

Always Been Yours Chapter 1186

At once, Nicholas caught his hesitation and asked, "What do you have?" "I had suspected that someone had incited these companies, so I even deliberately checked their connection but didn't find anything suspicious. But now that you mention it, I realized they more or less have a partnership with Muller Group," Edward pointed out, causing Nicholas' countenance to turn awful. "How is Muller Group in this again? Did you scrutinize it? How much of this is Muller Group's work?"

"It has only hit me just now. I haven't been able to investigate that yet. I thought it could just be a coincidence or unintentional." Edward looked toward his boss, who objected, "The most coincidental incidents are normally the most intentional. Someone must be behind this."

"Shall I investigate Muller Group then?" Edward asked cautiously. To that, Nicholas nodded. "In the meantime, also find out what Wanda has been up to lately."

Surprised, Edward asked, "You suspect she's behind this, President Sawyer?"

"You'll know once you dig into it." Nicholas glanced icily at Edward, who nodded in acknowledgment and left.

That said, he was doubtful. After all, Wanda already had her plate full with Muller Group's current situation. Will she even have the time to devise a scheme?

the findings. "President. Wanda has been salvaging the company's losses these days. It doesn't look like she has in response. Have I gotten it he believed that it couldn't be so coincidental. He must've

Wanda has done

nodded and read out her itinerary

a brow in bewilderment, then looked strangely at his brother. "Dude, what's going on? Why have you suddenly taken an interest in Wanda? Are you not worried your beloved targeting Reinhart Group lately, and all of them more or less have a partnership with conspiracy." Kieran frivolously sat on Nicholas' desk while finishing nodded in agreement, then said, "But Edward didn't find any proof that points the incite directly toward Wanda. I suspect I've

Kieran said to Edward, who