

UN Village Elite Housing

Dae Hyun drove Jo Yeon Ho home today. He intended to go straight back to Pyeongchang-dong but his son kept clinging to him.

Besides, it has been several days since he returned to that house.

"I want to sleep together with you, Dad," Said Jo Yeon Ho.

"Of course," Said Dae Hyun while feeding his son who was sitting beside him.

"You always spoil him. He has grown up, so he can sleep alone," Said Aeri, who saw their closeness.

"It's okay, I don't want Yeon Ho to get less of our attention as a child," Daid Dae Hyun, teasing Aeri a little.

"Did you mean I never noticed him?" Said Aeri in a high tone.

"Never mind, don't argue! He just came home on vacation, he missed his father," Said Dae Hyun.

Incidents like this frequently happened between them. Dae Hyun had asked Aeri to quit her career several times since the first time they married.

He asked her to take care of Jo Yeon Ho, their only child. But, they used to end up arguing.

Moreover, Aeri was rarely at home than him. That was why Dae Hyun felt lonely.

Dae Hyun immediately invited Jo Yeon Ho to go to bed. He would read storybooks for his son as usual.

After the story was almost over, Jo Yeon Ho finally started to fall asleep.

Dae Hyun stretched out his hand, took the blanket that was still folded neatly at the corner of the bed.

He covered him with a blanket, afraid that he might wake up. He looked at Jo Yeon Ho's face for a moment then rubbed the top of his head gently.

Suddenly, Aeri opened the door. She carefully stepped her feet towards the bed.

"Honey, I'm sorry," Said Aeri, slowly approaching Dae Hyun and about to sit beside him.

"Go outside! I don't want Yeon Ho to wake up hearing our voices," Dae Hyun asked Aeri who walked ahead to their room.

As soon as she closed the door, Aeri immediately hugged Dae Hyun who was standing in front of the cupboard.

Aeri hugged him from behind. She gently rubbed Dae Hyun's stomach, placing her face against his back with a raging breath.

Dae Hyun's fur instantly twitched as he felt Aeri's touch by touch. He immediately removed Aeri's hand from his waist and turned around to look at her face.

Aeri slowly began to unbutton her shirt from the top to the bottom. Dae Hyun was silent and did nothing.

"Honey, I miss you," Said Aeri, looking up at Dae Hyun.

Dae Hyun immediately carried Aeri's body. He put her on the bed. Aeri aggressively took off Dae Hyun's clothes.

All that was left was only shorts.

As Aeri tried to put their lips together, Dae Hyun looked away. Soo Yin's face was now in his mind.

Dae Hyun remembered every word the girl said to him that he was a player. The man closed his eyes for a moment.

Soo Yin's face flashed back when he opened his eyes. The girl's sullen face while crushing him still linger in his mind.

"Go to sleep! You must be tired too," Said Dae Hyun as he got out of bed then immediately rushed into the bathroom.

Dae Hyun was also worried because when he came home from the hotel, he couldn't reach Soo Yin's number as it was inactive.

He wanted to say that tonight, he wouldn't go back to Pyeongchang-dong villa.

Aeri could only gaze at Dae Hyun's back with annoyance that he slowly disappeared behind the door.

Dae Hyun didn't usually act like that to her.

Aeri was panicked, afraid that Dae Hyun would find out what she had been doing all this time.

If her secret was exposed, her efforts so far will be in vain.

Aeri hurriedly got out of bed to get her phone in her bag.

She went outside the room to call someone.