

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 401 - 401- Inwangsan Mountain

It took almost an hour to reach the Inwangsan Mountain area. Along the way, Soo Yin kept on shining, forgetting the trouble that would be obtained because she had violated her husband's prohibition. She really wanted to try the martial arts shown by Park Soo Hyun.

"Hmmm, the place is a bit far so we have to walk to get to the top." Park Soo Hyun doubted Soo Yin's ability to climb hundreds of stairs. Shouldn't have taken her there. But seeing her looking excited made him not have the heart.

"No problem, I can definitely do it," Soo Yin said with great confidence in her ability.

Soo Yin got out of the car first because she was impatient. Wanted to enjoy the beautiful green trees as far as the eye can see.

Inwangsan Mountain was a mountain with a height of 338 meters. In the past, Park Soo Hyun was evacuated there when his parents could no longer take care of him due to his delinquency which was difficult to cure.

Park Soo Hyun was there for a few months while still in high school.

"How did you know this place?" asked Soo Yin, curious that a rich person like Park Soo Hyun knew of a place hidden behind a mountain.

"It was my father and mother who brought me to this place," said Park Soo Hyun, grimacing. There was a sense of shame when he wanted to continue the story.

"Why?" Soo Yin frowned until her brows knitted together.

"When I was in school I was very unruly and my behavior was very bad," said Park Soo Hyun shyly.

"Really? It's unbelievable that you were such an unruly child back then." Soo Yin chuckled amused hearing Park Soo Hyun's story.

"In the past I also changed my own name to Park. With the reason that I didn't like my name and it wasn't cool," said Park Soo Hyun, who laughed with Soo Yin. It was great to be able to laugh together with the people we loved.

"No wonder your name is different from Mr. Dae Hyun. I think your parents deliberately gave a different name," Soo Yin said.

"I used to be really bad and used to fight almost every day. My parents couldn't stand it and brought me here."

Soo Yin shook her head, it was unbelievable that behind Park Soo Hyun's very friendly attitude, he turned out to have a dark past.

"Never mind, we better get up soon. You said not to come home too late," said Park Soo Hyun.

Soo Yin nodded her head.

They immediately climbed one by one the stairs made of stone. The stairs can only be climbed by one person because it was very narrow and there was no safety on both sides. One step wrong, then they will fall.

Park Soo Hyun asked Soo Yin to walk in front, because he was afraid that if Soo Yin was tired, the man would not know.

Only half way through, Soo Yin's legs already felt weak. But as much as possible, she tried to hold it. She didn't want to make Park Soo Hyun worry.

"Are you tired? If you're tired, climb on my back," said Park Soo Hyun worriedly when he saw the sweat that was already dripping down Soo Yin's face.

Soo Yin repeatedly wiped her sweat with the back of her hand. The condition that was already noon coupled with the hot weather made her throat feel dry.

"No, I just need a drink," Soo Yin said breathlessly. It turned out that getting to the top required a struggle.

Park Soo Hyun then opened the mineral bottle cap, then handed it to Soo Yin.

"Thank you," said Soo Yin. Then drank the drinking water until it was half a bottle. She was really thirsty right now.

"If you're tired you should rest. Or can you climb on my back?" Carrying Soo Yin was the best way for them to arrive quickly and Soo Yin didn't get tired.

"No need, I can still walk by myself," said Soo Yin quickly. She intended not to be close to Park Soo Hyun. Her heart and body already belonged to Dae Hyun only.

Soo Yin quickened her pace up the stairs, leaving them a few steps apart.

After half an hour of walking, they finally reached the top. The place was very flat with a nice view. There we can see the city of Seoul with towering office buildings.

Soo Yin thought the place at the top would be disorganized. But it was much different from her imagination.

"Aaaaaaaa...." Soo Yin shouted as she spread her arms to relieve fatigue. The tiredness in her legs was replaced by a very stunning beautiful view.

Park Soo Hyun smiled as he watched Soo Yin twisted her body a few times. Her long hair fluttered in the mountain breeze. Her very beautiful face glowed even more.

Park Soo Hyun let Soo Yin outside because she was enjoying the natural scenery around her. He then walked towards the gate first.

There were two people in charge of guarding the gate.

"I want to meet my teacher," said Park Soo Hyun.

The two gatekeepers looked at each other. They didn't recognize Park Soo Hyun's face because they hadn't seen him in a long time.

"I'm Park Soo Hyun, teacher Cheon will definitely know me," said Park Soo Hyun.

"Are you Park Soo Hyun the son of Mr. Park Ji Hoon?" One of them made sure that his guess was not wrong.

"That's right," said Park Soo Hyun.

"It turns out that you were the one who was always making trouble when you first came here?" said the other guard.

Park Soo Hyun just smirked while scratching the back of his head. In the past, Park Soo Hyun was also known as a bad student.

"Please come in, teacher Cheon is inside. I haven't seen you here in a long time," said the guard.

"I've been a bit busy these past few months," said Park Soo Hyun.

"I left the girl so that you guys pay attention to her. If she asks where I am, bring her inside," Park Soo Hyun ordered the guard while pointing at Soo Yin's whereabouts.

"Okay, you don't have to worry. Leave everything to us."

Park Soo Hyun looked at Soo Yin who was sitting on the ground under a tree. After making sure she was okay, he immediately stepped inside.

The place was like a hermitage with the style of the house was still traditional. Nothing had changed from that place since then.

Park Soo Hyun continued to walk while looking around the hermitage. It turned out that in the usual place for practice, the voices of people practicing could be heard. Park Soo Hyun peeked through the fence. It turned out that right now, many people were practicing in that place.

"What are you doing here?"

Park Soo Hyun jumped in surprise when he heard a voice that was so scary sounded in his ears. He held his chest, Park Soo Hyun immediately turned his head.

"Mr. Cheon?" Park Soo Hyun said, then bowed his body as a sign of respect.

====

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 402 - 402 - Women Are Not Allowed In

Teacher Cheon frowned as he studied Park Soo Hyun's face carefully. It was understandable if the burly and muscular man didn't really recognize him because they hadn't seen each other for several years.

Even as Park Soo Hyun recalled, Teacher Cheon's hair was still black back then. In contrast to right now which already looked white.

"Teacher Cheon, doesn't teacher recognize me?" Park Soo Hyun looked at Teacher Cheon's face, which was wrinkled with age.

"So many people that I've met in this world. Tell me what's the need for you to come here? Why did you peek at people practicing? Are you a spy from another school?" Cheon Ho Jin said repeatedly with many questions that were immediately being asked.

"Teacher Cheon, I'm Park Soo Hyun. I used to be one of the students of this school. Doesn't Master remember me?" Park Soo Hyun grimaced. Tried to remind him a little.

Teacher Cheon looked thoughtful while remembering.

"Ah, I remember. Are you that unruly Park Soo Hyun back then?" guessed Cheon Ho Jin.

"That's right, Master," said Park Soo Hyun shyly.

Cheon Ho Jin patted Park Soo Hyun's shoulder quite hard. Until Park Soo Hyun felt that his shoulder was almost broken.

"Ouch!" groaned Park Soo Hyun as Cheon Ho Jin tapped him on the shoulder once more.

"Why are you so weak? Weren't you a strong and very brave boy?" Cheon Ho Jin teased while chuckling.

"Sir, don't bring it up again," Park Soo Hyun said while rubbing his shoulder.

"Let's go inside," said Cheon Ho Jin in a friendly manner. Then walked ahead of Park Soo Hyun to invite him to enter.

Cheon Ho Jin was a Taekkyon martial arts teacher. If to people who came here for first time, he will look very scary but after a long time, he was actually a friendly guy and easy to talk to.

Park Soo Hyun followed his teacher in and then sat cross-legged in front of him.

"Tell me what's the matter of coming here? Do you intend to come back here again or is there something else?" Cheon Ho Jin asked frankly and without preamble.

"I just had an accident and I couldn't walk for more than a month. I want to train again to train my strength," said Park Soo Hyun.

"Really? Then, who's the girl you brought?" Cheon Ho Jin narrowed his eyes, smelling something fishy.

"She... she...." Park Soo Hyun was confused on how to answer it. It was too hard to tell who Soo Yin was for him. Because there was no definite answer about his feelings for Soo Yin.

Their current relationship was like above the clouds. It was hard to interpret. Park Soo Hyun actually wanted their relationship to be clearer and more serious. But don't know how long he will wait.

"I know if she is the girl you like. But be careful, don't force your will on her too much," said Cheon Ho Jin. He was a teacher, so it was natural to know something that people didn't know.

"It turns out that the Master guessed it right," said Park Soo Hyun. Until this moment he was still waiting for Soo Yin's answer about his feelings.

"Don't you remember that this school can only be attended by men. The presence of women here will only break the concentration of studying," said Cheon Ho Jin. He stared deeply into Park Soo Hyun's eyes.

"I'm sorry, Sir. I really forgot about it," explained Park Soo Hyun while massaging his temples. He was too happy so without thinking he took Soo Yin there.

"Do you remember what the punishment is for bringing a girl to this place?" Cheon Ho Jin reminded Park Soo Hyun of the prohibitions that all students there must obey.

Park Soo Hyun kept his head down as he kept thinking about how to get Soo Yin to be allowed in. It was impossible to bring her back without a bit of practice.

"I beg to let her in, Master. Just this time, I can't bear to say that she can't come in," said Park Soo Hyun while bowing his head in hopes of persuading his teacher.

"Didn't I already say that I don't accept female students," said Teacher Cheon firmly.

"Pity her, Sir. She has come all the way to this school. Only this time, I promise not to invite her to this place again," Park Soo Hyun coaxed without giving up.

"That can't be violated, young man. If you really want to retrain at this school, that's fine. This place will always be wide open for you," said Teacher Cheon with a long sigh.

He looked far back, the reason why women were not allowed to enter anymore. In fact, it used to be open to anyone. Women or men may enter without exception.

Until one day there was a male student who was secretly having a relationship with a female student. In school, it was not allowed to have a relationship because that they had to focus on their practice.

The couple were caught by the students there. Made the school chaos out of control. When the couple was sentenced not to meet, it turned out that they still insisted on meeting even though they did that secretly.

One night they met secretly near the edge of a steep cliff. There were some students who deliberately followed them because they felt suspicious.

The fateful incident was unavoidable. The lovers decided to plunge into a steep valley because they did not want to be brought back to school. Both were found dead the next day.

Since then, the Taekkyon school led by Teacher Cheon decided not to accept female students. It was all done for the common good.

"Master?" Park Soo Hyun shook teacher Cheon's arm who was pensive. He knew that his teacher must be thinking about what happened in the past. Even though Park Soo Hyun didn't know what really happened, the story was indeed very famous.

"You'd better go home if you don't want to get punished. You can find her a place to practice elsewhere. No matter how hard you try, it won't change anything," explained Teacher Cheon.

"I'm willing if I have to be punished. But I beg you this time, Master will comply with my request. I can't bear to break her spirit. She has tried hard to come here," said Park Soo Hyun quietly.

"Sorry I can't. But if you want to practice I will train you right now," said Teacher Cheon.

Park Soo Hyun took a deep breath. How could he stay inside, while Soo Yin was still outside. Even if he was practicing, he will not be able to concentrate.

"If she can't, I better go now," said Park Soo Hyun as he stood up. It seemed useless to persuade his teacher.

Teacher Cheon was a man who was firm and will never break the rules that had been made by him.

Teacher Cheon nodded his head, letting Park Soo Hyun slowly leave the room. Actually, he didn't have the heart, considering that their journey required quite a lot of energy to get to that place. But past events traumatized him

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 403 - 403 - Punishment

Park Soo Hyun immediately went out through the gate to meet Soo Yin. She was sitting too close to the edge of a steep cliff. There was no fear in the expression on her face.

"Soo Yin, don't go too far because it's very dangerous," Park Soo Hyun said worriedly because Soo Yin sat too far to the edge. If she moved just a little, she will fall into the cliff.

"I'll be careful. You don't have to worry," Soo Yin said as she turned her face towards Park Soo Hyun. She immediately stood up and wiped her jeans which were dirty because of the ground.

"Am I able to practice right now?" asked Soo Yin impatiently.

Park Soo Hyun took a deep breath with a complicated expression on his face. He really couldn't bear to say that. Soo Yin would definitely be very disappointed in him. But earlier, he had tried to persuade Teacher Cheon, though to no avail.

"Sorry, today we can't. We'll come next time," said Park Soo Hyun with a sad feeling.

"Why?" said Soo Yin who immediately went limp. Her face immediately turned gloomy.

"Teacher Cheon is busy so he can't teach us," Park Soo Hyun said, lying.

"Hmmm, that's a shame. Even though I'm already excited," Soo Yin said. Her face looked very disappointed.

"Don't worry, next time we can come here again or find another place," said Park Soo Hyun to comfort Soo Yin.

Soo Yin was disappointed and regretted that she came and spent quite a lot of time but didn't get anything she wanted. If she knew something like this would happen, surely Soo Yin would not have violated her husband's words. Maybe it was the result of being impatient and disobeying her husband's words.

"Alright, don't be sad. I promise, tomorrow we will find another teacher," said Park Soo Hyun. It really hurt his heart to see Soo Yin who was now uninspired.

Soo Yin nodded her head weakly with sore legs. When something she wanted was not achieved, then Soo Yin felt her body very weak.

"Wait!" said Teacher Cheon who was now at the gate.

Park Soo Hyun and Soo Yin looked back simultaneously. They looked at each other for a moment.

"Park Soo Hyun, bring the girl in first," Teacher Cheon ordered.

Park Soo Hyun's face immediately lit up because he seemed to get a good signal from his teacher.

"Park Soo Hyun, who is he?" asked Soo Yin.

"He is Teacher Cheon," said Park Soo Hyun.

"Teacher Cheon, my name is Soo Yin." Soo Yin immediately bowed her body to give a respectful greeting.

Teacher Cheon just nodded his head with an even expression.

Without thinking and asking his teacher, Park Soo Hyun then brought Soo Yin to enter. Followed the footsteps of Teacher Cheon right behind him.

It turned out that Teacher Cheon took them not to the practice place. But to a place that was on the side of the hermitage. A place that students rarely went there.

Teacher Cheon had wanted to let them go, but seeing Soo Yin made him uncomfortable. Felt pity because she had come a long way there but he didn't tell her to come in.

"Before practicing, change your clothes first," Teacher Cheon ordered with his arms folded across his chest.

"Can we practice, Master?" Soo Yin knitted her brows together. Because Park Soo Hyun said that they couldn't practice because his teacher was busy.

"Just for today," said Teacher Cheon flatly.

"Thank you, Master." Soo Yin couldn't hide her happiness this time. Her lips curved into a very sweet smile.

Not long after, a female waitress came to bring clothes and a tray containing two drinks for Soo Yin and Park Soo Hyun.

Although it did not accept female students, that did not mean that there were no women in the school. The servants were still women but most of them were no longer young.

Obediently, Soo Yin immediately changed into her Taekkyon uniform. The size was much looser so as not to restrict the movements.

"Drink first," said Teacher Cheon.

Obediently and without arguing Soo Yin then took a glass. Though if it was a drink to welcome guests who came.

"Argh!" Soo Yin exclaimed while holding her neck. Just one gulp, Soo Yin already felt her throat constrict. It turned out to be a very bitter drink.

"What is this drink, Master?" Soo Yin asked while blinking her eyes. She shuddered to feel the drink that immediately spread throughout her mouth and throat.

Park Soo Hyun who was beside her only grimaced at the look on Soo Yin's face. He forgot to say that before practicing usually students will be asked to drink a special potion that tasted very bitter.

"It's a special potion so that after practicing your body won't feel sore," Park Soo Hyun said, grinning.

"Should I drink it all?" Soo Yin looked sourly at the glass which was still almost full in her hand. Even right now her tongue tasted bland. She licked her tongue a few times.

"That's up to you. The risk will be taken by each," said Teacher Cheon flatly. His words sounded casual but contained orders in them.

Park Soo Hyun also drank it until it was finished. In the past, he got used to it so it wasn't too much of a problem with the taste. Moreover, before practicing he was used to drinking it.

Soo Yin only drank half of it because her throat couldn't handle it if she had to finish it.

"Park Soo Hyun, you didn't forget about the punishment, did you?" asked Teacher Cheon.

"No, Master," said Park Soo Hyun. Then he hurriedly stepped into the well which was not far from where they were.

Park Soo Hyun took off his clothes so that his pure white body shone in the sun. His muscular body looked so perfect. There was no fat attached to his body.

Soo Yin turned her face to the other way, she tried to swallow her saliva which tasted bitter when she saw Park Soo Hyun's body. But there was something in Soo Yin's heart about the punishment that Teacher Cheon gave.

Park Soo Hyun turned out to be taking water from the well. Then put it in two places that were similar to buckets. Once full, he immediately carried it towards the kitchen. He kept doing it back and forth several times.

Soo Yin was still silent, considering her feelings of wanting to ask but afraid of teacher Cheon.

"Do you want to ask something?" guessed Teacher Cheon who can read Soo Yin's mind.

"Teacher, why is Park Soo Hyun punished for taking water?" Soo Yin asked courageously.

"That's because it was his fault that he brought a girl to this place. Let him, now you should get ready because we will practice," said Teacher Cheon.

Soo Yin's mouth was about to open again but she cancelled her intention. It felt too chatty if she asked too many questions. She intended to just ask Park Soo Hyun

"You'd better warm up before you start," Teacher Cheon ordered.

"Okay, Master." Soo Yin immediately moved her body. By moving the legs and arms that she remembered when warming up to exercise.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 404 - 404 - Try

Taekkyon used to be often competed between schools but for now, martial arts was more aimed at just practicing their abilities. Most of the students who were there were naughty kids sent by their parents to get better.

Teacher Cheon started teaching how to kick and lock the opponent, it was the most basic practice because Soo Yin had never learned it at all.

Park Soo Hyun had just finished serving his punishment. It wasn't too hard because every now and then he could see Soo Yin who seemed excited to watch Teacher Cheon trained her.

Every student who brought a girl into the school, will be given a penalty of taking water from the well and then bringing it to the kitchen as much as 20 times.

Even though Park Soo Hyun was no longer the one who was studying there. The punishment were still enforced because he already knew the ins and outs of college.

Park Soo Hyun's shoulders felt like breaking because he hadn't done it in a long time. Plus earlier, teacher Cheon patted him with a strong energy.

If Soo Yin didn't say she wanted to practice martial arts, Park Soo Hyun wouldn't even think about coming there.

Park Soo Hyun then approached Soo Yin and teacher Cheon were was practicing a little Taekkyon movement, how to lock the opponent.

"Argh!" shouted Soo Yin when she was locked up by teacher Cheon so she couldn't move at all.

"Remember, you have to focus on the opponent," said teacher Cheon as he let go of Soo Yin's body.

After just half an hour of practice, Soo Yin felt that her strength was almost drained. Her body was limp with sweat that had already flooded on her forehead and all over her body.

"Now you can rest," said teacher Cheon to Soo Yin.

Soo Yin complied, she then sat on the floor while straightening her legs. Her hands were behind her back to support her weight.

Park Soo Hyun held out a handkerchief to Soo Yin which he happened to be carrying. He smiled at Soo Yin who looked exhausted.

"Cheer up, you can do it," said Park Soo Hyun. His face looks radiant, he is very happy to be able to bring Soo Yin there. At least their trip wasn't in vain.

"Thank you," said Soo Yin.

Now it was time for teacher Cheon and Park Soo Hyun to fight. For Soo Yin, their movements looked so careful but actually felt stressful for Park Soo Hyun who had not practiced for a long time.

The two of them circled and alternated their footwork before making a sudden hard kick.

Soo Yin was in awe of the two of them who were defending each other. Until finally teacher Cheon locked Park Soo Hyun's movement, so the man had difficulty moving and fell because of teacher Cheon's hard kick.

"It turns out that you are really bad now. Even though you used to be one of the best students in this school," teacher Cheon sneered with his upper lip pulled back.

"Didn't I tell you that I just had an accident and fell into a coma, Master." Park Soo Hyun tried to get up with a gasping breath.

Park Soo Hyun admitted that he was really bad right now. He had even forgotten a few moves. In the past, he could often beat Teacher Cheon.

"You guys rest for a while, I'll see my other students," said Teacher Cheon.

"Okay, Master," said Park Soo Hyun and Soo Yin at the same time.

"Park Soo Hyun, why exactly were you being punished?" Soo Yin could no longer contain the curiosity in her heart. Park Soo Hyun just entered but was already given a punishment, it felt so unfair.

Teacher Cheon said it was for bringing a girl. Was it because of her so Park Soo Hyun being punished? If true, then Soo Yin would feel guilty.

"Don't think about it. It's just a small mistake, I haven't been here for a long time," said Park Soo Hyun with a smile.

Soo Yin narrowed her eyes, dissatisfied with Park Soo Hyun's answer.

"Really? It doesn't seem fair to you. Teacher Cheon said that because you brought a girl, was it because of me?" Soo Yin said. She's getting more and more uncomfortable, because Park Soo Hyun herself was punished

"It has nothing to do with you at all. While I'm with you, everything will feel very light." Park Soo Hyun chuckled at the cheesy words that were said.

"Soo Yin, I want to ask how is our relationship right now? Is it okay if I call you my girlfriend?" Park Soo Hyun added.

Soo Yin was nervous, she wasn't ready to reject him. But on the other hand, she also didn't want to give false hope.

"Sorry, I... I...." Somehow Soo Yin's lips felt so heavy when she was about to say it. Her lips seemed to be locked tightly.

"I can't accept it," Soo Yin said softly with a downcast face.

"Let's practice again," teacher Cheon shouted.

Soo Yin and teacher Cheon said it at the same time so that Soo Yin's words were too low for Park Soo Hyun to hear.

"All right, Master." Park Soo Hyun then stood up first and then stretched out his hand to pull up Soo Yin who seemed to have trouble getting up.

Soo Yin frowned as she didn't get any reaction from Park Soo Hyun.

'Maybe later I can say it,' muttered Soo Yin.

The training started again.

Master Cheon provided more basic Taekkyon martial arts techniques.

Soo Yin and Park Soo Hyun watched Teacher Cheon carefully. Moreover, Soo Yin was very impressed with teacher Cheon's abilities.

After paying enough attention, Soo Yin began to imitate his every move. At first it was quite difficult because Soo Yin had never studied it. But over time, Soo Yin had begun to understand even if only a few.

Two hours had passed, now the sun was starting to hide behind the trees. Only the afternoon rays that were not too hot were left.

"This training seems to be enough," said teacher Cheon.

"Thank you for today, Master," said Soo Yin. Even though she was tired, she was satisfied.

Soo Yin and Park Soo Hyun then changed clothes first.

"Before going home we should eat first," said teacher Cheon. Guided them to enter the banquet place.

Soo Yin was about to refuse because the sun was almost setting. But she felt impolite, and her stomach also felt hungry. It turned out that practicing self-defense was very draining.

"Master, may we come here another time?" Soo Yin asked carefully.

"You don't have to come here to practice because Park Soo Hyun is already good enough. He can train you," said teacher Cheon.

"Teacher, I still can't if I have to train other people," said Park Soo Hyun shyly.

"If Soo Yin is able to do basic movements, then you can ask one of the senior students here to teach her," said Teacher Cheon.

"Okay, Master," said Park Soo Hyun quickly. Later he would ask seniors to help Soo Yin. Because, if he were the one who trained Soo Yin, he would definitely not concentrate.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 405 - 405 - Wrong Way

They only came down the mountain when the sun had set. This time Park Soo Hyun did not invite Soo Yin to cross the same as when they came.

If they went through the road from earlier, it would be too dangerous because it was slowly starting to snow. The stairs will be slippery and difficult to pass. Park Soo Hyun thought the risk was too big, so he decided to take another route even though the distance was quite long.

The path they took on their way out was a shortcut. Whereas now it took twice as long to get to the bottom. Park Soo Hyun was only worried about Soo Yin. If he were alone, he would probably still go that way.

For now they had to pass through the residential area at the foot of the mountain first. Only then will they arrive on the highway.

"Why didn't we take the road from earlier?" Soo Yin said. The hairs on her neck felt goosebumps when she heard the night animal sound. It sounded very eerie plus the sound of the wind blowing the trees.

They had been walking for half an hour but it was still quiet. There were no house lights in sight. There was no one they met on the street. Maybe it was because it was so cold that no one came out. Luckily Soo Yin was carrying a thick coat.

Several times Soo Yin almost slipped because she stepped on the steep pebbles. A chill began to penetrate to the core of her heart. Soo Yin rubbed her hands together to reduce the chill that had spread throughout her body.

Park Soo Hyun immediately took off his coat, then put it on Soo Yin's shoulder.

"Sorry, we have to come home late. We shouldn't have accepted Teacher Cheon's offer to eat," said Park Soo Hyun with a low sigh.

After eating they chatted and didn't realize they had been there for too long.

"It's okay," said Soo Yin while putting on a sour face. Luckily it was dark there so Park Soo Hyun didn't see the look on her face.

"Are you afraid?" said Park Soo Hyun.

"Hmm, a little," said Soo Yin.

They only used a cell phone flashlight brought by Park Soo Hyun.

What was on Soo Yin's mind right now was how she will deal with her husband. Dae Hyun must be very angry because she left secretly with Park Soo Hyun. At this moment, Soo Yin felt like she wanted to cry.

"Ouch!" cried Soo Yin who slipped from stepping on something sharp. She then sat down because her leg hurt.

"Soo Yin, did it hurt?" Park Soo Hyun then squatted down and lit up Soo Yin's feet.

Turned out that her feet was injured and bleeding. It was because she was stepping on a pointed rock.

Park Soo Hyun panicked, so he tore off his coat to bandage Soo Yin's feet.

"Does it still hurt?" said Park Soo Hyun while blowing the wound which was already covered with cloth.

"It's okay, just a little," Soo Yin said while wincing at the pain in her wound. Slowly she tried to get up.

"Soo Yin, let me carry you," said Park Soo Hyun.

"No need," Soo Yin refused firmly. Even in an urgent situation, Soo Yin would not want to. She must maintain the trust Dae Hyun had given her. Although this time without realizing it, Soo Yin had violated it.

Soo Yin continued to walk slightly limp, with all her might to endure the pain.

Park Soo Hyun just sighed in resignation because Soo Yin kept refusing the help given to her. He thought positively, maybe Soo Yin felt bad.

Park Soo Hyun walked behind Soo Yin because the path they were on was not too wide.

Not long after, slowly the lights of the residents' houses began to appear so they could breathe easily. That meant they'll arrive soon.

But the snow was falling harder and harder so Park Soo Hyun invited Soo Yin to take shelter first in a small hut in the border between a residential area and the edge of a dense forest.

"Why is it snowing harder and harder?" Soo Yin looked up at the pitch black night sky. Right now, her body was shivering, plus her aching legs made her feel like she couldn't even walk again.

"Come here," Park Soo Hyun said, while reaching out his hand to hug Soo Yin. But he was doubtful if Soo Yin wanted to so he pulled his hand back.

Sure enough, Soo Yin distanced herself from Park Soo Hyun even more and more so that there was a distance between them.

Park Soo Hyun was in awe of Soo Yin. It turned out that Soo Yin was indeed different from the others. The woman who had been close to him was actually looking for opportunities to be close. There was nothing wrong with loving Soo Yin who didn't want to be approached by any man.

"Is it still far?" Soo Yin turned her face to look at Park Soo Hyun. Tried to break the awkward atmosphere that had been going on for a while.

"It's not too far, it shouldn't be long before we get close to the highway," said Park Soo Hyun.

Soo Yin really wanted to get home to hug Dae Hyun. She felt her heart beat faster when she was near him. She really felt happy when she remembered him.

Soo Yin then put her feet on the ground. The flat ground made her body unbalanced until she finally fell to the ground.

"Ouch!" Soo Yin groaned.

"Soo Yin!" Park Soo Hyun then helped Soo Yin to sit back in the hut.

At the same time there was a bright light towards them. Park Soo Hyun's current position was right in front of Soo Yin so it was as if they were kissing.

"What are you guys doing there?" shouted one of people, who turned out to be a villager who was walking around.

They looked very angry as they looked at Soo Yin and Park Soo Hyun.

Soo Yin's body immediately trembled at the arrival of the villagers. She had a bad feeling about it.

"We are waiting for the snow to stop, sir." Park Soo Hyun tried to be calm.

"Lies, you guys must be a couple who will do something nasty in our village!" another one shouted.

They all consisted of 10 men. With their expressions that looked scary.

"No, we didn't do anything," said Soo Yin shakily. The cold air had now been replaced by hot air that had begun to infiltrate the pores of her skin. Now her body began to sweat cold.

"Arrest them to be punished!" said the residents in a very angry tone.

"Sir, let me explain. We're really not doing anything here. We're just taking shelter." Park Soo Hyun stood in front of Soo Yin as the citizens drew closer to them.

"Many couples have said that even though they've been caught doing something nasty."

"Just drag them!"

"We have to teach them a lesson so things like this don't happen again."

"It's a good thing that we came quickly. If it was even a little late, they might have already done it."

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 406 - 406 - Marry?

The residents continued to shout very loudly until now more and more residents were coming even though the snow had not yet subsided. They came in droves with their children and wives.

"How is it?" Soo Yin's body trembled with fear. Afraid that people will do something bad. She pulled the sweater that wrapped around her body.

"Calm down." Although Park Soo Hyun panicked but as much as possible he tried to calm Soo Yin down.

'Daehyun, help me. I miss you,' ~ Soo Yin thought. Tears slowly trickled down her cheeks. She really regretted of not being obedient.

"Hurry and drag them!" shouted the people in a crowd.

"Park Soo Hyun, I'm scared," Soo Yin sobbed louder.

"Relax, everything will be fine." Park Soo Hyun continued to think positively even though he was currently also scared. He must be able to assure her that they will definitely get out of this problem.

Park Soo Hyun spread his arms when the residents were about to drag them. Tried to prevent them from touching Soo Yin.

"Enough, please don't take the law into your own hands," Park Soo Hyun snapped.

But it was a shame because the residents didn't even listen to him.

The citizens seemed to have no mercy at all. Didn't care about Soo Yin who had difficulty of walking. They kept dragging Soo Yin and Park Soo Hyun to the village head's place there. The residents paraded until Soo Yin's body ached all over.

Park Soo Hyun couldn't do anything because the more they refused, the more people would beat them. If Soo Yin's legs were fine, maybe they could run to escape.

Park Soo Hyun and Soo Yin were pushed to the ground in front of a house. Some of the residents even pelted them with mineral water bottles and stones.

Park Soo Hyun tried to cover Soo Yin's body from the people's wrath. He couldn't bear to let Soo Yin get stoned.

The atmosphere was getting busier but very tense for Soo Yin. More and more citizens came as if they were a show to watch.

Soo Yin snuggled under Park Soo Hyun's body. She continued to sob, if only her legs weren't hurt she might have fought them a long time ago.

"What's with this crowd?" A middle-aged man came out of the house with a woman. His body was tall and his chest was perfectly straight.

"Master, punish them right now!" shouted one of the residents until it echoed throughout the open area.

"That's right, punish them right now!"

The atmosphere was getting busier and out of control. They kept throwing pebbles until it hit Park Soo Hyun's head. As much as possible Park Soo Hyun covered Soo Yin's body so as not to be hit by their throws.

Park Soo Hyun had to look down because his head hurt quite a bit from the stone.

"Park Soo Hyun, get out of the way. Don't stay on top of me because you'll get hurt," said Soo Yin.

"No problem at all. Your safety is much more important. Being this close to you is enough to make me happy," said Park Soo Hyun with a smile. However, their current situation was precarious.

Soo Yin just sighed resignedly to hear Park Soo Hyun's brag.

"Please calm down everyone," said a man who looked dignified and his appearance was very calm.

He was a village chief.

Soo Yin was able to breathe a little relieved because the man's calm words were able to silence the people even if only for a moment.

"Please explain, why did you make a fuss like this? Then who are they?" said the village chief. His gaze wandered around, looking at the residents before finally looking at the two humans who were still curled up on the ground.

Felt that it was safe enough, Park Soo Hyun shifted his body. He helped Soo Yin to get up.

"They are a couple who want to commit nasty things in our village, sir," said one of the residents so loudly.

"No, sir. They all misunderstood us." Soo Yin continued to refute what they said. Tears were now streaming down her cheeks.

"Where's the thief screaming thief! It's clear that we saw them kissing."

Soo Yin glared at the residents' words. What kiss? They didn't even hold on each other. Soo Yin couldn't help but think that the citizens thought so lowly of her.

The village at the foot of the mountain was still too traditional. They still highly uphold the values and customs of their village. Residents didn't like it when a couple did something before getting married. Their behavior gave a negative impact to the villagers.

They also thought that if a couple did nasty things on their village, then the village will be affected by disaster.

Park Soo Hyun reached into his cellphone but before he had time to open the screen, the cellphone had been seized by the residents.

Park Soo Hyun could have fought back, but there were too many citizens. On the other hand, Soo Yin's leg hurt so he didn't want to take a big risk.

"We didn't kiss!" Soo Yin stated as loudly as possible. Although her voice sounded low.

"Park Soo Hyun, why are you silent? We didn't do anything." Soo Yin shook Park Soo Hyun's arm as she continued to cry.

"It's useless for us to argue because people won't believe it. They are already very emotional." Park Soo Hyun sighed in resignation. He believed as long as there was the village chief, the residents will not do anything.

"Hey young man, would you please explain?" The village chief looked complicatedly at Park Soo Hyun and Soo Yin. There was a pity when he saw Soo Yin's face that looked disheveled and messy.

"Sir, I beg you to help us. The residents just misunderstood. We were just sheltering in the hut. I swear we didn't do nothing." Soo Yin ran over to the Village Chief, then knelt down in front of him. Tried to forget the pain in her feet.

"Get up, miss." The Village Chief helped Soo Yin to stand up.

Park Soo Hyun immediately approached Soo Yin. It was unbelievable that Soo Yin would do that.

"That's right, sir. We really didn't do anything." Park Soo Hyun tried to speak but the citizens looked impatient to punish them.

"Punish them now! After that, we will marry them in the village tonight. It's better than them doing something indecent in another place."

Residents kept cheering saying that they should be punished and then got married.

"Marry?" Soo Yin mumbled with a body that was already shaking violently. She shook her head, didn't believe what she heard. Her mind swayed and she was almost collapsed if Park Soo Hyun didn't support her.

For some reason, when the residents wanted to marry them off, Park Soo Hyun actually felt very happy. He would happily marry Soo Yin right now because that was what he wanted for a long time.

The chaos was getting more and more unstoppable because now the residents were throwing stones and wood again.

Soo Yin tried to cover her head with her hands because her forehead was already bruised.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 407 - 407 - Special Relationship?

The village chief finally brought Soo Yin and Park Soo Hyun into his house. He wanted to know what really happened. As a village chief, he can't just listen to one side.

"You'd better stay here, let me take care of them," said the village chief to the residents who wanted to come into the house.

"Hurry up, we can't wait to punish them!"

The village chief asked his men to stand guard at the door. Blocked residents who insisted on entering.

"Miss, have a seat," said a middle-aged woman. She smiled gently while leading Soo Yin to sit on the floor.

Park Soo Hyun also sat down. With a firm determination he will take responsibility for marrying Soo Yin, if that was the case. It wasn't difficult for him. It was a very good opportunity.

Now the village chief was sitting in front of them. As a leader he was very authoritative and calm. It can be seen from the look on his face and when he spoke.

"Please explain, were you really doing what people said?" said the village chief with a flat face.

"We didn't do anything, sir," said Park Soo Hyun. Then he began to tell a little, how they got caught by local residents.

The village chief tried to look for the lie in Park Soo Hyun's eyes but couldn't find it. He thought if they were honest.

"Can you contact someone to come here? It's used as a witness if you're not lying," said the village chief. The residents were already angry so it was difficult to quell it.

"Yes, sir. But my cell phone was taken by the residents," said Park Soo Hyun.

"Wait a moment." The village chief then clapped his hands several times until his men entered.

The Village Chief whispered something to his men before finally leaving.

"Why did you come home so late from teacher Cheon's place? Can't you take a shortcut that isn't too far away?" asked the village chief.

Master Cheon's martial arts school was not a foreign place so it was certain that the citizens at the foot of the mountain knew about it.

"When we were going home it was snowing pretty hard. The stairs would be very slippery so we decided to take this road," said Park Soo Hyun.

"Hmmm, I'm actually sure if you don't do anything. But the residents really don't like it when a couple is in a quiet place," said the Village Chief with a long sigh. Thought of the citizens who really liked to take the law into their own hands.

Soo Yin just listened while looking down languidly. She tucked herself into a wet sweater.

"Miss, drink so that your body becomes warmer," said the Village Chief's wife very kindly.

"Thank you, madam," said Soo Yin. Then she grabbed a cup and took a sip of the drink the waiter had just brought.

Park Soo Hyun looked at Soo Yin's messy face with pity. It turned out that his choice to take another route actually resulted in something like this.

Her beautiful face was covered by messy strands of hair. Her eyelids were puffy from crying. Her clothes were dirty because the residents pushed them to the ground.

'Soo Yin, I promise to be responsible for all of this,' ~ thought Park Soo Hyun with a sad expression.

"Are you two in a special relationship?" asked the village chief suddenly.

"Cough... cough... cough...." Soo Yin's throat felt tight when she heard it. The water that was in her mouth spouted luckily only on her clothes, luckily not anyone else's.

"Soo Yin, are you all right." Park Soo Hyun helped wipe Soo Yin's wet clothes.

"It's okay, the drink is just a little too hot on my tongue," said Soo Yin.

"Miss, come with me inside. Better change into your wet clothes. I just so happen to have a daughter your age," said the middle-aged woman with a smile etched on her lips. Seeing Soo Yin can erase the longing for her daughter who is studying abroad a little.

"Thank you, Madam." Soo Yin obediently stood up and followed in the footsteps of the village chief's wife. Even though her wound has dried up, her feet still hurt.

In the living room Park Soo Hyun continued the chat with the Village Chief. It wasn't long before a man entered. Then handed Park Soo Hyun's cell phone.

=====

Pyeongchang-dong villa.

Dae Hyun just got back from the hotel. Lots of work piled up so he had to go home late. He also did not have time to contact his little wife today. What annoyed him even more was that Park Soo Hyun came but left again.

"Master, you just got home," said Aunt Xia, who had also just entered the house. She had recently returned from where her sibling was grieving.

"Did Auntie just come home too?" Dae Hyun said.

"It's been an hour, I was just about to deliver food for Miss Soo Yin," said Aunt Xia who already had a tray of food in her hand.

"Let me carry it upstairs," Dae Hyun asked as he grabbed the tray that Aunt Xia had brought.

The middle-aged woman actually wanted to refute but Dae Hyun had already stepped up the stairs.

Dae Hyun turned the door knob, the room was dark. He then groped the wall to find a switch to turn on the light.

It was quiet, there was no Soo Yin who was usually lying in bed when he came home.

Dae Hyun then placed the tray on the table. His heart immediately beat wildly. Anxiety and worry immediately entered his mind.

He hurriedly went to the bathroom to make sure if Soo Yin was there. His wife could have slipped in the bathroom and no one knew about it.

Brakk...

The bathroom door opened very loudly as it hit the wall. Again no one was in the bathroom.

"Soo Yin, where are you right now?" Dae Hyun rubbed his face angrily because he felt so frustrated.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 408 - 408 - Looked For

He took his cell phone from his pocket. Then he looked for Soo Yin's cell phone number.

tring ... tring ... tring ...

There was a ringing sound coming from above the bed.

"Why is her phone here? Damn it!" Dae Hyun cursed while turning off the phone.

With hasty steps, now Dae Hyun descended the stairs to meet Aunt Xia who was still in the kitchen.

"Auntie, Soo Yin is not in her room," said Dae Hyun breathlessly.

"Did Soo Yin say goodbye to Auntie of where she was going?" he added again.

"No, sir. Before leaving, auntie still met with Miss Soo Yin in her room," said aunt Xia.

"Tell Chung Ho to look for her in this house. I'll look for her outside," Dae Hyun ordered.

Dae Hyun immediately got out of the house and then headed to the garage where his car was parked. His mind was currently in complete chaos.

Dae Hyun remembered that last night Soo Yin whined for permission to go to campus. But he didn't allow it with a reason that her condition was still very weak.

"You careless girl," said Dae Hyun while hitting the steering wheel.

The man then drove his car in a high speed through the dark night.

Dae Hyun looked for Soo Yin to campus. He didn't care about the cold air that penetrated the pores of his skin which stabbed into the pit of his heart.

The campus had not been quiet because there were people who entered the curfew for lectures.

Dae Hyun was still standing while watching the medical school building under the falling snow that was getting heavier.

"Dae Hyun, what are you doing here?" asked Mi Young, while holding an umbrella in her hand. Then shared an umbrella to cover Dae Hyun's head which was already full of snow.

"I'm looking for Soo Yin," said Dae Hyun. He was about to walk away but Mi Young held him by the hand.

"Is she not home yet?" Mi Young frowned.

"You met her?" Dae Hyun stopped his footsteps. Glanced at his arm that Mi Young held with a look of disapproval.

Mi Young then let him go.

"This afternoon we met because I happened to be filling the class," said Mi Young nervously because Dae Hyun was still looking at him with disapproval.

"I'd better go," said Dae Hyun. His hunch said that Soo Yin wasn't there.

"Wait," said Mi Young.

"Wear it so that your body is warmer. You don't even use a coat in the middle of the snow," she added while handing the scarf into Dae Hyun's hands.

"No need, you need it much more than me," Dae Hyun said bluntly. He still remembered very well that the scarf was a gift from him when he came home from vacation from Japan.

It had been tens of years but unexpectedly Mi Young still kept it.

Mi Young squeezed the scarf in her hand. She had deliberately wanted to give it to Dae Hyun. There was little hope if the man who was her lover still remembered their memories.

"Dae Hyun, is it wrong that I still love you." Mi Young smiled bitterly when she saw Dae Hyun who slowly disappeared. She chuckled remembering how Dae Hyun was so worried about Soo Yin. An evil thought crossed her mind, wanting to snatch Dae Hyun back.

"Mi Young, wake up. You can't ruin someone else's household." Mi Young hit herself in the head for thinking stupid things that she shouldn't think of.

Mi Young chose to go in because she wanted to pick up her belongings that were left behind this afternoon.

oooooooooooooooooooo

Dae Hyun was back on the slippery road. He had just contacted someone to inquire about Soo Yin's whereabouts. But the result was nothing. They said that Soo Yin had been home since noon.

Dae Hyun massaged his temples with one hand so he could think clearly.

"Honey, where exactly are you right now?" A tear fell from the corner of his eye.

His cell phone suddenly rang. Dae Hyun glanced at his cellphone which was above the dashboard. There was Park Soo Hyun's name clearly displayed on the screen.

"What?" Dae Hyun said in a very lethargic voice.

"Hyeong, please come here right now!" shouted Park Soo Hyun from across the phone.

Dae Hyun could hear the sound of a commotion that seemed to be going on. There was a scream of punishment, although it was not very clear because it was very noisy.

"What? Are you causing trouble?" Now that his head was about to explode, a problem about Soo Yin who hadn't been found yet. Now Park Soo Hyun contacted him, for making a fuss even though he had just left the house.

"Help me, Hyeong. We are currently in trouble," said Park Soo Hyun.

"I'm busy, take care of yourself!" Dae Hyun said coldly.

"Master, help us. Come here quickly."

The sound of sobbing directly pierced Dae Hyun's heart. The voice of the girl he had been looking for.

"Soo Yin, where are you guys now?" Dae Hyun said without asking what really happened. He was sure that their current situation was not fine.

"We... we...", Soo Yin stuttered because she didn't know the name of the place.

It turned out that the Village Chief took over the phone, showing Dae Hyun the way so he could get there quickly.

"Okay, I'll be right there."

Dae Hyun was really shocked to hear what happened to his sister and wife. How could they be together? Were they having an affair behind his back? Anger and worry mixed into one.

Dae Hyun didn't care about slippery roads anymore. He continued to drive his car snaking through the winding road.

His chest felt very tight and sore. The image of them having done something bad immediately haunted his head.

"Arghhhh!" Dae Hyun shouted. Again he hit the steering wheel even harder. He was so angry that he almost hit the road barrier several times.

.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 409 - 409 - I'm Her Boyfriend

After an hour's drive, Dae Hyun finally arrived at his destination. The road into the village was narrow so Dae Hyun decided to park his car on the side of the highway.

Dae Hyun then ran with wide strides. He wanted to know how Soo Yin was this time. Wanted to quickly find out if they did what was currently residing in his mind.

In front of the village chief's house it was very crowded because the residents were breaking down the door. They can't wait to see Soo Yin and Park Soo Hyun got punishment.

Soo Yin continued to sob in fear. The village chief was no longer able to contain the anger of his residents because he had been stalling for too long.

"Don't worry, his family will be here soon." As much as possible, the Village Chief bought time until Dae Hyun came.

The citizens couldn't wait for Soo Yin's hand to be tightly gripped. They were going to drag her back out.

"Wait!" shouted the male voice very loudly. His voice was able to silence the villagers who kept screaming.

"Let her go!" Dae Hyun exclaimed while looking at the citizens who were about to grab Soo Yin's wrist. His gaze was sharp and fiery.

"Who are you to command us?" said one resident.

"I am her boyfriend," said Dae Hyu while looking at Soo Yin.

"And he is my brother," he continued while pointing at Park Soo Hyun.

Everyone was silent. Park Soo Hyun was the most shocked of all when he heard that. But he was sure that Dae Hyun was just pretending when he said it.

After Dae Hyun explained at length, Soo Yin and Park Soo Hyun were finally released. The residents looked disappointed because they could not punish them.

They now walked out of the way to the car in silence. There was silence without anyone wanting to say anything. Only the sound of Soo Yin's sobs was left behind.

It turned out that Chang Yuan was already on the highway with some of his men. Dae Hyun deliberately contacted him, maybe they were needed.

"Come in." Dae Hyun opened the door for Soo Yin with a flat face.

"Hyeong, let Soo Yin come home with me," said Park Soo Hyun.

"You go with Chang Yuan and take your car," Dae Hyun said as he looked ahead without looking at his brother's face.

"But..." Soo Hyun objected.

"Hurry home with Assistant Chang!" Dae Hyun ordered furiously. His hands clenched into fists, his chest was pounding.

Soo Yin, who was already in the car could hear that her husband was very angry right now. She could only surrender about her stupidity.

=====

Pyeongchang-dong villa,

Dae Hyun carried Soo Yin's body to get to their room. How could he have the heart to let Soo Yin walk alone when her condition was a mess.

Since on the way, not a single word was spoken from Dae Hyun's lips. It could be said that Dae Hyun was currently very angry, so it was better to keep quiet. Because silence was the highest level of anger.

Meanwhile, Soo Yin looked shocked by what had just happened. She snuggled against Dae Hyun's chest while wrapping her arms around his neck. It was like a dream because she was almost forcibly married to Park Soo Hyun. Something that had never crossed her mind.

After arriving at their room, Dae Hyun immediately laid Soo Yin on the bed.

"Where are you going?" Soo Yin held Dae Hyun's arm as he was about to leave.

"I'll treat your wound first," said Dae Hyun, slowly he was releasing Soo Yin's grip from his hand.

Actually, at this time, Dae Hyun really wanted to be angry and slammed everything in front of his eyes. But as much as possible, he tried to restrain his anger so as not to frighten his little wife. He couldn't bear to make her cry again. Let his mind be tormented for a while.

Dae Hyun went to the bathroom to get some warm water. Then looked for first aid kit in the drawer.

Soo Yin sat on the side of the bed, about to get up to change her clothes. The clothes she was wearing were dirty and sweaty. Soo Yin was uncomfortable to wear them.

"Stay there, tell me what you need," said Dae Hyun when he saw Soo Yin was about to walk. He then placed a basin of warm water on the floor with a first aid kit beside it.

"No, I can take it myself." Soo Yin felt very bad for always bothering Dae Hyun. Moreover, at this time Dae Hyun's gaze was so cold to her. Very much different from the usual which was warm and affectionate.

Although Dae Hyun didn't say harsh words and nagged like he usually did when she did something wrong. But Soo Yin knew that her husband was currently very hurt.

Dae Hyun sat Soo Yin back on the edge of the bed slowly. Then immediately went to find clothes for her.

After getting it, Dae Hyun started to help to put Soo Yin's clothes on in silence. There were jokes or teasing which were usually spoken.

The atmosphere in their room was very quiet. Only the sound of their breathing that could be heard.

Now Dae Hyun was treating Soo Yin's wound with antiseptic so it wouldn't get worse. The man felt pity and at the same time wanted to curse and scold his little wife's carelessness. But as hard as he can, he tried to hold it in so he wouldn't let it slip.

After finishing, Dae Hyun laid Soo Yin's body on the bed. Covered her with a blanket to keep her warm. He wanted to lie down beside her. But anger still resided in his heart. So Dae Hyun decided to sleep outside.

"Honey, where are you going?" Soo Yin whined in a spoiled tone. Her hands grip Dae Hyun's wrists that hung on both sides.

"Go to sleep, I'll be out in a bit." Dae Hyun tried to speak in a tone as gentle as possible. His lips lifted slightly to carve a thin smile even though it felt heavy.

Soo Yin sat up. Before Dae Hyun stepped his foot, she first wrapped her arms so tightly around her husband's waist.

"Don't go," Soo Yin said quietly. Tears could no longer be contained from the corners of her eyes. Soo Yin felt a deep sadness.

Dae Hyun took a deep breath. He was silent as he tightly clenched his hands which were hanging on both sides.

"Please, don't just silent. I know if you are very angry with me. Just hit me, so you can spill all the anger you feel right now," Soo Yin said as she tried to hold back her tears from falling.

"Honey, don't be silent. Tell me what must I do so you can forgive me?" Soo Yin sobbed, unable to contain the guilt in her heart anymore.

Dae Hyun was still stuck in his place.

'Sorry Soo Yin, I'm not like other men who can easily forgive a mistake. My bad thoughts about you are still lingering,' ~ Dae Hyun thought as he closed his eyes.

It was not that Dae Hyun didn't believe her, but he wanted to calm down first.

Soo Yin set her feet on the floor, then slowly rose to her feet. Her hands did not leave Dae Hyun's waist. Afraid that he would leave her.

Honestly, Soo Yin missed Dae Hyun's possessiveness to her. Missed him nagging that she can't be close to any man.

Tonight Soo Yin felt that there was a distance between them. She was afraid that her husband will believe what the residents had said.

Soo Yin turned her body to face the man who was standing tall. She wanted to see the gentle look he used to give her.

"Honey, hit me if that's what it takes for you to forgive me." Soo Yin put Dae Hyun's big hand to her cheek. Hoped the guy would hit her in the face. It would feel a lot better than just being silent. His eyes were also empty.

"What are you talking about? I've forgiven you." Dae Hyun gently caressed Soo Yin's cheek. But the look in his eyes can't lie if he still held his anger.

"Then why do you want to go out if you have forgiven me," Soo Yin spoke with teary eyes.

"I just wanted to go out for a while for fear of hurting you." Dae Hyun cupped Soo Yin's cheeks. He kissed her lips which looked pale for a moment, for a few seconds.

"Do not go." Soo Yin hugged her husband's body tightly again. Now her sobs were even louder. She buried her head in the broad chest that always pampered her.

Dae Hyun didn't return Soo Yin's hug, his hands clenched behind his wife's back. He really felt too jealous right now.

"Now go to sleep because it's getting late. I'm tired and very sleepy. We'd better talk in the morning." Dae Hyun let go of Soo Yin's hand slowly then led her back to the bed.

Soo Yin complied, even though her heart was still tight but she wanted Dae Hyun to rest too.

"Sleep here and don't go anywhere," said Soo Yin.

Dae Hyun nodded his head while smiling bitterly.

"I'm won't go," said Dae Hyun.

Five minutes later, Soo Yin was asleep after getting a sweet kiss from her husband.

Dae Hyun tried to close his eyes. But the anger that welled up in his heart had not completely disappeared so he chose to get up from the bed.

Dae Hyun immediately descended the stairs then to got out of the villa. He got into his car and drove the car without any definite destination. Right now he wanted to calm himself down first.

=====

UN Village,

With languid steps Park Soo Hyun entered his house. His mind was still wandering remembering the events that had just happened some time ago. Along the way Park Soo Hyun kept cursing and grumbling for his stupidity.

"Soo Hyun, you're finally home," said Mrs. Park who had been worried about her youngest son's condition. Her face looked worried because she had not heard any news from her son all day. She was worried because it was his first day leaving the house.

"Hmmm." Park Soo Hyun answered weakly and uninspired. Guilt was now overwhelming his heart for not being able to protect his idol girl.

Park Soo Hyun regretted for not fighting the citizens when he should be able to. He even asked his brother for help. He felt pain and shortness of breath right now. The hope of being someone who can take care of the people he loved was now gone.

Soo Yin must have thought that he was a coward and irresponsible man. Park Soo Hyun felt that he was like a loser.

"Park Soo Hyun, what exactly happened? Why did you two get stuck there with Soo Yin?" asked Mrs. Park who can no longer hide her curiosity.

When the sun went down, Mrs. Park asked Dae Hyun of where Park Soo Hyun was because his cell phone was inactive. It was true when she suspected that Park Soo Hyun was not at the hotel.

"It's a long story, mom." Park Soo Hyun looked at the middle-aged woman who had been taking care of him until now. Wanted to say something but he cancelled his intention.

"Say it right now." Mrs. Park looked impatient to hear what was actually had happened.

Park Soo Hyun sighed heavily. Felt doubt to say everything. But if he wasn't honest, Dae Hyun would have said it all.

"I went to teacher Cheon's place but came back when the sun went down..." Park Soo Hyun began to tell a little about how they were almost forced to marry by the villagers and the people who treated them harshly.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 411 - 411 - Very Angry

"Poor Soo Yin, she must be very shocked and traumatized by now," said Mrs. Park with a sad face. As a mother, she can feel what happened to her son.

"Why didn't you bring her here?" added Mrs. Park.

"Hyeong didn't allow it, Mom," said Park Soo Hyun with a bitter smile. He regrets not being able to take Soo Yin with him. The girl must be very sad because she is currently alone. Even though it looks very clear that Soo Yin is very scared.

"Oh my gosh Dae Hyun should have brought her to our house, so mom can comfort her." Mrs. Park was annoyed.

How could Park Soo Hyun refute his brother's words? His eyes were so sharp and fiery that they could have burned him alive.

"Maybe tomorrow I will visit her," said Park Soo Hyun. His lips lifted slightly into a smile to reassure his mother that Soo Yin was okay.

"How about tomorrow we propose to her right away?" Mrs. Park said. She let out all of the thoughts that had been buried for a long time.

Park Soo Hyun's face instantly bloomed. It seemed that his mother had the same desire as him. Even though at first he was afraid that his mother would refuse his request.

"Do you agree?" Park Soo Hyun's face brightened even more, unable to hide the joy in his heart.

"Of course, there's no reason to reject a girl as good as Soo Yin. Didn't mother support you from the start?" said Mrs. Park with a sparkling expression. It seemed that her wish to make Soo Yin her daughter-in-law will come true in the near future.

"We'd better talk to father first, Mom. Is father resting?" Park Soo Hyun asked. Because he wanted to quickly propose to Soo Yin, if possible he will do it tomorrow or at least next week.

"No, your father is still in his study. Now sit down, let mother call him," said Mrs. Park as she walked away from the living room to call her husband. It didn't matter how late it was.

Park Soo Hyun wanted to ask his father's opinion first so he can sleep tonight. He leaned his head against the back of the sofa. His body was completely crushed right now.

Park Soo Hyun's eyes immediately widened when he saw his brother coming home. Wanted to know if maybe Dae Hyun brought Soo Yin back to their house.

With slow steps, Park Soo Hyun approached Dae Hyun. His greatest wish was for Soo Yin to come with him.

"Hyeong, you're finally home too." Park Soo Hyun looked around behind Dae Hyun but found no one.

"How is Soo Yin? Why did you not bring her here? I'm very worried about her," added Park Soo Hyun.

Dae Hyun tried to be patient so as not to utter harsh words. He wanted to curse his brother who almost made his wife hurt again. If something had happened, Dae Hyun would probably have killed him.

"Hyeong, please answer my question," said Park Soo Hyun because his brother was silent.

Hearing Park Soo Hyun mentioned Soo Yin's name made Dae Hyun impatient. Until as soon as he arrived in front of his brother, Dae Hyun stopped his pace. His gaze was like a demon lord.

"Why are you being so careless about taking her to teacher Cheon's place? Can't you think if something happened to her? What kind of man are you, brought a girl up the mountain until the night?" Dae Hyun's chest swelled to vent all the anger that had been suppressed for a long time.

"I just wanted to help her find a martial arts teacher. Soo Yin said she wanted to practice just in case something bad happens," said Park Soo Hyun very honestly as well as an effort to defend himself.

Dae Hyun rubbed his face angrily, remembering Soo Yin who couldn't wait to practice. Even though he had found the right person this morning. He did not allow her because at that time he had not found the right coach for her.

"You shouldn't have taken her there. You could have taken her to a self-defense center around Seoul. You almost hurt her." Dae Hyun wanted to say harsh words but couldn't bear it.

"I just happened to want to go to teacher Cheon's place so I invited her," said Park Soo Hyun, lowering his voice.

This was the first time Park Soo Hyun was afraid of his brother. Usually he would argue and fight it. Dae Hyun's sharp gaze looks unusual. This was the first time that Park Soo Hyun saw Dae Hyun looking so angry.

"Do you know the consequences if I arrive a little late? You may be publicly humiliated and immediately forcibly married," said Dae Hyun in a high tone as he grabbed Park Soo Hyun by the collar until he stood up.

"I have no problem at all if I have to marry Soo Yin. I promise to make her happy," said Park Soo Hyun while holding his neck because he felt suffocated. This was his first time seeing Dae Hyun so angry, even his brother's hands were shaking now.

Park Soo Hyun tried to think positively, if Dae Hyun might not have feelings for Soo Yin. As he said to the people.

"Why do you look so angry? I will definitely be responsible for Soo Yin's happiness so you don't have to worry. Besides, I have also liked her for a long time," added Park Soo Hyun with a sigh.

"You are a useless man!" Dae Hyun's heart heated up when he heard Park Soo Hyun's statement. His breath was pounding because of the anger he felt.

"Dae Hyun, what's this?" Aeri was suddenly surprised to see her husband like he was about to hit Park Soo Hyun.

Dae Hyun tried to take a deep breath when he heard Aeri's voice suddenly coming. He then removed his hand from the collar of his brother's shirt, then pushed him until he fell back on the sofa.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 412 - 412 -

Without saying a word, Dae Hyun then climbed up the stairs to his son's room. Jo Yeon Ho was the only one who could calm him down right now. Hopefully right now his son was not angry anymore.

After arriving, Dae Hyun then laid down beside Jo Yeon Ho, hugging him until his son who slowly moved his body.

"Father?" he said with his eyes wide open. As per his mother's orders, Jo Yeon Ho must remain angry before Dae Hyun promised not to hurt his mother.

"Sorry, father woke you up from a deep sleep." Dae Hyun was about to rub the top of Jo Yeon Ho's head but the boy shifted his body away.

"Go away from here!" said Jo Yeon Ho. There was a deep feeling of longing for his father but the child must do what his mother told him so they'll always be together.

"Yeon Ho, are you still mad at father?" Dae Hyun said with a frown. Unexpected if his son still remembered what happened a few days ago. He had not had time to ask someone for help because he was busy and some problems always arose.

"I don't like having an angry father," said Jo Yeon Ho while placing a bolster pillow between them as a barrier.

"Yeon Ho, I'm really sorry. Please forgive father's mistakes this time," Dae Hyun coaxed.

"I will forgive you if father apologizes to mom and promises not to make her cry," asked Jo Yeon Ho.

Dae Hyun was silenced by his son's request. The request was not difficult but very hard to do. If he apologized then he was very sure that Aeri will feel victorious.

Check...

There was the sound of the door opening, without even looking Dae Hyun already knew who entered the room.

"Yeon Ho, you haven't slept yet?" Aeri said as she approached her son and sat beside him.

"Hurry up if you want to apologize," said Jo Yeon Ho as he sat up and leaned his body on Aeri's shoulder.

Dae Hyun massaged his temples, this was the hardest thing to resist. Even though soon Dae Hyun wanted to divorce Aeri. If he didn't want to apologize to Aeri, his son will hate him even more.

Dae Hyun had always been weak to his son's requests.

"Aeri, I'm sorry," Dae Hyun said in a flat tone.

A wide smile immediately tugged at Aeri's lips. This was the much-awaited opportunity for Dae Hyun to apologize to her.

"Are you really not going to repeat what you did?" Aeri deliberately said it in front of Yeon Ho so Dae Hyun couldn't move.

"Hmmm," said Dae Hyun nonchalantly.

"Look, your father has apologized to mom. You'd better forgive your father now too." Aeri rubbed her son's shoulder gently. Her heart was very happy today.

"Okay." Yeon Ho shifted his body and hugged his father's body tightly. It had been a few days since he had felt a warm hug that made him feel very homesick.

Dae Hyun hugged his son and kissed the top of his head. Hugging him like this really made him feel very calm. The anger was now slowly disappearing even though it was replaced by annoyance with Aeri.

"Honey, mom asked you to come down. They want to talk about something," said Aeri while looking at Dae Hyun.

"It's midnight, we can talk tomorrow because I'm tired," said Dae Hyun.

"They seem to want to ask your opinion about Soo Yin. Park Soo Hyun plans to propose to the girl as soon as possible," said Aeri casually.

"What?" Dae Hyun exclaimed, like he was hearing an atomic bomb exploded in his head. His jaw instantly hardened.

"They are currently talking about it," explained Aeri. Her suspicions were getting stronger now when she saw Dae Hyun's face which was instantly filled with anger. His face was tense and his gaze was so sharp even though he wasn't looking at her.

"Yeon Ho, now go to sleep. Father will come down for a while, then come back with you again." Dae Hyun releases Yeon Ho from his embrace.

With hasty steps, Dae Hyun immediately descended the stairs.

Aeri pulled one of her lips up. It seemed that today was her luck. With Park Soo Hyun marrying Soo Yin, then the girl will not bother Dae Hyun anymore.

Aeri put Yeon Ho to bed first before following Dae Hyun down. She wanted to know what Dae Hyun would do.

If he insisted on refusing then it was certain that Dae Hyun had a relationship with his secretary. But it was a shame because Aeri didn't have any evidence.

There was the sound of people chatting so Dae Hyun immediately stepped in there.

"What's this? Can't we just talk about it tomorrow morning," said Dae Hyun, who was already filled with emotion again. Even though his heart had just calmed down.

"Dae Hyun, why are you so emotional?" asked Mrs. Park with a frown.

Park Ji Hoon looked at Dae Hyun with complicated feelings. Finally what he had been afraid of would happen. From the look in his eyes, he wanted to tell Dae Hyun to calm down.

"It's late, Mom," said Dae Hyun with a long sigh.

"It's okay because we're all not sleepy yet. Park Soo Hyun said that he wouldn't be able to sleep before he said everything," said Mrs. Park.

"What do you think of Soo Yin's character while working with you? I see that she is a very diligent child," said Mrs. Park.

"Why though?" Dae Hyun tried to provoke, pretended not to know what they were talking about.

"We will propose to Soo Yin as soon as possible. Mom wants her to stay in this house so she doesn't feel lonely. Kim Soo Hyun says that she lives in a small house." Mrs. Park said about her wish.

"Are you sure you want to propose to her?" Dae Hyun frowned as he racked his brains to stop Park Soo Hyun's intentions.

"Of course I am very sure. I will make her happy with all my soul and body," said Park Soo Hyun so firmly. The sight of them walking on the altar made his heart skip a beat.

"You've only known her for a few days. There's no need to rush." Dae Hyun tried to speak with a cool head because the more he oppose, the more suspicious they will become.

"I've confessed to her long enough but there is no answer. Maybe she's shy to answer." Park Soo Hyun didn't say what happened that night because his mother was there.

"Are you sure she will accept your feelings?" Dae Hyun pouted confidently.

"Of course I'm very sure," said Park Soo Hyun.

"Soo Hyun, you better make sure first. I don't want it if you're in a hurry," Park Ji Hoon said to mediate an argument that might end in a fight.

"Ji Hoon, why you seem like you dislike if Park Soo Hyun is with Soo Yin?" Mrs. Park narrowed her eyes at her husband.

"Now get some rest, it's getting late." Without answering his wife's question, Park Ji Hoon immediately left the room.

The others also disbanded. Now Dae Hyun can breathe a little relieved because his father seemed to support him.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 413 - 413 - No News

After that night, Dae Hyun did not return to the villa even though it had been two days.

Soo Yin already missed him so much. There was only an incoming message a few seconds ago from Dae Hyun.

[If you want to get out of the house it's fine. Do not force yourself to stay at home all the time if you are healthy. I'm sure you're bored]

This was the first time that the message Dae Hyun had sent was read so coldly by Soo Yin. The corners of her eyes were starting to cloud. Thought of her husband who was still angry made Soo Yin very stressed.

Soo Yin leaned her head back on the chair, her eyes were looking far away at the events of that night. Cursed how stupid her mind was.

"Miss?" called aunt Xia.

Soo Yin remained where she was because she didn't hear Aunt Xia's voice which was calling out to her in a low voice.

"Miss." Aunt Xia gently patted Soo Yin's shoulder in fear of startling her.

Soo Yin turned her face back.

"What's the matter, Auntie?"

"It's getting dark, Miss. You should go inside. If you're sick Mr. Dae Hyun will be very worried, Miss," said Aunt Xia for the umpteenth time, asking Soo Yin to come inside.

The middle-aged woman felt sad to see her continued to ponder.

"He is very angry with me, Auntie. I am a rebellious wife who never obeys my husband's words. He deserves to be angry and probably won't forgive me," said Soo Yin with a bitter smile.

"That's not true. Maybe Mr. Dae Hyun is currently busy so he can't come here." Aunt Xia wanted to comfort Soo Yin from having bad thoughts.

"He's usually not like that, Auntie. Now he's so cold. Even the messages he sent aren't what they used to be." Soo Yin sighed heavily.

"Come on, don't think of anything bad. Now it's best to think positively if he's just busy," Aunt Xia said softly so as to give Soo Yin a calming effect.

Soo Yin took a deep breath then nodded her head. Agreed to Aunt Xia's words to think positively about her husband. Although it was undeniable that bad thoughts about him were always present.

"Now you'd better eat first," said Aunt Xia.

Soo Yin finally followed Aunt Xia's steps to enter the house. There were no more drinks in Dae Hyun's study even though Soo Yin wanted to forget her longing for a moment because they hadn't seen each other for a few days.

Longing was very painful.

After finishing eating Soo Yin returned to her room. Wanted to spend time reading more books because since yesterday she was just pensive without doing anything useful.

The ringing of the cell phone distracted Soo Yin from the book she was reading. Her brow furrowed when she saw Park Soo Hyun's name on the phone screen. But it was just a short message.

[Soo Yin, in 15 minutes I'll be in front of your house. I'll pick you up for dinner. Get ready] wrote Park Soo Hyun.

Cold sweat instantly dripped from her skin. Soo Yin was very panicked at the moment.

"How is this? Park Soo Hyun must have come to that house," Soo Yin muttered as she patted her forehead.

Soo Yin stepped onto the balcony. Back and forth while looking for ways not to let Park Soo Hyun come. That man would definitely know if she didn't actually live there.

With determination, Soo Yin finally contacted Park Soo Hyun.

"Goodnight, Dear." Park Soo Hyun's voice sounded so cheerful tonight.

Soo Yin swallowed her saliva when she heard Park Soo Hyun's nickname for her. But as much as possible Soo Yin acted normal without listening to it.

"I just wanted to ask if you did send a message?" Soo Yin said nervously.

"Right, I want to tell you something. We have to meet tonight," said Park Soo Hyun.

"Can't you just say it on the phone? Because I'm not home right now." If Park Soo Hyun intended to ask about the answer, Soo Yin wanted to answer honestly even though it would be painful for him.

"This is so important that I want to say it straight away. Where are you, let me pick you up?"

"Sorry, I'm at a friend's house right now doing some homework." Soo Yin thought of a way to keep Park Soo Hyun from coming to the house.

"Are you busy?" There was a disappointed tone from Park Soo Hyun.

"Hmmm, I even stay overnight here," said Soo Yin.

"Too bad, then I'll pick you up next time," said Park Soo Hyun.

Soo Yin could breathe a sigh of relief after turning off the phone. Maybe Soo Yin could come to the front of the house, but right now she didn't want to go anywhere. What's more Aunt Xia would definitely not let her go.

-
-

It was almost noon, before Soo Yin got out of bed. First, she looked at her cellphone, maybe there was a message that Dae Hyun had sent.

Empty, not a single message came in. Soo Yin felt frustrated by that. So that her mind didn't always think about it, Soo Yin was going to college today. Maybe hanging out with friends can cool her mind.

After getting ready, Soo Yin immediately left the house. Today's schedule was a bit late so she could relax a bit.

Soo Yin asked Chung Ho to drop her a bit far from the campus gate with an excuse that she wanted to walk because she had been doing nothing for several days.

Her face couldn't hide the disappointment she was feeling. Throughout the walk, Soo Yin kept thinking that maybe Dae Hyun needed time to forgive all of her mistakes.

Hoping that Dae Hyun won't be bored because her attitude which hadn't mature yet. But it seems that this time Dae Hyun is very angry with her. Or has he given up?

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 414 - 414 - They Look Happy

Soo Yin was in the classroom. She looked like she was listening to the lecturer who was giving a course. But her mind wandered far away somewhere.

Jae-hwa who was sitting right next to her occasionally nudged her when the lecturer asked her a question. Luckily last night she had studied it a bit so it wasn't too difficult for Soo Yin to answer.

"Soo Yin, what's wrong with you today? Are you sick?" Jae-hwa knitted his brows worriedly to see her today who was so gloomy and uninspired.

"No, I'm fine," said Soo Yin, trying to put on a faint smile.

"But, you look unwell today. We should ask permission to go home, let me take you home," said Jae-hwa.

"Thanks, but I'm really fine. You don't have to worry." Soo Yin tried to make her face as bright as possible so that Jae-hwa wouldn't take her home.

"Okay." Jae-hwa was relieved to see that Soo Yin had started taking classes even though she seemed forced.

Without realising, it was now afternoon. There was a reluctance feeling for Soo Yin to go home too soon. It just so happened that when she was about to leave campus, she met Hyo Rin and the others.

"Soo Yin, let's go to cinema. This afternoon there is a good movie. Let's go for a walk together," said Hyo Rin.

"I'm coming," said Soo Yin without a second thought. Looked like watching movie was a good idea. It had been a long time since she rarely met Jean.

=====

They went to one of the biggest malls in Seoul. They wanted to eat before watching movies. The film schedule was still long so they decided to go around looking for typical knick-knacks that were usually liked by young people.

"Soo Yin, why do you look so dispirited?" Mi Na said curiously.

Since then, Soo Yin's face was downcast with pouting lips.

"Is there any problem?" Mi Na continued.

"Not at all," said Soo Yin quickly.

"Looks like you need to drink or eat with chocolate ingredients to be more excited," said Yoon-ah.

"Right, I want to eat it too," said Hyo Rin.

Soo Yin just gave up when they grabbed her wrist. They continued walking towards a cafe that sold food and drinks made of chocolate.

They were now sitting in a circle in front of the table while waiting for their orders to arrive.

"Soo Yin, come on don't be sad like that. Tell me did you have a fight with your lover?" Yoon-ah asked.

"N... no," Soo Yin stuttered. To her this was scarier than the fight they had.

"It's impossible for them to fight. Soo Yin's boyfriend is very kind," said Hyo Rin.

Soo Yin frowned. Felt suspicious about Hyo Rin knowing her relationship with Dae Hyun.

"Do you know who he is?" Mi Na asked Hyo Rin with a gleam on her face.

"I'm just guessing," Hyo Rin said while grinning.

Their conversation was cut short when the waitress came to bring their orders.

Soo Yin ordered a chocolate parfait with fruit pieces inside. She started to enjoy it, indeed eating something made of chocolate made her mood better. Maybe Soo Yin should ask Aunt Xia to prepare that food when needed.

They enjoyed the order while chatting. Soo Yin was now able to start mingling with their conversation.

Half an hour had passed, it was time to watch a movie in the cinema.

"You guys go in first, I want to go to the toilet for a bit," Soo Yin said.

"Okay, don't take too long."

Soo Yin nodded her head, then rushed to the toilet in the mall. When passing by the children's playground, at first glance Soo Yin seemed to see Dae Hyun was playing a game with Jo Yeon Ho.

Soo Yin immediately hid herself to peek behind the wall so she wouldn't be seen.

In there, Dae Hyun was playing a car race with his son. His face seemed to glow with a crisp laugh interspersed with it. The man looked happy, unlike his usual flat attitude.

Soo Yin's chest felt tighter and tighter. Her hollow chest cavity burned with jealousy when she saw that Aeri was with them.

Soo Yin smiled bitterly looking at them who seemed like a very happy family. Jo Yeon Ho laughed so cheerfully while riding the car with his father.

"No wonder you didn't contact me," Soo Yin said with a chuckle. She wanted to believe everything that Dae Hyun had said. But in reality, Soo Yin couldn't bear to see them laughing together.

Soo Yin already stood there for 15 minutes. Observed them, Dae Hyun seemed close to Aeri. Trust that had been built was now collapsing.

Soo Yin couldn't stand to see the happy look on their faces anymore.

Aeri accidentally turned to Soo Yin until their eyes met for a moment. Soo Yin then turned her gaze to another direction. She then immediately left because she didn't want Dae Hyun to see her.

Soo Yin washed her face before getting out of the bathroom. She closed her eyes for a moment to let the bad thoughts disappear from her memory.

"Hmmm."

Soo Yin opened her eyes when she heard a familiar female voice was ringing in her ear.

"Hey, are you following us on purpose?" quipped Aeri with a very happy feeling.

"What am I following you guys for? Is it important to me?" Soo Yin spoke calmly as she looked at her face in the mirror. Wiped the remnants of water stuck to her skin with a tissue.

"Don't pretend. How much money did Dae Hyun give you?" said Aeri sarcastically.

"What do you mean?" Soo Yin narrowed her eyes as she looked at Aeri from the mirror reflection because the woman was now standing right behind her.

"Don't pretend. Don't you and Dae Hyun have a relationship? I want to know how much money my husband gave you so you want to spend the night with him," Aeri sneered with a crooked smile.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 415 - 415 - Bad In Bed

Soo Yin gawked, not expecting Aeri to know about her relationship with Dae Hyun. But she didn't seem to know about their marriage. Soo Yin became nervous, but tried her best to stay calm. She didn't want to be provoked by Aeri's trap.

"What nonsense are you saying?" Soo Yin argued. Even if she told the truth, Aeri would not believe it and maybe even she would be laughed at by many people.

"Do you think I'm stupid. There's no way a poor girl who rarely works could go to medical school. I'm sure it was all my husband's money." Aeri chuckled as she folded her arms across her chest.

Soo Yin was silent as she thought of making a defense.

"You're not worse than me either. Having an affair with manager Han behind Mr. Dae Hyun," said Soo Yin boldly to divert their conversation.

"Even though Dae Hyun knows that I'm having an affair. But we will never be apart so don't you expect to take him away from me. I have Jo Yeon Ho who he loves very much. Dae Hyun would never have the heart to hurt his son. Whereas you are just a poor little bug." Aeri chuckled, laughing at Soo Yin who was already looking emotional.

"You crazy woman!" Soo Yin said. It was unbelievable that her enemy was a psychopath.

"I was crazy when I decided to marry Dae Hyun," Aeri said between laughs.

"Never mind, I have nothing to do with you," said Soo Yin as she was about to leave the toilet but Aeri held her back.

"You should marry Park Soo Hyun immediately so you won't bother my husband anymore. Even though I actually feel sorry for my brother-in-law who is willing to get a girl who turns out to be the girl of many masher," said Aeri while laughing crisply.

"Watch your words!" exclaimed Soo Yin who didn't accept being said as a girl of masher man.

"You know, Dae Hyun also does it with many women. After he had fun with you, he also told me about you being really bad when you were in bed. Very inexperienced," Aeri provoked.

Soo Yin boiled even more when she heard it. Unexpectedly her husband said that to his old wife.

Plak...

When Aeri was careless, Soo Yin then put her palm on her cheek to vent all of her anger.

"How dare you," said Aeri while holding her cheek because Soo Yin's slap was quite hard.

"That's the result because you've been talking nonsense," said Soo Yin. Then she walked out of the bathroom as her face reddened with anger.

After Soo Yin left, Aeri laughed loudly because she had managed to threaten Soo Yin. She was sure that after this, Soo Yin would keep her distance from her husband.

Soo Yin stepped with a strong stomping on the floor. Remembered how Aeri said that she was bad in bed. It was like a slap to her. Because it was something that shouldn't be revealed but it was a shame that her husband said it, even though Soo Yin was not sure about it.

"Should I practice first to be more experienced? Maybe I should watch it a lot from now on so as not to be underestimated," Soo Yin muttered with a groan.

Her desire to watch romantic films vanished from her mind. From now on, she may have to watch a lot of blue films so she won't get humiliated.

Soo Yin's mind was very confused at the moment because it was like an insult to her. It was undeniable that she did not have the experience like other women who were older than her.

Soo Yin's face was very hot. This time, she was outside the mall, trying to stop a taxi. Previously, she had sent a message to her friends because she couldn't come to the cinema because she had a sudden stomach ache.

Soo Yin didn't know where to go tonight. Just a short sentence that Aeri said was able to frustrate her.

"Bad in bed." The words were still ringing in her ears.

While on the way, Soo Yin's eyes fell on a luxury bar in Seoul. Soo Yin remembered that Jean had said that she worked there as a waitress.

Jean did choose to work at the bar rather than to return to the hotel with the excuse of not wanting to meet Park Soo Hyun. She said she wanted to try to forget the man.

Now Soo Yin already had a direction and a purpose. She didn't want to worry Aunt Xia so she sent her a message. She said that she was staying at a friend's house because she had homework to do. Soo Yin didn't know whether to come home tonight or not. Just in case, she'd better said it that way.

Soo Yin asked the taxi driver to drop her off in front of the Griffin Bar's building. She stared at the place for a few minutes. Her heart skipped a beat, because it was her first time coming to a place like that.

She closed her eyes for a moment before finally getting up the courage to enter. Soo Yin tightened her grip on the bag strap slung over her shoulder. There was a certain fear of going in there.

The current nervousness she felt when she had just stepped inside. Even though the lights were dim, Soo Yin could feel several pairs of eyes were on her. She felt goosebumps when she looked around and there was a man who was looking at her so intensely.

The sound of the music was enough to make her eardrums feel like they were about to burst because Soo Yin didn't really like listening to loud music.

Soo Yin smiled widely when she saw Jean who was delivering orders to the guest table. She quickly walked over to her friend.

Even though she worked in a bar, Jean's clothes can still be said to be modest. She didn't wear sexy clothes like the others. After all, her job in there was only as an ordinary waitress, not a plus-plus waitress who usually served mashers.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 416 - 416 - Boring

"Hi, Jean," said Soo Yin. But it seemed that Jean did not hear it, because it was blocked by the sound of disco music which was quite deafening to the ears.

Soo Yin stepped closer to the bartender where Jean was there with him.

When Jean looked at Soo Yin, she was like dreaming of seeing someone who looked like her best friend. She believed that it was impossible for Soo Yin to come to such a place.

But upon closer inspection, it turned out that it was indeed Soo Yin.

"Soo Yin, what are you doing here?" said Jean with knitted brows.

"I i ...." Soo Yin was also confused as to what her purpose was there. What was clear was that she wanted to forget for a moment about the burning feeling in her chest.

"Sit down, I'll deliver the order first," said Jean as she pulled out a chair for Soo Yin to sit down. Then went to deliver the orders of the guests again.

A man with dark glasses had been observing Soo Yin ever since she just entered. There was a sense of attraction to Soo Yin when he saw her beautiful and innocent face.

"Miss, may I ask you something?" he said to Jean who had just served his order.

"Please, sir," said Jean politely.

"May I know who that girl is? Do you know her?" The man looked at Soo Yin behind his dark glasses.

Jean froze, confused between being honest or lying. She had a bad feeling about it. Usually if a man who came there asked about a woman then it was certain that there was an interest in her.

"She ... she is my friend, sir. But she is not a waiter or a worker in this bar. She came here only as a guest," explained Jean. Before there was a misunderstanding, it was better to explain everything.

"Hmmm." The man nodded then told Jean to leave.

Jean stepped quickly to approach Soo Yin. Before getting into big trouble, it was best to get Soo Yin out of the bar.

"Soo Yin, tell me what exactly is your purpose to come to this place? No need to mess around. What if your husband finds out? He will definitely be furious," Jean chirped at length, subtly wanting to kick her best friend out of this place.

"I just want to drink a little. Take me to a special room because I want to rent it," said Soo Yin who had finished one glass of wine. The glass in her hand was now empty.

"Soo Yin, what's wrong with you? Quickly give me your cell phone and let me call Mr. Dae Hyun." Jean raised her hand, asking for a cell phone.

"Jean, don't complain to him. He's currently going out with Aeri. Hurry up and show me the room," said Soo Yin who was impatient. Her intention to watch blue films for the sake of finding references wanted to be channeled immediately.

"Alright, come with me quickly," said Jean as she pulled Soo Yin's wrist so they could leave quickly. Because the gaze of the man who had asked about Soo Yin earlier had not shifted.

Jean took Soo Yin into a room that visitors usually book with their partners. There people can do karaoke and watch blue films too.

"Stay here and lock the door from the inside. I don't want anything to happen to you," Jean suggested with an even expression. It wasn't that she was unhappy to meet Soo Yin, but they met at the wrong time.

"Calm down, I'm just here to watch films," said Soo Yin lightly.

"Jean, bring me some wine," Soo Yin added while grimacing for not saying it earlier.

"No, I don't want you to get drunk. If there's a problem, don't get used to get drunk," said Jean firmly.

"Just a little please," Soo Yin whined while holding Jean's arm.

"Why don't you watch it at home?" Jean said.

"Not fun," said Soo Yin as she threw herself on the soft sofa.

Jean shook her head in response to her friend's behavior this time. She suspected that there was a misunderstanding between her and her husband. Soo Yin often made the wrong decisions because she was always in a hurry.

"Soon my shift is over. After this I will accompany you," said Jean. Then hurriedly left Soo Yin.

ooooo

Soo Yin kept changing the video she was playing until she felt bored. She found nothing interesting. But Aeri's words were so disturbing that it made her mind uncontrollable.

One bottle of wine was now almost finished by her. She drank it straight from the bottle without using a glass. It turned out that the alcohol content was higher than the alcohol that she usually drank. Now her head felt dizzy.

Jean who said that she would come soon and accompany her to drink. In fact, until now the bridge of her nose had not been seen.

"Ughhh, boring," grumbled Soo Yin who was fed up with watching the same scene. Watching it over and over again made her feel disgusted.

Soo Yin then replaced it with music for karaoke though staggering. He began to sing in a slurred and slurred tone.

Every now and then she checked her cell phone again, maybe there were messages or missed calls from her husband but unfortunately it was empty. Soo Yin felt that Dae Hyun didn't care about her anymore.

Soo Yin's lips pulled up slightly.

"Looks like you really forgot about me." Soo Yin snorted with her head spinning until she finally collapsed onto the sofa again.

Check...

Jean had just come because she had just finished her work. It was getting crowded outside so Jean helped the others first. She then approached her friend who was very messy. The smell of wine pierced her sense of smell.

Even though Jean worked at the bar, she didn't want to taste it even a little.

"Soo Yin, let's go home. It's getting late, I'm afraid Dae Hyun is looking for you," said Jean who was already sitting beside her.

"Look, he didn't even call me." Soo Yin showed Jean the screen of her cell phone.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 417 - 417 - Gong Yoo

Jean massaged her temples because she guessed that Soo Yin was so frustrated so she did something like that.

Soo Yin finished another bottle of wine which was half full until there was nothing left. Even though Jean had forbidden it, Soo Yin didn't care about it at all.

It was late at night, so Jean was very confused on how to get home because there would be no taxis passing by.

"You really have the heart ... I hate you ... you said I was the only one in your heart but you actually did it with other people too. Dae Hyun, you are going too far," Soo Yin rambled incoherently. It turned out that her suspicions were correct from the start if Dae Hyun was a crocodile who turned into a human.

Jean just massaged her temples while listening to Soo Yin's rambling. Still can't believe that Dae Hyun was someone like that. They must have just had a fight so there was a misunderstanding. She looked at Soo Yin with a sour face. Because Jean didn't know how to cheer up her chaotic friend.

Jean finally decided to go out, to find a taxi or something that could take them home because she didn't want to take a big risk if she stayed there. She was worried if Dae Hyun was looking for her right now.

The man with black glasses continued to observe Jean's steps back and forth several times. His face looked panicked this time.

"What's the matter, Uncle?" asked a young man beside him.

"Ji Sang, can you ask what really happened to that girl?" The bespectacled man pointed to where Jean was standing.

"Tell me are you interested in her?" Ji Sang said to his uncle who had just arrived in Korea. His name was Gong Yoo, he was the younger brother of his mother. His body was tall and sturdy, very coveted by women who see it.

"No, I'm just worried that something happened to her friend so she looks so panicked," said Gong Yoo, then took off the sunglasses that were perched on his nose.

Not long after, Jean came out of the room while supporting Soo Yin, who was already heavily drunk. She seemed troubled because Soo Yin rested her head on her shoulder.

Ji Sang followed Gong Yoo's gaze which had been on Jean. He rubbed his eyes when he looked at someone he knew even though her face was covered in messy hair.

"Soo Yin," Ji Sang muttered, wide-eyed after realizing that what he saw was indeed Soo Yin. It was unbelievable that Soo Yin had come to that place. Hyo Rin said earlier that they were watching at the cinema.

"You know her?" said Gong Yoo while frowning.

"I don't really know her but we go to the same campus," said Ji Sang.

Brukk...

Jean and Soo Yin fell to the floor at the same time because Jean was unable to support Soo Yin's weight.

"Soo Yin, wake up." Jean patted her best friend's cheek to wake her up because she had difficulty of getting her out of there.

But Soo Yin was already unconscious because she was drunk.

"Need help?" Gong Yoo couldn't bear to see Soo Yin who seemed to have lost consciousness from drinking too much. So she offered himself, intended to help.

"Sir?" Jean bit her lower lip, because she didn't really trust every man who came to the bar. They always have a hidden meaning behind it.

Without listening to Jean's answer, the man then carried Soo Yin's body.

"If you want to go home, let me take you," added Gong Yoo and then stepped outside.

Ji Sang and Jean followed in his footsteps behind. Jean was about to refuse his help but couldn't deny that she was in a lot of trouble.

Underneath her consciousness, Soo Yin could smell Gong Yoo's masculine scent. It made her curious so she slowly opened her eyes a little. She vaguely saw that the man was Dae Hyun so she tightened her grip on Gong Yoo's neck.

"Finally you came too. I thought you were still having fun with Aeri and forgot about me," Soo Yin muttered under her consciousness which was slowly disappearing because it was mixed with sleepiness.

Jean was already outside when someone called her and said she had to work overtime tonight. They were overwhelmed to serve guests because there were some waiters who did not come.

Jean was currently worried about Soo Yin, it was impossible to let her be with a stranger. After all, they had just met.

"Come with me, let me take you," said Gong Yoo to Jean, who just stayed where he was.

"Actually I can't go home because I have to work overtime," said Jean with a long sigh.

"Then let me take her. Just tell me where the address is," said Gong Yoo.

"But ...." Jean was getting more and more confused now because it was impossible to tell Soo Yin's real address. After all, she still has doubts about Gong Yoo

"Don't worry, my uncle won't do anything to Soo Yin," said Ji Sang, who could read Jean's worries.

"You know her?" Jean raised her eyebrows. She observed Gong Yoo for a while. Looks like he's not a bad guy.

"We are in the same campus and have met several times," said Ji Sang.

"Can I have your number?" said Jean just in case.

Ji Sang immediately gave Gong Yoo's number and his number to convince Jean that they were good people.

"Jean, come on in!" cried a girl from the entrance of the bar.

"Sir, I beg you to take my best friend with you first. But I beg you to take good care of her," Jean asked.

"Don't worry. I will definitely take care of it," said Gong Yoo to reassure Jean.

There was no time left so Jean rushed back inside.

Gong Yoo took a deep breath. Confused of where to take Soo Yin home tonight. It was impossible to take her back to his aunt's house.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 418 - 418 - She's In My Apartment

Gong Yoo took Soo Yin back to his apartment because it was impossible to take her to Ji Sang's house. Everyone in the house will be excited about him bringing a girl home. The question 'when to get married' will surely be heard again.

Gong Yoo carried Soo Yin's body from the car to his apartment. Luckily her body was small so it didn't bother him. Then laid her on the bed.

When he first saw her, Gong Yoo felt attracted to Soo Yin. There was a burning feeling in his chest when he saw her face that looked so innocent.

Gong Yoo covered Soo Yin's body with a blanket and chose to go to the bathroom. He didn't want to let his wild thoughts roam the sleeping girl. It was undeniable that Soo Yin was very attractive.

A few moments later.

Soo Yin rolled back and forth as her stomach felt really bad. There was an urge if something wanted to be removed from her stomach immediately. She tried to sit leaning on the side of the bed because her head was spinning.

Gong Yoo just changed clothes. He was quite surprised to see Soo Yin who seemed to be about to vomit. Quickly he wanted to lead her to the bathroom.

"Whoops." Only half way through, Soo Yin couldn't hold it until she got to the bathroom so she immediately vomited her contents onto Gong Yoo's clothes.

"Dae Hyun, I'm sorry. My stomach can't take it anymore," Soo Yin said quietly. Still thought if the man was Dae Hyun.

"Shit!" Gong Yoo cursed because he just changed clothes but it was dirty again. He wanted to curse loudly at the girl who was already leaning on his shoulder.

Soo Yin felt so dizzy that she didn't feel anything anymore and collapsed again. Luckily Gong Yoo quickly supported her, so she didn't fall to the floor.

Gong Yoo immediately laid Soo Yin back on the bed.

"Dae Hyun, don't go." Soo Yin held Gong Yoo's wrist as her eyes closed.

"Dae Hyun? Who is he? Why is she always mentioning his name?" Gong Yoo muttered with a thousand questions in his mind.

"Dae Hyun, I've watched a lot of movies tonight. Please don't go," Soo Yin mumbled as her breath getting regular.

"What a strange girl." Gong Yoo muttered as he sighed annoyed at having to go back to the bathroom to clean his body. Though drowsiness had started to come and he wanted to fall asleep immediately.

=====

UN Village,

Dae Hyun was standing on the balcony located in Jo Yeon Ho's room while holding a cell phone in his hand. There was a desire to contact Soo Yin but he always refused to do so. He had been standing there for half an hour after putting Yeon Ho to sleep.

Dae Hyun didn't see Soo Yin for a while because he didn't want his wife to think that he was always restricting her movements. Dae Hyun wanted to try to shake off his possessiveness a bit. Wanted to try to understand Soo Yin's wishes.

Two hours ago, they had just come back from the mall because his son kept whining for the three of them to go out. Made him not bear to always refuse. He also had to pretend to be nice with Aeri in front of Jo Yeon Jo.

Even so, it will not stop his intention to divorce Aeri. But right now he can't afford to be away from Jo Yeon Ho.

The sky was getting darker because it was already midnight. Made the longing that had been held back even more passionate. Dae Hyun finally decided to contact Soo Yin. He can't bear to wait until tomorrow even if just to hear her voice.

"Hello, who's there?" asked a man's voice when it was connected.

It was like thunder during the day without clouds and rain. Dae Hyun's hands were clenched tightly as his chest tightened.

Who was with his wife in the middle of the night like this? Dae Hyun tried to think positively, maybe the man found her cell phone.

"Hello, is anyone there?" said Gong Yoo again because Dae Hyun hadn't answered.

"May I know where the owner of this phone is?" Dae Hyun finally opened his voice with his jaw tightening and exerting.

"She's sleeping," said Gong Yoo flatly.

"Where? How come both of you being together?" Dae Hyun's emotions were getting more and more explosive when he heard it because the man's answer sounds relaxed.

"She's in my apartment."

"What?" shouted Dae Hyun with his eyes wide open. His mind was getting more and more chaotic right now.

"Don't shout like that," Gong Yoo grumbled.

"Quickly tell me where the apartment is? I'll pick her up right now," said Dae Hyun. Wanted to immediately ascertain what really happened. Still can't believe after what happened the last few days with her little wife.

"I am at Eve Hongdae," said Gong Yoo.

Without another word, Dae Hyun immediately hung up the phone. Then grabbed the coat which was hanging without saying goodbye to Jo Yeon Ho because the child had been sleeping soundly.

Dae Hyun immediately drove his car at high speed towards Eve Hongdae in the middle of the night.

◦

◦

Eve Hongdae,

It didn't take long to get to the apartment, because it was in the center of Seoul and not too far from the UN Village.

Dae Hyun pressed the doorbell repeatedly because he couldn't wait to meet Soo Yin. But Gong Yoo didn't open the door either.

"What took him so long?" Dae Hyun grumbled while chuckling in annoyance. If only the door could be broken down with his body. He was already going to destroy it with a single kick.

It hadn't opened, Dae Hyun called Soo Yin's cell phone again. But unfortunately it wasn't answered, making him even more angry.

After a while, the door finally opened. In the middle of the door stood a man who was almost his age. They were the same height but his face still looked younger than Dae Hyun.

.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 419 - 419 - What Happened To You?

The heat instantly scorched his soul. Dae Hyun's heart lit up when he saw him only wearing casual clothes and his hair was wet.

Dae Hyun then walked in without permission, if what was in his mind was true then he would no longer be able to live in Seoul.

"Soo Yin, where are you?" called Dae Hyun.

"Hey, do you not having manners so you just entered without permission," Gong Yoo grumbled as he followed Dae Hyun from behind.

Dae Hyun then entered the room. He looked at the sad face of Soo Yin who was sleeping. Her breathing was steady, allowing him to breathe a little easier.

"You didn't do anything to her, did you?" Dae Hyun turned to look at Gong Yoo with an intimidating look.

"Who are you? So your name is Dae Hyun?" Gong Yoo pouted while putting his hands on his hips.

Dae Hyun did not answer Gong Yoo's question, he then carried Soo Yin's body without asking for permission.

"Hey, where are you taking her?" Gong Yoo looked emotional because Dae Hyun wanted to take her.

"Of course to go home. Do you think I'll let her be here with a man like you," said Dae Hyun. Then he walked away from the apartment.

"Who he really is?" Gong Yoo muttered curiously. Regretted because he gave him his address to that man.

=====

Pyeongchang-dong villa,

Aunt Xia was surprised to see Dae Hyun who was carrying Soo Yin's body.

"Master, what happened to the young lady?" She said anxiously.

"She seems to be very drunk, Auntie," Dae Hyun said as he walked over.

"I think the lady is actually staying over at her friend's house because she's working on an assignment." Aunt Xia sighed heavily.

"It's okay, it's not Auntie's fault." Dae Hyun didn't want to blame anyone because maybe this was his fault.

Aunt Xia then told a little about how Soo Yin's attitude these days, which was looking very gloomy. Said that Dae Hyun didn't care about her anymore.

Aunt Xia only followed Dae Hyun to the front door of their room because the man didn't want her to help to clean Soo Yin's body.

Dae Hyun began to change her clothes that have been stained with alcohol. Cleaned his wife's body that felt sticky with a small towel. Unexpectedly, his desire to make Soo Yin feel comfortable ended up like this.

Dae Hyun rubbed his wife's face gently for fear of waking her up. It hurt, it hurt so much to see the girl he loved was so desperate. Luckily the man who brought her home didn't do anything to her. If she met the wrong person, he can be sure she will not feel fine.

"Honey, why do you always act recklessly?" Dae Hyun muttered quietly.

After finishing, Dae Hyun just laid without closing his eyes beside Soo Yin until morning. Sleepiness seemed to not want to be present in his eyes.

Since last night, Dae Hyun only looked at Soo Yin's face which he hadn't seen in a few days. Usually Dae Hyun would see it secretly. But yesterday he didn't do it because he was busy.

Soo Yin leaned closer to hug Dae Hyun. Her eyes were still closed because her head was still a little dizzy.

"Honey, wake up," Dae Hyun whispered softly as he brushed away the hair that was covering her face.

It was noon, Dae Hyun didn't want Soo Yin to starve. Afraid her stomach would relapse like that day.

The whisper sounded so sweet in Soo Yin's ear that it made her think that it was her sweet dream. Soo Yin didn't want to wake up if it was a dream.

"Honey," Dae Hyun called her again.

"Hmm," said Soo Yin. She even tightened her grip.

"Let's get up, don't let you eat late like the other day. I don't want you to get sick," said Dae Hyun.

"Is this really you? Didn't I dream that it was you who picked me up last night at the bar?" said Soo Yin slowly opening her eyes.

Dae Hyun took a deep breath knowing that last night Soo Yin went to the bar and it was the man who brought her home.

'Bad in bed.'

The sentence replayed in her mind again, causing Soo Yin to widen her eyes. She shifted her body closer to Dae Hyun's face. She rubbed the man's chin with the beard that had been trimmed.

Soo Yin pressed her lips to Dae Hyun's. Then crushed it so aggressively and passionately. She will prove if she didn't suck in bed. She would do whatever she saw last night.

Dae Hyun was quite surprised by Soo Yin's current behavior which was very different from usual. This was not the Soo Yin he used to know. Soo Yin would normally be shy.

With a quick movement, Soo Yin was now on top of Dae Hyun. Her passion was getting hotter when she remembered every scene of the film she watched.

One by one, Dae Hyun's buttons were removed. When she was about to reach for the zipper of his pants, Dae Hyun immediately held her hand. He felt that this time ... there was something wrong with Soo Yin.

"What's wrong?" Soo Yin said with pouting lips.

"Tell me what really happened to you? Why are you like this?" It was not that Dae Hyun didn't want it but it seemed that something was wrong with his little wife.

"Don't you like experienced women? Last night I watched a lot of videos, so I'm sure you'll be very satisfied," Soo Yin said while glancing mischievously in her still unconscious state.

"What do you mean?" Dae Hyun increasingly did not understand Soo Yin's words. He grabbed Soo Yin's wrist who was about to rub his stomach again.

"Why did you stop me? You said I was bad in bed. What should I do to keep you from leaving me?" Soo Yin started to sob and then covered her face with both hands. Her position this time was still above Dae Hyun.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 420 - 420 - I Really Sorry

"Who said it? Did I ever say that? Indeed who would abandon you." With a quick movement, Dae Hyun had managed to wrap Soo Yin under his body. He had to know what made Soo Yin say that.

"Aeri said it. Aeri said if you tell her about that," said Soo Yin who sobbed as she felt a deep pain.

"Geez, why do you trust her so much? Tell me where did you meet?" Dae Hyun ruffled his hair with one hand.

"Last night I met her at the mall. I can also see that you looked happy," said Soo Yin, who had opened her palms. Now she looked at the man in front of her with a sad look.

Dae Hyun closed his eyes for a moment to suppress his emotions so that no harsh words would come out. Then he looked into Soo Yin's eyes so deeply that their gazes locked with each other.

"Honey, why do you believe her words so much? She said it because she just wanted you to stay away from me," Dae Hyun said softly. It meant that his suspicions were correct if Aeri began to suspect their relationship.

"Is that true?" said Soo Yin whose heart began to feel relieved.

"From now on don't be careless anymore and don't trust your enemy's words too much." Dae Hyun clenched his fists, wanting to make calculations with Aeri. Because of her, they almost parted.

"I'm just annoyed that you haven't contacted me for a few days. I thought you had forgotten about me," Soo Yin explained as tears started to condense.

"I was just trying to calm myself down so I wouldn't be mad at you. You know, I almost went crazy knowing you were with Park Soo Hyun that night. If I continue to be with you, I'm afraid I'll break your heart with my words." Dae Hyun cupped Soo Yin's cheek.

"I promise to obey. I'm really sorry," said Soo Yin sadly.

"I have forgiven you. I should be the one apologizing for not keeping my promise."

Dae Hyun was already relieved to have said everything.

Soo Yin continued to smile because everything was clear. Her face always expanded like a flower that bloomed in the morning.

What Aeri said about her turned out to be a lie. Even so Soo Yin was grateful because all of that, Soo Yin learned many things. Her love for Dae Hyun was getting bigger.

The passionate longing had now been channeled. Since then, Soo Yin had been hugging Dae Hyun's body, refused to let go.

Dae Hyun also didn't mention the man who had brought Soo Yin home. Let Soo Yin think that he was the one who picked her up.

"Honey, now we should take a shower. It's noon, you should eat," said Dae Hyun while gently rubbing Soo Yin's back.

"No, I want to eat you first," said Soo Yin while pursing her lips.

Dae Hyun smiled at Soo Yin's words, now she was not shy to say it. Should he thank Aeri?

"We'll do it for as long as you want. Now recharge your energy before fighting." Dae Hyun glanced mischievously while chuckling.

"Tell me what style do you want?" Soo Yin smiled mischievously as she imagined the film replaying in her mind.

"I want all the styles you have. Now shower and eat first." Dae Hyun pinched Soo Yin's nose as her hug tightened even more. It turned out that the little girl was naughty and experienced.

The ringing of the cell phone caught their attention. It was a call that came from Soo Yin's cell phone. There was Jean's name printed on the phone screen.

Dae Hyun reached out to grab it then gave it to Soo Yin.

"Hello Jean, what's up?" Soo Yin said. She still remembered that she met Jean at the bar, before she finally got drunk and thought she was going home with Dae Hyun.

"Soo Yin, where are you? Let me pick you up right now," said Jean. She just remembered that Soo Yin was with a foreign man after waking up.

"What do you mean? I'm already at home," Soo Yin said with a confused look on her face.

"Is it true? Then who brought you home? Did that man take you?"

"Didn't Dae Hyun pick me up last night? What's wrong with you?" Soo Yin shook her head slowly. It seemed that last night Jean was drunk so she thought about something else.

"Let me talk to Jean," Dae Hyun begged to take over before Jean spoke the truth. Dae Hyun was just afraid that Soo Yin will feel bad because another man touched her.

Soo Yin then gave the phone to her husband. She was deliberately turning on the loudspeaker so that there would be no secrets between them.

"Jean, if Soo Yin comes back to the bar, you should contact me immediately," said Dae Hyun.

"A... alright, sir. Next time I'll do it," Jean stammered.

Since Soo Yin was talking to Jean. Dae Hyun got off the bed and cleaned himself in the bathroom first. Even though his passion was burning, Dae Hyun didn't want to make the mistake again, uniting their love before Soo Yin ate.

o

o

Today was special for Soo Yin so Dae Hyun turned off his phone. He will accompany Soo Yin all day long at home or wherever she wanted. As long as they were together, everything will be fine.

They were currently enjoying the dishes that Aunt Xia had cooked. Even though Dae Hyun had wanted to prepare food for his little wife, but Soo Yin didn't let him get out of bed.

Aunt Xia, who was in the kitchen, was happy that they had made up.

After they finished eating, they just relaxed and did nothing.

"Honey, you're not going to the hotel today?" asked Soo Yin as she crumpled and sat on the sofa. Used Dae Hyun's shoulder as a cushion.

"Should I think about work when I'm with you?" Dae Hyun put his forehead on the top of Soo Yin's head.

"I'm just afraid that Aeri is looking for you. If you weren't at the hotel, she would surely suspect that we're together."

"Let it be. It would be great if she knew everything," said Dae Hyun casually.

"When are you guys getting divorced?" It wasn't that Soo Yin was impatient but she was just curious.

.