy inside.

Seeing her enter, Sally ran over and softly asked, "What is going on? Boss Alex's face darkened. Did you offend him?"

Jessie could not help but laugh, "Rafael just called him uncle."

"Really? This kid was really too blind. How old is Boss Alex in his eyes?"

"I'll go and take a look at him."

"You go."

Sammy ran into the shop and saw Sally with eyebrows and phoenix eyes. He immediately rushed over exaggeratedly, "Sister-in-law! My dear sister-in-law, I am so happy to see you..."

However, before he could get close, a coffee tray was pressed against his chest. Sally frowned, "Who is your sister-in-law? Call me when you see me clearly. I am unmarried. Don't ruin my reputation!"

"Aren't you the owner of this store?" Sammy brushed away her tray with his hand and blinked his long and narrow eyes.

"Yes." Sally insisted on giving half of the shares to him, so it was not a problem for him to say so.

Sammy rushed over again when he heard that. "My dearest sister-in-law..."

Sally was annoyed and waved him away with a tray, "Do you not understand human language or what? I already said that I am not your sister-in-law!" Sammy staggered a few steps from her swing and sat down on the nearest chair. "No way. The Second Young Master actually likes Tigress?"

"Who are you calling Tigress?"

Sammy thought that Alex probably had abstinence for too many years. He must be stupid. He might have taken a liking to Tigress. In order not to annoy his future sister-in-law, Sammy immediately put on a servant-like smile. "I didn't scold anyone. What I meant was, sister-in law, you are valiant. Your temperament is unique. It is very normal for you to attract my old fashioned brother, The Second Young Master."

"Who is The Second Young Master?"

"He is your future hubby. He is ranked as Alex. Said the old man. We brothers will call him The Second Young Master kindly." Sammy would not be foolish enough to tell her what 'The Second Young Master' meant in the hearts of his brothers in front of his future sister-in-law. Actually, it was because Alex was too stubborn. He was not enlightened in terms of feelings and women like a block of wood. That was how he got his name.

He was not enlightened in terms of feelings and women like a block of wood. That was how he got his name.

"Are you talking about Boss Alex? Are you his brother?" Sally finally understood. She heaved a sigh of relief and put away the tray. "Your sister-in-law is my good friend, not me."

"So you are my sister-in-law's good friend! Hello! Beauty, can I pursue you?" Sammy smiled and moved closer, "Good brother and good friend, a perfect match!"

Sally was not interested in a rich kid like him who did not know how to flirt. She raised her eyebrows and said, "I have a boyfriend." "Didn't you just say that you are unmarried?"

"The law states that unmarried women cannot have boyfriends?"

Jessie entered the room that was renovated into a small private room. Alex folded his legs and sat on the sofa. His suit was open and his tie was thrown on the tea table. He was holding a lighter and lighting a cigarette.

"Are you angry? Rafael just casually called out. It was you who scared him with your cold face. He thought you were much older than him." She comforted him gently and walked over. She sat down next to him and placed the ashtray in front of him. She pretended to be angry and said, "You didn't bring any gifts when you came to congratulate me? You should at least buy some flowers, right? You're not romantic at all. Ah -".

Jessie did not expect Alex to suddenly get up. The room was small, so the sofa was also small. Half of her body was leaning on him. He suddenly got up and she also fell to the ground.

Her butt hurt from the fall. She looked at him and complained, "Why didn't you tell me when you stood up?"

The man had already sat down on the sofa on the other side. He said casually, "There's no reason."

She complained: "I didn't offend you"

"You offended me!"

"How did I mess with you?"

"Why don't you try flirting with that pretty boy again?"

"When did I flirt with him? Wait a minute. Which gigolo are you talking about?"

Alex did not say anything again. He just looked at her indifferently through the faint smoke.

Jessie was stared at by him for a while and somewhat understood. She narrowed her almond eyes and said, "You are talking about Rafael, right?"

Alex's face darkened. He pressed the cigarette butt with force and got up to leave.

Jessie quickly went to pull him but forgot that she had fallen to the ground. Her waist hit the sand horn and she immediately cried out in pain. "It hurts!"

Before her butt landed on the ground, she was lifted up by a strong force. Alex picked her up and threw her onto the sofa in a bad mood.

Jessie hurriedly reached out and hugged his neck, not letting him go. She tilted her head and smiled at his side profile. "Are you jealous?"

He lowered his eyes and stared at her soft smiling face. The hostility on his handsome face eased slightly, "Don't let me see you getting close to him again!"

"He is a dessert master I hired. What can I get close to him for? My heart is full of you. How can I still get close to other men?" Jessie took the initiative to kiss the dimples on his face.

He pushed her head away and snorted coldly, "It is useless to play tricks!" She stuck close to him again. "What I said is true."

Knowing that he was angry because he cared about her getting close to another man, she didn't get angry anymore. In her heart, she felt that it was a little fun. Even if he had done something terrible just now... At this moment, Jessie was not angry at all in her heart.

Alex did not push her away again. Instead, he picked her up by the waist and looked over. "Do you still feel pain?"

"Yes." Jessie blinked her large eyes and nodded. She looked like a spoiled child and said, "You massage my waist, so I don't feel pain anymore."

Alex's face was still taut, but he still extended his big hand to help her rub the place where she had fallen.

Jessie looked at him, who was so gentle, and her heart was as sweet as honey. She hugged his neck even tighter, her face pressed against his neck, and breathed in the male Auras that belonged solely to him.

The air seemed to turn sweet.

At this moment, the door was suddenly pushed open, and Sammy ran in.

Jessie was about to get out of Alex's arms when the man grabbed her waist and pulled her back into his arms. Her face turned red all of a sudden.

1. Don't Shake Hands! Men and Women Shouldn't be so Intimate
Sammy looked at the two of them being intimate and covered his eyes exaggeratedly. He smiled and pretended to be stupid. "I didn't see anything. You guys continue!"

As he spoke, he was about to turn around and leave.

"Hugh, get back here." Alex's tone contained a smile. "Say hello. This is Jessie, your sister-in law.”

Only then did Sammy step back again. He put down his hand and turned around to smile at Jessie, revealing a neat row of white teeth. “Hi, sister-in-law. I am Sam...”

“Cough.” Alex covered his mouth with his fist and coughed lightly.

Sammy reacted and quickly changed his words. “Sister-in-law, I am Hugh, Alex’s best friend. I have always wanted to see you.”

Jessie pulled Alex’s hand away from her waist and stood up. She held both hands and smiled sweetly at him. “Hello, I am Jessie. Nice to meet you.”

She had just finished speaking when Alex pulled her into his arms again. He looked at Sammy and said, “Go out after you say hello.”

Before Sammy could go out, another man in an iron grey suit walked in. He had a warm smile on his face. “Sammy, you are so shameless. You called yourself Alex’s best friend. Why don’t you ask Alex if he agreed first?”

Sammy?

Jessie felt that the name sounded familiar.

She remembered the word “Sam” that Hugh blurted out earlier.

Sammy.

The name on the property certificate that the young man had shown them when she rented the house was Sammy.

For a moment, she understood everything.

She couldn’t help but look at the man beside her.

Alex’s gaze also fell on her face. His eyes were very deep, as if waiting for her to react after knowing this.

Jessie did not expect that such an insufferably arrogant man like him would actually put in so much effort to do such a thing.

Although he lied to her, she could not get angry at all. Her face was slightly hot from being stared at by him and she quickly turned her gaze away.

After Robert finished laughing at Sammy, he walked to Jessie and stretched out a fair and slender hand in a gentlemanly manner. “Hello sister-in-law, don’t listen to his nonsense. I am Alex’s best friend. I am Robert Andara. Nice to meet you!”

"Hello, I am also very happy to meet you." Jessie was about to get up and shake his hand.

Alex had already pulled her hand back. "You can just see him. Don't shake hands with him. Men and women shouldn't be so intimate."

Jessie was speechless.

His actions stunned his two friends. If they hadn't seen it with their own eyes, they would never have believed that Alex would be so petty.

However, they couldn't help but shed tears. They felt as if their children had finally grown up.

After the coffee shop closed, because Alex's friends had come to celebrate the opening of her new shop, Jessie had booked a room for everyone to eat in Cantonese Cuisine next door.

After eating, Jessie went to pay the bill and went out with her wallet. Sammy and Robert both looked at Alex in front of them.

Alex slowly drank the tea after the meal. He had no intention of helping her pay.

Sammy kicked Alex's calf and said angrily: "Alex, are you a man? Are you really going to let sister-in-law pay for the bill?"

Alex dodged very quickly, and Sammy's kick missed.

Sammy saw that Alex still did not move. He covered his face and sighed. "Your EQ is too low."

Felix and Fia could not watch it anymore. Felix carefully said, "Dad, if you don't bring money, can you ask Uncle Sammy and Uncle Robert to lend you some?"

Alex's handsome face became serious. "You guys go out when you are full!"

The two little fellows pursed their lips and did not dare to say anything.

Sally felt that the atmosphere was a little awkward and laughed. "It's fine. Today you guys came to congratulate our store opening. Jessie should go and pay the bill."

Sammy and Robert felt even more ashamed.

Jessie had finished paying and returned the man's wallet to Alex. When she saw the atmosphere on the table was not right, she smiled and asked, "What is it?"

The misunderstood crowd was very embarrassed.

Jessie had recently spent a lot of money to prepare for the opening ceremony. She had also used up all the cash she had on hand. She was just wondering if she should borrow some money from Sally to treat everyone to a meal. Alex's friends were all rich and powerful people. She would probably spend a lot of money to treat them to a meal. However, just as she was about to ask Sally to borrow money, Alex threw his own wallet to her.

On the way back, the two children fell asleep in the backseat.

Jessie turned her head and looked at Alex who was focused on driving. She smiled slightly and said, "Are you free tomorrow? Can you take me to your house?"

Alex turned his head and looked at her. He looked at the road in front of him again. "Are you willing to move?"

Jessie's face was slightly red. "I live in the mountains and rivers, and I also live in the Laurent Residence."

"Okay." Alex replied calmly.

Although he didn't have any expression on his face, he could tell from the corner of his lips that he was in a good mood after hearing what she said.

When they arrived at the Tianji Residence, Alex and Jessie each carried a child into the house.

Jessie was just about to get some water to wash the children's faces and feet when she saw Alex taking the car keys out again.

She realized that he did not take his phone and wallet. She thought that he had forgotten and was worried that he would go out and use it. She quickly took it and chased after him.

When she went out, he had already entered the elevator.

She took another elevator and chased to the underground garage. She saw Alex carrying something out from the back of the car.

When she got closer, she found that Alex had brought out two beautiful and exquisite flower baskets and a large bouquet of roses, which were prepared for her opening for the day.

Because the words Congratulations on the opening of Felixia Coffee Shop were written on the board next to the flower basket.

"You clearly prepared the flower basket and flowers, why didn't you give them to me?" She walked over and pretended to be angry.

When Alex saw her, his usually cold and handsome face revealed a trace of embarrassment. He picked up those things and strode towards the rubbish bin. "You think too much!"

Jessie quickly ran over and stopped him, "Don't throw them away, put them back."

Alex looked at her.

Jessie reached out to carry it and smiled. "Take it to my store tomorrow."

The things were quite heavy. Her slender arms could not hold them at all, but she still struggled to hold them.

Alex was silent for a few seconds. He reached out to grab it again and put it back in the trunk of the car.

Jessie ran over and stood on her tiptoes. She quickly kissed his face and blushed. "I like it very much, thank you!"

After making an appointment with Alex to go to Laurent family Residence at night, Jessie went to buy a meeting gift for Grandpa Rudolf and Grandma Restall during the day.

After a few interactions with Grandma Restall, Jessie could roughly guess Old Madam's preference.

She specially bought her a set of fashionable clothing for young women. Remembering that Fia previously said that her grandfather liked to take photos, she also bought a white casual suit for the Old Master.

After passing by the children's clothing store and seeing the clothes hanging inside, she couldn't help but go in and buy another set.

Donglan Golf Club.

When they heard that Grandpa Rudolf was playing golf here, several people who knew him ran over to the court to greet him.

Yura's Mother also went and smiled as she carefully greeted him, "Elder's body is really tough. That ball just now was much better than many young people."

Grandpa Rudolf and Yura's Father had met before in the business world and could be considered to be familiar with each other. He replied to her and handed the cue stick to the caddy. After saying goodbye to her, he walked towards the club.

Yura's Mother raised her eyebrows and quickly followed him.

When he went to change his clothes, she deliberately pulled another madam nearby. She suppressed her voice and changed her voice, "Have you heard? The Mumen Group's president, Alex, finally has a girlfriend now."

"Is that so? Which family's daughter has such good luck?" Everyone in Mumen Group was excited about president's gossip, and madam was no exception.

Yura's Mother lowered her voice again. "If his girlfriend was the daughter of a rich family, how could we not know about it? I have been in a hurry to find a girlfriend for him in Laurent family because his girlfriend came from a humble background and was a divorced woman. That was why Alex kept it a secret, and not many people knew about it."

"What? Boss Alex's girlfriend was a woman with a humble background, a divorced woman? Although he had divorced, he still had two children with him. However, with the Laurent family's background and status, there were many women who wanted to marry him. How could he let such a woman marry him? This is ridiculous!"

"That's right. If they were to hold a wedding, Laurent family's reputation would be ruined."

"That's impossible. It's probably just a rumor. How is that possible?"

"That's right. Actually, I don't believe it either. It might really be a rumor. I just heard about it, so I was just casually chatting with you."

"Then you'd better not talk about it anymore. If the Laurent family finds out that we are spreading unbelievable news everywhere. The Laurent family will take revenge on us!"

After that madam left, Yura's Mother cleared her throat and smiled coldly towards the men's locker room. She also turned around and walked out quickly.

When Grandma Restall received the news that Alex was going to bring her back, both of them had already there.

"Auntie, I came to see you." Jessie shyly called her auntie and Grandma Restall was instantly very excited.

She held Jessie's hand and sobbed, "It is good that you are here!"

Seeing that they had finally come, she finally believed that her son was really going to marry a wife.

"Alex, you're too much. You didn't even tell me before coming here, so I can make some preparations." She couldn't help but complain to Alex. She also ordered Nanny Lisa and the others to quickly add more food.

"Auntie, you are welcome."

"I'm not being polite. We will be a family in the future, and we will not treat each other as outsiders. It's a rare occasion for me to be happy today, so I have to add more food!" As she spoke, Old Madam still immediately let Nanny Lisa and the driver go out to buy vegetables.

When Jessie came, the nervousness on the road dissipated and she was very touched.

The room was hot. Alex helped Jessie take off her trench coat and jacket. He then took the things she bought and his jacket and gave them to the maids.

Grandma Restall saw that her son, who had always been proud and arrogant, had never seen him take a bag for her ever since he married Gina. But now, he was so considerate as to take off Jessie's clothes. She felt even more gratified in her heart.

Grandma Restall went to the study to make a call.

Alex brought Jessie to see his room.

The big room was dark and the design was full of craftsmanship.

However, Jessie was not in the mood to look at Alex's room at the moment. She complained softly, "I said I should bring Felix and Fia here. If the children were here, their grandparents would definitely be happier."

Alex was taking off his suit and jacket. "Why should we take care of the children when we are talking? They will cause trouble!"

"Meeting with our family and having dinner together. What else do we need to talk about other than these?" Alex cast a sidelong glance at her. "Our marriage."
