

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 341 - 341 - Don't Want To Go Anywhere

Seoul South Korea.

Pyeongchang-dong villa,

Dae Hyun and Soo Yin arrived in Seoul early this morning. Now the couple was still sleeping together because their bodies were very tired after traveling for a long time.

Beep....

The sound of incoming messages came from Soo Yin's cell phone which was accompanied by the sound of the alarm that kept ringing.

With her eyes tightly closed, Soo Yin's hand groped the nightstand which was right beside the bed. Dae Hyun's tight embrace made it difficult for her to move. Until Soo Yin chose to open her eyes and moved Dae Hyun's hand slowly on the bed.

Soo Yin's eyes immediately widened when she opened and read the message.

[Soo Yin, how are you? Is your grandfather all right? I hope you don't forget that tonight we have to meet] Park Soo Hyun.

Soo Yin massaged her temples because she even forgot that it was the weekend. She bit her lower lip because she didn't know what to say.

"Honey, wake up." Soo Yin shook Dae Hyun's body a few times. Wanted to ask for advice of what she should do at this time.

"What's the matter, honey?" Dae Hyun said in a hoarse voice. He lifted his head slightly but then put it back on the pillow.

"How is it?" Soo Yin said anxiously.

"What's going on? Have you been accepted into the university?" Dae Hyun asked in his half-consciousness. It was as if he had faintly heard that Soo Yin was talking about her college.

Soo Yin even forgot to mention the good news.

"I was accepted, but...."

"Is it true?" Dae Hyun immediately sat up when he heard the news.

"Don't be so excited like that," Soo Yin said sullenly because now there were much more important things to worry about.

"If you've been accepted, then why aren't you excited and frowning like that?" Dae Hyun asked with a frown.

"Look, there's a message from your brother." Soo Yin handed her phone to her husband.

Dae Hyun read it for a moment with a calm feeling.

"Good, you just answer that you don't love him and everything will be fine," Dae Hyun said lightly without caring about the risks.

"What about your mother?"

"There's no need to worry because you're still her daughter-in-law. I'm sure mother can understand if someone's feelings can't be forced." Dae Hyun stroked Soo Yin's disheveled and messy hair.

"I don't have the heart to refuse him." In all her life, Soo Yin had never been in a relationship. Although she was close to several men but they were just an ordinary friends. So it was natural for her to feel afraid if she will have to refuse.

"If you feel scared then let me say it. How about we just be honest? Now there's nothing to cover up," Dae Hyun said to make an offer

"Do not!" said Soo Yin quickly. To be honest she wasn't mentally prepared if they had to be found out. All of Dae Hyun's family would be very surprised.

"Why?"

"You guys haven't even divorced yet. I don't want to be accused of being a stealer of someone's husband," Soo Yin said.

"Okay, I understand. This week I will file it in court. If Aeri doesn't want to come later, the trial will still be decided," said Dae Hyun.

If Aeri didn't want to come it will be decided unilaterally by him. It was up to Aeri to refuse, waiting for her to agree to a divorce was the same as waiting for plants to grow in the desert.

"Can it really be like that? You better finish your business immediately because I don't want to get involved," said Soo Yin while leaning her head on Dae Hyun's chest. Even though Dae Hyun had said that he loved her very much but she will not calm down until their marriage bond was broken. She was quite aware that now she was selfish to want to have Dae Hyun completely.

"If only Aeri signed the divorce papers, actually everything would be easy. I really didn't think that she didn't want to," Dae Hyun said with a soft sigh.

"Maybe because she loves you so much that she doesn't want to," said Soo Yin.

Dae Hyun just snorted. He was very sure if Aeri did not love him all this time.

"Tonight take me to see Park Soo Hyun. But you have to remember you can't show up and don't have to say anything," said Soo Yin.

"Calm down, I'll let the two of you talk. Let's just say tonight is the last time you two are close," said Dae Hyun.

Soo Yin was relieved that Dae Hyun was there so she invited him.

"Hurry up and take a shower, aren't you going to work? Look at the sun that starting to rise," Soo Yin said while moving her body a little.

"I don't care, they must also think that I'm still on Geoje Island," Dae Hyun said. Then he laid back down. He had woken up in a hurry because he thought there was a very important matter.

"Don't sleep anymore," Soo Yin whined as she shook her husband's arm.

"So what? Do you want to do something with me?" Dae Hyun then tilted his body. His sexy lips carved a mischievous smile.

"You pervert!" Soo Yin grumbled as she threw a pillow at Dae Hyun's face.

"I mean, maybe you want to work out with me. What are you thinking?" Dae Hyun asked with a glance.

"Never mind, I'm going to take a shower," Soo Yin said with a hot face because she had thought about something dirty in the morning.

Dae Hyun finally stayed awake because he can't sleep anymore. He walked to the balcony for a breath of fresh air in the morning. Before taking a bath he wanted to exercise for a while so his body felt fit. He couldn't remember the last time he went to the gym. Looked like today was the perfect day if he wanted to go there. He also wanted to invite Soo Yin.

His once six pack stomach will slowly become one pack if he didn't go there anymore. It would be difficult to rebuild his body muscles. Before it was too late, he'd better go.

As soon as Soo Yin came out, she had already changed her clothes. She was traumatized if she didn't wear her clothes directly because Dae Hyun will definitely ask for what he wanted. This morning she couldn't do it because her body felt very tired.

Soo Yin frowned when she saw the open balcony door. After seeing it, it turned out that Dae Hyun was there.

"Honey, what are you doing?" asked Soo Yin who was already standing at the door.

"Let's go exercise to the fitness center," said Dae Hyun, who had stopped his sports activities.

"My body hurts all over," Soo Yin refused.

"That's why we have to exercise to be healthy."

"If you want to go then go alone because I don't want to go anywhere," Soo Yin said as she walked inside.

"If you don't want to go then we'd better do some exercise together." Dae Hyun smiled as he winked.

Soo Yin turned around while was glaring at Dae Hyun, after that she then left the room. She wanted to prepare breakfast with Aunt Xia in the kitchen.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 342 - 342 - Waiting For The Night

Pyeongchang-dong villa,

Tonight was really confusing for Soo Yin. Should she prepare herself before meeting Park Soo Hyun?

Soo Yin thought for a moment what clothes she should wear so that Park Soo Hyun would not want to propose to her. Or rather wanted if Park Soo Hyun didn't glance at her again. Should she dress as badly as possible to make him feel disgusted?

She then grabbed her phone that was on the bed. Since noon, Soo Yin did not dare to open it because Park Soo Hyun kept contacting her. He kept reminding her over and over again that made her feel uncomfortable.

Sure enough, it turned out that there had been several missed calls from Park Soo Hyun and several short messages that had the same essence. Though Soo Yin had told him that she would come.

Before leaving, she should ask Jean for consideration. Perhaps she can offer some advice.

Soo Yin put the phone to her ear. Hoping that the call will be answered soon. Unfortunately, Jean didn't even answer.

With full determination, she will wear clothes as neat as possible. Looked like dodging was not the right way. She will finish everything tonight.

Soo Yin decided to wear a pretty decent outfit. She chose a purple dress with knee length. It looked beautiful and graceful on her body.

Tonight, Park Soo Hyun invited her to meet on the banks of the Cheonggyecheon river. The place where Dae Hyun at that time said his love to her too. Soo Yin thought that they had the same taste even though they were very different in nature.

Soo Yin stepped out with an erratic pounding heart. Didn't forget that she had brought the necklace that Park Soo Hyun had given her at the time. She will return it tonight.

After twenty minutes of traveling, Soo Yin finally arrived at Cheonggyecheon Stream. She was deliberately waiting first rather than to be waited.

There was 30 minutes before meeting with Park Soo Hyun. At first, she planned that Dae Hyun would escort her, but her husband couldn't because he had urgent work to complete. Tonight, Dae Hyun will return to the UN Village after receiving a call from Jo Yeon Ho.

Soo Yin can understand that the boy must miss his father, so she asked Chung Ho to take her, who was now waiting in the parking lot.

The atmosphere there was quite crowded with visitors whose average age was still young. It was natural, because the place was very suitable to be enjoyed at night. The lights will sparkle very beautifully because of the reflection of the river water.

Soo Yin clasped her hands together as the wind began to blow infiltrating her skin pores. She only wore a thin sweater because she didn't expect the weather to be that cold.

Her feet continued to walk around the edge of the river as her heart was beating fast in rhythm with the music that was playing. Soo Yin bit her lower lip, tried to steel herself to tell the truth. It was not good for a woman to hang the feelings of a man who obviously can't be with her.

Soo Yin continued to pray that Park Soo Hyun could accept all of her reasons gracefully. After turning him down, she decided that she might not work at the hotel anymore. She didn't want to hurt Park Soo Hyun even more.

Beep...

Soo Yin's steps were stopped when she received a message on her cellphone.

[Wait a minute, honey. I'll be there soon] Park Soo Hyun.

Soo Yin's hands immediately trembled when she read it. Hearing him mention the word 'honey' tore her heart even more. She was afraid that Park Soo Hyun would not accept her rejection.

While she was waiting for Park Soo Hyun to arrive, she walked towards a long bench. The necklace that Park Soo Hyun had given her had been in her hand for a long time so that when he came, she will immediately returned it.

=====

Park Soo Hyun just finished his work. This was a bit behind schedule as it should have been finished this afternoon. He went to the bathroom to see how he looked. With a smile that was so charming, Park Soo Hyun smoothed his tie in front of the mirror reflection.

His heart was also beating wildly because he couldn't wait to hear Soo Yin's answer. After Soo Yin answered, Park Soo Hyun planned to immediately take her to the UN Village. To tell all his family that they were officially dating and will soon get engaged.

Park Soo Hyun went to his brother's room first to say goodbye. Without knocking on the door first, Park Soo Hyun entered Dae Hyun's room.

Dae Hyun was focusing on the monitor screen so he didn't notice his brother's presence.

"Hyeong, you shouldn't have to work overtime tonight," said Park Soo Hyun as he put his hands in his pants pockets. He casually walked over to his brother.

"Can you knock on the door first when come in here?" Dae Hyun glared at his brother. He didn't like it when someone walked in without knocking, because his brother had done it many times.

"I knocked on it but you didn't hear it," Park Soo Hyun said while scratching the back of his head.

"What are you doing in here?" Dae Hyun asked without stopping his activities.

"I'm just reminding you to go home tonight immediately. Don't you miss Jo Yeon Ho and sister-in-law?"

"I'll be going home later," Dae Hyun said briefly.

Dae Hyun was actually reluctant to go back there because Aeri was still there. But it seemed that tonight he would give her an invitation from the court that Chang Yuan had prepared. He delayed a little longer because Aeri just miscarried. It was inappropriate in the eyes of the public if Dae Hyun was suing for divorce when Aeri was grieving. Dae Hyun would definitely be said to be a heartless man.

.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 343 - 343 - Unexpected

He had a family name to protect. If it was just his good name, he didn't really care.

"Hyeong, tell everyone at home not to fall asleep before I go home," said Park Soo Hyun.

"Where do you want to go?" Dae Hyun pretended not to know.

"I'm going somewhere to meet my crush." When he said that, Park Soo Hyun's heart started to tremble again.

"Who?"

"You don't have to pretend you don't know who she is. After we're done, we'll go home and tell everyone. Pray that everything goes smoothly," Park Soo Hyun said.

"Go, don't make her wait too long because it's very cold outside." Dae Hyun didn't want his little wife to be there alone for too long because 15 minutes ago Soo Yin gave the news that she had arrived.

"Okay, I'll be going now." Park Soo Hyun immediately left the room.

Dae Hyun's lips formed a smile that pulled back.

"Be prepared because you will be heartbroken," Dae Hyun muttered with a smile.

If Soo Yin allowed him, he would definitely come with her and tell Park Soo Hyun the truth about their relationship

=====

On the way, Park Soo Hyun saw a row of flower shops that were still open. He stopped the car on the side of the road. He chose a bouquet of white roses as a symbol of the sanctity of love.

Park Soo Hyun never stopped painting a smile on his face. The reflection of the moonlight that pierced the windshield of his car added the level of his handsomeness tonight. The red box containing the diamond ring that had been prepared a long time ago and the bouquet of white roses beside him were one of the many reasons that made him unable to hide his happy glow.

Tonight, Park Soo Hyun can't wait to visit Cheonggyecheon Stream. The place where Soo Yin was waiting for him. The image of Soo Yin's smiling face made him want to hurry up. Earlier, Soo Yin had sent a message when she arrived.

The car that Park Soo Hyun was driving finally stopped at the red light line. His eyes returned to the empty chair beside him. The red box and white roses will soon take him one step closer to marriage. The day he had been waiting for and he had been looking for all this time. A day that will forever be remembered in his mind.

The streets of Seoul tonight were fairly quiet. There were only a few cars around. The roads were not as congested as usual. Empty and smooth but it was a bit slippery due to the snow that had fallen.

Park Soo Hyun was grateful that at least he didn't have to be in a traffic jam tonight which might end up making him late. Seeing the bright green light, Park Soo Hyun released the brakes and stepped on the gas pedal again.

His focus on the street was diverted when a message came in on his cell phone. Curious because maybe it was a message from his idol girl, Park Soo Hyun then opened it. Turned out the message came from an unknown number. It sent a photo of two people hugging each other.

Park Soo Hyun's chest felt tight to the point of squeezing his cell phone when he saw that the one hugging in the photo was Soo Yin with a man.

Park Soo Hyun tried to calm his heart so as not to believe it too much. He was sure that it wasn't true. He put his phone back on the dashboard with his head down so that Park Soo Hyun clearly didn't notice that a white car was speeding towards him. Even though the light for the lane had turned red.

Park Soo Hyun was actually not wrong. Even though his eyes were diverted for a moment, he obeyed the traffic signs very well.

Time seemed to be slowing down. God seemed to be making the rotation of the earth and everything in it stopped. Park Soo Hyun turned his head to the right. His eyes suddenly narrowed when there were two car lights that shone brightly on him who was now in the middle of an intersection.

BROK!!

Collisions were unavoidable.

Park Soo Hyun felt his world was turning and spinning so fast. He felt as if his body had been thrown into an abyss and hit something long and hard like iron.

"Cough!!" Coughed up blood immediately spurted out of his throat. Thick and fresh red color was also thick.

Park Soo Hyun tried to open his eyes. His vision was blurry and shadowed. He could no longer see anything but white smoke billowing high from the front hood of his car. The windshield of his car was cracked and some of the glass shards stuck to the surface of Park Soo Hyun's skin. The pain was indescribable.

Blood was pouring from his head.

His body could not move an inch because the body of the car was pressing against him. It felt like both of his legs were about to break because the brakes and clutch of the car were dented and clamped his legs under it. Park Soo Hyun couldn't do anything but whimper in pain and also begged for help from anyone who heard him.

"Sir!" Some people started screaming for Park Soo Hyun to come to his senses.

With rough breaths that had started to pant heavily, Park Soo Hyun could still hear the voices of the people around him.

"Master! Can you guys open the door?!" A middle-aged man who saw Park Soo Hyun's car rolled almost 10 M from the scene immediately stopped his car and immediately got down to see the condition of the victim involved in the accident.

He kept pounding the car window, but Park Soo Hyun couldn't do anything. His body seemed paralyzed. He couldn't move his body, not even his fingers.

"Call an ambulance quickly! Someone's dying in the car!!" shouted the middle-aged man.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 344 - 344 - Accident

Now Park Soo Hyun's car had been surrounded by many people. Some were curious, sorry, worried, want to capture the terrible moment that just happened before their eyes, there were also those who just wanted to see without intending to help.

"The perpetrator is also dying!!" The loud scream echoed within a radius of five meters from the current position of Park Soo Hyun's car, which was in a very pathetic condition.

"The perpetrator was with a woman! Both of them were also seriously injured!"

The conditions at the crossroads of the big road suddenly made goosebumps. Not long after, several police patrol cars and two ambulances immediately dispersed.

Some police checked the crime scene based on the testimony of other road users, while other police assisted in evacuating accident victims with the medical team from the nearest hospital.

Park Soo Hyun grimaced when he felt his leg being pulled by the officers. It hurt, stung, and he felt his leg might break at that moment.

"Success!" exclaimed one of the nurses who finally managed to get Park Soo Hyun's leg out which was stuck after almost 15 minutes of trying.

Neither Park Soo Hyun, nor the party from the car that caused all these accidents to happen were evacuated. Park Soo Hyun was put in a different ambulance and rushed to the hospital immediately. Fortunately, the accident did not make a series of accidents. Only Park Soo Hyun's car which was hit.

"This is dangerous. The bleeding on his head can't be stopped anymore. We have to get him to the operating room immediately or his life will be in danger."

Park Soo Hyun could still hear the faint voices of doctors and nurses around him. His eyes were still able to open little by little. He watched with blurry vision when someone was doing treatment on his body. His head was bandaged. He had an IV in his nose. The buttons on his shirt were undone, with his chest affixed with tools to help his life last longer.

Under his fading consciousness, Park Soo Hyun could still clearly remember Soo Yin's beautiful face.

"Sorry honey, I can't come," he said with quivering lips and slowly his consciousness began to disappear.

=====

UN Village.

Dae Hyun had just arrived at UN Village after finishing his work. Kisses and hugs barrage welcomed his arrival. His only son was very happy when his father came home. It didn't matter if Aeri continuecontinueds to persuade him not to get too close to Dae Hyun but her efforts were in vain. The goal was only to keep them away so that Dae Hyun will feel lost in the future, so that for the sake of Jo Yeon Ho, Dae Hyun will cancel his intention.

They then held hands when they entered the house. Happy faces were painted on the faces of both father and son. Even though their facial expressions had opposite meanings.

Dae Hyun was very happy because soon nothing will interfere on his relationship with Soo Yin. He was happy because after tonight, Park Soo Hyun would never approach his little wife again.

"Dae Hyun, where's your brother? Why don't you two go home together?" said Mrs. Park, who didn't find Park Soo Hyun there.

"He'll probably be home soon, Mom," Dae Hyun said with a smile that was always on his face.

Mrs. Park got suspicious because his eldest son's facial expression was not usually like that. But the woman pushed the bad thoughts out of her mind. She thought, maybe his project on Geoje Island was going well.

"Yeon Ho, stay with grandma here for a while. Father will take a shower first," said Dae Hyun as he ruffled his son's hair.

"Okay, Father," said Jo Yeon Ho.

"Come here, sit with grandma." Mrs. Park then lifted Jo Yeon's body and sat him on her lap.

With Jo Yeon Ho along with his mother. Dae Hyun didn't have to worry if suddenly there was a fight between him and Aeri. The man then walked into the room.

After losing news from Han, who knows where he was, now Aeri was at home more often. Plus she wanted to find a face to her mother-in-law as if she was a good mother. Although bored, Aeri was forced to do it, for the sake of keeping her position safe. It turned out that her efforts were quite productive because Mrs. Park was now getting closer to her.

Check....

Aeri turned towards the door when she heard the sound of the door creaking open. She immediately sat up straight and stood up to come to her husband.

"Apparently you're home too, I thought you'd be on Geoje Island for a long time. Even though Jo Yeon Ho and I wanted to catch up there," Aeri said with the sweetest possible words coming out of her lips.

At first, there were concerns because Dae Hyun was no longer a director, but it seemed that being a representative was not a bad thing. Dae Hyun could be the director again if Park Soo Hyun made a mistake.

She tried not to bring up about Dae Hyun with another woman, so as not to make him emotional. Actually, Aeri had asked people to follow Dae Hyun several times, but they had always been thwarted.

"Hmm," said Dae Hyun curtly.

Dae Hyun remained indifferent and chose to go to the bathroom. Before that he deliberately put the paper on the bed near his bag. So that he didn't have to give it directly to Aeri.

Sure enough, as soon as Dae Hyun entered the bathroom, Aeri was very curious to open the paper. Her eyes bulged almost to the point of falling down after reading it. Aeri didn't think that Dae Hyun would really want to part with her. She thought it was all just a threat.

Aeri quickly folded it back and put it in an envelope. She was pretending not to know what was in it, that would be much better. A thousand ways will be taken so that Dae Hyun did not divorce her.

Aeri immediately climbed back into bed. She sat back as if she didn't know the invitation letter. To her, her marital status was very important.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 345 - 345 - Bad News

In the family room, Mrs. Park was busy watching television together with Jo Yeon Ho. Mrs. Park was distracted from the television after hearing the phone rang several times.

"Sit down, Grandma wants to answer the phone for a while," Mrs. Park said while lowering Jo Yeon Ho from her lap.

Jo Yeon Jo nodded his head, he immediately threw his butt on the sofa.

"Good evening, is this the residence of Mr. Park Soo Hyun?" asked a man on the other end of the phone. The sound of police sirens sounded quite loud in Mrs. Park's ear that it made her very curious.

"That's right, sir. Is there anything we can help you with?" Mrs. Park's heart immediately trembled at the sound of sirens that were shouting at each other.

"We want to inform you that there has been an accident involving Mr. Park Soo Hyun. Now the victim has been taken", said the man, which was not clearly heard by Mrs. Park. The man was a police officer who was investigating at the scene.

"What?" Mrs. Park shouted hysterically.

Like lightning that stroke during the day. Mrs. Park's body staggered until she almost fell. Her chest felt tight and was hard to breathe. The phone immediately fell along with Mrs. Park who slumped to the floor. She was unable to support her weight at this time. Her legs felt so weak that she could no longer stand up.

Her mind could not think clearly until slowly her vision blurred and the world seemed to spin violently. Until she was lying on the floor.

"Grandmother!" Jo Yeon Ho called. The boy jogged toward his grandmother. He shook the middle-aged woman's body to wake her up.

Seeing his grandmother who wouldn't open her eyes, Jo Yeon ran up the stairs to call her father and mother. Tears fell from the corners of his eyes because he felt so afraid.

Without knocking on the door, Jo Yeon pushed hard on the door until there was a loud bang that startled Aeri who was leaning on the side of the bed.

"Yeon Ho, can you knock on the door first?" Aeri said, she looked disapprovingly at her son.

"Mom, Grandma... Grandma, Mom...," Jo Yeon Ho said while sobbing.

Aeri sighed in annoyance because she was engrossed in reading a beauty magazine but instead was disturbed by the arrival of her son.

"What about grandma, Yeon Ho?" Dae Hyun, who was changing his clothes, rushed out of the bathroom when he heard the faint voice of Jo Yeon Ho sobbing.

"Grandma fainted," said Jo Yeon with a trembling body.

Luckily Dae Hyun had changed clothes so he immediately lifted Jo Yeon Ho's body into his arms.

Aeri also rushed to follow him from behind.

His eyes immediately widened when he saw his mother who was already lying on the floor with the phone still hanging beside her. He lowered Jo Yeon Ho first before finally lifting Mrs. Park's body.

Dae Hyun then laid his mother on the sofa.

"Mother, what happened to you?" Dae Hyun sat next to her and inhaled the aromatic oil into her nose.

"Yeon Ho, do you know how Grandma fainted?" asked Dae Hyun who was suspicious that something bad might happen.

"Grandma suddenly fell after receiving the call," the boy said, stuttered.

Dae Hyun went to the telephone table to find out that maybe the phone line hadn't been disconnected. As soon as he picked up, the siren sounded in his ears. Made his heart flutter. What made her mother suddenly faint?

"Hello, is anyone there?" Dae Hyun said, he wanted to know what really happened.

"We are from the police want to report that Mr. Park Soo Hyun was rushed to the hospital. We haven't had time to say it but there is no sound there," said the man.

"What? What happened to my brother?" Dae Hyun said in a rising voice. His body almost wobbled if he didn't hold on to the table.

"Please visit him at the Hallym University Medical Center hospital," said the police officer.

Dae Hyun then put the phone back down. As much as possible he had to remain calm so that his mother would not panic.

He still couldn't believe that his little brother had an accident. There was a desire to go straight to the hospital but seeing his mother's weak condition made Dae Hyun didn't have the heart to leave her.

Aeri tried to massage her mother-in-law's feet and hands to wake her up.

After a while, Mrs. Park could faintly hear people nearby talking. With a blank and dreamlike mind, she tried to move her eyelids open.

"Park Soo Hyun," called Mrs. Park quietly with tears running down her cheeks.

"Mom, calm down. I'm sure if Park Soo Hyun is fine," Dae Hyun explained, tried to calm his mother. Even though he himself was also very worried about his brother.

"Let's go to the hospital," said Mrs. Park as she stood up even though her body was weak.

"You'd better stay home. Just let me go to the hospital to see him."

"No, I want to see how your brother is doing," Mrs. Park said as she sobbed, she was unable to hold back her tears.

After considering many things, Dae Hyun finally went to the hospital with Aeri and his mother. He hoped that his brother was okay and nothing was fatal.

=====

Hallym University Medical Center Hospital,

Arriving at the hospital, Mrs. Park screamed hysterically because she wanted see how her son was doing. Asked to enter the operating room when inside the doctors were fighting to save Park Soo Hyun. Lucky Dae Hyun and Aeri can calm her down.

Dae Hyun continued to stand in front of the operating room without moving from there after they arrived. He was waiting for the doctors who treated his brother to come out soon.

Mrs. Park, who was sitting on the chair, kept shedding tears. Her chest tightened for breath when she knew one of her sons was struggling to live. She kept praying to God to save Kim Soo Hyun.

"Mom, calm down," said Aeri, who had been trying to calm her mother-in-law ever since.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 346 - 346 - Still Waiting

An hour had passed, but the operation was still not over. Dae Hyun also continued to walk in front of the door. He forgot about Soo Yin who was still waiting for Park Soo Hyun to come to Cheonggyecheon Stream.

Dae Hyun kept pensively thinking about how his brother got into an accident. Until a few moments later his mind finally thought about Soo Yin

"Soo Yin?" Dae Hyun muttered with worry starting to spread throughout his body. With wide steps Dae Hyun approached his mother and Aeri.

"Aeri, I'll leave mom for a while. I have to go," said Dae Hyun.

"Where are you going?" Aeri asked while raising her eyebrows. She was quite happy because after a long time Dae Hyun was finally able to be nice to her. Aeri will use this opportunity to win his heart back.

"Stay here. I beg you to take care of mom until I come back," Dae Hyun said with a hopeful look. At least he felt grateful that Aeri was with them at this time.

"Okay," Aeri said, she happily will looking after her mother-in-law.

After making sure that his mother was safe and fine with Aeri, the man immediately left the hospital.

=====

Cheonggyecheon Stream,

Soo Yin was still waiting for Park Soo Hyun even though she had been waiting for an hour. She still insisted on being there even though Chung Ho had persuaded her to go home.

Soo Yin was determined that the problem with Park Soo Hyun must be resolved tonight so that there were no misunderstandings and Park Soo Hyun's heart will hurt even more.

Soo Yin's body felt even more shivering as the snowflakes slowly fell to the ground. She tried her best to endure the cold even though she had to bite her lower lip.

Didn't forget that Soo Yin had also called Park Soo Hyun's number but it was not active. She tried to always think positive. Maybe, Park Soo Hyun was currently on a trip or there was a sudden need that made him a little late to come.

People had slowly left the place because the cold weather made them reluctant to linger there. While Soo Yin was still sitting on a chair. She didn't want to disappoint her brother-in-law any longer. That was why she was still holding on.

"Why did he take so long?" Soo Yin mumbled as she sat still restlessly. Her hands were clamped on her thighs.

Soo Yin kept roaming her eyes here and there hoping to find Park Soo Hyun's figure soon so she could go home soon. She didn't know how much longer she could endure in the cold of the night before midnight.

She didn't even care about Chung Ho, who had been asking her to leave that place from a long time ago. She put the necklace given by Park Soo Hyun that she had been holding in her hand into the bag. Afraid if she suddenly unknowingly throwing it away.

ooo

Dae Hyun closed the door firmly after arriving at the parking lot. He saw Chung Ho who was still standing on the side of the car while he was smoking a cigarette. It meant that Soo Yin was still there.

"Chung Ho, is Soo Yin still in here?" Dae Hyun said with a sense of worry.

"Yes, sir. Miss doesn't want to leave before Mr. Park Soo Hyun comes," Chung Ho said, while lowering his head.

Dae Hyun immediately ran further into the riverside area to look for Soo Yin's current whereabouts.

"Soo Yin!" he called in a loud voice. Dae Hyun kept going around before finally seeing a girl sitting by the river. Her gaze was towards the calm flowing water.

"Honey," said Dae Hyun who immediately sat down on his knees in front of Soo Yin. He was holding her hand that was already as cold as snow tightly. Then put their hands on his lips.

"Honey, why are you in here? Where is Park Soo Hyun? Why hasn't he come yet?" Soo Yin asked repeatedly because she was surprised that it was her husband who came.

"Let's go home," Dae Hyun said in a sad tone, unable to contain his sadness. He was feeling guilty for not wanting to give in for his brother. For him, Soo Yin had become air for him to breathe so it was impossible to let her go.

"Stay away a bit, what if Park Soo Hyun sees us?" Soo Yin said as she tried to let go of her hand but Dae Hyun's grip was too strong.

Dae Hyun closed his eyes, tried to steel his heart to be able to say what was happening right now.

"We should just go home because Park Soo Hyun won't come," Dae Hyun said while staring at Soo Yin's eyes. There was a feeling of guilt that welled up in his soul.

"But, he already sent a message. He said that he is on his way. I don't want to hurt him any longer. He deserves a girl who is much better than me," said Soo Yin. There was a desire to wait a little longer.

"Yeah, it's true that Park Soo Hyun was already on his way. But, he... he... had an accident when he was on his way to come to this place," Dae Hyun said, stuttered while lowering his head.

The world suddenly seemed to stop spinning. Soo Yin's heart immediately shook like it had been electrocuted. Her mind wandered, imagining what had happened. With eyes already heating up Soo Yin shook her head slowly.

Soo Yin really didn't want this to happen. She didn't want something like this to get away from Park Soo Hyun. Slowly, now her eyes were condensing with crystal grains in the corners of her eyes.

"So how is he now?" Tears could no longer be contained in the corners of the beautiful girl's eyes until they fell profusely down her cheeks.

"The doctor is currently treating him. Hopefully nothing bad happens to him," Dae Hyun said with bloodshot eyes. It never occurred to Dae Hyun to pray for bad things to happen to his brother.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 347 - 347 - It's All My Fault

"I want to see him. Can I go to the hospital?" Soo Yin gripped Dae Hyun's fingers tightly. Hoping that the man would allow her to visit Park Soo Hyun.

"Better you come tomorrow morning. It's too late, you need rest anyway. If you want to come to the hospital you can go with Chung Ho. I can't pick you up because mom is so shocked." Dae Hyun steeled himself to try to smile a little while rubbing his wife's cheek.

Soo Yin nodded her head. She could understand that at this time Mrs. Park was devastated.

"But Park Soo Hyun is fine, right?" Soo Yin was eager to know the condition of her brother-in-law.

Dae Hyun was silent for a while. If his condition was good, it was impossible for the doctor to treat him very long.

"Pray that everything is going to be fine," Dae Hyun said bitterly.

"Then why are you here? Why don't you take care of mother?" Soo Yin said.

"Mother is with Aeri at the hospital. I can't possibly let you stay here until morning. That's why I came here," said Dae Hyun.

"It's all my fault. I shouldn't have kept him waiting too long for the answer I was about to give. An answer of refusal would only hurt him." Soo Yin covered her face with both palms.

"Come on, don't blame yourself. You better go home now. Don't think about it," said Dae Hyun, he was standing up and sitting next to Soo Yin. He held her tightly in his arms.

"I am indeed to blame," said Soo Yin who was sobbing with tears that had already flooded Dae Hyun's clothes.

Dae Hyun rubbed Soo Yin's back gently as he kept trying to persuade his wife to come home.

After persuading her to go home, Soo Yin finally agreed to return to the Pyeongchang-dong villa. Dae Hyun led Soo Yin to walk to the parking lot because her body was weak.

"Chung Ho, I entrust Soo Yin to you. Take good care of her, don't forget to tell Aunt Xia to take care of her because her body is very cold," Dae Hyun said to Chung Jo.

"Yes, sir," said Chung Ho.

Dae Hyun stayed there until the car Chung Ho was driving slowly disappeared.

Only then did he continue his journey back to the hospital. Before returning to the hospital, Dae Hyun wanted to know where the accident happened. When he passed the road that Park Soo Hyun might take, it turned out that the road was still busy.

Some police seemed to be conducting an unfinished investigation even though the incident had been going on for quite some time. Dae Hyun could see Park Soo Hyun's wrecked car on the side of the road. There was also another driver's car which was badly damaged as well.

Dae Hyun decided to stop his car on the side of the road. Then wanted to go out for a while just to find out a little about the incident. His feet continued to tread the asphalt towards one of the vendors which was located not far from the side of the road.

"Was there an accident in here, sir?" Dae Hyun said politely. The curiosity in his heart couldn't be contained to find out what happened.

"There was a white car that drove through a red light, it was speeding so fast that a collision was inevitable," said a middle-aged man who was a snack seller.

Dae Hyun was relieved, at least it wasn't Park Soo Hyun who was driving recklessly.

"Can you tell me a little bit?" Dae Hyun asked.

The man who was selling the food then told a little of what he knew. When Park Soo Hyun's car was running slowly, it was hit by a white car.

Dae Hyun closed his eyes, unable to imagine what happened. The car even bounced far from the crash site. No wonder if until now the doctor hadn't finished handling Park Soo Hyun.

Dae Hyun's head hurt to think about it. Moreover, Dae Hyun could see that there were traces of blood scattered on the asphalt which was slowly covered by the increasingly heavy snow.

After asking the food vendor a little, Dae Hyun stepped into Park Soo Hyun's car which had a police line installed.

Near the car, Dae Hyun found a bouquet of white roses whose petals had been scattered on the asphalt. Dae Hyun's chest tightened when he saw it. It turned out that Park Soo Hyun really wanted his little wife.

"I'm sorry," Dae Hyun mumbled quietly.

Since the police didn't allow anyone at the location where the incident happened, Dae Hyun decided to return to the hospital.

oooooooooooo

Hallym University Medical Center.

Night was getting late. The hospital was also deserted. There were only a few people that were still passing through the hospital corridors.

Mrs. Park continued to cry waiting for news of her youngest son.

Dae Hyun sat down next to his mother who was leaning her head on Aeri's shoulder. He took over the position to hug her.

"You'd better go home. Let me wait for Park Soo Hyun. If there is news, I will definitely contact you, mother," Dae Hyun coaxed. He rubbed Mrs. Park slowly to provide calm.

"I'll still be here," said Mrs. Park, insisted on refusing.

"Park Soo Hyun, what really happened to you? Why are you speeding?" continued Mrs. Park while shedding tears again.

For four hours the operating room door was closed and quiet. There was no sound of any activity that could be heard from outside.

After waiting for a long time, suddenly the door opened. It made the people there both relieved and anxious.

Dae Hyun and Mrs. Park suddenly stood up. The middle-aged woman wanted to know her son's condition immediately. Her limp legs tried to walk towards the doctor and the nurses, who one by one, had started to leave.

"Doctor, how is my son?" Mrs. Park took the male doctor's hand and shook it.

"Be patient, Mom," Dae Hyun said while holding his mother's shoulders. He also felt very anxious.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 348 - 348 - Unconscious

The Doctor seemed to take a deep breath. He didn't know if this was good or bad news. Even so, as a doctor, he must give positive things. Must not make the patient's family mentally down and have no hope. No matter how bad the patient's condition, the doctor will give hope.

"The operation went smoothly, but..." The tall male doctor sighed softly. It was hard when his lips were about to speak.

"But what, Doc?" Mrs. Park shook the doctor's arm again. She couldn't wait because something bad might happen.

"For now, your son has not been able to regain consciousness," said the Doctor. Then he held Mrs. Park to give firmness and strength.

Mrs. Park's feet were felt unable to support the weight of her body again. The image of Park Soo Hyun who was in a coma flashed before her eyes. Until when she saw Park Soo Hyun who was being expelled from the operating room, she couldn't bear to see her son.

Mrs. Park staggered to the point of almost falling to the floor if Dae Hyun hadn't supported her. Dae Hyun supported his mother who was helped by the doctor to sit on a bench not far away. Mrs. Park's body seemed to have no energy, even if it was just to stand.

"Sorry sir, that's all we can do for now. We wonder if there's a woman named Soo Yin in here?" asked the Doctor.

"What's the matter, Doc?" Dae Hyun said while raising his eyebrows.

"Before Mr. Park Soo Hyun was unconscious, he always mentioned Soo Yin's name. We thought that Soo Yin was someone special. If you don't mind, you should bring the woman here. It is very helpful for the patient's recovery," said the Doctor. The doctor explained a little about his advice.

"I'll consider it," Dae Hyun said bitterly.

If Dae Hyun made it happen then Park Soo Hyun and his wife will get closer but if he didn't make it happen he was worried about his brother's condition. It was really something that made him very dilemma right now. Should he give up to his brother?

"Okay, I'd better go first." The doctor then left them.

Mrs. Park's condition was half awake. The woman hoped that what happened to her son was just a dream. That's why she wanted to fall asleep, hoping that after waking up, she could meet Park Soo Hyun as usual.

"Dae Hyun, bring Soo Yin here," said Mrs. Park with a face already in tears. She hadn't actually fainted, but thinking about her son's condition since earlier made her head so dizzy and giddy.

"Mom, it's late. Soo Yin must be sleeping," Dae Hyun coaxed as he sat crouched in front of his mother and squeezed her fingers lightly.

"It must be because of Soo Yin that Park Soo Hyun is like that," said Aeri to make the situation worsen.

"Watch your words," Dae Hyun said, while staring intently at Aeri. He didn't expect that at times like this, but she still thought badly of other people.

"Dae Hyun, I beg you to bring Soo Yin here right now," said Mrs. Park. Tears were running down her cheeks again.

For a while, Park Soo Hyun cannot be visited because the nurses were installing tools on Park Soo Hyun's body so that he can last longer to live.

Dae Hyun took a deep breath. Maybe he should temporarily put his ego aside and let Park Soo Hyun be close to Soo Yin. At least only until he recovered. After that, he would really take Soo Yin far away.

"Okay, but promise me that mom will be calm. Stay here with Aeri," said Dae Hyun.

Aeri sounded incoherently grumbling because at times like this it was always Soo Yin who was wanted.

"What about your father? Have you contacted him to return to Seoul as soon as possible?" asked Mrs. Park who had started to stop her sobs.

"Tomorrow, father will arrive in Seoul," Dae Hyun said.

"Now go," Mrs. Park said so that Dae Hyun immediately picked Soo Yin up no matter if it was already dawn.

"Aeri, please don't badmouth her like that. Take good care of mom," Dae Hyun said to Aeri with a flat face.

"Calm down, you don't have to worry," Aeri said with her lips pulled back into a smile.

Dae Hyun immediately stood up and walked towards the parking lot. He really didn't feel good to have to refuse his mother's wish to take his wife to the hospital. It seemed, his mother really hoped that Soo Yin could wake Park Soo Hyun up quickly.

"God, why is it so hard for us to be together." Dae Hyun stared at the dark night sky for a while. Even though it was still cloudy, it wasn't snowing anymore.

If he knew it will be like this, he should have immediately taken Soo Yin to the hospital. But seeing his wife who was pale because of the cold made him not have the heart to take her. Soo Yin needed a break after waiting for Park Soo Hyun for a long time.

Dae Hyun immediately got into the car. Then drove the car to Pyeongchang-dong villa.

oooooooooooooooooooo

Pyeongchang-dong villa,

Soo Yin's body shivered after arriving at the villa. She didn't know why she was like this even though she had been fine. It seemed that the night wind and chaotic thoughts had weakened her immunity.

A few hours ago, Soo Yin heard the news of an accident about Park Soo Hyun. But until almost the dawn, her eyes refused to close. Her body trembled with clear snowdrops that kept dripping from the corners of her eyes.

Soo Yin felt guilty about what happened to Park Soo Hyun. Regretted for giving false hope for too long to a man who had a very good heart. A man who didn't deserve to love a girl like her.

"Miss, go to sleep," Aunt Xia coaxed gently. She faithfully accompanied Soo Yin, didn't sleep to take care of her. Seeing her condition like that made her not bear to leave Soo Yin alone.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 349 - 349 - Can't Sleep

Soo Yin wiped the clear beads from her cheeks. Then turned to Aunt Xia who was sitting beside her.

"I can't sleep, Auntie," Soo Yin said with quivering lips. How could she possibly sleep because she was currently thinking about Park Soo Hyun's condition.

"Trust me, Mr. Park Soo Hyun will be fine," Aunt Xia said. To reduce the deep guilt in Soo Yin's heart.

"I hope so too, Auntie. I'm going to the hospital early tomorrow morning to see him," Soo Yin said. She faintly smiled as she could.

"You'd better go to bed so you can wake up early," Aunt Xia said in a soft and warm voice, like speaking to her own biological child.

Soo Yin nodded her head slowly.

"Auntie should rest too. Right now I'm fine and I will go to sleep," Soo Yin lied. Even though she had been trying to hold back the cold so that Aunt Xia wouldn't worry.

"Are you sure, Miss?" Aunt Xia again wanted to hold Soo Yin's hand but Soo Yin hurriedly hid it under the blanket.

Soo Yin nodded her head quickly. Aunt Xia had to leave the room because Soo Yin kept asking her to go rest.

After Aunt Xia came out, Soo Yin took another thick blanket to wrap around her. The heating was also on.

Soo Yin dragged her feet to the table to find the fever medicine then drank it. But every time she was pensive, Park Soo Hyun's always smiling face was present in her mind.

◦

◦

The condition of the villa already looked deserted but Soo Yin's room lights were still on. Dae Hyun had parked his car in the yard but he was hesitant to get out. He rested his head on the back of the car seat for a moment. He tilted his head and closed his eyes tightly.

Before getting out, Dae Hyun wanted to make sure that Soo Yin hadn't slept yet. He reached into his cell phone which was in his pocket.

"How is Park Soo Hyun doing right now? Is he okay now?"

Not long after Dae Hyun called, his phone was answered very quickly by Soo Yin.

Dae Hyun took a deep breath.

"You haven't sleep, huh?" Dae Hyun said in a hoarse voice.

"Of course I ... have," said Soo Yin stammered.

"If you were sleeping why were you so quick to answer my call?"

"I was just taking a shower when I heard my phone rings," Soo Yin said nervously. If he knew she wasn't sleeping, Dae Hyun would surely scold her.

"Very well."

Without another word, Dae Hyun hung up the phone and rushed to get out to meet Soo Yin. He was sure that Soo Yin couldn't sleep.

With slow and calm steps, Dae Hyun climbed the stairs. Opening the door slightly, it turned out that Soo Yin was still sitting on the side of the bed. Bent both her knees, and used them to support her chin. Her body was wrapped in a thick blanket with a pale face.

Soo Yin turned her head when she saw Dae Hyun's arrival. She hastily wiped her eyes with the back of her hand. Her eyes were red with swollen eyelids too.

Dae Hyun closed the door then approached Soo Yin with his lips still tightly closed. Then he sat next to Soo Yin, until his wife shifted her body slightly in the middle to give Dae Hyun a place to sit.

"Why are you so stubborn?" Dae Hyun grabbed Soo Yin's chin and lifted her chin. He looked into his wife's teary eyes.

"I'm already sleeping," Soo Yin replied, tried to smile even though the tears hadn't even dried from her cheeks.

"Don't torture yourself like this. Didn't I tell you not to blame yourself?" Dae Hyun said with a soft sigh.

"I can not sleep." Soo Yin rushed into Dae Hyun's arms.

Dae Hyun can feel that Soo Yin's body was cold.

"Do you have a fever?" Dae Hyun panicked and put the back of his hand on Soo Yin's forehead.

Soo Yin shook her head slowly even though a cold shot through her heart.

Dae Hyun hugged her tightly while resting his chin on the top of Soo Yin's head. At a time like this it was impossible to take her to the hospital. Though he was sure that Soo Yin wouldn't mind.

"Why are you here? Shouldn't you be in the hospital by now?" Soo Yin lifted her face.

"I i" Dae Hyun's lips really felt immovable.

Until the sound of the phone ringing broke the silence between them for a while.

"What's the matter, mother?" Dae Hyun asked.

"Why are you taking so long? Hurry up, Park Soo Hyun always calls Soo Yin's name." Mrs. Park sounded hoarse.

"Okay, Mother. We're on our way," Dae Hyun said as he hung up the phone.

"Actually how is Park Soo Hyun doing?" Soo Yin then straightened up after hearing Mrs. Park's sobs. If Park Soo Hyun was okay, there was no way she would cry like that.

"He's still unconscious. The doctor can't tell when he will wake up. The doctor only advised you to come there because he always calls your name." Dae Hyun closed his eyes for a moment. The night that should make no more time for Soo Yin and Park Soo Hyun to be together, was now the opposite.

"Well, let's go right now." Soo Yin hurriedly got up and looked for a thick coat in her wardrobe. Forgot about the condition of her body.

"Come on," Soo Yin said when she was finished getting ready while Dae Hyun just kept quiet.

"You haven't slept, Soo Yin. I don't want you to get sick." Dae Hyun looked bitterly at his little wife.

"I'm fine. Park Soo Hyun is much more important now," Soo Yin said with tears that were starting to condense again but she tried to hold them back. She just wanted to make up for all her guilt.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 350 - 350 - Sad

Hallym University Medical Center Hospital.

As soon as the car was parked, Soo Yin hurriedly removed the seat belt that was wrapped around her body. Soo Yin's body slowly began to improve. Although there was no denying that her head still felt heavy.

Dae Hyun just silently watched his wife who seemed impatient.

"Honey, don't be in such a hurry," said Dae Hyun as he grabbed Soo Yin's wrist who was about to open the door.

Soo Yin turned around while raising her eyebrows to see Dae Hyun who hadn't even taken off his seat belt yet.

"Let's go out," Soo Yin whined.

"It seems that you are very worried about Park Soo Hyun," Dae Hyun said with a flat face. It was undeniable that he felt a little jealousy in his heart. At first Dae Hyun wanted to act normal, but seeing Soo Yin like that, his jealousy just got bigger.

Soo Yin looked deeply into Dae Hyun's eagle eyes, which seemed to have a look of emotion and sadness that mixed into one.

"Don't exaggerating things like that. I just feel guilty," Soo Yin said, as if she could read what her husband was feeling right now.

"Can you not care so much about him," Dae Hyun asked.

Soo Yin rolled her eyes.

"Don't be selfish like that, think about how your mother feels right now." Not wanting to argue further which only made it more complicated to them, Soo Yin got out of the car.

Dae Hyun rubbed his face angrily. Didn't know why his ego had to be that big. Even though Park Soo Hyun's condition was currently lying helplessly. With heavy steps, Dae Hyun finally followed Soo Yin.

Soo Yin walked ahead of Dae Hyun. Her pace was fast and very hasty. Her mind couldn't calm down before seeing Park Soo Hyun's condition.

Soo Yin got into the elevator even though Dae Hyun wasn't there yet. The room that Park Soo Hyun occupied was on the third floor according to what Dae Hyun said earlier.

Soo Yin caught her breath before opening the door. Hoping for a miracle if now Park Soo Hyun was conscious.

Mrs. Park was already sitting on the chair beside Park Soo Hyun's bed with Aeri beside her. Since then, she couldn't bear to see his son who was helpless.

Just opening the door slightly, Soo Yin couldn't help but hear Mrs. Park who wanted Park Soo Hyun to wake up immediately. Aeri even overwhelmed, couldn't calm her down.

Soo Yin tried to be strong then opened the door to make a sound that sounded in the ears of Aeri and Mrs. Park.

Mrs. Park's view was distracted from Park Soo Hyun, who had various tools installed on his body. Mrs. Park's face shone even more when she saw Soo Yin's arrival. It was as if a goddess of help had arrived.

Soo Yin froze seeing Park Soo Hyun's condition this time. Her hands trembled greatly at the sight of the man who was lying in a condition that she thought was concerning.

Soo Yin, with all her strength, dragged her feet to walk towards Park Soo Hyun's bed. Even though her eyes actually couldn't bear to see him.

"Mr. Park Soo Hyun," Soo Yin said softly with trembling lips. Her legs felt really weak but she tried as hard as she could to stay on her feet.

Mrs. Park then stood up and hugged Soo Yin's body very tightly. She thought that Soo Yin must be very sad and devastated because of the incident.

"Soo Yin, thank goodness you came soon. The doctor said before he fell unconscious, Park Soo Hyun kept calling your name." The tears that had stopped flowing now fell again after Soo Yin was there.

Soo Yin was still transfixed while observing the state of the man's body. There were glass scratches on his hands. In her heart, she kept apologizing for what happened.

"Mother, don't expect too much from her. Soo Yin could have paid the doctor to make it up," Aeri said a little sarcastically.

"Soo Yin, please stay here until Park Soo Hyun wakes up," Mrs. Park.

Soo Yin remained motionless even though she could feel her mother-in-law's warm embrace. Her mind was blank with the tears that had flowed just like that.

Didn't get any response from Soo Yin, slowly Mrs. Park let go of her hand. Then suddenly the middle-aged woman kneeled down, kneeling in front of Soo Yin. Caused Soo Yin to wake up from her daydream.

"Mother, what are you doing?" Aeri said while pulling Mrs. Park to get up.

"Mother, please don't be like this," said Soo Yin who immediately bent over to help Mrs. Park stand up.

"I will stay like this until you do what I ask," said Mrs. Park.

"What's the matter, Mother?" Dae Hyun, who had just entered, was surprised to see his mother kneeling in front of Soo Yin.

"I just want Soo Yin to stay here until Park Soo Hyun gets better," said Mrs. Park while continuing to sob.

"Mother doesn't need to be like this. I promise to help as much as I can until Park Soo Hyun recovers," said Soo Yin. She didn't feel good to see her mother-in-law begging on her knees like that.

"Now wake up, Mother." Dae Hyun helped his mother to stand while glancing at Soo Yin. He knew that Soo Yin couldn't bear to see his mother like that.

"Thank you, dear. Stay here with mother," said Mrs. Park with her lips pulled back, carved a smile. Her heart felt very relieved.

"Now, rest. Let us guard here," said Dae Hyun. His mother had not slept all night so he was worried that his mother's health would also decline.

"I'd better go home, I want to change my clothes first. Are you coming home with me, Mother?" asked Aeri. Actually it was a coincidence that Soo Yin came because she was also very tired and needed to rest.

"No, I'll sleep on the sofa. Go home, because Yeon Ho must be looking for you," Mrs. Park said.

"Okay, Mom," Aeri said to her mother-in-law. Then she turned to look at her husband.

"Honey, I'll go home first because I'm worried if Jo Yeon Ho is looking for me." Without Dae Hyun could refuse, Aeri kissed both of his cheeks in turn. Then left the room.

Dae Hyun glanced at Soo Yin who had a straight face. There was no trace of jealousy on her face this time. Guilt had covered her jealousy.

Mrs. Park was now lying on the sofa. Dae Hyun stretched out the blanket to cover his mother's body. Soon the middle-aged woman fell asleep. Soo Yin's presence there made her relieved.

Soo Yin sat on the bench beside the bed where Park Soo Hyun lay. She was holding his scratched hand. She lowered her head in regret.

"Park Soo Hyun, I'm really sorry," Soo said quietly.

"Never mind, it's not your fault," said Dae Hyun who was already sitting beside her. He rubbed Soo Yin's shoulder gently. If it wasn't for compulsion, he definitely wouldn't have let Soo Yin hold her brother's hand. But Soo Yin was right, if at this time, he can't prioritize his ego.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 351 - 351 - Jean's Arrival

A week had passed since the accident that happened to Park Soo Hyun. Although the condition of his organs had improved but until now he had not opened his eyes.

The position of hotel director was now back in Dae Hyun's hands at the request of the board of directors. Although his uncle wanted to replace him, but everyone did not agree.

Dae Hyun can't help but have to accept it even though he felt very reluctant. Because that position made it even more difficult for his relationship with Soo Yin.

In his long sleep, Park Soo Hyun did occasionally mention Soo Yin's name even though it only sounded faint.

Tonight as usual, Soo Yin just arrived at the hospital. Every time she went to the hospital she always brought a bouquet of flowers which she placed on the nightstand beside the bed where Park Soo Hyun lay.

"Soo Yin, you've come." Mrs. Park smiled warmly every time Soo Yin came. Welcomed her with open arms. Unlike Aeri who immediately put on a sour face when Soo Yin came.

"Now mother should go home. Let me take care of him," said Soo Yin.

"Thank you, dear. You are still loyal to accompany Park Soo Hyun," said Mrs Park, she was full of hope that Soo Yin was indeed a God-sent goddess of help to her family.

Soo Yin only smiled faintly. The good thing was, Li Sa just left. If not, it might be a mess.

"Alright, we go home first," said Mrs. Park then stepped out with Aeri.

Soo Yin preferred to accompany Park Soo Hyun alone or with Dae Hyun. It made her very uncomfortable. So she chose the time at night. If during the day there will be a lot of Mrs. Park's family who came to visit.

Tonight, Dae Hyun might be late because he was having a meeting at the hotel. Like the previous nights, Soo Yin always invited Park Soo Hyun to talk according to the doctor's directions.

Soo Yin was used to seeing him close his eyes. It was not like the beginning, which she was always sad and wanted to cry because of the guilt. Now Soo Yin no longer blamed herself because Dae Hyun always convinced her.

"How are you? Did you have a good day?" asked Soo Yin as she shifted the chair to take a seat. Even though Park Soo Hyun didn't answer but it didn't matter. The most important thing was to always give something positive.

"Get up, Jean will be here soon. You must be happy to meet her," said Soo Yin.

Jean was just being able to visit him because she had just returned from her mother's village.

"You should know, if Jean is someone who loves you very much. She's sorry for not having time to come," said Soo Yin while stroking Park Soo Hyun's hair so gently.

Beep...

A message came in.

[Soo Yin, I'm already in front of the room] Jean.

Soo Yin didn't reply to Jean's message.

"Wait a minute, Jean is here." Before stepping out, Soo Yin spoke a little to Park Soo Hyun.

"Hey Jean, come on in," said Soo Yin as she grabbed her wrist.

Jean looked around the room. Looking for someone else there besides Soo Yin. Jean was self-aware enough to be there that she didn't dare to come if there's another member of his family.

"Relax, no one else is inside," said Soo Yin. She could see worry out of the corner of her eye.

Jean nodded her head, then followed Soo Yin's footsteps towards the bed. Even before she arrived, Jean's tears had escaped along with the emptiness she felt.

"Sir" Jean could not contain the feeling of sadness seeing the man she loved so much was lying. His eyes were closed and his lips were pale and it made her chest tightened even more.

Soo Yin pulled out a chair for Jean to sit down. Rubbing her back without saying anything to comfort Jean's heart. Seeing Jean's tears made her guilt grow again.

For her, Park Soo Hyun deserved to love a girl as good as Jean. A girl who had short hair and had dimpled cheeks.

No one knew except Jean if Park Soo Hyun had an accident because she wanted to see him. Dae Hyun didn't allow Soo Yin to tell anyone because things will get more complicated if that happened.

There will be people who didn't like it so they'll say that the cause of the accident was because of Soo Yin.

"Sir, how could you be like this?" said Jean in between sobs that were so pitiful that it could shake the soul of anyone who heard it.

"Get up, I beg you," Jean said with quivering lips.

Soo Yin couldn't bear to hear it so she chose to leave the room. She slowly closed the door and sat down in a chair not far away.

Her eyes sparkled again when she saw the figure of her husband walking down the corridor. Dae Hyun's presence always made her calm and didn't think about bad things.

Likewise Dae Hyun who was after seeing his wife, the feeling of tiredness after working all day slowly disappeared. Park Soo Hyun's absence at the hotel made his work more and more time-consuming. Plus the absence of Soo Yin, his enthusiasm while working was getting less and less exciting.

Soo Yin welcomed Dae Hyun's arrival with a smile. She wanted to give him a warm hug but Soo Yin reluctant to do so. It was too dangerous there for fear that someone would suddenly caught them.

"Why are you here?" Dae Hyun said while stroking Soo Yin's hair.

"There's Jean inside, I don't want to disturb her. Did you have dinner?"

"I don't have an appetite because I want to eat you more," Dae Hyun teased with a mischievous smile.

Soo Yin glared at Dae Hyun. At times like this, he was still joking.

"I'm just joking. Let's have dinner first," said Dae Hyun before Soo Yin got angry at what he said. The goal was only so that there was no tension that continued to occur between them after Park Soo Hyun's accident. The past few days, Soo Yin had always been gloomy.

Soo Yin nodded her head as her hand pinched Dae Hyun's waist. Before leaving, she had texted Jean if they were going out for a while.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 352 - 352 - Feeling Left Out

Soo Yin walked side by side with Dae Hyun until they arrived at the restaurant opposite the hospital. To be honest, Dae Hyun really missed his little wife because the last few days they rarely ate together.

Her time was often spent to wait for Park Soo Hyun. Although he often accompanied her, Dae Hyun felt that now his wife often kept her distance.

Tonight Dae Hyun ordered a more closed place to eat so that they could more freely without fear of anyone seeing them.

Now they were sitting around a table that was not too high.

"Honey, can you not pay too much attention to Park Soo Hyun?" Dae Hyun said with a flat face. Every time he saw his wife talking so sweetly to his brother, his chest felt tight.

"Why? Are you jealous?" Soo Yin asked bluntly. She sometimes wonders about her husband.

Dae Hyun sighed softly as he turned his face the other way. Even though they were together almost every night, Soo Yin always slept on the chair beside Park Soo Hyun.

Soo Yin chuckled at her childlike husband. She actually admitted that lately there was almost no time for Dae Hyun.

"Didn't I tell you not to put your ego forward? Park Soo Hyun's recovery is very important. Do you want your mother to be sad all the time?" Soo Yin said. Spoke quite calmly.

"That's not an excuse for you to reduce your time with me. I even feel that you are more understanding to him," said Dae Hyun.

"Aren't we always together every night?" Soo Yin frowned.

"We are always together but you always sleep beside Park Soo Hyun." Dae Hyun snorted in annoyance at Soo Yin's insensitivity to his feelings.

Dae Hyun's annoyance grew even more as his divorce trial had to be canceled indefinitely. It was impossible for him to add the problem while his family was experiencing a disaster. At least he also still needed Aeri at this time to help to take care of his mother.

Their conversation was cut off when the waiters came in with their orders. After that, they ate in silence. Soo Yin kept thinking to understand what her husband meant. It felt like sleeping near Park Soo Hyun wasn't something wrong. They didn't do anything either.

"Honey, tomorrow accompany me to the bookstore," said Soo Yin when she saw Dae Hyun who silently was ruffling his food.

"Hmmm," said the man nonchalantly.

Soo Yin thrust a spoon filled with food into Dae Hyun's mouth. At first, Dae Hyun was reluctant to open his mouth but slowly, he finally agreed after seeing Soo Yin's smiling face that was so adorable.

Soo Yin continued to feed Dae Hyun until the food ran out. She admitted her changed attitude due to her guilt towards Park Soo Hyun.

Even Soo Yin also rarely felt his warm embrace now. No wonder Dae Hyun felt left out.

They have finished eating. Dae Hyun only spoke a few words. Didn't want to talk too much because it will inevitably lead to a dispute between them. He will try to think positively if Soo Yin paid attention to Park Soo Hyun out of pity.

After eating, Dae Hyun took Soo Yin back to the hospital. Pity with Jean who was waiting alone. Just when Dae Hyun stood up, Soo had stopped him. She tiptoed a little and then kissed the man's lips briefly. Feeling her face heat up with embarrassment, Soo Yin hid her face in Dae Hyun's chest. Her hands were wrapped around his waist. Hugged him very tightly.

Dae Hyun was quite surprised by Soo Yin's actions. But it can't be denied if this made his mood better. The half-month withered flower now was blooming again in less than a minute.

"Don't be angry anymore. I did all of that because of mom, not because of your brother," said Soo Yin.

"Maybe I should be angry often so that I always get a sweet kiss as a gift," said Dae Hyun who was already able to laugh.

"If you're angry, I won't do it again," Soo Yin said while inhaling her husband's scent. It felt like she wanted to linger like this for a long time.

Dae Hyun felt the warmth of Soo Yin's body that he hadn't felt in a long time after being on Geoje Island.

"Honey, I really miss you," said Dae Hyun. His lips continued to rest on the top of Soo Yin's head.

"Me too, it feels like I haven't felt like this in a long time," said Soo Yin. It was as if they had been separated for a long time.

"Tomorrow you don't have to go to the bookstore. I'm going to the villa tomorrow," Dae Hyun said.

"Why though?"

"Don't ask too many questions. We'd better get back to the hospital. Sorry for Jean who's waiting too long." Dae Hyun let go of his hand slowly.

"Okay," said Soo Yin.

Before returning to the hospital, Soo Yin first bought food for Jean. After coming home from the trip, maybe she hadn't had dinner yet.

o o o o o o o

When he arrived at the hospital room, Jean had not moved from her seat. Her eyes were still puffy and swollen. It was obvious that she was devastated and afraid of losing Park Soo Hyun.

Soo Yin felt that her sadness all this time was just a fake. Her tears weren't even sincere when compared to Jean's.

Jean rubbed her eyes realizing the arrival of Soo Yin and Dae Hyun.

"Jean, eat first. You must not have eaten," said Soo Yin as she held out the food she bought.

"Ah, thank you. You shouldn't have to bother like this," said Jean.

"No bother at all," Soo Yin said.

"Sir, can I join to watch over Mr. Park Soo Hyun here tonight?" Jean said while looking at Dae Hyun.

"Of course, you can wait for him. You can come every night with us if you want," Dae Hyun said with a smile.

"Is it true?" Jean's face lit up. Although her love was one sided love, but Jean wanted to see Park Soo Hyun wake up.

"You can also come here if my mother is here," Dae Hyun said.

"No thanks. I'll come here if you guys are around," Jean said quickly.

Dae Hyun was grateful for the existence of Jean so that Soo Yin didn't have to wait and sleep beside Park Soo Hyun like the previous nights.

"I will accompany you here," Soo Yin said as she sat beside Jean.

Dae Hyun just felt happy, it turned out that Soo Yin actually wanted to stay there with Jean.

"No need, you'd better be with your husband. Look at his sullen face. I didn't expect Mr. Dae Hyun to be like that when he was near you. Even though at the hotel he looks very perfect with all of his attitudes," Jean whispered in Soo Yin's ear while glancing at Dae Hyun.

"He's really jealous because the past few days I've always slept here," Soo Yin said with a chuckle.

"Don't talk about me," Dae Hyun said. He could faintly hear the conversation between the two women.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 353 - 353 - Will Always Love You

Soo Yin and Jean immediately fell silent hearing Dae Hyun's words. Jean was surprised at how possessive her boss was of her best friend.

"I want to rest," Dae Hyun said then walked out.

"Soo Yin, go. I'll be waiting here alone. Besides, you must be tired after almost every night in here," Jean said while looking at Park Soo Hyun's face which was still closing his eyes tightly.

"Yes, if there is something happen, call me immediately," said Soo Yin.

Soo Yin followed Dae Hyun into a quiet alley. Actually she felt a bit goosebumps. It was really annoying when all of his childish nature had came out.

Soo Yin sat on the chair right next to Dae Hyun and pinched his nose a few times but he remained silent without responding to what Soo Yin was doing. He was lying on his back with his arms folded across his chest.

"Okay, if you are like this. Will come back to accompany Jean," Soo Yin threatened because she was annoyed that she didn't get a response.

Just a step about to turn around, Dae Hyun already gripped her wrist tightly.

"Stay here," Dae Hyun said hoarsely.

"Sleep here." Dae Hyun sat down and patted his lap. He wanted Soo Yin to lay her head there.

Soo Yin glanced around the hospital hallway. She shuddered.

"What if someone finds out? This place is very quiet," Soo Yin said while rubbing her arm.

"That's why I chose this place. It's very quiet here so no one will see us," explained Dae Hyun.

"Then what if Jean needs our help?" Soo Yin said with a stiff face.

"She'll definitely call you later."

"But...."

"No need to protest, lie down quickly. I don't want you to get sick. It's already night, time to sleep," Dae Hyun said while shifting his body slightly to the side.

Soo Yin was forced to comply with her husband's request. As long as they didn't do anything, it seemed fine. She just slept on Dae Hyun's lap. Coincidentally, she was also sleepy. Several days of sleeping in a sitting position also made her body feel sore.

Soo Yin had already laid her body on her side. Her eyes did not want to close because she felt anxious if suddenly Mrs. Park saw them.

"Sleep, there's no one here," Dae Hyun whispered as he rubbed the top of Soo Yin's head. Stroked her hair gently to calm her down.

Soo Yin wanted to sit back down but Dae Hyun forbade her. She also felt sorry for Dae Hyun who should be sleeping in a sitting position.

"Sleep, don't worry about me," said Dae Hyun

Soo Yin finally gave in and started to close her eyes.

oooooooo

Jean was still awake accompanying Park Soo Hyun. There was a special happiness that she felt when she was with the man she loved. Even though the man couldn't feel her presence, but being able to see his face up close already made her happy.

Can hold his long fingers. Although from the deepest recesses, Jean was very sad to see him lying like that.

"Sir, I know if you never love me. But I beg you to let me be near you for now," said Jean. Her eyes heated up again. The pain was back to her heart. If God allowed it, she wanted Park Soo Hyun to be her first and last love.

"This feeling of love will never disappear from my heart even if you don't love me back." Jean smiled faintly, tears still dripping from the corners of her eyes.

The night was getting late, the atmosphere at the hospital was also getting quieter. Just being alone in a state of being awake made Jean's skin crawl.

In the early hours of the morning, Jean couldn't help but feeling sleepy. Her eyes were too heavy to hold on so she slowly closed her eyes.

◦

◦

The morning sun slowly entered through the gap in the glass window. The light dazzled Jean's eyes so she stretched her arm muscles.

From outside came the sound of footsteps. As usual, if morning like this, Mrs. Park will come to take turns waiting for Park Soo Hyun. This time, she came with Park Ji Hoon.

Last night, they forgot to lock the door so as soon as the knob was turned, they immediately frowned.

Mrs. Park stepped in with a frown. Because the girl who was sleeping next to Park Soo Hyun didn't look like Soo Yin.

Slowly she stepped closer and began to observe her face. Mrs. Park judged that her face was very familiar. The woman had met Jean when they were in the Pyongyang maternity hospital. So she can remember her even though it was still vague.

"Jean," Mrs. Park called.

The middle-aged woman's voice managed to make Jean startled until she almost fell from her chair. She felt awkward and stood up, while she was clutching her chest.

"Madam," Jean said with her eyes opened wide. Her heart continued to beat erratically.

"Where are Soo Yin and Dae Hyun?" Mrs. Park asked while looking around.

"Ah, they...they...." Jean really didn't know what to say. She herself didn't know where they were right now.

"What's wrong, honey?" Park Ji Hoon just arrived. He felt that something was wrong. Especially when he looked at Jean who looked restless and nervous.

Park Ji Hoon was sure that Dae Hyun was currently with Soo Yin somewhere.

"Tell me where they are? Why are you here alone?" Mrs. Park said.

"Hmmm" Jean was really shaking at the moment. She was afraid Mrs. Park would find out that Soo Yin is with Dae Hyun.

"Let me look for them, while looking for breakfast for Jean," said Park Ji Hoon to divert the conversation so as not to look for his son and daughter-in-law.

"Just let me look for them," Mrs Park said.

"No need, you better be here to accompany Jean," persuaded Park Ji Hoon.

Mrs Park finally agreed to stay in the room.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 354 - 354 - Almost Caught

Park Ji Hoon tried to call Dae Hyun's cell phone number. But unfortunately it was not answered.

"Where are those two? Why do they always act recklessly." Park Ji Hoon started to grumble. Currently he was walking in the back hallway of the hospital.

Park Ji Hoon could see his son and daughter-in-law together in a rather dark alley.

He quickly walked over to the two of them. Seeing that they were still sleeping, Park Ji Hoon couldn't bear to wake them up. But if his wife found out, they were all finished.

Soo Yin rubbed her eyes as she yawned, slowly she was sitting up when she vaguely saw a man standing not far from where they were.

"What time is it now?" Soo Yin raised both her hands. Stretch it out to stretch the muscles of her body.

"Soo Yin, wake up quickly," said Park Ji Hoon in a hoarse voice.

"Father?" Soo Yin immediately widened her eyes and then shook Dae Hyun's body to wake him up. But the man just squirmed a little then fell asleep again. Dae Hyun wasn't usually like that.

"What are you doing here? Do you want your Mother to be shocked to see you? No need to look for trouble in a complicated situation like this," said Park Ji Hoon.

Hearing a loud voice, Dae Hyun opened his eyes.

"Hurry to the room before my wife looks for you." Park Ji Hoon chose to leave the two of them. He didn't want to have a conversation with them.

"Dae Hyun, I'm going to see mom right now. We can't come together," said Soo Yin.

Dae Hyun was about to stop Soo Yin but his wife was already moving very fast.

Soo Yin caught her breath and opened the door to the room.

"Good morning, Mom," Soo Yin greeted with a faint smile. She was tidying her messy hair as she just woke up.

"Soo Yin, you're back?" Mrs. Park felt weird about Soo Yin who looked like a mess.

"Sorry, Mom. I was gone for a while," said Soo Yin nonchalantly.

"Then where is Dae Hyun? Don't you see him?" asked Mrs. Park.

"N... no, Mom," Soo Yin stuttered.

"Well, if he comes here tell him not to leave first. I'll catch up with my husband for a while," said Mrs. Park.

"Sorry, if I bother you," continued Mrs. Park with a sad face as she was turning to look at Park Soo Hyun whose breathing was still regular.

Jean and Soo Yin nodded their heads in turn.

"Not at all, Mom," Soo Yin said hastily.

"Stay here, I'll order breakfast for you all."

After chatting for a bit, finally Mrs. Park left the room. Jean and Soo Yin could breathe a sigh of relief. Soo Yin then threw their bodies on the sofa.

"Almost." Soo Yin held her chest breathlessly. It felt more tired than running around the field.

"Where did you sleep?" asked Jean.

"We spent the night in the very back hallway of this hospital. I feel so ashamed of Mr. Park." Soo Yin covered her face with her palms remembering her father-in-law caught them.

"Hmmm, you guys didn't do anything, did you?" asked Jean.

"Nothing, I just slept on Dae Hyun's lap," said Soo Yin.

The door creaked. Dae Hyun slowly entered the room while looking around to look for his parents.

"Where's Mother?" Dae Hyun asked.

"Mother is going after father," said Soo Yin.

"Next time I will not do what you want. I am very ashamed of father," said Soo Yin.

"I'm just trying to make you sleep soundly. Look at your eyes that look like pandas from lack of sleep," Dae Hyun said with a flat face. He glanced at his brother who was still unconscious. There was a deep longing on a morning like this. He missed when they had breakfast together.

'Park Soo Hyun, wake up. Let's compete in a healthy way to get close to my wife. Don't cheat like this,' Dae Hyun thought with a sigh. Even though they rarely got along and often argued, Dae Hyun was very sad.

Soo Yin studied Dae Hyun's gloomy face. Both his eyes looked shady when he saw his brother. Regretted that last night Soo Yin had accused him of something bad. She was doubtful if her husband didn't feel sad at all.

"Mother said don't go home first. She's buying breakfast for us," said Soo Yin.

"Hmm," Dae Hyun said.

Soo Yin immediately went to the bathroom to wash her face. After being able to sleep well for the night, now her body was much fresher. It was true that rest was very important.

Not long after, Mrs. Park was already carrying several packages in her hands with Park Ji Hoon walking behind her. Mrs. Park often complained that she wanted to eat with her son that's why while Aeri who always made a fuss wasn't there, Park Ji Hoon wanted them to have breakfast together.

Usually Dae Hyun and Soo Yin left the hospital after the doctor came to check. But this time Dae Hyun was still there according to his mother's request.

Mrs. Park had spread out mats on the floor so they could all eat there. Just saw the food, Mrs. Park was not in the mood. She then invited everyone to gather and have breakfast together.

"Honey, you have to eat," said Park Ji Hoon while thrusting food into his wife's mouth. But the middle-aged woman shook her head slowly.

"Mother, you should have breakfast first. So that when Park Soo Hyun wakes up he won't be sad to see Mother like this," Dae Hyun coaxed softly.

After several persuasion, Mrs. Park wanted to eat even if only a few mouthfuls. Dae Hyun can understand that his mother was very worried about his brother's condition. Luckily it had been a few days that she was no longer crying.

Soo Yin and Jean looked at each other. They were actually also reluctant to join the breakfast but Park Ji Hoon asked for it. It would be rude to refuse Even if they only ate a little.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 355 - 355 - Is He Your Lover?

Not long after, the doctor checked him, starting from his heart rate which began to stabilize, his blood pressure was also normal.

"How is my son, Doctor? Will he wake up soon?" said Mrs. Park, hoped that the doctor will have some good news about his son. Half a month was a very long time for her. She missed Park Soo Hyun who liked to joke with the little things.

"Actually there is an improvement in the condition of his body and other vital organs but we can't say for sure when he will wake up," the doctor said.

"Then I have to go see another patient," said the doctor, who had been there for half an hour.

"Thank you, Doc," Park Ji Hoon said.

The male doctor named Wang smiled and left the room. Every time he checked Park Soo Hyun, he actually didn't have the heart to give too high hopes for his family. But it was also impossible for him to break the spirit of the woman who had given birth to him.

"Park Soo Hyun, wake up quickly," said Mrs. Park while stroking his son's hair. She sat on a chair with her eyes always fixed on Park Soo Hyun.

"Be patient, I'm sure he'll wake up soon." Every day, Park Ji Hoon tried to strengthen his wife.

After making sure the Doctor was out, Jean and Soo Yin took turns going into the room to say goodbye to go home. While Dae Hyun had already gone out first.

"Mother, we go home first," Soo Yin said with a heavy sigh.

"Okay, honey. Thank you for being willing to comply with my request to accompany Park Soo Hyun every night," Mrs. Park said while holding Soo Yin's hands.

"It's okay, Mother," Soo Yin said. She did her best to etched a small smile on her lips.

"I'm going home too, madam," said Jean.

"Thank you too, Jean. You want to accompany Soo Yin even though you are not too close to Park Soo Hyun," said Mrs. Park who looked at Jean's downcast eyes.

Jean just nodded her head nervously.

Before leaving, Soo Yin took her bag and coat. Just as they closed the door to leave, Shin-hye came with her husband.

Shin-hye seemed to remember Soo Yin's face that seemed familiar in her eyes. They had met several times.

"Good morning, Auntie," Soo Yin greeted kindly.

"Aren't you Park Soo Hyun's lover?" Shin-hye started to remember that it was Soo Yin who came to Hyun Bin's wedding at that time.

Soo Yin only smiled faintly, didn't dare to respond to Shin-hye's words.

"Be patient, Park Soo Hyun will surely wake up soon. He is very lucky to have a lover like you who is always faithful to accompany him," said Shin-hye while patting Soo Yin's shoulder.

It was as if something hard had stabbed into Soo Yin's heart. It was a very inappropriate compliment to her. Instead she felt that here the person who should be responsible for Park Soo Hyun was her. However, Soo Yin wouldn't dare to say it because she was too cowardly.

"You must be tired after waiting here last night. Now go home and rest," said Shin-hye.

"Thank you, Auntie. Then we go home first," said Soo Yin.

As she passed through the corridors and elevators to the lower floors, Soo Yin remained silent and gloomy. She didn't say a word even though Jean was with her.

"Soo Yin, don't feel guilty like that. Maybe God has arranged it," Jean said to give a little support.

"Thank you, Jean. You are my true best friend," said Soo Yin. She really felt ashamed of Jean about last night.

Soo Yin thought Dae Hyun had already returned to the UN Village. But apparently the man was still in the parking lot. He sat in the front of the car, while squinting his eyes to block out the glare of the sun.

Soo Yin walked over to her husband, maybe there was something he wanted to say before going home.

"Why aren't you home yet?" Soo Yin asked while frowning.

"Of course I'm waiting for you," said Dae Hyun with his arms folded across his chest.

"I thought you left first," said Soo Yin, Then she turned to Jean.

"Jean, come home with us," Soo Yin said.

"No need, I better go home alone because I want to go somewhere. You guys be careful on the road," said Jean.

Before Soo Yin could answer, Jean had already walked quickly out of the hospital area. Stood on the side of the road waiting for the taxi to come. It wasn't long before the taxi stopped in front of her so Jean got in and left them.

Soo Yin just sighed softly while observing Jean, the taxi she was riding slowly couldn't be seen. Already drove through the streets of early morning in Seoul.

"Let's go home, I still want to sleep," Dae Hyun said. Then he opened the door for Soo Yin to get into the car.

It was a coincidence that he didn't come to work today so Dae Hyun used it to rest at the Pyeongchang-dong villa. He didn't want to go back to the UN Village because yesterday he had just been there to see his son.

Soo Yin was silent as Dae Hyun ordered to get into the car.

The car was now slowly moving on the highway, Dae Hyun didn't dare to drive his car too fast because Soo Yin was with him. So the he drove the car very slowly. After the accident that happened to Park Soo Hyun, he was a little more careful if he brought someone else with him, especially if it was his wife.

"Why so slow?" Soo Yin grumbled.

The car had been driving for half an hour but they were still halfway distance to get to the Pyeongchang-dong villa. Even though at normal speed they should have arrived.

"Be patient for a moment, I just want to be careful," Dae Hyun said without turning his face to Soo Yin. His gaze was fixed on the front.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 356 - 356 - Too Slow

"Don't exaggerating it. Drive as usual, this car is even slower than a snail," Soo Yin said while pursing her lips. She wanted to hurry home to clean herself up.

"It's okay to be slow, the most important thing is that we get home safely," said Dae Hyun flatly without any intention of increasing his speed.

"Are you always like this now when you drive?" Soo Yin was already getting emotional.

"No, I only did it today because you were in the car with me."

"Dae Hyun, please increase the speed a little so that we can arrive quickly," Soo Yin whined impatiently. She noticed that the car they were in was slower than the cyclist. Some cyclists even overtake their car.

"Be patient, you can sleep again if you're bored," Dae Hyun said.

Soo Yin finally gave up because she was reluctant to argue with her husband. She didn't care of what time they will arrive at the villa.

ooooo

Throughout the journey Soo Yin sat restlessly, her face looked sullen. After an hour they finally arrived at the Pyeongchang-dong villa. Soo Yin slammed the car door hard as she wanted to go to the toilet.

She walked into the house first without caring about Dae Hyun who shouted for her to walk carefully.

"Why are you running, Miss?" asked Aunt Xia who was cleaning.

"I just want to pee, Auntie. I almost couldn't hold it in," Soo Yin said, while glancing at her husband who wore a flat expression. Surprised because he followed her towards the back.

"Will Miss and Master have breakfast?" Aunt Xia asked.

"No, Auntie. We've had breakfast, but if you're going to cook it's better for lunch," said Soo Yin.

She had only eaten so little that she might soon feel hungry.

"Okay, Miss."

Soo Yin stepped past her husband who was just standing by the dining table. After the accident that happened to his brother, Soo Yin felt that Dae Hyun was more silent. He wasn't as usual, when he always talked more when he was with her.

Soo Yin threw her body on the bed for a moment, even though she had intended to take a shower. Usually Soo Yin would fall asleep immediately after coming home from the hospital. However, since she had slept last night, her eyes were not yet sleepy.

Dae Hyun also laid down beside Soo Yin. His eyes looked up at the ceiling. In recent days, Dae Hyun had rarely returned to the villa for fear of disturbing Soo Yin's rest. Since she had slept last night, now he didn't have to worry anymore.

They were silent with each other's thoughts. Until Soo Yin turned to her husband. The feeling of rage still lingered in her heart.

"What's wrong with looking at me like that? Do you miss me?" Dae Hyun said, still in his position.

Soo Yin immediately turned her face and turned her body to face the other way with her back to Dae Hyun.

Dae Hyun who now turned his head and reached out to link their fingers together. Right now he felt like he wanted to complaint about a very unfair life. The path that must be taken to be with Soo Yin seemed to still be long.

Even though Soo Yin never complained about her status, Dae Hyun felt anxious if Soo Yin wanted to leave him.

"Soo Yin, how about we go far now from here?" Dae Hyun said to break the silence.

Soo Yin then turned around.

"Are you crazy? Park Soo Hyun hasn't even conscious yet, what if mother's gets sick too? Can't you see her body is already thin now?" Soo Yin said while glancing at her husband who remained calm.

Soo Yin's purpose in accepting her mother-in-law's request was not solely because of Park Soo Hyun but she also felt sorry for Mrs. Park who sometimes lost her hope.

"I'm worried that if Park Soo Hyun wakes up it will make it difficult for us to be together," Dae Hyun said while gulping his saliva.

"There's no way that would happen. In fact, if we leave now then your extended family will be very difficult. Mother will definitely be shocked and have more thoughts."

Dae Hyun sighed heavily as he closed his eyes so he could think logically and act rationally.

"I do want us to be together. But I don't want it if there's trouble trailing behind it." Soo Yin tilted her body and then wrapped her arms around Dae Hyun's chest. Gently rubbed it to give it a touch there.

"If waiting is no problem, surely it will take a long time because it seems like trouble always comes as if it wants to separate us." Dae Hyun expressed his frantic feelings. He thought that after divorcing Aeri he could be free, but in fact Park Soo Hyun was also trying to hinder their happiness.

"Believe me, we will not be separated. For the time being just live life like flowing water. I don't want to make mother feel sad," said Soo Yin. She only imagined that if one day she became a mother, she would be worried about the lives of her sons and daughters.

"Since when my sweet wife can think maturely?" Dae Hyun chuckled to break the seriousness between them.

"Every time I want to do it," Soo Yin said lightly.

"I love you more if you're always like this," Dae Hyun said as he hugged his wife again.

"Next time don't drive like a snail again. Don't you think you're tired of being in the car all the time?" Just got compliments for her sweet demeanor. Now Soo Yin had behaved as before.

"Didn't I say that I didn't want anything to happen to you," Dae Hyun said to repeat his words.

"It's true, but if it's like that then it will only be a waste of time on the trip," said Soo Yin. Her hands unconsciously now infiltrated Dae Hyun's shirt.

"Can your hands stop playing around?" Dae Hyun said. The touch of Soo Yin's finger really bothered him.

Realizing that what she did had awakened the sleeping bear, Soo Yin immediately withdrew her hand.

"Accompany me to the bookstore, it looks like I'll be going to college soon," Soo Yin said. At least before entering, she had prepared herself by reading more books.

"Not for today. If you want, we'll just go to the bookstore tomorrow," said Dae Hyun.

"Why though?" Soo Yin tilted her head slightly to look at Dae Hyun with her lips slightly forward.

"Today I want to spend time with you at the villa. Don't you miss me?"

Very quickly now Dae Hyun turned Soo Yin's body so that currently Soo Yin's position was under his confinement. He grabbed both of her hands so she couldn't wriggle.

Soo Yin felt her heart was beating wildly in an uncontrollable way. Their breaths against each other's faces. Soo Yin's heart pounded even more when Dae Hyun looked at her.

"Aren't we always together every night?" Soo Yin said, pretended not to realize what Dae Hyun meant.

"Indeed we are always together but we are always far apart. Only last night that we were close," Dae Hyun said when their lips were very close.

"Auntie," Soo Yin said to distract Dae Hyun from his grip.

Dae Hyun stretched his grip then turned towards the door. It was used by Soo Yin to escape.

"I wanna clean myself first." Having managed to escape, Soo Yin rushed to the bathroom and closed the door tightly.

"You naughty wife!" Dae Hyun said. He chose to lie back on the bed.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 357 - 357 -

Her intention to go to the bookstore must fail because Dae Hyun didn't even let Soo Yin get out of bed. After entering the room since coming home, they hadn't come out at all.

Aunt Xia who had already prepared lunch didn't even dare to interfere. She knew that her current employers were rarely together. Also understood about the passion of love that was heating up.

Soo Yin's head wobbled a bit after being exhausted from their love union. Soo Yin wrapped her body with a blanket in a condition that was already red from the ownership stamp that Dae Hyun made.

Soo Yin then put her feet on the floor to change seats in front of the mirror. She was horrified to see her chest through the mirror. Like being exposed to a disease or insect bites to made him shudder.

"Where are you going?" said Dae Hyun in a hoarse voice, his hand was reaching out to hold Soo Yin's wrist.

"I want to take a shower," Soo Yin said as she tried to release her wrist. Then she dragged her feet shuffling towards the bathroom, every time they did, her body felt crushed.

Dae Hyun sat while he was leaning on the head of the bed. He looked at the clock, it was already four in the afternoon. Without realising, time went by so fast. Even though it felt like he had just been in the villa for a while.

They had a few more hours to rest. After that they had to take turns with his parents to look after Park Soo Hyun.

Half an hour later Soo Yin was out of the bathroom.

"Get up, don't you want to take a shower. You haven't even showered since this morning," Soo Yin grumbled while looking at her husband who was still lying on the bed. Looked very lazy even though he was usually the diligent one.

"I've been showering with sweat," Dae Hyun said, while opening his eyes slightly.

"Ughhh!" Soo Yin cursed.

"If you are tired, you should not come to the hospital tonight," said Dae Hyun.

"No, I'm fine. I'll ask Jean to accompany me again," said Soo Yin. She sat in front of the mirror, dried her hair with a hair dryer.

"Don't feel so guilty, you need to rest too." Dae Hyun who was still shirtless shifted his body closer to Soo Yin.

"Don't mess around," said Soo Yin before Dae Hyun brought his face to her shoulder.

"Honey, I still miss you," Dae Hyun whined.

Soo Yin turned her face while glaring at Dae Hyun.

"Don't have to be lecherous anymore. Can't you see the red marks on my neck? It won't even go away for two days," Soo Yin said as she pursed her lips forward.

"Didn't I just say that I missed you? Was there something wrong with my words?" Dae Hyun said with a smile. If he laughed, Soo Yin will definitely get angry.

"Never mind, forget it. Now go to clean up. After dinner we will go to the hospital," said Soo Yin as she stood up.

"Then where are you going?"

"I want to go out. Don't you realize that we haven't been anywhere since then? Just in the room, I need to breathe a fresh air," Soo Yin said. She stopped for a while, then stepped out.

"Alright, I'll catch up after I'm done showering."

Soo Yin went to the garden behind the villa. She had not seen the plants there for several days.

It turned out that there was Chung Ho there who seemed to be planting something in a pot. Thanked to him because the garden looked much more beautiful with very neatly arranged pots.

"Chung Ho, what are you planting?" asked Soo Yin as she walked over to him.

"I only cultivate lavender plants, Miss," Chung Ho said. His hands were struggling with the planting medium.

"May I help?" Soo Yin then crouched down in front of the man.

"Of course, Miss," said Chung Ho. Even though he was still young, he really liked to plant things. So on the sidelines of his work, he decided to make the small garden much more beautiful.

After finishing bathing Dae Hyun followed his wife. He was now leaning sideways in the middle of the door. Seeing his little wife who looked very engrossed in farming with Chung Ho. He then approached them while carrying two bottles of mineral water, maybe they were thirsty. He sat on a bench not too far away.

Chung Ho kept his distance from Soo Yin when he saw sharp eyes staring at them.

"Honey, come here," Soo Yin said, while waving her hand.

Dae Hyun just stayed where he was. Shook his crossed legs which were overlapping each other. He didn't really like doing things like that.

"Come on, let's go inside. It's getting late," said Dae Hyun.

"In a moment, wait until the sun goes down," said Soo Yin. The back of the villa faced directly into the green view of the trees. Soo Yin never felt bored being there alone.

Soo Yin rubbed her itchy face with her hands that hit the ground, smearing her cheeks.

"Miss, you'd better go in. It's late, let me continue on my own," said Chung Ho.

"Okay." Soo Yin obeyed then approached her husband.

"Look at your dirty face because of the soil," said Dae Hyun.

"Stay here, I'll be inside for a bit," Soo Yin asked, then went inside the house to wash her face.

Dae Hyun felt like he wanted to live in peace and quiet with Soo Yin. Wanted to spend more time with Soo Yin. Gave all the attention and affection to her alone. Without worrying about anything disturbing.

Not long after, Soo Yin came back with a cell phone in her hand. She jumped at the sound of the phone ringing that she almost threw it away.

There was a mother's name printed on the cellphone screen. That meant Mrs. Park contacted him. Soo Yin approached Dae Hyun while looking at her cell phone screen.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 358 - 358 - Watching Movies

"Who?" Dae Hyun asked curiously. The reason was that it was rare for anyone to contact Soo Yin if it was not the people around her.

"Mother," Soo Yin said as she was about to land her buttocks on the bench but Dae Hyun first pulled Soo Yin's waist to sit on his lap.

Soo Yin didn't refuse because she was answering the phone.

"Hello, Mother. Did something happen?" asked Soo Yin.

"I'm just telling you not to come to the hospital tonight."

"Why, Mother?" Soo Yin replied quickly and stuttered. She was worried that what happened last night would be known to them.

"You should just rest because tonight many families will stay here," said Mrs. Park.

"All right, Mother. I'll be there tomorrow morning."

After a short conversation, Soo Yin finally hung up the phone and sighed softly.

"What is wrong?" Dae Hyun asked seeing his wife's face which was bent after receiving the call.

"We can't go to the hospital tonight."

"Is it true?" Between happy and sad were what Dae Hyun felt this time.

Soo Yin nodded her head once again.

Dae Hyun hugged Soo Yin who was in his lap very tightly. Finally tonight he can be with her again. Dae Hyun started biting Soo Yin's nape slightly to make the strange sensation come back.

"Dae Hyun, stop, don't keep teasing me," Soo Yin whined as her body felt ticklish.

"Finally tonight we are together again," said Dae Hyun with a face that looked so happy. Although the image of Park Soo Hyun lying down disturbed his mind.

Chung Ho who saw the scene chose to end what he was doing. Seeing them making love made him unable to stand it. Chung Ho can't help but think that Soo Yin had changed so much.

He thought back to how Soo Yin was angry when she first came to the villa. Until several times she tried to escape. It was really unexpected if they currently seemed very well together and looked happy.

=====

It had been two nights that Soo Yin had not visited Park Soo Hyun because Mrs. Park didn't allow her with the excuse of having to rest at home. It added her suspicion.

Tonight, Soo Yin insisted on going without them knowing. But it was a shame because Dae Hyun returned to the Pyeongchang-dong villa after finishing work. Inevitably, Soo Yin cancelled her intention.

Tonight, Dae Hyun was deliberately going home early to the villa. To find out if Soo Yin was now at home and not going to the hospital. The man agreed with his mother for Soo Yin not to go to the hospital first for a while. Although they had different reasons.

Park Soo Hyun's condition had been getting worse since yesterday. If Soo Yin found out, it would definitely cause Soo Yin to feel even more guilty and very sad.

Soo Yin was currently lying on the bed, using Dae Hyun's arm as a cushion.

"Honey, let's go out," Dae Hyun said.

"Where?" Soo Yin asked while furrowing her brows.

"Watch a movie maybe or wherever, now go change your clothes," Dae Hyun said.

Soo Yin felt that something was wrong with her husband's invitation. It was the first time Dae Hyun had asked her to watch a movie after being together for so long. She was still in her position, digested that maybe she had heard wrong or her husband had spoken the wrong way.

"Change by yourself or let me change it?" Dae Hyun whispered sensually in Soo Yin's ear.

Suddenly, it made Soo Yin immediately sit up because of Dae Hyun's breath.

"Are you seriously going to take me to the cinema?" Soo Yin frowned to make sure she had not heard wrong.

"Of course, we're going to watch a romantic movie tonight." Dae Hyun tilted his body with his hands as support.

"Instead of watching it, why don't we just make it?" Soo Yin said without thinking.

"That seems like a good idea." Dae Hyun smiled meaningfully then pulled Soo Yin's wrist so she could lay back into his arms.

"Okay, now we better watch a movie," Soo Yin said as she tried to sit back down and inched to the edge of the bed.

"Then hurry up and change clothes before I do it," Dae Hyun teased with a chuckle.

"Ah, fine. I'll change my clothes by myself," said Soo Yin as she got up from the bed before Dae Hyun actually did what he said.

Dae Hyun chuckled seeing Soo Yin's face reddened with embarrassment just because of his joke.

Dae Hyun also got up from his sleep to find his clothes and get ready. It didn't matter once in a while to go out to the cinema or somewhere else because Soo Yin looked really stressed.

Soo Yin had finished, she wore long pants and a short t-shirt combined with a thick coat wrapped around her body to anticipate the bad weather.

"Are you ready?" Dae Hyun asked when he saw his wife was looking at herself in the mirror. Dae Hyun helped to comb and tie Soo Yin's hair. Made it look neat.

"Where are we going?" Soo Yin asked as she looked at her husband from the mirror reflection. She just applied a light lipstick on her lips.

"Wherever you want. We can go watch a movie or go wherever you want," Dae Hyun said with a smile. He was stroking his wife's hair in a ponytail. With her simple appearance, Dae Hyun couldn't take his eyes off of her.

"Alright, let's go." Soo Yin turned around and took Dae Hyun's arm. Leaned her head there for a moment.

They walked hand in hand down the stairs.

"Are Mr and Miss going to the hospital?" Aunt Xia asked, pretended not to know. Even though she was the one who informed Dae Hyun that Soo Yin had intended to go to the hospital.

"No, Auntie. We just want to go out for a bit," Dae Hyun said first.

"Then have fun," Aunt Xia said.

"Thank you, Auntie," Soo Yin said.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 359 - 359 - Don't Want To Go Anywhere

Dae Hyun drove his car in a moderate speed. It wasn't like a few days ago. Drove the car so slowly that it made Soo Yin grumble all the way. After a bit of arguing, they finally decided to go to Cheonggyecheon Stream because Soo Yin didn't want to watch a movie.

"Honey, I want to know exactly where the accident happened?" Soo Yin asked. Asked about it several times but Dae Hyun wouldn't tell her with a reason that it was not important.

"Why? Are you still curious?" Dae Hyun said.

Soo Yin nodded her head, she just wanted to know if the place was so crowded that an accident was inevitable.

Finally Dae Hyun complied with his wife's request. Past the street where the incident of that night took place. Dae Hyun also told a little of what he knew.

"What about the other victims?" Hearing Dae Hyun's story, Soo Yin's eyes heated up again.

"They were hospitalized for several days before finally...." Dae Hyun didn't continue his speech because he was reminded of Park Soo Hyun's current deteriorating condition. Could have had the same fate as the other victims.

Soo Yin lowered her head, lamenting all the guilt in her heart. If it weren't because of her, the accident would never have happened. Soo Yin kept cursing her stupidity of endangering others.

"Honey, stop blaming yourself again." Dae Hyun reached out a hand to gently stroke Soo Yin's head. Felt sorry that he told her everything.

"Tomorrow I want to go to the hospital. Take me there tomorrow before you leave for work." Soo Yin wiped her slightly dripping tears. Suddenly it occurred to her that something bad had happened to her brother-in-law.

"Hmm," Dae Hyun said. If Park Soo Hyun's condition was still like yesterday he was not sure that he will invite his wife.

"Let's just go home because I don't want to go anywhere." Soo Yin lost her spirit again this time.

Dae Hyun massaged his temples as he kept thinking maybe there was something his little wife liked the most. So that it can make her spirit come back. If she was like that, it was impossible to take her to the hospital tomorrow. It was just going to make her even more stressful.

"Don't you like romantic movies? It just so happens that tonight there will be a new movie. Are you sure you don't want to see it?" Dae Hyun persuaded, maybe Soo Yin changed her mind.

"I don't want to watch it and don't want to go anywhere," said Soo Yin with a straight face.

Dae Hyun complied with his wife's request to turn around. He glanced at Soo Yin, her eyes were filled with tears. It hurt his heart to see Soo Yin continued to feel that guilt. Yet he also took part in it.

Although there were no sobs, Dae Hyun was sure that his wife was going to cry again. Dae Hyun finally pulled his car to the side of the road to calm her down first.

Dae Hyun grabbed her shoulder, then pulled her so that Soo Yin rested her head on his shoulder. He rubbed her gently without saying a word on his lips. Dae Hyun needed time to string the beautiful words that will calm her down. Not the other way around.

"Honey" Dae Hyun sighed heavily, afraid that what he said would make Soo Yin cry even more.

"What if something happens to Park Soo Hyun? What should I do to make amends?" Every time she thought about the man who had not woken up, it made Soo Yin think badly.

"You're innocent, I'm the one to blame. I also asked you to stall for time." Dae Hyun hugged Soo Yin's body who kept sobbing. She looked very shocked because there were victims who had died.

Soo Yin didn't say anything else because of the fear she felt. If she can choose, let her lie down to replace Park Soo Hyun or become another victim.

Dae Hyun tried his best to calm her down. Until half an hour had passed that Soo Yin finally stopped her sobs. Dae Hyun's clothes even got wet.

Now Dae Hyun was driving his car down the street again. Even though she was no longer crying, Soo Yin was still silent.

Dae Hyun thought hard on how to make this night a little bit entertaining for his wife. Only one came to his mind at this point. Maybe going out with Jo Yeon Ho can comfort Soo Yin's heart.

Before going to the UN Village, Dae Hyun first confirmed whether Aeri was at home or not to one of the servants he trusted. It turned out that tonight Aeri had gone to the hospital with Mrs. Park.

Dae Hyun then turned his vehicle towards the UN Village.

"Where are we going?" Soo Yin asked because they passed the road not to the way back to Pyeongchang-dong villa.

"Don't you miss your son?" Dae Hyun asked.

Soo Yin narrowed her eyes, her chaotic state of mind required her to think harder. It took a few moments before she remembered.

"That's right, we haven't even seen each other for a long time," Soo Yin said. Remembering Jo Yeon Ho's cute and adorable face, the sadness that she had been felt these past few days had been slightly diverted.

"Let's take him out. He must be bored because he's always at home," Dae Hyun said. With Jo Yeon Ho as an excuse, his wife will not refuse.

Soo Yin nodded her head without refuting. She forgot about wanting to go home.

Not long after, they finally arrived at the UN Village's yard. As usual, Soo Yin chose not to get out of the car for fear that Aeri would suddenly appear. At the moment she refused to argue with anyone.

In a short time, it turned out that Dae Hyun had succeeded in bringing out his son. Soo Yin then opened the car door to greet him.

"Unnie, I miss you," Jo Yeon Ho said with a happy face.

"Is it true?" Soo Yin pretended not to believe it. She then sat Jo Yeon Ho into her lap.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 360 - 360 - Not Calm

Jo Yeon Ho nodded his head quickly. Since his uncle was in the hospital he only played with his nanny at home.

Everyone in the house didn't allow him to go out because it was too dangerous. Moreover, Mrs. Park was still traumatized. He only occasionally came to the hospital because Aeri didn't allow him. Considering the hospital was not suitable place for children.

"Where are we going tonight?" Jo Yeon Ho tilted his body to the side to slightly face Soo Yin.

"Where do you want to go?" Soo Yin asked back because she didn't have any plans at the moment.

"It's up to Father," said Jo Yeon Ho while looking at Dae Hyun. In the dim light, his little eyeballs could catch Soo Yin's swollen eyes.

"Unnie, why are you crying?" Jo Yeon Ho touched Soo Yin's cheek with his smooth skin. Rubbed it with his little fingers.

"No, my eyes just got dust," Soo Yin said, while rubbing her eyes.

Jo Yeon Ho had never asked about why his father was often with Soo Yin because all he knew was that Soo Yin worked with his father. He didn't suspect anything while the person he was with was as good as Soo Yin.

"Alright, let's continue our journey before it gets too late."

"Where are we going tonight?" Jo Yeon Ho asked curiously.

"It's still a secret, you must really like the place," Dae Hyun said.

During the trip, Dae Hyun kept thinking where was the right place for them to go. The place had to be crowded so that Soo Yin will be entertained and his son will be happy too.

Dae Hyun decided to go to the Lotte World ride. Hoped that tonight he can cheer up his wife and son. Although it was undeniable that at this time his heart was very worried about his brother.

Maybe after dropping them off, he'll go to the hospital tonight.

Jo Yeon Ho's face immediately lit up when he saw the Lotte World signboard that was displayed so clearly in front of their eyes. It was the best indoor or outdoor playground, made it the best place to play no matter what the weather was. It also houses a museum, aquarium and the fifth tallest building in the world.

Even though it wasn't the first time that Soo Yin had come to the place, she was still amazed. She continued to hold Jo Yeon Ho's hand so he wouldn't let go of her grip.

Since they visited at night, Dae Hyun took his wife and son to watch the Let's Dream Knight Parade. Jo Yeon Ho actually wanted to ride various rides but Dae Hyun didn't allow him because it was already night. It was too dangerous to ride a ride full of adrenaline.

Now they had arrived at the parade ground for a spectacular display of lights and fireworks. Featured electronic hot air balloons, flying lanterns, lively costumes, and of course fireworks.

Jo Yeon Ho pranced when he was chosen as one of eight children to take part in the parade and ride the floating ships.

Dae Hyun and Soo Yin continued to hold hands following Jo Yeon Ho wherever he went for fear of losing him.

It was already ten o'clock at night so Dae Hyun took his son home. Jo Yeon Ho didn't seem satisfied but Dae Hyun promised to take him to that place again someday.

While on the way, Jo Yeon Ho and Soo Yin fell asleep, maybe because they were tired after walking around the playground. Dae Hyun first took his son to the UN Village and then escorted Soo Yin.

oooooooooooooooooooo

It was already morning, bright light came in through the windows. Soo Yin fumbled on the bed for Dae Hyun's whereabouts. But her hand didn't touch anything she was looking for. Only the bolster pillow felt against her skin.

With her eyes still closed, Soo Yin thought that Dae Hyun was cleaning himself in the bathroom. So she waited while rolling here and there. After a while, Dae Hyun didn't come out either.

"He's been in the bathroom for a long time," Soo Yin muttered. Felt curious about her husband's whereabouts, Soo Yin shifted her body to the side of the bed and walked towards the bathroom.

Empty. Soo Yin found no one inside. There was not even a trace if the bathroom had just been used.

Soo Yin held her head, tried to remember what happened last night. Until some time, then she remembered that last night they went to a playground with Jo Yeon Ho.

Last night she was so sleepy that she couldn't remember what happened after getting out of the Lotte World ride. Soo Yin didn't even feel it when Dae Hyun carried her body into the room. She was really like numb.

Maybe last night Dae Hyun slept at UN Village because usually Jo Yeon Ho didn't want to be left behind.

Soo Yin thought that this was the right time to visit Park Soo Hyun. Her curiosity increased because Mrs. Park didn't let her to go to the hospital. Whereas previously she was the one who asked to accompany Park Soo Hyun until he was conscious.

Soo Yin immediately got ready so she wouldn't be too late to arrive at the hospital. Before leaving, she did not forget to prepare food to be taken to the hospital. Maybe Mrs. Park wanted to eat breakfast made by her.

"Auntie, is Dae Hyun leaving early?" Soo Yin asked as she placed the bag containing the food on the table.

"Master Dae Hyun immediately left after dropping you, Miss," said Aunt Xia.

"Did he say where to stay?"

"No, Miss. It seems Master was in a very hurry last night. Where did you want to go to bring so much food?" Aunt Xia knitted her brows together.

"I... I want to go to the hotel. I haven't been there for a long time while I was in the hospital. I just wanted to visit," Soo Yin said with a grimace.

Soo Yin was suspicious of the middle-aged woman. Every time she said she would go to the hospital soon, Dae Hyun would come home.

"Well, Auntie. I will get ready," said Soo Yin. Then left the kitchen to get her bag in the room.