

Always Been Yours Chapter 1188

“Why did you only recall such an important clue now?” the others jokingly chided him. Kieran ignored them and asked the man one more time, “Are you sure you saw Oliver and the person in charge?”

“Yes. If you don’t believe me, you can get the surveillance footage at the bar and see it for yourself.” I’ll certainly have to do that but not now. Kieran turned to look at the others and inquired, “What about you guys? Have you thought of any clues?”

“No.” They shook their heads, but just then, someone exclaimed, “Hey! Isn’t that Wanda? Is she here to see Oliver? It seems that the political marriage between the Hadfields and the Mullers isn’t just some rumor.”

Hearing that, Kieran squinted his eyes and looked down to find Wanda. That’s interesting. It seems that Wanda is really the one who told Oliver to make things difficult for Timothy.

That was indeed the case. The reason Wanda showed up was that she had agreed to meet up with Oliver at the bar.

Looking at the flippant man in front of her, she started getting impatient because she wasn’t fond of him. The reason she even met up with him was that she still needed his help.
