

Always Been Yours Chapter 1192

When Wanda came to her senses, she let go of Oliver abruptly. Her gaze appeared grim as she was incensed. Oliver sported an equally dark expression. "What an arrogant man. Does he really think he can do whatever he wants?"

As he spoke, he turned to look at Wanda, hoping to get her response. To his disappointment, he saw her looking dazedly at Nicholas. She really needs to stop.

Abruptly, she walked over and blocked her sight. "Stop looking. There's no place for you in that man's heart. Regardless of how long you look at him, he won't turn around and spare you a glance. Only I'm sincere about loving you and treating you well."

When Wanda saw the man with a loving expression coming toward her, she felt disgusted. She didn't love him at all. If not for the fact that she needed his help, she would've dismissed him long ago. It was also for this reason that she suppressed her disgust and said, "I know you're the only one who treats me well."

Hearing that, Oliver felt relieved. He took her hand and flashed a gentle smile at her. "Let's go. I'll introduce you to some senior businessmen. If they're willing to invest in the Muller Group, the crisis your company is facing will be resolved."
