Chapter 1041 The Hatred Deepens

'Why not? We, the Twelve Knights, aren't that bad! We are one of the top-notch bands in the world.' 'That was true back then, but after what happened... I'm sorry, but I don't have any good impression on you guys.'

The netizens did not hide their disapproval of Twelve Knights' decision to invite Eunice. They even leverage it to counter the band's fans, who were exasperated and blurted, 'Who invited Eunice? She claimed that she wished to join them in the first place!'

However, that comment incurred more backlashes from the netizens. 'Do they accept whoever that volunteers? They do keep to their rules accordingly. I can see how they will be ousted sooner or later.'

Eunice almost choked on her food when she personally read those comments. "Since when do I wish to join them? It's Kussen, that old fogey, who kept inviting me! Look at these comments! How is Tessa Reinhart better than me? Ridiculous!"

In the meantime, Susan almost lost her cool at the hospital. Ironically, as the victim of the whole case, she might be imprisoned.

Meanwhile, Eunice was doing fine as the culprit. Even if Sofia had dismissed her, she was going to join another first-class band soon, let alone Tessa, who was perfectly fine.

In the end, Soren threatened, "You better not hurt my son. If he's hurt in any way, it's either you or me that'll live!"

Walter did not take it to heart as he left the prison soon after, but his mind was unsettled when he entered the car. Now that Eunice's name was tarnished, he could not afford to lose his company as well.

As a result of contemplation, he decided to check on the child. "To the apartment." Little did he know that he was being trailed by Edward and his men. Soon, they arrived at a neighborhood that came with good security measures.

Stunned momentarily, Edward soon collected himself while reasoning that it could be the place where the child was being held captive.

As he watched Walter getting out of the car, Edward appointed a bodyguard a task. "You, follow them and check whether he's going to Evan's son."

A couple of moments later, the bodyguard returned and reported, "He is meeting Evan's son, Mr. Jackson. It's the child we've been after for the last two days. The boy's here."

"No problem. We'll leave them to you." An unbothered Edward glanced at Evan. She read through him and proposed, "Can I meet my husband for a moment? Our son is back and I'd like to inform him personally."

The officer approved of that, thereby granting Evan the chance to meet Soren. His wife's arrival at late night prompted him to furrow. "Did something happen back at home?"

“Nothing. I just wanted to tell you that our son is saved by Mr. Jackson,” explained Evan with a relieved smile on her face.

He heaved a sigh of relief before inquiring in concern, “Is he alright?”

“Miss, there’s five million here. Since we can’t guarantee anything regarding President Walter, it’s best if you spend it wisely.” The assistant fished out a credit card.

Eunice took it with a long face without responding much. Instead, she requested, “Once there’s news about Daddy, contact me immediately.”

He nodded after which she was ready to board the flight when something unexpected happened— Edward and his men had been waiting there for her so that they could seize her as soon as she made her appearance.

“Who are you? Let go of me!” yelled the woman in vain.

The assistant attempted to save her, but he was stopped by other bodyguards. At that moment, a snickering Edward came over. “I advise you to stop the useless fight, Miss Eunice.”

“It’s you!” She recognized him at that instant.

However, he did not wish to waste his time with her as he ordered the bodyguards to take them to the police station. Ultimately, Eunice’s second arrest was soon discovered by the media that had been watching her.

In addition to Walter's arrest, the media sensed something fishy and initiated a further investigation regarding the situation.

Since you've done wrong, you should be punished accordingly. As an afterthought, Nicholas beckoned Edward over. "Relay the news to Soren. Tell him to put his worries to rest."

Edward nodded and headed for the police station. Considering that Soren was an accomplice, he had to be held captive even if he helped with the investigation.

However, he did not mind staying in prison after Edward told him the news. As long as his family was safe, imprisonment was nothing. Besides, it would not take that long either.

Eunice and Walter's imprisonment marked the end of the issue. Tessa returned to her daily practice routine and Sofia came to her when she finished her practice today. "Miss Sofia."

"Miss Sofia." Tessa and Gregory greeted Sofia politely. Sofia nodded in response with a smile before inquiring about their practice and brought up something serious. "How many songs are you short of at the moment to proceed with the recording?"

“Two more,” replied Tessa honestly. Although she had been writing, there was not much progress. Hearing that, Sofia did not say much and talked about the following arrangement instead. “I’m planning to hold a concert just for you after you finish recording.”

Tessa prevailed astonishment when she heard that.

With that being said, Tessa wheeled around to inform Sofia and her seniors.

A group of people filled the table in a private lounge that night. With Marjorie leading them, the seniors raised their glasses to toast for Tessa. “Congratulations on finishing the recording, Tessa.”

“Thank you.” She toasted with her glass of fruit juice. The smile on her face beamed wider as Nicholas, who was beside her, watched her.

Once she downed her drink, he placed a few pieces of fish on her plate. “Have some of these. Don’t just drink.”

“Okay.” She nodded and could not smother the sweet smile on her face.

The others witnessed the whole scene and began to tease the couple. “Tessa, stop being all lovey-dovey. We’re trying to enjoy the food here.”

Chapter 1047 Nicholas' Role in Tessa's Success

Tessa looked at Nicholas with glittery eyes. All of this used to only be my wildest dreams.

As soon as Nicholas noticed this, his voice turned more tender than ever. "You've worked hard to gain all this. So, congratulations. You're one step closer to realizing your dreams."

"Although this is the result of my hard work, I reckon that you played a part in this too."

Tessa wrapped her arms around Nicholas' neck and spoke with gratitude, "If it wasn't for your unconditional support, I wouldn't have been able to achieve all this today. So, thank you, darling."

"Shouldn't you express your gratitude by doing something else for me?" Nicholas lifted his brows slightly and enticed Tessa with a hoarse voice.

Naturally, Tessa grasped the underlying meaning behind his words. Although she felt shy about that, she went forward on her own accord and kissed him.

The two remained in an embrace as they kissed passionately under the lights. Yet not long after that,
Nicholas curbed himself and released Tessa. After all, she was pregnant right now and he could not do anything.

Glancing at the man with a look of forbearance, she felt amused yet touched at the same time. She switched the topic and asked, "During the special performance, can I arrange for Dad, Mom, and Grandpa to come and watch?"

"Of course! I'll invite them then," Nicholas agreed without any hesitation.

After a brief exchange of pleasantries, both of them entered the manor and the atmosphere was silent along the way. Angus shot a sideways glance at the quiet girl beside him and expressed his concern, "I saw the news on the internet previously. Are you alright?"

"I'm fine." Tessa shook her head and took the initiative to ask, "I noticed that you haven't been here to see Mr. Louis lately. Have you been busy?"

"Previously, there was a medical conference and I was abroad the whole time. I just got back a couple of days ago and I intended to ask you out for a meal, but then I saw the news on the internet, so I didn't want to bother you."

Angus explained briefly as his eyes landed on the violin case Tessa was carrying. With a smile, he asked, "Are you here to get Uncle Louis to tune your violin?"

"Oh, yeah. That's secondary to why I'm here, though. I have a special concert planned some time in the near future and I'd like to invite him to attend."

"Am I invited too?" Angus met Tessa's eyes and joked, "Since you've invited Uncle Louis, then I should be invited too, right?"

At that moment, he looked irresistible.

Even Tessa, who was used to Nicholas' handsome looks, could not help being mesmerized by this charming man in front of her. Soon enough, she came back to her senses as a look of frustration flashed across her eyes.

In fact, Tessa had already made plans with Mona and Scott to meet up that night. Hence, Angus had no other option but to get up and walk her to the door.

Louis watched with tightly knotted brows as the duo walked out of the living room. Evidently, he could tell that his nephew had yet to give up on Tessa and his expression instantly darkened at the thought of that.

Disregarding the fact that Tessa and Nicholas were happy together, their family rules did not allow for his nephew to get involved with a married woman and end up being a home-wrecker either.

After a short while, Angus came back after sending Tessa off and he noticed that his uncle was sitting on the couch with a solemn expression.

Angus lifted his brows slightly and sat by the side elegantly. Subsequently, he cracked a joke. "Uncle Louis, I know that Miss Reinhart's gone, but is it necessary to pull a long face at me? The smile on your face has disappeared completely."

"Stop joking around and answer me frankly. Are you still in love with Tessa?"

Then, Louis glared at Angus and warned, "She's happily married right now and is about to give birth to a child. You'd better put a stop to your wishful thoughts. If I see that you're intentionally wrecking someone's relationship, then I definitely won't let you get away with it!"

"Uncle Louis, I'm supposed to be the one related to you. I've finally found the girl of my dreams after such a long time. Do you really need to be that harsh?" Angus looked accusingly at Louis and his stunning looks made him appear to look rather pitiful.

The more Tessa thought about it, the more she was touched inside. In the end, she wrapped her arms around Nicholas' neck affectionately and said in a sweet voice, "I'm so lucky to have you, darling."

As she said that, she went closer to him and planted her lips on his. When Nicholas looked at his gorgeous little wife in front of him, he couldn't take her teasing anymore. He closed his eyes and lost it a little; he had been restraining himself since Tessa was pregnant, after all.

However, he didn't dare hold her too tightly because their child was there. Thus, he just kept inhaling her luscious scent. At this moment, the temperature in the room increased while she immersed herself in the gentleness that he created.

The moment Nicholas realized that things were going to get out of hand, his last piece of sanity made him let go of her. Likewise, Tessa slightly regained her senses as well.

When she looked at the man who was trying so hard to hold it in that his veins were popping up on his forehead, her gaze showed sadness, and she felt bad. I shouldn't have teased him.

"Why not take a cold shower?" she suggested out of guilt. Hearing that, he raised his brows and felt tempted. With a smirk, he then said, "You're the one who started it. Shouldn't you be taking responsibility instead?"

As he said that, he pulled her hand over to him...

After a round of intimacy, Tessa hid under the blanket with her face flushed. Nicholas saw this scene as soon as he came out of the shower, and he immediately knew that someone was being shy.
