

=====

Hallym University Medical Center Hospital.

Soo Yin walked through the hospital corridor with a racing heart. Her heart suddenly felt restless. However, when she was on her way she felt fine. She could feel that something bad might happen.

Soo Yin's steps stopped as the plastic bag in her hand fell when she saw the doctor and nurse entering the ICU. In front of it, she can see Mrs. Park sobbed with Park Ji Hoon who was beside her.

Soo Yin's heart immediately beat erratically. It felt mixed, even though Park Soo Hyun was treated in an ordinary room because his condition was stable. However, he had now been transferred to the ICU. Soo Yin was shocked that no one told her.

"Park Soo Hyun," Soo Yin said softly with tears started to roll down her cheeks. If something happened to Park Soo Hyun then she would confess to Park Ji Hoon's family that she was the one who caused all that. It didn't matter if she had to go to jail.

Soo Yin immediately shook off the bad thoughts that were in her mind this time. She closed her eyes for a moment, tried to think positively. It was not good to think negatively at a time like that.

"Code blue, code blue!"

"Code blue for ICU 2! Code blue for ICU 2!"

The shout made Soo Yin tremble even more, there was no way nothing would happen because there were several doctors in white robes and also several nurses wearing blue clothes ran quickly to Park Soo Hyun's ICU room. They forbade Mrs. Park who forced to see her son's condition.

Soo Yin covered her mouth tightly when she saw that a doctor had climbed onto Park Soo Hyun's body to perform CPR. Several times the defibrillator was used to restore Park Soo Hyun's heartbeat.

Tears couldn't be held back anymore as they streamed down Soo Yin's cheeks. With very heavy steps she approached Mrs. Park who was crying. The woman screamed to be released from Park Ji Hoon's grip. Soo Yin's heart was really sad to see her condition.

Dae Hyun saw his wife who suddenly came and her face looked pale. Quickly helped Soo Yin to sit with her mother.

So this was why they were hiding these few days, until Soo Yin was not allowed to go to the hospital.

Now everyone continued to wait at the door. They kept pacing in front of the ICU room. If someone had entered the ICU, the chances of awakening were very thin. That's why Dae Hyun's family put Park Soo Hyun in a common room even though the equipment remained the same.

The ICU room seemed to have a negative effect on the patient's family.

"Why didn't you tell me that Park Soo Hyun is in the ICU?" Soo Yin asked with puffy eyes. It hurt to know that everyone was hiding something very important from her.

"Forgive, mother. I didn't want to make you sad. You must be devastated by Park Soo Hyun's condition." Mrs. Park hugged Soo Yin tightly. Both shed tears of sadness.

Soo Yin's heart felt like it was being torn apart because of Mrs. Park still thought that she loved Park Soo Hyun. She really didn't have the heart for Soo Yin to be honest.

Park Soo Hyun was a very good man, Soo Yin was sure that one day he will definitely get a girl who was much better than her.

"How come his condition is actually critical when he was fine before?" Soo Yin couldn't hold back the deep sadness since last night.

"Soo Yin, calm down." Dae Hyun reached out his hand to touch her but Soo Yin immediately slapped his husband's hand away. She narrowed her eyes, felt that she had been deceived. Her husband said that Park Soo Hyun's condition was fine. But it turned out to be the opposite.

Soo Yin then released herself from Mrs. Park, wiped the tears with the back of the hand. She shouldn't be crying, if she cried then Mrs. Park was getting sad.

Suddenly Mrs. Park went limp and leaned against Soo Yin's body.

"Mother, wake up!" Soo Yin shook the middle-aged woman's body.

Dae Hyun and Park Ji Hoon approached, their faces getting more and more panicked seeing Mrs. Park was unconscious.

Dae Hyun then carried his mother's body into the room for treatment.

oooooooo

Park Soo Hyun was currently in a strange place he had never seen before. With a dark light that dominated until slowly a large light came to reach him. When he got close, the light actually moved away.

The place that was previously bright slowly darkened because there was no longer any light. He continued to chase the light that was getting very far until it made him tired and wanted to just give up.

Park Soo Hyun sat cross-legged, until finally faint sobs were heard. He recognized the voice belonged to the girl he loved so much. The shadow of her beautiful face suddenly appeared in the hallway amidst the light.

Seeing the beautiful girl, Park Soo Hyun's spirit surged again. He wanted to grab the fingers of the angel who kept waving at him. With passion and no doubt Park Soo Hyun finally managed to approach her.

"Soo Yin," said Park Soo Hyun when he grabbed the girl's hand.

oooo

"Park Soo Hyun, wake up," Soo Yin shouted hysterically, Dae Hyun who was beside her continued to calm her down.

Soo Yin continued to tightly grip Park Soo Hyun's fingers on the right while Mrs. Park waw on the left, hugged his son's body while sobbing.

The nurse had just finished removing all of the medical equipments that were helping Park Soo Hyun to survive. But it was a shame if his current condition can't be helped anymore.

Until Soo Yin felt something move in her hand. Her eyes turned to look at something that caused a slow movement.

"Mother, Park Soo Hyun's finger is moving," Soo Yin shouted excitedly. A smile was engraved along with tears that kept flowing.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 362 - 362 - Encouragement

Dae Hyun who was by Soo Yin's side then observed Park Soo Hyun's hand, which was actually moving. He immediately came out of the room to call the doctor for an immediate examination of his brother.

Everyone got out of the way when the doctor and nurse came. The doctor looked very surprised by Park Soo Hyun's condition. When they left the ICU he was already very weak because of the reduced oxygen in his blood. That's why they gave the patient's family one last pass.

The nurse then put all the medical equipment back on Park Soo Hyun's body.

◦

A few hours later ...

"Soo Yin," said Park Soo Hyun quietly. Slowly his eyes began to open. Even though it was heavy, he tried to move his fingers.

"Park Soo Hyun!" Mrs. Park cried hysterically mixed with happiness to see her son opened his eyes again. She had thought badly of him though.

Soo Yin also felt very happy because Park Soo Hyun woke up from his long sleep. She didn't need to think about the guilt she might endure for the rest of her life.

"Master, you're finally awake," said Soo Yin. Her lips painted a smile that could make Park Soo Hyun's heart tremble.

"Soo Yin," said Park Soo Hyun. His hand rose to grab the cheek of the girl he loved. Rubbed it gently.

"Master, thank God you're awake now. I'm very happy," said Soo Yin. Ignored Dae Hyun's sour look.

Dae Hyun closed his eyes for a moment to suppress all the emotions that entered his chest. Between happiness mixed with anger at this moment felt in his heart.

'See, later when you're healed, I won't let you touch my wife,' ~ Dae Hyun grumbled. Unable to bear the feeling of jealousy in his chest, Dae Hyun chose to leave the room.

Park Ji Hoon followed the steps of his oldest son out as he realized there was a glint of anger flashing from his eyes. Didn't want him make a fuss when his brother just woke up.

"Park Soo Hyun," said Mrs. Park . Then she planted kisses on her son's cheeks. Her face was now painted with happiness that can not be described. It was a miracle to see him open his eyes again.

'Thank, God.' ~ In her heart, Mrs. Park continued to express gratitude because her prayers had been answered.

Park Soo Hyun looked alternately at the two women he loved so much. Then smiled while trying to sit leaned on the side of the bed.

"Mother, why are my legs are so hard to move?" said Park Soo Hyun while trying to move his legs alternately.

"Doctor, what's wrong with his leg?" Mrs. Park said while massaging her son's feet.

"For a while the patient may not be able to walk because the wound on his leg is also quite severe," said Doctor Wang, who was still standing there to control the patient's progress.

"What? Do you mean he's paralyzed?" It was as if a blunt object had pierced Mrs. Park when she heard the bad news that always befallen his son.

"Only for a while, after treatment and therapy his condition will recover," said Doctor Wang to encourage the patient.

"It won't take long, will it, Doctor?" Mrs. Park made sure that what happened to her son was not too fatal.

"If he has a great spirit then his body condition will recover quickly."

After the doctor had confirmed if the patient's condition was improving. He then left the ICU. Gave the family time to chat.

Soo Yin helped Park Soo Hyun to lean on the side of the bed using a pillow as a backrest.

"Soo Yin, I'm sorry I couldn't come," said Park Soo Hyun. Now he remembered the accident that happened to him.

"It's okay," said Soo Yin. Now, she could feel relieved that the man had woken up, there was no longer any anxiety in her heart.

"What do you mean?" Mrs. Park furrowed her brows to digest her son's words.

"That night I was on my way to see Soo Yin." It occurred to Park Soo Hyun what made him distracted at that time. But looking at Soo Yin's swollen eyes, there was no way she would betray him.

His trust in Soo Yin was not that easy to break. It must be because there was someone who intended to distance himself from Soo Yin.

Soo Yin lowered her head, felt scared by Mrs. Park's look to her. If she got angry soon then Soo Yin will surrender. She might as well blame her.

"Next time if you want to meet, don't look for a place that is too far away. You can talk anything at home." Mrs. Park was just a mother of most women out there who often grumbled about her child's actions.

Not long after, Dae Hyun and Park Ji Hoon followed into the room.

"How are you feeling? Are you feeling better?" Dae Hyun asked with an even expression. Couldn't change his expression.

Glad that Park Soo Hyun finally woke up so that Soo Yin wouldn't be sad anymore. Didn't feel happy because the love competition between them was getting stronger.

"Thanks to Soo Yin so I want to survive. For me, she is my encouragement. Thank you, Hyeong, because of you I was able to meet her," said Park Soo Hyun with a smile while he was glancing at Soo Yin who was beside him.

Dae Hyun's jaw tightened even more when he heard his brother's words. He regretted asking Soo Yin to be his secretary. If he didn't do that, then Soo Yin would never know his brother.

"Don't overdo it because I didn't do anything," said Dae Hyun. His feelings right now were very complicated.

Park Soo Hyun's gaze turned to Soo Yin again. After opening his eyes, the one person he always wanted to see.

"Soo Yin, please help me to recover like before," asked Park Soo Hyun.

Soo Yin just smiled faintly, not daring to make any promises to him.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 363 - 363 - Don't Talk About Other Men

The days had changed quickly. Today was Soo Yin's time to start college, she woke up early to get ready to go to campus. This was the first day so it was enough to make her heart flutter.

Because on the first time she entered campus, she must have had her own experience because she didn't have anyone she knew except Jae-hwa. Even though there was Li Sa, their relationship was not very good. Meeting her will only add to the problem.

Soo Yin was now waiting for a taxi because she didn't want to be escorted by Chung Ho. She was famous for being an ordinary girl so that it will arouse suspicion if she got picked up. Moreover, she was at the same campus as Li Sa who would definitely insult her.

Soo Yin wore a bright yellow knee-length dress with short sleeves. Left her hair loose on her shoulders, she didn't forget to cut her front hair last night so that she currently had bangs.

A silver Maybach pulled up right in front of her. Soo Yin's face instantly brightened up knowing who was driving it. Then jogged over to it.

Dae Hyun got out of the car with a furrowed brow when he saw Soo Yin's appearance this time which was different from usual. Looked very young.

"I thought you wouldn't come here." Soo Yin rushed into her husband's arms because they hadn't seen each other for a few days.

Dae Hyun went out of town for business while Soo Yin can't come because she had to accompany Park Soo Hyun at the hospital to recover his health.

"You look different today. I almost didn't recognize your face," said Dae Hyun. Actually his business was not finished yet but considering that it was Soo Yin's first day of college, he was forced to go home to give her a little support.

"Is it true?" Soo Yin escaped from the warm embrace of the man she loved.

"Looks like it will add more competitors to my love," said Dae Hyun with a sour expression on his face. This was what he feared the most if Soo Yin will be charmed by another man who was much younger than him. It made Dae Hyun feel insecure.

"Should I change my face to be ugly?" Soo Yin asked while furrowing her brows.

"That seems like a good idea," Dae Hyun said, agreed to the idea.

"Ughhh." Soo Yin pursed her lips.

"No need, most importantly, you can't be naughty." Dae Hyun chuckled at the worry on his little wife's face. He pinched Soo Yin's nose because he felt exasperated.

"Come in, let's continue chatting inside." Dae Hyun opened the door for his little wife.

Soo Yin complied without any refute at all.

"You said you would just come home next week, but why are you in Seoul now?" Soo Yin rested her head on Dae Hyun's shoulder. Expressed a passionate longing.

Dae Hyun used one hand to grip her waist while the other hand to drive.

"Aren't you happy with my return?"

"I just didn't expect you to actually go home. Yesterday you said you couldn't go home." Soo Yin straightened herself into a sitting position while she was leaning back on the seat. Feared of disturbing Dae Hyun's activities.

"For your sake I will do anything. I even just came from the airport straight here," said Dae Hyun.

"Are you going to leave again?"

"Most likely yes, so be well and take care of yourself. Tell me if you get into trouble on campus."

"Okay. Before leaving, meet Park Soo Hyun. Now his condition is recovering even though he can't walk but he can feel his legs again," said Soo Yin.

"Do you go there every day?" Dae Hyun felt jealous because Soo Yin's time was now being used more for Park Soo Hyun.

"Just since yesterday I didn't go there. He should have started therapy today, but it's a shame I can't go there" Soo Yin said with a cheerful face while taking a deep breath. One of the things that made her life happy was seeing Park Soo Hyun walking again.

"I feel relieved to finally see Soo Hyun laughing again," added Soo Yin. Constantly she was talking about other men in front of Dae Hyun. Without realizing her husband who had put on a cold face.

"Can you stop talking about him?" Dae Hyun finally put his heart first.

Soo Yin turned her head towards her husband who was bending his face like a tangled thread. Realizing that she had said something wrong, Soo Yin bit her lower lip so hard.

Now Soo Yin chose silence while sitting nervously as she played with her fingers. She lowered her face, didn't dare to look at her husband. She forgot that Dae Hyun didn't like it when she talked about other men in front of him.

The atmosphere was very quiet and felt very awkward. Soo Yin wanted to talk again but didn't want to irritate her husband even more.

Dae Hyun saw from the rearview mirror, Soo Yin's lips were bleeding. Then he reached into a small handkerchief that was in his trouser pocket. And turned the car into a restaurant area.

"Why are we here?" Soo Yin knitted her brows together. It was still far from her campus.

"Are you so hungry that you want to eat your own lips?" Dae Hyun turned to Soo Yin with a straight face.

Soo Yin held her lips, tried to grope to feel it.

"Auhh," Soo Yin groaned as she felt the pain in her lips.

Dae Hyun stuck his head out to get closer to Soo Yin. It made her heart beat faster because their faces were so close.

Dae Hyun pressed his lips to Soo Yin's, caused her to widen her eyes, almost glared. But she was just stay where she was.

The man kissed her repeatedly the trace of a small bloodstain. Cleaned it slowly until leaving a sweet kiss between the two.

"How many times have I told you that you shouldn't hurt yourself. You don't even listen to what I say," Dae Hyun said after releasing the kiss. Then he wiped Soo Yin's lips with a handkerchief to tidy up the lipstick which was a bit messy because of him.

"I won't do it again," said Soo Yin.

"Didn't I tell you when speaking, don't look down like that. Keep your head up," Dae Hyun said while holding Soo Yin's chin. Lifted it up until their eyes met each other. The gaze of love and affection was reflected in both of them.

"You looked scary earlier," Soo Yin said honestly.

"Don't talk about other men in front of me. This is the last time or I will punish you," Dae Hyun said, while staring at Soo Yin's eyes intensely, made the owner embarrassed.

"Punishment?" Soo Yin pursed her lips together with her eyebrows knitted together.

"A wife who does naughty things must be punished," said Dae Hyun.

"I promise not to do it again."

"Good, now let's have breakfast first," said Dae Hyun.

Soo Yin followed Dae Hyun's steps to get out of the car. They had breakfast before continuing their journey.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 364 - 364 - Make Him Jealous

Seoul National University,

Dae Hyun stopped his car right in front of the gate because the car was still queuing for parking.

Soo Yin was surprised by the parents who came there. Too much business kept her from looking for more information about the campus.

The parents each carried a bouquet of flowers in their hands.

"Is there anything else going on here?" Soo Yin frowned as she watched people passing by their car from the car window.

"In here, when the student admissions, parents will come. They will give a bouquet of flowers that are given to their children after the student admissions event is over," Dae Hyun said to reduce Soo Yin's curiosity. That was why he was willing to go back to Seoul even though his work was piling up.

"This is not a graduation ceremony so why give a bouquet of flowers," said Soo Yin with her innocent thoughts.

"Even though they don't know when they will graduate. It's just a form of support from them for their children to be even more enthusiastic in learning." Dae Hyun also studied there so he knew a lot about the customs on campus.

Soo Yin lowered her head sadly, remembered her father who she had not been contacted for a long time. Shouldn't have allowed him to leave Seoul in the past. Now it was very difficult to just chat with her father.

Every time Soo Yin asked which village Kim Nam lived in, nothing was certain. Her father said if he just moved from place to place.

"Are you sad that father didn't come?" Dae Hyun could see the sad look on Soo Yin's face. That was natural considering Kim Nam was the only family she had. But now they had to separate.

Soo Yin nodded her head with her head still looked down. The tears in the corners of her eyes could no longer be held back. Slowly flowed from her eyelids.

"Don't be sad, I'm here and will be your husband and guardian," said Dae Hyun. Pulled Soo Yin's waist into his embrace to let the sadness out only in his chest.

"I miss father," said Soo Yin.

"Father must have missed you too. Maybe he has other reasons so he can't be contacted. Think positively if father is okay right now." Dae Hyun rubbed Soo Yin's back with his palm.

Soo Yin took a deep breath. Now was not the time to cry. Students admission should be a joy for her.

The sound of the horn startled them. Soo Yin then released herself and then wiped her tears. Fortunately the glass was not transparent when viewed from the outside. So no one knew what they were doing.

"Honey, come on in before they all get mad." Soo Yin turned her face back. It turned out that there were already many cars queuing up because Dae Hyun stopped his car in the middle of the road.

Dae Hyun finally immediately drove his car again to the parking lot.

Soo Yin smoothed her bangs first before getting out. Not used to having bangs made her a bit uncomfortable because it was a little annoying.

"Now get out," said Dae Hyun. Didn't mean to drove her away, but there was no way that Soo Yin would stay in the car all the time.

"Aren't you getting out?" Soo Yin asked. Her hair-covered forehead wrinkled.

"I'll follow, after all I don't want to cause trouble for you," said Dae Hyun.

"Okay," said Soo Yin quickly. Understood what Dae Hyun meant.

"Don't you want to say goodbye?" Dae Hyun asked when Soo Yin was about to open the door.

"Aren't you going to stay here? You said you aren't going home until the event is over?" Soo Yin narrowed her eyes.

Dae Hyun leaned slightly towards Soo Yin, then pointed and touched his cheek with his index finger.

"There are no mosquitoes," said Soo Yin, who instead studied Dae Hyun's cheeks.

"Not a mosquito but don't you want to kiss me first before getting out," said Dae Hyun with an annoyed sigh. A bit angry with Soo Yin who can't read his mind.

"Didn't you kiss me earlier?" Soo Yin leaned back slightly.

Dae Hyun was getting angry with Soo Yin's innocent face. His hand quickly grabbed Soo Yin's nape so that their lips pressed together.

Soo Yin tried to pull her lips but Dae Hyun's grip on the nape of her neck was strong enough. Her eyes widen when Jae-hwa was standing right next to their car. She pushed Dae Hyun's body so hard until she was finally released.

"Next time don't do it in a crowded places," Soo Yin grumbled as she lowered her head and wiped her lips with a tissue. She was afraid that Jae-hwa would find out what they had just done.

"You're afraid that the man will find out," Dae Hyun said, while pointing to Jae-hwa who had gone a little further than them.

Soo Yin tilted her head slightly, relieved that Jae-hwa was finally gone.

"Is he your ex-boyfriend that you're so scared?" Dae Hyun asked. He had harbored his curiosity for a long time but only this time dared to ask.

Soo Yin narrowed her eyes while moving her lips.

"I don't have an ex-boyfriend," Soo Yin said firmly.

"Really? I can't believe it." Dae Hyun raised an eyebrow. Thought Soo Yin was too beautiful for the men who saw her. So it was impossible if no one liked her before. Only stupid men who didn't glance at Soo Yin. But if that was the case, Dae Hyun felt quite happy. That meant if he was Soo Yin's first love.

"And I now regret for not having an ex-boyfriend," said Soo Yin. She was already getting annoyed by her husband.

"Why?" Dae Hyun raised an eyebrow while waiting for Soo Yin's answer.

"I regret that I should have dated more handsome men in order to have experience. Just so you know I used to like Jae-hwa because since becoming friends he has been very considerate of me," Soo Yin said casually, while she was letting out all of her honesty.

"So he was your first love?" Dae Hyun just felt happy but Soo Yin actually made a statement like that.

"I don't know if he's my first love or not. What's clear is that I used to like him, and it seems like he likes me too," Soo Yin said while glancing at Dae Hyun. It was his fault for having provoked a commotion with her.

"Then why weren't you guys dating?" Dae Hyun's heart was already heating up. Getting them together was not right. Maybe they will feel their love again someday.

"Jae-hwa is not the type of man who likes to date. He wants to reach his goals first. Maybe he will tell his feelings after graduating to become a doctor," Soo Yin said while smiling.

"Alright, see you later." Soo Yin hurriedly got out of the car leaving Dae Hyun in annoyance. She did that on purpose to make Dae Hyun feel jealous.

Smiled with satisfaction at having managed to upset her husband, Soo Yin stepped into the hall.

◦ ◦ ◦ ◦

Now the official admission ceremony for prospective students will soon begin. All prospective students had gathered in the hall. Soo Yin had already sat there since 15 minutes ago but she hadn't seen Jae-hwa. She felt lonely because there was no one to talk to. Soo Yin wasn't the type of girl who can get along with people she just met.

"Are you looking for me?" said Jae-hwa who appeared from behind. Made Soo Yin almost jump up in surprise.

"Ah, where have you been?" Soo Yin said a little nervously and stuttered. Jae-hwa wasn't usually so confident in himself.

"I'm went to the toilet," Jae-hwa said then plopped down on the chair right next to Soo Yin. He put his hands behind her back.

Soo Yin wanted to move her body slightly away but she didn't feel good. Jae-hwa's behavior today was really confused her. Jae-hwa wasn't usually this brave.

"Oh, yes. Is uncle coming today?" Jae-hwa asked starting a conversation between them. It was quite surprising because it was usually Soo Yin who always started the conversation.

Soo Yin wondered of what really happened to Jae-hwa. All she knew was that Jae-hwa was a quiet type of guy.

"No, my father is busy so he can't go back to Seoul," Soo Yin said with a heavy sigh.

"How about you? Is grandma coming?" Soo Yin asked back.

"Of course not, I didn't allow them to leave for fear of exhaustion. They're not young anymore. It seems like only our parents who didn't come," Jae-hwa said while observing Soo Yin's appearance today, which looked completely different.

Soo Yin turned her face to the other way. Uneasy with Jae-hwa who kept looking at her.

"I just realized that you look different today," said Jae-hwa nervously. Because this was the first time he dared to express his heart.

"It must be because of my haircut?" Soo Yin said while smoothing her bangs.

"Right, you look like still in high school," said Jae-hwa.

"Don't brag," Soo Yin said with a flushed face.

Jae-hwa was quite happy that they were in the same faculty. That meant there will be a chance to get close to her. He had already decided to become closer to Soo Yin. Based on his grandmother's advice, a man must dare to express his feelings if he didn't want other men to went ahead.

Now the new student admissions event had begun. Everyone was silent as they listened to what was going on.

They listened to the senior students who were giving speeches. Then mentioned the names of the prospective students who had been announced some time ago.

Everyone cheered because the event was very enjoyable.

◦

Waiting for Soo Yin who was following the event in the hall, Dae Hyun went around the campus again. Dae Hyun hadn't studied there for decades, but the place hadn't changed. There was a library that used to be his favorite place with Mi Young.

Even though he only spent a short time with Mi Young at the same campus, he always remembered that they often spent time together in the library.

Only until the second semester Mi Young and Dae Hyun could study together. After that, Mi Young really moved out and Dae Hyun never saw her again. Before finally meeting her a few months ago.

Dae Hyun continued to walk while putting his hands in his pants pockets. His eyes looked at several buildings that were already towering, Dae Hyun didn't realize that someone was walking towards him with so many piles of books in her hands.

Brukk...

The collision was unavoidable until the book fell to the floor.

"Sorry," said Dae Hyun. He hurriedly helped to pick up the scattered books. For a moment, their gazes met.

Mi Young looked at Dae Hyun's eyes with a feeling of emptiness. There was something caught in those eyeballs.

"Mi Young? What are you here for?" The question just slipped from Dae Hyun's lips. It was natural to ask because Mi Young transferred college at that time.

"Ah, I will be a backup lecturer here," Mi Young said, immediately realized, from the peaceful gaze of a former lover who she can't deny that she still had feelings for him.

"Is it true?" Dae Hyun knitted his brows together.

"Right. Then what are you here for? Are you going to be a lecturer too?" Mi Young asked.

"No, I just came here to drop Soo Yin off. She just got accepted into this university." There was nothing to hide from Mi Young so Dae Hyun told her the truth.

They then stood up after tidying the book back up. Dae Hyun can't bear to see Mi Young having trouble carrying books. So he decided to help her.

"Don't bother, let me carry it myself," Mi Young refused.

"No problem," said Dae Hyun quickly.

"Then where is your wife now?" Mi Young asked as she looked down the hall. Looked like prospective students had left.

"Maybe she will come out soon," said Dae Hyun. He looked at Mi Young for a moment, felt pity to know that her marriage had failed.

"Mi Young, I'm sorry for what happened to your household. I didn't know Je Ha was a lecherous man," he added.

Mi Young smiled faintly because Dae Hyun must knew about her private life with Je Ha. Their relationship this time was very complicated. Je Ha didn't divorce her, but oftentimes, many women were brought home. Her status was just as a useless wife.

"How did you know that?" Mi Young raised her eyebrows. She didn't know that Dae Hyun had sent him to prison.

"Soo Yin almost became his victim. I can't believe you married a man like him," said Dae Hyun.

"Sorry, I've thrown him in jail," he added.

"So you did it?" There was a pleasure to know that.

"Hmm, I'm sorry again."

"No problem, hopefully that will deter him."

"Did you regret it? Did you regret for not keeping our relationship?" Mi Young remembered when her parents told Dae Hyun that they would set her up with Je Ha. Dae Hyun even kept silent without making a defense.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 366 - 366 - They Are Ex-lover

"No, I don't regret it at all. Parting with you allowed me to meet Soo Yin even though the time was a little late," said Dae Hyun. Glanced at Mi Young's face for a moment as they walked side by side.

Mi Young's mouth was silenced by Dae Hyun's statement which was quite hurtful to her. In fact, throughout her life, he was the man who was always in her heart. It hurt so much more than seeing Je Ha bring another woman.

"Don't you think if what you said hurt my feelings?" Mi Young said bitterly. Still expecting Dae Hyun to say something sweet to her.

"I just want to protect my wife's feelings. What happened to you is in the past. I don't want to bring it up again." Dae Hyun looked ahead. His eyes immediately caught Soo Yin's frowning face.

oooooo

Soo Yin just walked out of the hall. It was true that parents gave special bouquets of flowers for prospective students. They were happy because their family can get into one of the best universities in Korea, even in the world. So they held a little celebration.

Jae-hwa hadn't left because he had a little business to ask about something to the college seniors. Until now he was still in the hall.

Soo Yin walked towards the parking lot to find Dae Hyun as he didn't appear after several places. The car was still parked there so it was impossible for Dae Hyun to go home.

Then she took her cellphone out, tried to contact Dae Hyun but unfortunately he didn't answer.

Soo Yin chose to turn back inside to find her husband's whereabouts. He used to go to college here so he could be just wandering around remembering everything that happened years ago.

Just as Soo Yin walked down the corridor a few steps, her eyes caught Dae Hyun and Mi Young who were walking side by side. They looked very engrossed in chatting. Even Soo Yin can tell if Dae Hyun was helping Mi Young to carry her books.

"Ughhh, I even went around looking for him earlier but instead he was with his ex-girlfriend," Soo Yin grumbled in annoyance.

Soo Yin put on a sullen face when Dae Hyun looked at her. Dae Hyun's face also looked surprised.

"Soo Yin, it turns out that you're here."

Soo Yin who was feeling annoyed gasped when Jae-hwa touched her shoulder.

With a smiling face, Jae-hwa was now beside Soo Yin.

"Unnie!" Jae-hwa called while waving his hand at Mi Young.

Soo Yin got even more confused when Jae-hwa called Mi Young as 'sister'. It was impossible if there was a family relationship between them.

Mi Young and Dae Hyun walked over to Soo Yin and Jae-hwa who remained standing where they were.

Dae Hyun and Soo Yin looked at each other for a while with a few questions on their minds.

"I thought you haven't started coming in today," Jae-hwa said intimately to Mi Young.

"You two know each other?" Soo Yin asked. Raised an eyebrow at this fact.

"We're cousins," said Jae-hwa.

"I never knew that Doctor Mi Young was your cousin," Soo Yin said while frowning.

"I forgot not to tell about her because all this time she lived abroad. Only a few months ago she returned to settle in Seoul," said Jae-hwa.

"Master knows her too?" Jae-hwa asked Dae Hyun.

"Of course they know each other. They are ex-lover," said Soo Yin very casually. Then looked at the two people in front of her with a slightly jealous feeling.

"Is it true?" Jae-hwa looked flabbergasted at the truth.

"Just ask them," Soo Yin said, while glancing at Dae Hyun.

Soo Yin did say that she didn't feel jealous because Mi Young was just Dae Hyun's past. But still she was annoyed that Dae Hyun was currently too close to her. What made her even more annoyed was that she had been looking here and there but Dae Hyun was with his ex-girlfriend.

"Is the student admission's event over?" Mi Young said to change the subject. She was in a corner and felt awkward knowing that Soo Yin was jealous. Especially after hearing Dae Hyun's statement which was quite torn her heart.

"Yes, it is, several prospective students are gathering with their parents," said Jae-hwa.

"Stay here, I also brought a bouquet of flowers for you. I heard from grandmother that you were accepted so when I left I stopped by to buy it," said Mi Young.

"Thank you, Unnie. No need to bother at all." Jae-hwa scratched the back of his head. Quite touched by what Mi Young did to him. She was the only relative who cared about him.

"Dae Hyun, let me take the book back to the library," Mi Young said as she moved the pile of books into her hands.

"I'll go first," said Mi Young and then left them. It was actually just an excuse to leave.

Soo Yin put on a sullen face. She was envious when she saw the other students were laughing and prancing around with their family members.

"Excuse me, is your name Miss Soo Yin?" Suddenly a man in a hat came up to them.

Soo Yin knitted her brows together. Watched the man closely but didn't seem to recognize his face.

"Right, what's the matter?" asked Soo Yin.

"I just wanted to ask where we should drop the flowers?"

"Flowers?" Soo Yin was getting more and more confused. As long as she remembered, she didn't order any flowers.

"Someone sent flowers for you, Miss. Come with me and show us where to put them all."

Before following the man's footsteps, Soo Yin glanced at her husband who had a flat face. Then she also asked Jae-hwa's permission to go out for a while.

The man took Soo Yin to the parking lot to prove to her that it was impossible if they sent it wrong.

Soo Yin was so shocked that she covered her mouth with both hands when she saw a car full of very beautiful tulips and pink roses beside it.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 367 - 367 - Flower Delivery

"Who sent it, sir?" asked Soo Yin.

"Here, Miss. There are two different customers who ordered flowers to our shop at the same time. Both of them asked us to deliver them here on behalf of Miss Soo Yin," the man explained slightly.

Soo Yin finally opened a pink congratulatory card with a love motif on it. It made the paper looked more beautiful.

Congratulations on your success ...

This flower is all I can send right now...

I'm sorry that I couldn't come on your happy day...

This rose is as an apology from me...

From me who always loves and adore you...

Soo Yin read it word by word, there was no name written on it. But judging from his words, Soo Yin seemed to know who had sent it all.

Then Soo Yin opened one more congratulatory card. The color was plain light blue.

Honey,

I wish you success...

From: Your life partner.

There were no more words there. From looking at his casual and simple words, Soo Yin could also concluded who the sender was. It was enough to melt her heart again.

"Is the sender of the Tulips that wrote this letter?" Soo Yin asked the flower delivery man while showing the light blue paper.

"That's right, Miss," said the flower delivery man.

"Then where should we take it?" he added.

Soo Yin thought for a moment of what to do with the flower. It was impossible to bring it home. In fact, she was quite happy to get a surprise. But she thought that they were spending too much money. They should only need to give one or two.

"Just bring it near the hall," said Soo Yin.

The florists then lowered one by one of the bouquets of flowers to the place that Soo Yin had pointed.

Soo Yin thought about giving the flowers to a fellow prospective student whose family couldn't attend. Then the flower was thrown away. She would only take one or two bouquets to take home.

Soo Yin continued to walk while observing the tulip flower arrangement that formed the love in her hand. The flower was red which symbolizes love and affection. There was a reason why she was so happy to see those red tulips. The flower was a gift from the most special person in her life.

Jae-hwa, who had already prepared a bouquet of flowers for the girl, finally gave up. Soo Yin already had so many bouquets of flowers that she even gave them to other students. The bouquet of Chrysanthemum flowers he brought would mean nothing to Soo Yin.

Dae Hyun put on a sour face when Soo Yin brought two bouquets of flowers with different types of flowers. Though he thought that he only ordered one type of flower. Then who sent the roses? No other man could be his love rival anymore.

Soo Yin smiled at Dae Hyun while holding up the tulip flower in her hand with a happy face. Then walked over to him, but just took a few steps, someone called out to her.

"Soo Yin!" called a man who was still foreign to her ears.

Soo Yin stopped in her tracks then looked back to see who had called her. She frowned when she saw the man. The man who at that time helped her out of trouble when she got into trouble with Li Sa and Hyo Rin.

"I'm Ji Sang, do you still remember me?" asked the tall man who was quite handsome.

Ji Sang was one of the senior students who participated in the event. His face was familiar in Soo Yin's eyes even though he had only met her once before.

"Of course," Soo Yin stammered. She bowed slightly as a form of courtesy to seniors.

"Congratulations for being a part of this campus," said Jo Sang. His lips carved a sincere smile. Then handed Soo Yin a bouquet of red roses.

Soo Yin was quite surprised to get the attention of one of the college students who seemed to be the student idol. When Soo Yin looked around, some of the students looked at her with displeasure.

"Accept it," Ji Sang asked because Soo Yin didn't extend her hand either.

"Thank you again. There should be no need to bother because this is not a graduation ceremony," said Soo Yin with a faint smile. Realized if from a distance there was a sharp gaze and problems that might soon befall her.

There was a tiger that was preparing to attack her soon.

"This has become a tradition on campus," said Ji Sang.

Soo Yin finally got up the courage to reach out her hands to accept the man's gift.

"I'll go first, if you want to ask about this campus I'll be happy to help," said Ji Sang.

Luckily at this time Hyo Rin had not arrived at campus, if Hyo Rin saw it, it will definitely add to the big problem for Soo Yin.

Soo Yin nodded her head. Felt relieved that Ji Sang had finally left. One problem finally solved.

"Phew," Soo Yin said while holding her chest.

Jae-hwa had been observing Soo Yin and Ji Sang since earlier. His confidence had now returned. He felt that he could not lose to the senior student that Soo Yin had just met. His grandmother's words were true, if he was a little late, she would most likely be overtaken by someone else.

Before walking towards Soo Yin, Jae-hwa first took a deep breath. With a pounding heart he approached Soo Yin. The bouquet was the result of hard work that Jae-hwa had set aside. So it was a shame if it was not given to the girl he idolised.

Even though she will get in trouble but let it be, Soo Yin will still bring the bouquet of flowers to Dae Hyun. It was up to him if in the middle of the road Dae Hyun will throw or destroy like the flowers that Jae-hwa once gave.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 368 - 368 - From The Bald Man

Just turned around to go to where Dae Hyun was, Soo Yin's steps stopped when suddenly Jae-hwa had stopped in front of him. His right hand was hidden behind his back as if he was carrying something.

"Soo Yin, sorry I'm late to give it. I should have given it earlier than anyone else," Jae-hwa said while handing her a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Soo Yin froze, confused as to why today many men seemed to be paying attention to her.

"Jae-hwa, you shouldn't have to. We even just entered college together," said Soo Yin. Quite surprised that Jae-hwa also gave her.

"Actually I'm embarrassed because I can only give this flower. Whereas you get so many flowers that are much more beautiful," said Jae-hwa.

Soo Yin was shocked to hear Jae-hwa's statement. Felt bad for making Jae-hwa feel insecure. She knew that Jae-hwa must have worked hard to collect it.

"I should feel bad," said Soo Yin, then snatched the flower from Jae-hwa's hand.

"Who sent that many flowers?" Jae-hwa asked, curious if the sender must be a rich person.

"That ... that ... I also don't know because there is no sender's name. It could be if it is the wrong address. That's why I gave it to someone else," Soo Yin lied. It was impossible to tell Jae-hwa the truth.

"Hmmm, only rich people who want to waste money," said Jae-hwa. There was still doubt in his heart regarding Soo Yin's answer. There was no way someone could send that many flowers to the wrong people.

"I think so," said Soo Yin, grinning.

"By the way, where are you going after this?" Jae-hwa asked.

"Hmmm, maybe I'll go home because I have to go back to work," Soo Yin stammered.

"Too bad, actually I wanted to take you to the library. I'll go to work tonight," said Jae-hwa with a gloomy face.

If she accepted Jae-hwa's invitation then big problems will surely befall her. The flower problem wasn't over yet. Soo Yin didn't want to add any more trouble.

"Next time we can definitely go to the library together. Aren't we in the same class next?" Soo Yin said with a faint smile.

"Right, well if you want to go home then I'm going to the library now. Looks like Mi Young is already waiting for me there because I want to ask a little while she's here," Jae-hwa said with a long sigh.

"I'm going home first, thank you very much for the flowers you gave," said Soo Yin.

"See you."

Soo Yin nodded her head then they both turned around to walk towards their respective destinations.

"Soo Yin!"

As soon as Soo Yin took one step, Jae-hwa called out to her. Inevitably, Soo Yin stopped her steps even though she wanted to immediately meet her husband.

"Be careful on the road and see you tomorrow," said Jae-hwa.

"Hmmm," Soo Yin said as she turned her face slightly back to look at Jae-hwa.

o

Dae Hyun looked like he was watching an art show between a princess and a prince. He was watching his wife being given flowers by the two men who might become his rivals. Park Soo Hyun alone was already troublesome, now there were even more with a lot younger men.

Unable to stand it because his heart was getting hotter, Dae Hyun finally stepped out into the parking lot. Let's wait in the parking lot instead of making him more emotional and in the end there will be a fight between him and Soo Yin.

As much as possible to get rid of the anxiety in his mind. Convinced himself that Soo Yin couldn't possibly be attracted to young men like them.

Just as Dae Hyun came out, Soo Yin approached where he had been standing. Soo Yin looked around but there was no sign of her husband. Even though it was very clear that she saw him still standing there earlier. Soo Yin patted her forehead, Dae Hyun must be very angry right now.

Soo Yin still had four bouquets of flowers in her hand. It was impossible to leave the three of them on campus. She was afraid that if Jae-hwa and Ji Sang knew about it, they would feel disappointed because she didn't appreciate other people's gifts.

With lethargic steps Soo Yin dragged her feet to get out to the parking lot. But after looking at the place where Dae Hyun's car was, this time she couldn't find him again.

"Ughhh, he even left me," Soo Yin grumbled as she walked out of the gate. If she knew she would've been left out, it was better to go to the library with Jae-hwa.

With a sullen face Soo Yin walked towards the gate. Her hands have difficulty carrying flowers because they were quite large.

Just arrived at the gate, Soo Yin had to pass by Li Sa and Hyo Rin. It made her take a deep breath because Soo Yin felt like the two of them would soon cause trouble.

"Soo Yin, I thought you wouldn't be accepted into this campus," Li Sa sneered with a mocking laugh.

"Look at the flower in her hand, it must be from the bald man she used to date," said Hyo Rin, didn't want to lose to taunt Soo Yin

Soo Yin rolled her eyes, wanted to silence their mouths about the bouquet of flowers she brought.

She also wanted to say that the red rose was even from Hyo Rin's lover. She was sure that Hyo Rin would faint hearing it. It was just that Soo Yin wanted to live in peace and didn't want to get into trouble.

"Soo Yin, if you don't date a bald man with a big belly you won't be able to pay the tuition fees at this university," Li Sa sneered with a satisfied laugh on her lips.

"Hopefully someday there will be a good man who accepts you after you were dumped," said Hyo Rin, not wanting to lose.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 369 - 369 - Two-faced

Soo Yin actually wanted to get angry and curse at them but didn't want to. Fighting with them was like fighting with crazy people. What angered her the most was ... They said that her husband was bald and had a big belly.

"Why are you silent? Do you really admit it?" Li Sa said while chuckling happily.

"Better like me than you guys who just being losers for the rest of your life. Your job is only to spend your parents' property," sneered Soo Yin no less sadistically. Continuing to be scolded made her lips unable to bear insults.

"What are you saying?" Li Sa's face turned red with anger that was on the verge of exploding.

"Don't be so angry," said Soo Yin boldly. Instead of giving in to being disturbed, it was better to be brave.

"You are shameless. You're have a relationship with Jae-hwa but you're also close to Park Soo Hyun," Li Sa said to change the subject so that Soo Yin would no longer turn to sneer at her.

Li Sa just remembered that she had a photo of Soo Yin hugging Jae-hwa that had been sent to Park Soo Hyun. But Li Sa thought that Park Soo Hyun hadn't seen it because of the accident that happened to him.

"What do you mean? I have nothing to do with Jae-hwa," said Soo Yin.

They kept arguing because Soo Yin also dared to reply to everything Li Sa and Hyo Rin said to her.

◦

Dae Hyun had parked his car outside the campus area, waiting for Soo Yin who had yet to appear. Not far from where he was standing, he saw Soo Yin who was arguing with Li Sa.

Dae Hyun decided to approach her because Soo Yin was in trouble.

"Hmmm." Dae Hyun's signature snort distracted the two girls who were sneering at Soo Yin.

The two girls turned their heads back. Afraid if it was one of the lecturers.

Hyo Rin widened her eyes until her eyes were almost falling when she turned around. She still remembered that Dae Hyun was the man who had given her a large amount of money that time at the cinema.

Likewise with Dae Hyun who raised his eyebrows. Then his face turned cold. If Hyo Rin messed with Soo Yin, he won't stay silent.

Soo Yin bit her lower lip, felt worried, surely Hyo Rin would complain to Li Sa if Dae Hyun who a few months ago was in a cinema with her.

"Mr Dae Hyun?" said Li Sa. Her expression immediately turned friendly. Forgot a bit of annoyance with what Soo Yin said earlier.

"What's all the fuss about?" Dae Hyun asked in an even tone, his gaze fixed on Hyo Rin implying not to talk about anything to Li Sa if she didn't want to get into trouble.

"Nothing, we just congratulate Soo Yin on her success in being accepted into this university," Li Sa said with a smile and touched Soo Yin's hand.

'Two-faced!' Soo Yin sneered in her heart. She wanted to cover Li Sa's mouth with a shoe.

Hyo Rin felt awkward and scared. She remembered Dae Hyun's threat enough not to say anything about the matter again.

"Li Sa, let's go in," said Hyo Rin, who was afraid because Dae Hyun's sharp gaze was scary.

"Why did you come here, sir?" Li Sa ignored Hyo Rin's invitation. She was still wondering what his business was to come to the campus.

"I just happened to be passing by. But because I saw Soo Yin, now I want to pick her up because she has to go back to work," said Dae Hyun.

"Oh I understand."

"We'll go in, sir," said Li Sa. However, she had to be kind because she hoped that one day she would become his sister-in-law.

"Soo Yin, see you later." Li Sa pretended to be friendly that Soo Yin felt like throwing up when she heard that.

Li Sa and Hyo Rin then left them. Even though Li Sa still wanted to sneer and mock Soo Yin. It was as if she never felt bored even though she had been doing it for a long time.

"Why are you here? Hyo Rin must remember your face," Soo Yin said worriedly when she saw Hyo Rin was no longer visible. Honestly, Soo Yin was worried that Hyo Rin will tell the students of what happened that night.

"Calm down, you don't have to worry. I'll ask someone to take care of it," said Dae Hyun. He will make calculations if that happened.

"When we first met, Hyo Rin even told Li Sa about it. But luckily at that time she didn't know your name so I was still safe." Soo Yin's body was really weak because maybe their relationship will soon be exposed.

"Now let's get in if you want to go home," said Dae Hyun as he stepped ahead of Soo Yin.

o

Dae Hyun had driven his car back through the streets of Seoul to return to the villa.

Soo Yin placed the three flower bouquets on the back seat. While the bouquet of tulips was in her lap since earlier. Deliberately doing it so Dae Hyun didn't get tensed. Since they were inside the car, Dae Hyun's jaw seemed to tighten with a cold gaze that was directed towards the front.

Soo Yin sat restlessly, tried to think of a way to get out of that uncomfortable situation. Dae Hyun hadn't even glanced at her since earlier.

"Honey, thank you for the bouquet of flowers you sent. I really like it," said Soo Yin. Then leaned her body towards Dae Hyun. With a quick motion she put her lips on Dae Hyun's cheek.

The water that had been frozen was now slowly melting. The cold air that had been created since earlier was slowly starting to warm up. The jaw that had been tense for a while slowly loosened.

One soft touch can make Dae Hyun's defense collapsed instantly. Even though he had intended to stay silent until they arrived at the villa so that Soo Yin realized her mistake.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 370 - 370 - A Surprise Failed

"How did you know it was a gift from me?" Dae Hyun asked. He didn't remember mentioning the name on the card. After all, two flowers were sent.

"Of course I know. It's impossible for you to give a greeting card with excessive words. You are not that type," said Soo Yin followed with a crisp laugh.

"Looks like my attempt to make a surprise failed because everyone was following me," Dae Hyun grumbled.

"Then who gave the roses?" he added.

"Of course your brother, who else is it? If I was an unstable girl, I might be flowery with his words," said Soo Yin with a chuckle. The look on her face looked very happy, forgot about the jealousy that had been burning.

"I'm a little lucky because he can't walk yet. I'm sure he'll probably be a lot more horrendous," Dae Hyun muttered under his breath but the words could be heard in Soo Yin's ears.

"Don't be angry. No matter how beautiful the writing is, I will be more impressed with what you gave," Soo Yin said spoiled. She embraced Dae Hyun's arm and rested her head on his shoulder for a moment.

"You're really good at seducing," said Dae Hyun. His face already looked much better. Like a flower that had just bloomed.

"Oh yeah, how are you going to take care of Hyo Rin? I'm really scared of her." Soo Yin sighed softly as she straightened herself back up to sit.

"Don't worry about it because I've already taken care of it. I just found out that her name is Hyo Rin," said Dae Hyun with his eyes fixed on the front. Focused on the street.

"How to?"

"You don't need to know, the most important thing is that she will keep her mouth shut," Dae Hyun said casually.

M

"Where are you going after this?" Soo Yin asked because Dae Hyun didn't answer her question when she was about to get into the car.

"Just go home, I want to rest. But before going home, get rid of those annoying flowers from my sight. I don't want to see them because they make my mood worse," Dae Hyun said while looking in the rearview mirror of the flowers on the back seat. Since the first time, Dae Hyun wanted to wipe them out of sight.

"Honey, the flower is innocent after all," Soo Yin coaxed while pouting her lips.

"I don't care, with other men's gifts. I feel like they all sit in the back. If you want flowers like that we can stop at the flower shop first," Dae Hyun said with great emphasis. Didn't want his words to be refuted.

"Okay," said Soo Yin, relented, instead of Dae Hyun's mood getting worse. She also did not want to argue at length with her husband.

"Next time if you're jealous just say it, there's no need to bring up the past." Dae Hyun had to straighten out Soo Yin's assumption because she thought strangely about him and Mi Young.

"I don't feel jealous. I'm just annoyed that you still seem very close to her," Soo Yin said without realizing it, because it was a natural thing.

"I just accidentally bumped into her who was carrying a book. The book fell scattered so I helped her. There was no purpose whatsoever for my good attitude towards her," said Dae Hyun with a long sigh. Explained a bit about what happened earlier so that Soo Yin would understand.

Soo Yin didn't admit that she was jealous even though her face was very sullen like a tangled thread. Maybe if no flower deliveryman came, until now she would still angry.

"I thought you two were together on purpose," said Soo Yin.

"Come on, let's not talk about it anymore." Dae Hyun didn't want the already good atmosphere to deteriorate again.

Dae Hyun still regretted because the surprise he gave her was too ordinary. He should have given a different one because he didn't know if Park Soo Hyun would do the same.

"Don't you want to go to the hospital?" Soo Yin asked. Actually there was a sense of wanting to invite him but she cancelled her intention.

"Later when I'm leaving," Dae Hyun said briefly.

"Alright." Soo Yin chose not to ask again. She chose to lean her head back spoiledly on Dae Hyun's shoulder.

oooooo

It wasn't long before they arrived at the Pyeongchang-dong villa. Before they arrived, Soo Yin had already given the bouquets of flowers to someone else on the side of the road.

Leaving only the tulips that Dae Hyun gave her which now was in her hand. She was about to put it on the table even though Dae Hyun had asked to her throw it away. The reason was that there was nothing special with his gift this time. Even though according to Soo Yin, even the smallest gift would be very meaningful if it was from Dae Hyun.

Once in the room, Dae Hyun immediately threw his body on the soft bed. His body felt tired from lack of sleep last night and then in the morning he had to arrive in Seoul.

Soo Yin had just cleaned herself up when she came out and found her husband already asleep. She then sat on the side of the bed while she was looking closely at her husband's face which looked peaceful when he fell asleep. His face looked tired with fine lines etched on his forehead. His eye circles also darkened upon close inspection.

Ever since Park Soo Hyun was admitted to the hospital, Dae Hyun had to do his work by himself so he was very busy. Soo Yin regretted that she had made him angry and upset. But grateful that his heart had melted.

Being loved by a man who was too serious in all matters made their relationship went up and down. It didn't always go smoothly but Soo Yin felt that their relationship was full of color.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 371 - 371 - Guest Arrival

Soo Yin kissed Dae Hyun's eyelids gently. Didn't want to disturb his good sleep. Instead of being in the room bothering him, Soo Yin decided to just go downstairs to help prepare the meal with Aunt Xia. So that when Dae Hyun woke up, he will feel happy.

Having just set her feet on the floor, Soo Yin's hand was already tightly gripped by Dae Hyun.

"You don't have to go anywhere," Dae Hyun said hoarsely with his eyelids still tightly closed.

"I don't want to bother you," Soo Yin said.

"Precisely if you leave my side, it will make my mind disturbed." Dae Hyun opened his eyes slightly which did feel very sticky.

"Stay here." Dae Hyun then pulled Soo Yin's petite body so that she fell onto his firm chest. He hugged her tightly while inhaling her scent.

"If I'm here then you won't be able to rest and fall asleep," Soo Yin said as she pressed her cheek against her husband's chest. Listened to his heartbeat which was beating very fast and sounded loud enough in her ears.

"What are you going to do anyway?" Dae Hyun asked deliberately to provoke, wanted to hear the answer that came out of his wife's lips.

"Hmmm ...." Soo Yin didn't answer, her hand continued to trace Dae Hyun's chest.

"Just say it if you want it," Dae Hyun said with a smile. Tried to resist the touch effect given by Soo Yin that was quite disturbing.

The eyes that were previously reluctant to open now didn't want to be closed anymore. Soo Yin had really disturbed his sleep.

"I don't want anything," Soo Yin said without stopping her fingers that were still feeling her husband's chest.

"Is it true?" Dae Hyun teased.

With a very fast movement, he already covered Soo Yin's body under him. They met each other's eyes with expressions of love from their eyes.

"Tell me if you want it," Dae Hyun said sensually. He wanted to hear his little wife's sweet request.

"I don't want to," Soo Yin refused with a flushed face. But without realizing it, Dae Hyun's buttons had been removed one by one.

"Now you're so good at flirting," Dae Hyun whispered in Soo Yin's ear while biting the tip of her earlobe. Gave Soo Yin a ticklish effect.

Brak...

Suddenly the door opened wide, Aunt Xia appeared at the door. She had intended to knock but because the door was not closed, it made her push it hard.

"Sorry Mister." Aunt Xia then turned her body. Felt guilty for entering her master's room at the wrong time. But right now, the situation was critical

Soo Yin reflexively pushed Dae Hyun's body. Felt embarrassed because Aunt Xia caught them in a position that should not be seen. Luckily they hadn't done anything. Only the position that was a bit awkward.

"What's the matter, Auntie?" asked Dae Hyun who had stood up and then walked over to the middle-aged woman. There was a little sense of irritation because he was just about to warm up, but someone already bothered him.

"Outside... outside..." Aunt Xia stuttered. Her hands trembled as she was about to say who was below.

"Just tell me who's there, Auntie?" Dae Hyun insisted. His feeling is that something is wrong.

"There's Mr. Park Ji Hoon downstairs," Aunt Xia said shakily. She didn't know that Park Ji Hoon had known Dae Hyun and Soo Yin's relationship for a long time.

"Just tell him to come in," said Dae Hyun. Wasn't surprised at all because he had already guessed that his father would definitely come.

"Yes sir." Aunt Xia immediately closed the door then left them. The situation was so urgent that it was impossible not to interfere.

"What is father doing in here?" Soo Yin said with furrowed forehead then sat on the side of the bed.

"I don't know, let me meet him," said Dae Hyun, he was about to walk away without buttoning his shirt that was already open.

"Wait a minute." Soo Yin hastily grabbed Dae Hyun's wrist to stop him from walking.

"Why? We'll continue later," Dae Hyun teased, which made Soo Yin's face immediately turn red.

"Button your shirt first. Aren't you ashamed to go out with the buttons still open?" Soo Yin said while pouting her lips. Then stood in front of her husband. Buttoned one by one the buttons of his shirt.

"Let it go, this is an attempt to insinuate father if his arrival here bothers us," Dae Hyun said with a chuckle.

"Go," Soo Yin said after everything was buttoned back. In fact she was very nervous about the sudden arrival of her in-laws.

"Don't you want to see your father-in-law?" Dae Hyun said while blinking his eyes.

"Does father know that I also live here?" asked Soo Yin.

"Hmm, right. I want to know what brought him to this house. I don't think I ever said it," said Dae Hyun while placing his finger on his lips.

"Go, don't keep father waiting." Soo Yin gently pushed her husband's body to go out.

Before leaving the door, Dae Hyun quickly turned around and glued his lips briefly to Soo Yin's. Felt the sweetness of Soo Yin's luscious lips for a few seconds.

If it wasn't his father who was coming, Dae Hyun might have asked Chung Ho to kick him out.

Soo Yin tried to push Dae Hyun's body because she was afraid that his father would wait too long.

"What are you," Soo Yin said while holding her lips after Dae Hyun broke the kiss.

"Be patient, we will continue later," said Dae Hyun reluctantly.

"Stay here because I also don't want you to meet my father," added Dae Hyun. There was a sense of suspicion because suddenly Park Ji Hoon came there, it must be for some reason.

Soo Yin nodded her head. Then pushed Dae Hyun's body to get out.

"Hopefully it's nothing," Soo Yin muttered with a heavy sigh.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 372 - 372 - Want To Meet Daughter-in-law

There was the greatest curiosity in his heart because of the arrival of Park Ji Hoon in the villa. According to Dae Hyun, his family did not know about the villa. All of his family will think if he stayed at the hotel because he often worked overtime and that was quite convincing because he was supported by his subordinates who will tell anyone who asked if Dae Hyun always stayed at the hotel.

Dae Hyun then met his father who was already sitting in the living room.

"How come father came here? It seems that I never said anything about this villa," said Dae Hyun without further ado as he threw his body on the sofa. There was no need to pretend to be surprised about it.

"Weren't you out of town? Why are you in Seoul right now?" Park Ji Hoon purposely came there to meet Soo Yin because he thought that Dae Hyun hadn't come home yet.

"I'll be leaving again tonight." Dae Hyun put his foot on top of the other leg.

"How did you know I live here?" Dae Hyun asked.

"I'm not stupid and deceived by your words. Claiming to stay at the hotel every night, even you tell people to give false reports if you stay there every night." Park Ji Hoon chuckled.

"If not looking for me then why did you come here?" Dae Hyun narrowed his eyes, suspected that there was some ulterior motive in his arrival to the villa.

"I just want to meet my daughter-in-law," said Park Ji Hoon while looking around at the villa's modern architecture.

"She doesn't live here," said Dae Hyun, casually lied about the whereabouts of his little wife. He just didn't want other people to disturb their residence even though it was his family.

"No need to lie. I've even followed her to this place many times when you weren't around," Park Ji Hoon said with a snort.

"Just say it if you want to tell her something. Later I will definitely tell her," said Dae Hyun.

"I just wanted to pick her up because her cell phone can't be reached."

"What do you need?" Dae Hyun's tone was already starting to rise.

"I just want to take her to the hospital because your brother doesn't want to do therapy if he's not accompanied by your wife," Park Ji Hoon said calmly.

"He's so annoying. Does Park Soo Hyun think Soo Yin's job is just to take care of him," Dae Hyun grumbled angrily.

"Dae Hyun, let Soo Yin take care of Park Soo Hyun. If he recovers quickly then you can also live happily with her more quickly," persuaded Park Ji Hoon. This was just an effort that he can do for the good of his child even though it is was necessarily a good action in their eyes.

"Ughhh, because of him our relationship is getting difficult," Dae Hyun grumbled.

"Remember you also have a son to pay attention to. Don't just give more attention to your young wife," quipped Park Ji Hoon.

"I know about that too."

o

After half an hour of chatting but there was no, Park Ji Hoon chose to leave because he was reluctant to argue with his eldest son any further.

Can understand why Dae Hyun didn't allow Soo Yin to come to the hospital today. Maybe because they wanted to spend time together. Dae Hyun's time was almost drained by work.

"Okay, I'd better go back to the hospital. But if you change your mind, then you can bring her there," said Park Ji Hoon. There's nothing wrong with trying again.

"Not for today," said Dae Hyun firmly. No matter how hard his father persuaded him, Dae Hyun would still stand his ground.

Soo Yin's time sacrifice was too much for Park Soo Hyun. Should when he was on a day off, even wanting to be with his beloved wife must be hindered? It was enough for him to sacrifice his feelings. It didn't matter if Park Soo Hyun didn't want to eat or do therapy. He was not a child like Jo Yeon Ho whose wish must be fulfilled.

"Okay, if you leave again let me know immediately," said Park Ji Hoon before finally leaving the Pyeongchang-dong villa.

Dae Hyun just sighed in annoyance. If only Soo Yin was no longer busy with her studies, he would definitely have chosen to take her along.

◦

Soo Yin was still in the room. Laid her body in a prone position while reading a book she bought a few days ago. From now on, she had to be diligent in reading if she had free time.

Check...

The sound of the door slamming open made Soo Yin turn towards the door. It was her husband who entered the room with a gloomy face.

"Is father already home?" Soo Yin shifted her body to sit on the edge of the bed.

"Yes," said Dae Hyun briefly.

"Why did father come here?" asked Soo Yin out of curiosity. Dae Hyun didn't let her out earlier so she obediently stayed in the room.

"He's just asking about work." Dae Hyun couldn't possibly tell the truth if his father asked Soo Yin to come to the hospital. She would definitely ask to be brought there.

"Does father know if I live here?"

"Of course he knows. Stay home with me today. Don't turn on your cellphone because I don't want anyone to disturb our togetherness. Tonight I have to go out of town again," Dae Hyun said as he reached out his hand to touch Soo Yin's cheek. Rubbed it gently.

"Hmm, I understand," said Soo Yin. Developed a cheerful smile on her thin lips.

"I clean myself first. Stay here and don't go anywhere," Dae Hyun asked once again.

Soo Yin nodded her head. Then sat while leaning on the head of the bed, she was reading the book that had been delayed again. But her concentration was disturbed because the pain in her legs was quite sore.

.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 373 - 373 - Rest Enough

Soo Yin decided to close the book again, then put the book on the nightstand.

Soo Yin started massaging her sore ankle slowly. Her muscles were stiff due to the recent lack of rest during the day. Soo Yin only slept late at night and had to get up early to go to the hospital immediately.

Dae Hyun walked over to Soo Yin after he finished changing into his casual clothes. Just wore a plain t-shirt and shorts. The plain t-shirt he wore fit perfectly on his body so that the picture of his stomach muscles was very clearly printed.

While out of town Dae Hyun spent time exercising if he couldn't sleep. The image of Soo Yin with another man always haunted him. To reduce his anxiety Dae Hyun did light exercise.

It was undeniable that Dae Hyun never felt at ease while he was gone without Soo Yin. Even though his body was in another place, his mind was always in Seoul.

Dae Hyun furrowed his brows when he saw Soo Yin who sounded like she whimpered in pain even though it was only faintly heard in his ears.

"Honey, what's wrong with your leg? Does it hurt?" Dae Hyun worried when he saw his wife was massaging her own feet.

"No, maybe because I rarely exercise, it makes my legs tired quickly," Soo Yin said with a grimace. She then hit her leg because of the pain at the wrong time.

"Honey, don't hurt your feet like that," said Dae Hyun, when he saw the look on his little wife's face who looked annoyed while several times punching her legs with fists.

Dae Hyun then sat in front of his wife, lifted her legs. Then put it on his lap. He gently rubbed the marks from Soo Yin's hit on her own leg.

"Don't do it again. If you're tired you should rest instead of hurting your feet," Dae Hyun said while blowing on it.

"I'm just annoyed that my leg hurts at the wrong time," Soo Yin said while pouting her lips.

"If it hurts, just say it. I will reduce the pressure so it's not too strong," said Dae Hyun. He started to press his fingers lightly on Soo Yin's feet.

Soo Yin nodded her head. For the umpteenth time, her feelings were touched by Dae Hyun's gentle treatment of her. Although his nature was sometimes stiff but there was a side that was so soft. This wasn't the first time Dae Hyun had done it, but Soo Yin's heart was still touched. Although earlier he said that he was tired and needed rest.

Soo Yin grabbed Dae Hyun's wrist. Stopped him from having to do that.

"Don't you want to rest? Let me massage my feet on my own," Soo Yin said gently. There was an uneasy feeling in her heart. After all, it was Soo Yin who was supposed to massage but this was the exact opposite.

"Being with you like this has made my mind rest for a moment not to think about you," Dae Hyun said with a smile. He didn't need sleep to make his body feel fit again. Seeing Soo Yin act sweet and spoiled already made him much happier.

That attitude had never been obtained from Aeri. Until finally now he completely gave up on their relationship. Their relationship this time was just a status.

Soo Yin's face turned red at her husband's statement. The more flowers were blooming in her heart. Cultivate a growing sense of love in her heart.

"From now on, don't do activities that are too tiring. You have to rest enough so you can concentrate on studying," said Dae Hyun.

"Hmmm, okay. I haven't even done anything all this time," Soo Yin said.

"From now on don't pay too much attention to Park Soo Hyun's requests. He is an adult so there is no need to obey his requests." There was an annoyed tone from Dae Hyun's words when he said something about his brother.

"Hmmm." Soo Yin nodded her head again. Wanted to obey and did not want to argue with his words.

"And remember one more thing .....", Dae Hyun said.

"What?" Soo Yin knitted her brows as she looked into her husband's eagle eyes.

"Don't get too close to any man. You have to keep your distance because you have a cold heart that you have to keep. You have to keep it warm," said Dae Hyun while patting his chest.

Soo Yin smiled, wanted to chuckle at her husband's words. It was true that Dae Hyun's heart was sometimes very cold. But when it warmed up he would become a very romantic man.

"Why are you smiling like that?" Dae Hyun asked. His hands hadn't stopped massaging his wife's feet ever since.

"No, I just find it funny to hear what you say," said Soo Yin. Couldn't stop laughing anymore.

Dae Hyun was happy to see Soo Yin laugh out loud like that. Her unwrinkled face looked even more adorable.

"Honey, thank you for today. You've been very good to me," Soo Yin said sincerely.

"A husband should be kind to his wife." Dae Hyun reached out his hand to hold Soo Yin's nape so that their faces were closer. Then landed a sweet kiss on her forehead.

It felt like Soo Yin's heart wanted to soar high. If only they could be this romantic every time it would be really nice.

Soo Yin leaned closer and hid her head in Dae Hyun's chest. She wanted it to always be like that. Let the time to stop so they can be together longer.

"Honey, did you not visit Jo Yeon Ho?" Soo Yin pulled her body back to sit like before.

"I really want to visit him but I don't want to meet Aeri." Dae Hyun sighed softly. If there were no accident, they would have been divorced by now. After the business was done he will really take care of the divorce again.

.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 374 - 374 - No Spirit

"I understand, but now Aeri rarely goes to the hospital with the excuse of taking care of Jo Yeon Ho," said Soo Yin. But it made her happy enough that no one bothered her while she was in the hospital.

"Maybe later before leaving I will go home for a while," said Dae Hyun. His father was right if he had a son to look out for.

"Let's go downstairs, I want to prepare lunch," said Soo Yin.

"No need, it's better to eat in the room. I don't want anything to happen to you. Your legs still hurt," Dae Hyun said.

"I don't want to eat in the room," said Soo Yin.

"Why though?"

"I don't want you to eat me," Soo Yin teased with an amused chuckle.

"That's right, weren't we planning something earlier?" Dae Hyun whispered in Soo Yin's ear.

"Plan?" Soo Yin widened her eyes.

"I'm sure you still remember it," said Dae Hyun while biting the tip of Soo Yin's ear.

Soo Yin shuddered and then moved her body slightly. Even though she was just meant to tease him. But it seemed that her husband actually took her words seriously.

"My legs still hurt," said Soo Yin, pretended to massage her leg.

"Don't lie. You even said that your legs are fine," Dae Hyun said with a mischievous glance.

"You're tired, you should just rest. Let me go downstairs to prepare food," said Soo Yin, she was about to shift her body to the side.

Dae Hyun didn't let Soo Yin get away with it. His wife who had teased him, she must also be responsible.

"Don't run away, because you have to take responsibility," said Dae Hyun. Didn't let go of Soo Yin's legs that were on his lap.

"I didn't do anything... hmph...." Before Soo Yin could say it, Dae Hyun had already covered her mouth with his lips.

Crushed it slowly which gave a very sweet sensation for both of them.

Finally, Soo Yin really didn't get out of bed. They continued to unite their love until the afternoon, without any fatigue and boredom. Tonight Dae Hyun had to go back again so he needed a sweet intake to increase his stamina.

It took a happy atmosphere so that while going out of town he would feel calm leaving Soo Yin.

oooooooooooooooooooo

Hallym University Medical Center Hospital.

A few days later,

Since morning, Mrs. Park had tried to persuade Park Soo Hyun but he wouldn't want to eat even one spoonful. He also didn't even want to do walking therapy which was about to start again. Since Soo Yin no longer came, Park Soo Hyun looked gloomy. Even though Mrs. Park had made it clear to him that Soo Yin was busy with her studies.

"Park Soo Hyun, eat first so you can recover quickly," said Mrs. Park, she looked like gently coaxed to a child.

"I don't have the appetite to eat, Mother," said Park Soo Hyun with a long sigh.

Hadn't met his idol since a few days ago, making the cavity in his chest increasingly distant. There was something empty in Park Soo Hyun's life. Even for breakfast, he was reluctant. Didn't know why he was being childish like this? Before meeting Soo Yin, he had never acted like this when he was sick. Always took care of his own life because he was far from family.

"Honey, you need to recover quickly. Do you want to see Soo Yin sad because she keeps seeing you in this state? If you are healthy again, can't you meet Soo Yin whenever you want?" Patiently Mrs. Park tried to give him understanding. She knew that her youngest son must be thinking about the girl right now.

"I'm just feeling sorry that I couldn't come to her campus that day. Soo Yin is in Seoul without a family, Mother. She must be very sad that no one came to the event of students' admission," said Park Soo Hyun with a long sigh. He cursed himself for not being able to walk even though he had been doing therapy for a week.

"Soo Yin is a good girl so there will be many people who care about her," said Mrs. Park.

"Is she mad that she doesn't come here again, Mom?" said Park Soo Hyun bitterly.

Not only that, that had been on his mind for the past few days. The thought of Soo Yin who was hugging another man bothered him quite a bit. He was so curious because he had not had time to see his face clearly at that time.

He wanted to ask her directly who the man was but his mother was always with them so Park Soo Hyun was reluctant to ask. He didn't want Soo Yin to be blamed for the accident that happened to him.

"Is there anything else bothering you?" asked Mrs. Park. A mother's feelings were never wrong, she felt something was bothering her son's mind.

"No, Mom. I just miss her because she hasn't come for a few days," Park Soo Hyun said while developing a faint smile. Didn't want to make his mother think anything wrong.

"If there is free time, she will definitely come here," said Mrs. Park.

Park Soo Hyun sighed softly. He hoped that today he could see her again, even if only briefly.

Check....

There was the sound of a door opening.

"Uncle! Grandma!" exclaimed Jo Yeon Ho suddenly as he opened the door wide. This was the first time Aeri had allowed him to come to the hospital after his uncle woke up. And that was because he kept whining so Aeri allowed him.

"Yeon Ho? Come here," said Park Soo Hyun as he reached out his hand to hug his nephew. Long time no see him, made him miss the child so much. He missed his spoiled attitude.

With a wide smile on his lips, Jo Yeon Ho then jogged closer to Park Soo Yin's bed.

"When can Uncle come home? I want to play with Uncle again," said Jo Yeon Ho with a pursed lips.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 375 - 375 - Pretend To Sleep

Park Soo Hyun smiled hearing that and pinched his cheeks because he was so adorable.

"Yeon Hoo, where is your mother?" asked Mrs. Park who didn't see her daughter-in-law. There was no way Aeri would let her son run alone into the hospital.

"Mother just took me then left again," Yeon Ho said honestly.

"Oh my, it's good that you didn't get lost all the way here," said Mrs. Park, then gently stroked the top of the child's head.

In recent days Aeri was rarely at home, didn't know what she was doing outside the house. Even now she rarely went to the hospital.

"I'm a big boy, Grandma. There's no way I'm lost," said Jo Yeon Ho excitedly.

Mrs. Park chuckled at the sight of her grandson who posed like he was shrugging his shoulders. Wanted to show off his shoulder muscles that weren't even visible.

"Can't you walk yet?" asked Jo Yeon Ho. His tiny hand was placed on Park Soo Hyun's leg. Then press the foot gently. Although he rarely went to the hospital, the boy always asked his grandmother about his uncle's condition.

"Soon, uncle will soon be able to walk. Today you accompany your uncle to practice again," said Mrs. Park.

"Of course," Jo Yeon Ho said while nodding his head.

"You are a good boy," Park Soo Hyun said while ruffling Yeon Ho's hair.

"Is your father not home yet?" Park Soo Hyun asked.

"Not yet, mother said father would be out of town for a long time," said Jo Yeon Ho.

Jo Yeon Ho's arrival at the hospital gave him a more cheerful atmosphere. The hospital room that seemed so boring had now become more colorful.

Jo Yeon Ho's presence in there could make Park Soo Hyun momentarily forget about Soo Yin. The boy could really comfort his dilemmatic heart.

Not long after, there was a knock on the door. Park Soo Hyun was already pounding, hoped that it was the girl he had been waiting for.

"Come in!" Mrs. Park shouted.

As soon as the door opened, a beautiful woman appeared wearing a black dress that was just above the knee.

Park Soo Hyun immediately put on a sour face when he saw her. It wasn't someone he was waiting for. Seeing her dress which was so sexy made him uncomfortable. Since meeting Soo Yin, he preferred to see girls who dressed modestly.

"Good morning everyone," said Li Sa. In her hands, she was carrying a fruit parcel.

"Li Sa, come in," Mrs. Park said while smiling warmly. Even though her son looked displeased, she still had to welcome the guest well.

"Soo Hyun, how are you? Is the therapy going well?" Li Sa said as she put the fruit she was carrying on the nightstand.

"Of course," said Park Soo Hyun briefly. Reluctant to answer questions from Li Sa. His face couldn't hide his dislikes for Li Sa.

Kim Soo Hyun found out that Li Sa was being unkind to Soo Yin. That was why he turned against her although he was fine at first.

"Mother, I want to sleep. Please don't disturb me," said Park Soo Hyun. Then tilted his back to Li Sa, then pulled the blanket to cover his head. He hoped Li Sa would leave the room as soon as possible.

"Unfortunately it seems that I came at the wrong time. I didn't think it's time to sleep because it's still early," said Li Sa.

"Perhaps because of the effect of the medicine given by the doctor so that he is sleepy," Mrs. Park said to give reasons.

Park Soo Hyun's attempts to pretend to be asleep finally managed to make Li Sa leave after almost an hour of being there.

=====

Pyeongchang-dong villa.

Soo Yin was still asleep in the prone position. The sun's rays had already started to shine on her skin until it seemed to shimmer like snow. Today she did not attend college so she wanted to enjoy more time to rest. She wanted to wake up as she pleased when her eyes just wanted to open.

The bed was a mess because Soo Yin was sleeping irregularly. Last night, she spent the time making a video call with Dae Hyun until late at night. They expressed their passionate longing for each other.

These few days Soo Yin was really busy with her studies because she just entered. She had to adapt to a new environment she wasn't familiar with. Including new friends. Luckily Soo Yin was in the same class as Jae-hwa so it was not too difficult if there was anything to ask.

Aunt Xia had wanted to wake Soo Yin up several times but couldn't bear to see Soo Yin's face that looked very tired.

Until the ringing of the cell phone echoed in the room, made Soo Yin feel that her sleep was disturbed. Even so, her hands continued to grope the nightstand where her cell phone was.

"Hello," said Soo Yin in a hoarse voice without looking at the phone screen.

"Honey, did you just wake up? Put the phone in front of your face, not to your ear," said a familiar voice in Soo Yin's ear.

Soo Yin's eyes immediately widened at Dae Hyun's voice. She sat up hastily and brushed her messy hair. Then put it on the bed, facing the camera towards the ceiling.

"Honey, what are you doing?" Dae Hyun said, because Soo Yin hadn't showed up.

"Wait a minute, I'm combing my hair," Soo Yin exclaimed, she was brushing her hair quickly and then brushing her face so it wouldn't look messy.

"No need to overdo it like that. You don't need to beautify your face," said Dae Hyun, he was chuckling amused.

Meeting face to face with a video call was very different. Soo Yin didn't want to look messy in front of her husband if they were far apart.

"What did you call me in the early morning for? Aren't you busy?" Soo Yin said while looking at the phone screen. She saw Dae Hyun who had dressed neatly and looked perfect. It was natural that many women out there were trying to flirt with him.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 376 - 376 -

"I just wanted to see you before leaving for work," Dae Hyun said with a charming smile.

"You should have said if you'd call me in the morning." Soo Yin pursed her lips.

Her current appearance was truly pathetic. Her eyelids were black like a panda, her face was wrinkled, typical of waking up people. In contrast to Dae Hyun who was already pleasing to the eye.

"So what?"

"At least I have to clean myself and apply makeup before you see me. Look at my very unpleasant face," Soo Yin said as she yawned because she was still sleepy.

"I prefer to see you like that. Without makeup, you look more beautiful," said Dae Hyun. No matter how ugly her face was, a girl will always look beautiful in the eyes of the man who loved her.

"Ah, men's mouths are always like that," Soo Yin sneered.

"You always don't believe me. Okay, I just want to see you for a moment. Now I have to go to work," said Dae Hyun.

"Are you still at the hotel?" asked Soo Yin.

"I am. Take good care of yourself until I come back," said Dae Hyun.

"Of course, hurry home because I already miss you," Soo Yin whined in a spoiled tone. Pushed her lips forward with a very adorable face.

If they were close, Dae Hyun would have felt her sweet lips that were so tempting.

"In a few days, I will definitely go home. Remember all of my messages," said Dae Hyun just to remind her.

Soo Yin rolled her eyes. Every time they made a call, Dae Hyun always didn't forget to say it.

After they gave each other a long-distance kiss, Soo Yin hung up the phone.

Since the tragedy of flowers during the admissions, Dae Hyun was now much more sweet and considerate.

In the past, when he was out of town, he was always unreachable. Now that had changed, he was the one who always contacted Soo Yin. Dae Hyun was afraid of losing Soo Yin. He felt rivaled by so many young men. That was why Dae Hyun was now more considerate and less angry.

His cold heart was now warm. Although Soo Yin didn't know his attitude would last temporarily or forever.

Soo Yin patted her forehead, she just remembered that this morning she wanted to visit Park Soo Hyun at the hospital. Had not been there in several days made her feel bad. Moreover, she had not yet thanked him for the congratulations and flowers at that time.

Before leaving Soo Yin wanted to prepare food for him as an expression of gratitude. Hopefully, Park Soo Hyun wouldn't think too much about it.

=====

Hallym University Medical Center Hospital,

Soo Yin asked Chung Ho to take her for fear that she would be too late to arrive at the hospital. It would be a waste because she would definitely not be allowed in if it wasn't visiting time.

As per Dae Hyun's request, Soo Yin should not overdress in front of other men. So she just tied his hair like a tail. Her clothes were also simple.

Before arriving at the entrance, Soo Yin had already passed Li Sa. Soo Yin took a deep breath, pretended not to notice Li Sa's existence because she was reluctant to argue.

However, it was not Li Sa if she let Soo Yin get away with it without causing trouble.

As soon as Soo Yin was in front of her, Li Sa stretched out her legs in front of Soo Yin to block her steps. Soo Yin kept pretending to look away and then deliberately kicked Li Sa's leg, almost causing her to fall.

"Argghhh!" Li Sa shouted as she lifted her left leg which was hit by Soo Yin's kick.

"Don't your eyes see if there's someone here," Li Sa grumbled as she slightly raised her reddened legs. Then wiped it with the palm of the hand.

"Oops, I'm sorry Li Sa. I thought there was no one in front of me," said Soo Yin, pretended to be surprised to see Li Sa.

"You don't have to pretend. You kicked my leg on purpose, didn't you?" Li Sa said with emotions that were starting to peak.

"On purpose? Weren't you the one who deliberately put your foot in front of me? You wanted to make me fall?" Soo Yin said with an even expression.

"How... how could it be like that," Li Sa stuttered.

"See I'll tell Aunt Park if you're so mean to me," Li Sa threatened by raising her other lip up.

"Just say it, I'm not afraid. If they look at CCTV then you will end up losing too," said Soo Yin boldly.

"You're so insolent!" Li Sa cursed while clenching her fists in anger.

"I'll go in first, because I didn't want to have anything to do with you here," Soo Yin said and stepped inside. As long as there were no friends, Li Sa will not be too brave to her.

"Damn it! Look, soon you also must be expelled!" Li Sa sneered. With a loud stomping of her feet, she immediately walked to her car.

Before Soo Yin actually entered, she turned her head back slightly to make sure Li Sa was gone. She seemed to be walking away annoyed.

Soo Yin held her chest, because this was the first time she was too brave to Li Sa. She would sooner or later take revenge, but Soo Yin didn't care at all.

Soo Yin immediately took the elevator to the third floor. Before leaving, at first she intended to invite Jean but it was a shame because Jean didn't want to. The reason was because Park Soo Hyun had already woken up and he wouldn't like her presence there.

But Soo Yin can understand Jean's feelings, whose love was one-sided. This was where Soo Yin's situation always went awry.

Ting ....

After a while, the elevator doors finally opened. Soo Yin immediately came out, stepped into the room occupied by Park Soo Hyun. Hopefully this was the right time to visit.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 377 - 377 - Awkward

Soo Yin bit her lower lip as she was about to touch the doorknob. There was a worry in her heart. Until finally Soo Yin got the courage to slowly the door slowly.

"Good morning, everyone," Soo Yin said as she bowed. Then stepped inside after closing the door again.

"Darling, you're finally here." Mrs. Park immediately got up from her seat, then greeted her with a warm hug.

Soo Yin felt comfortable like feeling a hug from her birth mother that she had longed for. She hoped that if Mrs. Park's attitude to her will remain forever like that.

"Honey, how about your college? Is everything going well?" asked Mrs. Park while letting go of her hug.

"Everything is fine, Mother. Sorry I just came here again because the first entry really made me busy," said Soo Yin. She glanced at Park Soo Hyun who wrapped his body in the blanket Park Soo Hyun hadn't removed his headgear yet. Still hid his head under the blanket in a tilted position. He thought that Li Sa would come back after leaving so just in case, he still stuck with what he did earlier.

"Thank God, I'm glad to hear that," said Mrs. Park.

"Unnie, we haven't seen each other for a long time," Jo Yeon Ho said, while hugging Soo Yin's leg. He hid his head on Soo Yin's legs.

"Right, how are you?" Soo Yin crouched down in front of the child to match their height.

"I'm fine. Next time, we should go out with father again," Jo Yeon Ho said innocently.

"Of... of course," Soo Yin stuttered. Felt anxious if Mrs. Park suspected them.

"Did you guys often go out together?" Mrs. Park raised her eyebrows. Felt strange because when with Aeri, they were rarely together.

"Only that time, Mother," Soo Yin stuttered.

"Too bad Park Soo Hyun is sleeping even though I've brought food for breakfast. I seem to have come too late today." Soo Yin tried to divert the conversation so that her mother-in-law wouldn't ask further because she wasn't very good at lying.

When hearing Soo Yin's voice, Park Soo Hyun's heart was relieved. The flower in his heart that began to wither, now seemed to be watered. Made it fresh again. Park Soo Hyun was still in his position. He smiled to himself while holding his chest which was beating fast. But when he heard Soo Yin who sounded desperate because she thought he was asleep, Park Soo Hyun pretended to squirm.

"I didn't sleep," said Park Soo Hyun. Then turned his body into a supine position. Afraid that Soo Yin will leave the hospital.

"I thought you were really asleep," said Mrs. Park.

"No, Mom. After trying to close my eyes, but the drowsiness doesn't come," said Park Soo Hyun.

"How are you now? Are you getting better?" asked Soo Yin. At least knowing that Park Soo Hyun had recovered made her feel at ease.

"As long as you're not here, Park Soo Hyun is not enthusiastic about his walking therapy. Sometimes he doesn't even want to do it," said Mrs. Park while chuckling.

"You shouldn't be like that. You have to keep your spirits up to recover quickly," said Soo Yin.

"Then accompany me to do therapy today," said Park Soo Hyun.

"Have you had breakfast? If not, I brought food for you," said Soo Yin, who almost forgot what she brought.

"Park Soo Hyun did not want to eat since earlier. Mother even persuaded him but he still didn't want to," said Mrs. Park who answered everytime Park Soo Hyun just wanted to open his mouth.

"Since you rarely come, he is not enthusiastic about his treatment," added Mrs. Park.

Soo Yin was stunned for a moment. Was it true what her mother-in-law said? Her current position was very difficult. On the other hand, she wanted to obey her husband's will not to be too close to any man. On the other hand, she didn't have the heart to Park Soo Hyun because after all, Soo Yin still felt guilty about what happened to him.

"Mother? Can you not say it? You make me feel embarrassed," said Park Soo Hyun. Felt embarrassed that his mother was too honest about telling Soo Yin everything even though that was what really happened.

"He even asks about you almost all the time," whispered Mrs. Park in Soo Yin's ear without caring about her son's CNN protests.

Soo Yin only responded with a faint smile.

"You shouldn't be like that. You have to recover like how you used to. You have to be enthusiastic," said Soo Yin.

"Okay, then accompany me to learn to walk. But not here, I want to enjoy the fresh air outside," asked Park Soo Hyun.

"It's better to have breakfast first. Only then, you can do it," said Mrs. Park to make Park Soo Hyun even more excited.

"Hmm, alright." Park Soo Hyun nodded his head, agreed to his mother's request. Soo Yin's arrival made his mood improve and his spirit to recover even greater.

Soo Yin smiled faintly at Mrs. Park. Then put the food she brought on the nightstand.

"Yeon Ho, let's accompany grandma to the supermarket," said Mrs. Park to her favorite grandson. She could understand that maybe her presence would not make her son and Soo Yin comfortable.

"Mother, where are you going?" Soo Yin asked quickly. She had a hunch that her mother-in-law deliberately let her to be with Park Soo Hyun.

"Soo Yin, please take care of Park Soo Hyun for a moment. I just want to go out for a while to buy something," Mrs. Park said.

Before Soo Yin had time to open her mouth to stop her, Mrs. Park had asked Yeon Ho to leave the room. The situation was very awkward.

Park Soo Hyun actually felt relaxed when his mother was about to leave. That meant there was plenty of time for them to be together. His mother was the best at reading his mind.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 378 - 378 - Just Friends

Now the atmosphere in the hospital room was quiet. Soo Yin remained silent in her place. She bit her lower lip because she was nervous. Actually wanted to open a conversation but didn't know where to start because Park Soo Hyun was silent.

Park Soo Hyun just smiled to himself while looking closely at Soo Yin's reddened face. He wanted to enjoy the perfect sculpture that God had created. Even though she only used a light powder and a simple appearance, she was able to make Park Soo Hyun reluctant to take his eyes off of her.

"Soo Hyun, thank you for the bouquet of flowers you gave a few days ago. Sorry, if it's just now that I say thank you," said Soo Yin in the end who opened her voice because she was uncomfortable with the gaze that continued to stare at her.

Soo Yin kept her gaze lowered because she didn't want to meet Park Soo Hyun's eyes. She was now calling him by his name according to Mrs. Park's wishes.

"I should apologize for not being able to attend an important event for you," said Park Soo Hyun. His eyes continued to fixedly stare at the girl who was looking down while playing with her fingers. He knew that Soo Yin was very nervous right now.

"It's not important at all because it's not a graduation ceremony," said Soo Yin.

"That's also important. After all, you've been accepted there. It's something to be very proud of because you have to compete with hundreds of other participants," said Parko Soo Hyun. Then stretched out his hand to hold Soo Yin's hand.

Soo Yin gasped at what her brother-in-law did. Cold sweat was already dripping from her palms. She had mixed feelings right now. Especially the feeling of fear if Park Soo Hyun asked about the answer at this time.

"By the way how do you know if it's from me? I don't think I wrote my name on the paper?" Park Soo Hyun teased while raising one eyebrow up.

"I'm just guessing if it's your writing. The words you wrote show that it's you," Soo Yin said while scratching her head that didn't itch.

Soo Yin felt stupid for being overconfident if the flower was from Park Soo Hyun. It could be that the flowers were sent wrong. Soo Yin cursed her stupidity. Felt annoyed because her self-confidence was too high.

Park Soo Hyun smiled at Soo Yin's reddened face.

"Your guess is right. Even though at first I wanted to come there to give it directly but my circumstances didn't allow me to go there," said Park Soo Hyun.

"Once again, I thank you," said Soo Yin. She kept trying to free her hand but Park Soo Hyun's grip was too strong.

"Hmm, may I ask you something?" said Park Soo Hyun. He couldn't contain his curiosity anymore

"Of course." Soo Yin held her head up despite being nervous.

"Are you close with other men besides me?" asked Park Soo Hyun without letting go of her hand. He wanted to hear an honest answer from his idol.

Soo Yin's heart stopped to pump. So many questions ran through her mind until she was stunned.

'Does he know that I'm in touch with his brother?' Soo Yin thought in silence.

"I i ...." Soo Yin's lips couldn't even speak the truth. It was not that she didn't want to say it but Dae Hyun's status was still Aeri's husband. She didn't want other people to think badly of her.

"Just say it, if you're just friends I won't be angry," Park Soo Hyun said. Even though there was a trace of jealousy, he didn't want Soo Yin to think he was a possessive man.

Soo Yin racked her brain, tried to remember if maybe Park Soo Hyun had seen her with another man. If he was suspicious of his brother it was impossible to say 'just friends'.

Soo Yin kept on remembering before the accident that happened to her. But still the result was nothing. She didn't remember anything suspicious.

"I don't understand," Soo Yin said, while shaking her head slowly.

"Who hugged you when you saw the announcement on campus?" Park Soo Hyun now looked more serious. Not like how he used to, which was more relaxed.

"Oh, that ... He is Jae-hwa, we have been friends for a long time," said Soo Yin. She still remembered when Jae-hwa for the first time hugged her because they felt happy.

"How did you know about that?" Soo Yin added while narrowing her eyes. Felt suspicious if someone took their photo at that time. There was no way Park Soo Hyun had come to see it in person.

"Ah, forget it. I only thought of who the man you were with was. I just remembered that he also works at the hotel," said Park Soo Hyun. Now he can breathe a sigh of relief because there was no relationship between them.

"You said you brought food for me? Where's the food because my stomach feels very hungry," continued Park Soo Hyun. He diverted the conversation so that Soo Yin wouldn't ask that question again.

Soo Yin then opened the lunch box on the nightstand, put it on the plate. Then handed it to Park Soo Hyun.

"Please, sorry if my cooking is not good," said Soo Yin.

But Park Soo Hyun did not reach out to accept it. His brow furrowed as he opened his mouth.

"I want you to feed me," Park Soo Hyun said honestly because Soo Yin couldn't read his mind either.

Soo Yin took a deep breath. Can't help but reach out her hand to feed Park Soo Hyun. Really regretted to have brought food earlier.

Park Soo Hyun started to chew the food until something very salty tasted from his mouth. He seemed to be chewing the salt that was still intact until it caused the sensation of wanting to vomit it all up.

"Is the food bad?" Soo Yin said while frowning. When she saw the expression on Park Soo Hyun's face that seemed to be holding back something bad.

.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 379 - 379 - Engagement Plan

"No, this food is too good for me," said Park Soo Hyun, grinning. Tried to hold back the salty taste that was felt to the crown.

When making it, Soo Yin was in a hurry so she didn't pay much attention to what she put in the food being made. Might as well forgot to stir it.

Park Soo Hyun's neck felt like it was choking but he tried his best to swallow it.

"Eat some more," said Soo Yin.

Park Soo Hyun was forced to open his mouth even though it felt heavy. Maybe this was what he had to pay to feel the happiness of meeting Soo Yin.

It was okay, as long as he could see Soo Yin, he would endure it. Luckily for the second and subsequent bites the food was not too salty so it could save him from high blood pressure that he might be suffering from

After finishing breakfast, not long after, the doctor who treated Park Soo Hyun came to check his current condition. He also said that today he would practice to walk again.

Park Soo Hyun wanted to do it on condition that he was outdoors because more than a month in the hospital made him very bored. Had to smell the drugs that often made his stomach feel queasy.

Soo Yin helped Park Soo Hyun got up from bed to sit in a wheelchair. The man didn't want the nurse to help him to sit down.

Mrs. Park and Jo Yeon Ho did not come, they stayed in the room until, not long after, Park Ji Hoon arrived. They wanted to give Soo Yin and Park Soo Hyun more time together.

Mrs. Park had already planned an engagement party if Park Soo Hyun had fully recovered. Although she hadn't expressed her intentions to Park Soo Hyun and Soo Yin yet. She will ask for the opinion of Park Ji Hoon who just happened to have just arrived.

"What do you think if we have Park Soo Hyun's engagement party with Soo Yin?" Mrs. Park said to her husband.

"What do you mean? Not necessarily Soo Yin will accept him," said Park Ji Hoon.

If this reached Dae Hyun's ears, he will surely be furious. Not only that, what Park Ji Hoon was worried about was that his son will confess about his relationship with Soo Yin.

"What do you mean by talking like that? Why do you look like you don't like it? Soo Yin will definitely accept our son," said Mrs. Park with full of confidence.

"Soo Yin has just entered college. She will not agree to accept this engagement," said Park Ji Hoon. Tried to give understanding to his wife not to do anything. He did not want a cold war between his two sons.

"So what if she has just entered college? Many people out there are married and have just gone to college," said Mrs. Park didn't want to lose.

"Park Soo Hyun has just recovered. Don't think too far ahead. Park Soo Hyun must take care of the hotel properly before getting married," said Park Ji Hoon firmly.

"Ji Hoon, sooner or later Park Soo Hyun will definitely get married. Isn't his position as a new director inaugurated after having a wife. Like Dae Hyun used to be?" Mrs. Park said.

"It's true, but let Park Soo Hyun take care of the hotel then getting married," said Park Ji Hoon. If it wasn't for his eldest son, he would definitely not want to argue with his wife.

"What's really going on with you? You used to demand Dae Hyun to get married, even though he always refused. But why when Park Soo Hyun already had the woman of his choice you wouldn't press him," said Mrs. Park who was starting to feel suspicious.

"Dae Hyun had worked at the hotel for a long time, while Park Soo Hyun had only been work for a few months. It was very different," said Park Ji Hoon with a sigh.

Park Ji Hoon got up from his seat because he didn't want to argue with his wife for long.

"I'd better go back to the hotel now. The absence of Dae Hyun made a lot of work that I have to taken care of," Park Ji Hoon said goodbye.

While Dae Hyun was out of town, Park Ji Hoon had to take care of hotel matters again.

"All right, then be careful on the road," said Mrs. Park, who also stood up. Then tidied up the tie that hung around her husband's neck. Even though they were no longer young, they always looked harmonious.

"Yeon Ho, grandpa will go," said Park Ji Hoon to his grandson who was busy drawing on the sofa. He rubbed the top of his grandson's head gently.

"Yes, grandpa," said Jo Yeon Ho.

Park Ji Hoon finally left the hospital without meeting Park Soo Hyun. Because when he arrived, Park Soo Hyun had just gone out with Soo Yin to do therapy.

If his wife didn't talk about sensitive things like that, he would definitely wait for Park Soo Hyun until he finished the therapy.

o

o

Before doing therapy, Park Soo Hyun wanted to go around the hospital garden at the back of the building. The place was very comfortable and cool. Took a deep breath of fresh air from his nose and then exhaled through his mouth.

Soo Yin had always been pushing the wheelchair occupied by Park Soo Hyun even though her legs were already sore from walking around for a long time.

The nurse who accompanied them also always followed them. Made Park Soo Hyun feel furious. He wanted to be alone with Soo Yin but failed.

"Sir, we should do the therapy now so that the condition of your feet recovers quickly," said the nurse.

Park Soo Hyun glanced sharply at the impatient nurse. Made his mood which had been improved, wanted to be angry again.

"It's true what the nurse said, Soo Hyun. We've been outside for a long time," Soo Yin coaxed. Tired too if she had to comply with his request.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 380 - 380 - Helper

"Okay, I want to do it here," said Park Soo Hyun.

"Very well, sir," said the nurse. Then prepared all the necessary equipment. Started from the crutches that used to help Park Soo Hyun walk.

"Come on sir, I'll help you," said the nurse.

"Soo Yin, I want you to do it," said Park Soo Hyun as he extended his hands to Soo Yin.

Soo Yin finally helped Park Soo Hyun even though she felt uncomfortable because occasionally Park Soo Hyun put his arm around her waist. If Dae Hyun found out then she was finished.

Now Park Soo Hyun had started walking with a cane. After several walks back and forth, he started to look smooth and fine. So, the nurse asked Park Soo Hyun to walk without a cane. Just used the handles which on both of his sides.

"Come on, sir. Soon you will recover," said the nurse to give encouragement.

Now Park Soo Hyun was walking just by holding on to Soo Yin's hand. Instead of focusing on his legs, Park Soo Hyun stared intently at Soo Yin's face, which was so beautiful that he unconsciously could now walk upright. His legs didn't feel stiff anymore to move.

"Finally now you can walk," Soo Yin exclaimed as she pranced happily while clapping her hands. She was really happy to see the man was able to walk upright. The burden on her shoulders was over, from now on there was no need to feel guilty anymore.

"It's because you're here that it makes me much more excited," said Park Soo Hyun. Seeing Soo Yin laugh out loud made him feel happy. He thought if Soo Yin really loved him.

"I didn't help at all. It was the nurse who helped you," said Soo Yin, she was unable to hide her happiness.

After they finished, they finally went back inside for further inspection.

oooooo

The same night, Park Soo Hyun asked to go home from the hospital after doctor Wang checked his condition. Even though he had recovered, Park Soo Hyun still had to have check-ups twice a week to ensure his health.

For the condition of his feet, it will recover over time. Because it took a habit to walk again.

"Soo Yin, I am very grateful to you. You are truly a goddess of help to our family," Mrs. Park said while hugging Soo Yin's body. Tears of joy escaped from her eyes.

"Mother, I didn't do anything. You are the one who always encourages Soo Hyun." Soo Yin rubbed the middle aged woman's back.

The atmosphere was really emotional yet very happy. Mrs. Park was endlessly grateful that her youngest son had recovered.

"We'd better go home now," said Park Ji Hoon.

Soo Yin had intended to go home in the afternoon but she felt bad if she had to refuse Mrs. Park who asked her to stay and asked her to the UN Village.

Even though Soo Yin's body was already tired. If she didn't hesitate, she must have been massaging her feet since she was tired. Soo Yin was now carrying a bag to go home.

"Let the maid carry it," Mrs. Park said, she smiled as she snatched the bag Soo Yin was carrying from her hand.

"You'd better help Soo Hyun to walk because it seems like his legs are not too used to walk," continued Mrs. Park, she pointed at Park Soo Hyun who was already standing but his hands were still holding on to the wall.

"But, mother..." Soo Yin was about to reject it.

"Hurry up and help him, make him excited to walk because you are beside him," said Mrs. Park.

Soo Yin looked at Park Soo Hyun for a moment while putting on a sour face. There was no other choice, so even though she was reluctant, Soo Yin still walked over to Park Soo Hyun.

"Soo Hyun, let me help you," Soo Yin said.

"Thank you," said Park Soo Hyun happily. Then put his hand on Soo Yin's shoulder. However, Soo Yin didn't really support his body because Park Soo Hyun was actually able to walk. He just wanted the attention from his idol.

Soo Yin was forced to carry Park Soo Hyun's body up to the car. She thought they were all going to be in one car together. But in fact, Soo Yin was sitting in the back seat only with Park Soo Hyun. Even though there was a driver but Soo Yin still felt uncomfortable.

Street lights began to enter into the transparent glass. Soo Yin sat restlessly while clutching her skirt tightly. It indicated the discomfort that she felt.

Soo Yin kept pushing her body to the side to create some distance between them. But every time Soo Yin shifted, Park Soo Hyun also shifted his body closer to Soo Yin.

"Soo Yin, tonight you're staying at our house, right?" asked Park Soo Hyun to break the silence.

"I should just go home because tomorrow I have to go to college," said Soo Yin. She just gave an excuse even though tomorrow there will be no courses or any business.

"Hopefully someday you can become a successful doctor. If later I get sick, I don't have to bother going to the hospital because there is already a beautiful doctor who accompanies me," Park Soo Hyun said, accompanied by chuckles.

Soo Yin just smirked. Her head was hurting to hear Park Soo Hyun's words.

"Thank you," Soo Yin said with a faint smile. She was reluctant to respond to the statement of the man beside her.

Park Soo Hyun really pressed his body against Soo Yin's side so they weren't far apart.

"Don't get too far from me. Won't we always be close later?" Park Soo Hyun teased as his lips pulled back. Carved a beautiful smile, if the girl beside him wasn't Soo Yin, they might have melted.

Soo Yin's heart was already covered to receive the seduction of any man. Her heart could only melt if Dae Hyun did it. The man she hated at first but now she loved him dearly.