On the table, it was filled with Tessa's favorite Mediterranean dishes. Seeing that, Angus sighed. "I feel like I've completely fallen out of favor, Miss Reinhart."

Tessa didn't know whether to laugh or cry for him, but she knew that he was just joking. However, Louis on the side snorted and rebuked Angus' comment. "Since when have you gotten any favors from me?"

"Uncle Louis, that hurts a little." Angus pressed his hand on his chest and put on a wry smile. The whole lunch was filled with their jokes and chatter. Later, after some rest, Tessa proposed to leave.

"Let me send you back. I want to return to the hospital too." Angus stood up, ready to send her back. aYet, she declined his offer. "It's fine. My husband has already sent someone to pick me up."

Hearing that, he nodded and didn't say anything more.

After she left the place, she went straight to the orchestra because she received a message from Sofia. While she was having lunch earlier, the woman had asked her to come over.

Sofia, are you looking for me?" Tessa asked while entering the office after a

"I know." Since Tessa decided to keep this baby, she had already thought about all these hardships.

When Sofia knew that Tessa had thought everything through, she nodded and said, "It's good that you have thought about it. Although the future might not be completely bad, there will still be some delay. I hope that you won't regret this in the future."

Hearing that, Tessa knew what Sofia meant. She lowered her head and stroked her stomach affectionately. Then, she said determinedly, "I won't regret this."

Although this baby was an accident and she didn't know what to do with it, it was still growing under Nicholas' and her anticipation.

When Sofia saw the motherly aura shrouding Tessa, she said with a smile, "As long as you don't regret it..."

When Tessa returned home later that day, her mood was actually slightly affected by the conversation she had in the afternoon. She thought, Am I really a little selfish for wanting to achieve my dream and have my baby at the same time?

Just as she was lost in her thoughts, Gregory came down from upstairs after finishing his homework.

When Nicholas saw it, he immediately pulled Tessa into his embrace and cooed, saying, "Oh, you silly girl. Why would you cry over such a thing?"

Listening to his words, Tessa sniffled and said with a muffled voice, "I'm not crying. I'm just touched, that's all." Although she tried to explain that she was not crying, the truth was that she felt blessed to have him in her life.

In just a split second, the show was coming to an end. At the same time, Tobias and Stefania were coming to Vienna too. Initially, Tessa wanted to pick them up along with Nicholas, but he insisted that she stay at home since he didn't want her to get exhausted. In the end, Tessa obliged and prepared some drinks and desserts at home while waiting for them.

An hour later, Tessa knew Nicholas was back with his parents when she heard the car's engine from outside the manor.

After a while, Stefania's voice filled the living room. "Grandma is here, my darling grandson."

When Gregory heard her voice, he noticed he was in a familiar embrace, which caused him to be startled momentarily. Then, he smiled sweetly and said, "Grandma!"

At that moment, Gregory also found an opportunity to hold the desserts that Tessa had made for Stefania. "Try it, Grandma. Mommy made this, and it's delicious," he said.

Seeing the dessert in front of her, Stefania would naturally accept it since it was from Gregory. Then, she realized it tasted great. The sweetness was just right, and its rich flavors burst as soon as she bit into the dessert.

Just like that, the whole family engaged in conversation, and the atmosphere was heart-warming. Then, they changed the topic to the concert.

“Thank you guys for coming all the way here to listen to my performance,” Tessa said happily.

“It would only be natural for us to be here as we want to see how great your performance will be for Nicholas to stay with you,” Stefania said faintly. In addition, she also wanted to use this opportunity to get to know Tessa as she wondered what charms she had that made Nicholas fall for her.

As they were talking, the sun went down, and it was nighttime. Since Tobias and Stefania had a long day, Tessa was worried that they didn’t have the appetite to eat. Thus, she personally cooked them a few delicious delicacies. During dinner, Gregory was handing food to the elderly couple while sugar-coating his words, making them delighted. In return, they ate more food than usual.

“I bet they want to visit Gregory. After all, it’s been a long time since they last saw him.” Kieran defended his parents and saw that Remus’ expression softened.

Then, Remus huffed and said in dissatisfaction, “I wonder what is going through Nicholas’ mind for letting Tessa take Gregory with her. After all, she can’t even take care of herself as she is pregnant. Yet, she still wants to keep Gregory by her side.”

“Well, Gregory needs maternal love at this stage in life. Moreover, he is willing to tag along with Tessa,” Kieran said carefully, defending Nicholas.

Although Remus glared at him when he heard those words, he didn’t say anything else. Seeing that he was not mad and their conversation had come to this point, Kieran felt it was the right moment to make Remus change his mind about Tessa. So, he braced himself and said, "Actually, I think you should watch Tessa's concert, Grandpa. To be honest, she isn't as bad as you think she is."

"Miss Wanda, I just got the news that Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer went to Vienna two days ago," the assistant said.

Hearing her words, Wanda frowned in dissatisfaction and said, "Two days ago? Why are you telling me this now?"

However, she didn't know that they had left in secret as they didn't want to make Remus furious.

Thus, it was only natural that the assistant didn't know about this. At that moment, she simply guessed and said, "Maybe it's because they wanted to be low-profile and didn't want anyone to know about it."

Even so, Wanda still valued the reason why they went to Vienna. So, she asked, "Did you find out why they went there?"

After all, no matter what happened, Nicholas had the ability to cover for Tessa. Fortunately, Stefania didn't know of these thoughts of his, or she would feel even worse. Even so, Stefania wasn't too amused.

Noticing her sour expression, Tobias didn't want her relationship with their son to go south because of this. "Children can take care of themselves, so you don't have to worry so much about them. Nicholas won't let any danger befall his own child."

"How can I not worry? It's my grandchild we're talking about. Also, you have seen how much that girl went through these two days. What if it affects the child's growth?"

With that, Stefania couldn't help but mumble, "Moreover, it's okay if that girl suffers, but in the end, Nicholas even had to take care of her. I've never enjoyed that privilege myself."

When she recalled seeing her own son massaging Tessa's waist and legs so gently every night, she felt a little unfair.

She had raised Nicholas for so many years, but she never enjoyed the same treatment.

Nicholas didn't want Tessa to get too exhausted, so he tried coaxing her. However, Tessa had other ideas. She went through so much to get on better terms with Nicholas' parents, so of course, she should work on their relationship more.

In the end, Nicholas had no choice but to suggest, "Why don't you take them to the theater you'll be performing in? They can get to know more about your work too."

Actually, he had his own reasons for saying that.

Even though his mother had stopped mentioning Tessa's job these days, he could still see that his mother had opinions about Tessa's job. He didn't wish for his mother to support Tessa like he did, but he hoped that his mother could understand Tessa's dream.

Tessa thought about it for a bit, then agreed.

The next day, when they were having breakfast, Tessa took the initiative to invite Stefania and Tobias on a trip to Sapphire Grand Theater. Even though Stefania didn't like the idea of Tessa going through the trouble instead of resting at home over the weekend, she still agreed to go.

They also wanted to know more about Tessa's typical work day. Once at Sapphire Grand Theater, Tessa did her best to serve as a tour guide.

While Kieran was speechless with his grandfather's haughty attitude, Remus glared at his silent grandson and asked him sternly. "Did you hear me?!"

"Y-Yes! Yes, of course!" Kieran responded nervously out of shock.

On the other hand, Mona was about to head over to Sapphire Grand Theater for Tessa's concert when she was just done with her training with Hathaway Philharmonic. However, she decided to drop by Hathaway's office before she left. "Miss Hathaway." She knocked on the door and walked into the room.

On the other hand, Tessa was done with her preparation backstage shortly before the concert began at 8.00PM. Soon, the host lit up the atmosphere and announced with excitement. "Right now, we're going to invite Virtuoso—Tessa Reinhart." As soon as the emcee finished his words, the curtains on the stage were slowly lifted.

Not long after that, Tessa showed up in a white dress with a bun, appearing to be gorgeous. With a good-looking appearance on her face, she smiled in a loving and tender manner.
