Chapter 1121 The Truth Revealed

After a moment, they realized that the lady was the reporter's wife. When the wife knew that her husband had been kidnapped and he could be in danger at any time, she immediately rushed to the police station to file a report and asked for help. Initially, the police were investigating this matter, so they immediately interrogated the wife. After some time, they realized they had gotten some new clues.

Firstly, it wasn't the Sawyer Group who had kidnapped the reporter. The reporter's wife suspected someone wanted to kill her husband and framed it on the Sawyer Group. The second matter was about Tessa hitting Amber. The truth was that the reporter had received some benefits from someone and intentionally framed Tessa!

When the netizens saw the news, they were dumbstruck.

'I told you guys that something was off about this, but none of you believe me.'

'Now that the reporter's wife has clarified the matter, what do you have to say for yourself, haters?'

No one had ever expected that things would end up this way, and the one to provide the evidence was the reporter's wife. Moreover, not only did she explain the whole thing at the police station, she even started streaming online to explain it to the public.

As long as the matter had been clarified on the Internet, anything the mastermind did would be pointless. At this moment, the netizens were still talking about it all over the Internet, saying that Tessa was too kind-hearted.

No. I can't just sit here and watch as things worsen, Wanda thought with all seriousness. Thinking about it, she immediately waved for her assistant and whispered, "Tonight, go to the manor and..."

When it was nighttime, Wanda's assistant arrived at the manor by the outskirts. In the basement, the reporter was lying on the ground lifelessly when he heard footsteps. Immediately, he scurried up and sat straight.

Click! With a sound, the dark room lightened up like daytime. In that split second, the reporter covered his eyes since he was not used to such bright light. After a few seconds, he uncovered his eyes and saw that Wanda's assistant was not far from him. "It's you!" he exclaimed in surprise. Since the assistant was the one who gave him the benefits, he immediately recognized her.

At that moment, he went hysterical and interrogated her, asking, "What is Miss Muller planning on? Why did she ask me to leave on one side and order you to kidnap me on the other?!"

"The Sawyer Family has high authority, so there's no way for a powerless reporter like you to hide from them. Hence, Miss Muller asked for you to be locked up," the assistant explained coldly.

Even though he heard the explanation, he wasn't too happy with it. "Even if she is worried that I will be caught, that doesn't give the right for you guys to lock me up in such a place without telling me—"

"That's why I'm here to let you go." The assistant cut off his unfinished words. "However, it could only be done under one condition."

"What is it?"

"Now that this matter has gone out of hand and alerted the police, you can't let Miss Muller get involved in this matter if you want to leave. Don't worry, though. We won't take advantage of you. Here are five hundred million dollars."

Hearing her words, the reporter accepted them without hesitation. After all, five hundred million dollars was a considerable amount of money. He wouldn't be able to earn that much his whole life.

On the other hand, at Dynasty Gardens, Tessa was in a good mood since things had been settled. Seeing that it was something worth celebrating, she decided to showcase her cooking skills, filling the place with a wave of mouth-watering scent.

"Your food looks tasty, Mommy." As Gregory spoke, he stared at the food and drooled.

Chapter 1124 There Might Be a Connection

"Nothing seems to have happened," said Kieran, frowning with slight dissatisfaction. Suddenly, he paused to think for a few seconds. "Oh, wait, I remember something. If you must say, Tessa encountered trouble abroad after I had been kidnapped. However, I'm sure there's nothing to do with it, right?"

Hearing his words, Tessa also thought that her encounter had nothing to do with Kieran's kidnapping. On the contrary, she wondered whether Kieran's friends were pulling a prank on him on purpose since he might have offended them. Thinking about it, she felt there might be a possibility, so she asked aloud, "Could it be that it's your friends who are messing with you?"

"It... It might have been them." As Kieran spoke, he thought about it and felt that what Tessa said might have been true. After all, there was a high chance that his fair-weather friends would do this.

Feeling that he had discovered the truth, Kieran immediately grabbed his phone, planning to interrogate each of his friends. However, before he could phone any of them, he heard Nicholas' crisp voice.

As his words fell, Tessa and Kieran looked at him in surprise. Kieran was restless and

"Mommy..." Gregory whined and approached Tessa as he knew that she was merely pulling his leg.

The three of them hung out together for a little longer before Tessa took Gregory to read while Nicholas went to the study to work.

A short while later, he received a call from Edward. "President Sawyer, we found that journalist."

"Where?" Nicholas asked with a stoic face.

"Our men discovered him. It seems like he was released by the kidnappers, and he went home straight away after his appearance," Edward reported honestly.

"The kidnappers released him?" Despite his surprise, Nicholas immediately instructed, "Catch him right now."

"I'm afraid that will be impossible," Edward said as he sounded sheepish.

Nicholas frowned. "What happened?"

"After the journalist returned, he originally wanted to leave with his wife and child, but the police had sent men everywhere to protect his family in the dark. So, they caught him the moment he appeared, and he's now in the police station," Edward answered and spilled the beans about the situation with the journalist.

However, this person allowed the woman whom he loved the most to be verbally abused by others! If the man was merely detained, Nicholas felt that it couldn’t appease his anger at all.

“I’ll get a lawyer to take care of this!” Having said that, he left the police station and his expression immediately fell after he walked out.

Recalling the conversation in the station, he tilted his head to Edward and coldly asked, “Do you think Wanda knows about this?”

“I think it’s highly likely that she’s the one who ordered this,” Edward said, expressing his own opinion.

Frost formed over Nicholas’ eyes. “Tell me what you think.”

“Everyone knows about Miss Muller’s feelings for you. Perhaps she realized that Old Master Tobias and Old Master Remus are beginning to accept Miss Tessa, plus the fact that Miss Tessa is about to give birth. That’s why she might have panicked and wanted to hit two birds with one stone,” Edward analyzed. “Using the assault incident, she wanted to destroy Miss Tessa’s reputation so that the elders would detest her. Furthermore, I heard that the fetus might be affected if the mother experiences a huge mood swing.”

Unexpectedly, right after he said those words, the air around him dropped a few degrees lower, and he saw that Nicholas was exuding a terrifying air of menace around him. There was also a thick layer of ice over his handsome face.

“What else?”

Edward told him his conclusions from earlier once more, and after Kieran listened to them, he found it reasonable as well and cooperated with Edward with the investigations.

Surprisingly, they found some clues when they continued their investigations with Wanda as the lead.

When it was almost midnight, the evidence that they had in their hands was enough to confirm that Wanda was also connected to the kidnapping case from before.

...

Early the next day, Andrew came knocking on the bedroom door a few minutes after Nicholas had woken up. "Master Nicholas, Master Kieran and Mr. Jackson are here."

"I got it. Take them to the study and wait there."

Nicholas knew very well that they were here so early because they had found something. Even so, he didn't get out in a rush. Instead, he meticulously took care of Tessa to wake up before heading for the study.

After he stepped in, he saw them seated on the couch, and he asked coldly, "Did you get to the bottom of it?"

"Yes, he gave me a call and said that you invited me and my grandfather for dinner," Wanda answered with a nod. At that, Remus frowned slightly. The next second, his sharp eyes focused on Kieran as he questioned, "Out with it. What's going on?"

As Kieran had no plans of denying, he nodded and admitted, "It's true that I arranged the dinner tonight because I have an important announcement to make."

Seeing that Kieran was rarely this serious, Wanda couldn't help but tease, "You're being so cautious, Kieran. Could it be that you have someone you like and want to make an announcement?"

With a plastered smile on his face, he looked at her. "That's a secret."

On the other hand, it was Stefania, Tobias, and Remus who shot him an annoyed look.

"You made such a big fuss but still wouldn't tell us? Spit it out. What exactly is going on?" Stefania urged.

Wanda's face blanched. It was like those words had scrubbed all color from her cheeks. Stefania frowned. Turning to Kieran, she asked, "What do you mean by this?"

However, Kieran only smiled in reply. He stared at Wanda with a mocking, spiteful look in his eyes. When Remus saw this, his face sank like a pebble in the water.

He knew all too well that Kieran wouldn't do something like this without reason. The only explanation was that Wanda was caught up in these things.

Stefania and her husband were also no idiots. They were reaching the same conclusion as Remus, and they turned to Wanda in astonishment.

Remus was smart. He had already felt that something was not right when Kieran called them over, so everything made sense after he heard what Kieran had to say. "Wanda, you—"

He glared at Wanda but didn't know what else to say. Meeting Horace's exasperated gaze, Wanda felt her body freeze as she opened her mouth to explain.

Kieran did not wait for her to finish before he interrupted, "It's all a misunderstanding? You have nothing to do with it? Think over your next words carefully because I can back up everything I've said."

His words were like pairs of cold stilettos that stabbed into his heart while Wanda's eyes widened in disbelief. She thought, Where did he get the proof? I had painstakingly covered my tracks, though!

For a moment, she considered whether or not he was trying to trick her.

However, Kieran drawled, "Miss Muller, are you perhaps thinking I'm trying to trick you?" His voice dripped with condescension.

"That's not what I'm thinking." Wanda shook her head.
