

"I want you not to distance yourself from me and hate me like everyone else."

Jae-hwa let out a long sigh before answering.

"Of course, I promise I won't distance myself from you."

"Thank you, I beg you to remain my friend like before," Soo Yin said with a smile. The smile that had been able to make Jae-hwa's heart beat wildly.

"Did he force you to marry him?" Jae-hwa suddenly thought of saying it.

"No, we love each other. He never pushes me at all." Soo Yin smiled faintly in response to Jae-hwa's question which immediately pierced the cavity in his chest.

Even though at first Dae Hyun had lied and Soo Yin was also forced to marry, there was no way that Soo Yin would say anything. She didn't want her husband to be blamed. Let them defend each other for the common good.

Jae-hwa felt his chest tighten slightly when Soo Yin said that they love each other.

"But the age of the two of you seems to be too far apart," said Jae-hwa.

"It doesn't matter at all even though we are too far apart. We trust each other," said Soo Yin, subconsciously praising her husband. Even though in front of Dae Hyun it was impossible to say it.

Jae-hwa was about to ask more questions but it was a shame that so many students were starting to enter the classroom. So Jae-hwa shifted his chair away. He also didn't want them to talk about Soo Yin any worse.

Lessons started again. It just so happened that today was Mi Young's schedule to give the material.

Since then, Mi Young had been observing Soo Yin, who had been silent and looked lost in thought. Of course the news was already reached her ears because a few days ago she met Mrs. Park. The middle-aged woman told her everything.

Mi Young did not think that in the end their relationship would be discovered. There was a sense of selfishness in Mi Young's heart, wanting them to separate soon.

oooo

The class was over. Mi Young purposely left the room waiting for all the students to come out. Now it was only her with Soo Yin who was there.

"Doctor Mi Young, I'll excuse myself first," said Soo Yin as she was about to step out.

"Wait," Mi Young said, making Soo Yin stop in her tracks.

"Is there anything I can help you with?" Soo Yin looked back, maybe Mi Young needed her help with something.

Mi Young didn't answer, then walked over to Soo Yin.

"How is your relationship with Dae Hyun right now?" asked Mi Young without further ado to know their relationship which was already known by many people.

"We're fine," Soo Yin said flatly.

"Thankfully, I'm just worried that your relationship will fall apart after everything that happened. I know this must be hard for you," Mi Young said with a meaningful smile etched on her lips.

"Of course not. We're even closer because we live in the same house. We don't need to be afraid if someone catches us," said Soo Yin intentionally because Mi Young was too curious about their relationship.

"Is Dae Hyun still visiting Yeon Ho?" asked Mi Young curiously.

"We'll visit him later," said Soo Yin in an even tone.

"As a wife, you also have to be diligent in telling him to visit Yeon Ho and Aeri. Moreover, they are not divorced yet. You must be willing to share your time if your husband is with her," explained Mi Young.

Soo Yin rolled her eyes, for some reason she felt annoyed with Mi Young's words. Her words subconsciously said that she had not allowed Dae Hyun to meet his family.

"Sorry, none of your business. Do you think I've been forbidding him from seeing his family?" Soo Yin smiled lopsidedly as she glanced at the woman who was quite respected. After all she was a doctor who had helped her.

"It turns out that you have a strong soul because you want to share a husband. But I suggest you just give up before it's too late. You should know that in the end a man will choose the first one in his life," said Mi Young in a gentle tone but for Soo Yin it was quite sounding very sadistic in her ears.

"Do you mean back to whom?" Soo Yin scratched her temple. Felt if there was a certain meaning behind Mi Young's words.

"No one. You will also understand someday. That's why from now on take care and pay close attention to your husband before he moves on to a girl who is prettier than you. A man who cheats is most likely to repeat his actions in the future," said Mi Young, snorted.

"Is that true?"

"If you don't believe it, just prove it," said Mi Young.

"You should just take care of your husband who likes to choose to be together with other women," Soo Yin pouted, which immediately pierced Mi Young's heart.

At first, Soo Yin felt sorry for what happened to Mi Young. But today it made her even more annoyed because the woman had interfered in her household.

Mi Young immediately fell silent. Forgot that Je Ha almost did something indecent to Soo Yin.

Soo Yin then rushed to leave Mi Young who was standing still in her place.

Mi Young felt that she had said the wrong thing to Soo Yin. She just found out that Soo Yin was actually much smarter than she seemed.

Hearing Soo Yin's words made Mi Young clench her fists. Remembered how Je Ha treated her all this time. It was impossible to just let him go. She was exactly like Dae Hyun who had a partner who didn't want to be separated even though she had openly said she wanted to separate.

"Dae Hyun, we should be a happy couple by now," Mi Young muttered softly with teary eyes. There was a deep sense of regret that she didn't maintain her relationship with Dae Hyun.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 482 - 481 - We Were Already Married At The Time.

Soo Yin stepped forward without looking back. The feeling of pity that she felt when she remembered the fate of Mi Young, who was always left behind by her husband, instantly disappeared.

"She gives advice to other people. But she doesn't realize what's going on in her life," Soo Yin grumbled as she stomped her foot on the floor.

Too focused on looking ahead, Soo Yin didn't notice someone's feet blocking her steps.

Brugh...

Soo Yin's body then fell to the floor in a sitting position.

There were three female students who came out of their hiding. There was Li Sa who walked in the lead among them.

"Poor you," said Li Sa as she crouched down and then wanted to hold Soo Yin's chin.. But Soo Yin had already brushed it off.

"You shameless! It turns out that you actually became a mistress and stole another woman's husband. I really feel very ashamed to have a cousin like you," Li Sa sneered in front of her friends.

Soo Yin tried to stand up then patted her buttocks regardless of Li Sa's words. She didn't want to look weak in the eyes of her cousin because she will be more self-absorbed.

"Mind your own life," Soo Yin said sarcastically. She didn't want to repeat what happened in the past. Where Li Sa insulted her in front of her friends without her being able to reply and just kept quiet.

"Have you lost your shame? If grandma finds out about this, it's certain that she will hate you," sneered Li Sa in a high-pitched voice.

"Ever since you all kicked me and father out, I already thought you all didn't exist," said Soo Yin curtly.

"How dare you say that!" Li Sa was about to put her palm on Soo Yin's cheek, but with a quick movement she managed to grab her wrist.

"Don't you dare to do that," Soo Yin said coldly. Then pushed Li Sa's hand until she inched backwards. She almost tripped if her friends weren't behind her.

"See I'll tell my mother because you've dared to say it," Li Sa threatened.

"You snitch," Soo Yin sneered.

"You two help me to drag her to my mother," Li Sa said to her two friends.

"What's all this fuss about?" said Hyo Rin along with Mi Na when Li Sa's two friends were about to hold Soo Yin's hand.

Soo Yin was grateful that her two friends had come so they could save her.

"We should just go. Next time we'll teach her a lesson," Li Sa asked her friends because Hyo Rin was there. Li Sa left, feeling annoyed.

"Thank you, you came on time," said Soo Yin. At least she already had friends who wanted to defend her while she was studying on this campus.

Mi Na and Hyo Rin nodded their heads followed by a faint smile. They then looked at each other before looking at Soo Yin with complicated feelings. They needed an explanation from Soo Yin.

Soo Yin understood that Mi Na and Hyo Rin must want to ask her to explain everything that happened. Soo Yin wondered why all the students knew about it. She didn't seem like an important person.

Soo Yin took her two friends to the cafeteria to make it more comfortable to explain everything.

"I wonder how you guys found out?" asked Soo Yin as she looked at her two best friends in turn.

"Dae Hyun is an important man in Seoul, especially his status as a model's husband. Coupled with his position as a former director of a five-star hotel, it is certain that many media flock to want to know about the incident," said Mi Na.

"We saw you entered in the mass media offline and online. Your photos are even clearly displayed there," said Hyo Rin as she opened her cellphone. Then typed one of the news websites in the search field. After finding it she showed it to Soo Yin.

"Look, there's no way we didn't know about that," said Hyo Rin. She had been suspicious for a long time but kept quiet because Dae Hyun threatened her.

Soo Yin looked at Hyo Rin's phone screen very carefully. It was true that there was news about them, it was only natural that almost all students knew about it.

The article said that Soo Yin had snatched Dae Hyun from Aeri. There was a photo of her among Aeri and Dae Hyun's wedding photos. Then it was written that it was Soo Yin who forced Dae Hyun to marry her.

Soo Yin just let out a long sigh reading the article which was completely untrue.

"Were you in a relationship with him when we met at the cinema?" Hyo Rin guessed just to make sure. Even though her guess back then seemed to be true.

"We were already married at the time. But I didn't love him at all, so we often fought and I also asked for a divorce. As a normal girl I also don't want to marry someone who is already married." Soo Yin briefly explained what happened.

"Then why did you two get married if you didn't love him?" asked Mi Na who was very interested in Soo Yin's story.

"I was forced to marry him because it was in return of gratitude. He helped my family from loan sharks. As a gratitude, my father asked me to marry him. I was also very angry because Dae Hyun had lied to us. But gradually I fell in love with him. His treatment that is so gentle makes my heart slowly melt," said Soo Yin briefly, looking back at her memories from a few months ago.

"Hmmm, it turns out that the story is very complicated. Actually you are not at fault here. But because you married secretly you are labeled as bad," said Hyo Rin.

"But don't worry, we will always support you. It's only natural that you fall in love because if you see your husband, he looks very handsome and authoritative," Mi Na said with a chuckle.

"Just so you know. When I'm walking with him, he's always mistaken for my father," whispered Soo Yin as she recalled last night's incident that annoyed Dae Hyun.

"It turned out that my guess was right at that time if you were dating sugar daddy. But you just got angry and pulled my hair out," Hyo Rin grumbled. If she remembered how Soo Yin was pulling her hair so hard at that moment, she wanted to repay her.

"Hyo Rin, you still remember it," said Soo Yin with pouting lips.

"How could I forget that easily," said Hyo Rin, pretending that she was angry.

"It's also your fault for calling me a mistress," said Soo Yin, not wanting to lose.

"Never mind, you guys don't need to argue anymore. Don't let you fight again," said Mi Na to mediate the debate between them.

"Hyo Rin, I want to know something, didn't you threaten by Dae Hyun so you want to be friends with me?" Soo Yin said. She'd been wanting to ask this for a long time but always hadn't had the time.

Chapter 483 - 482 - Ice Cream Is Only Children's Food

"Hmmm, your husband likes to impose his will. I was threatened with expulsion from this campus if I bothered you again. But when I think about it, being friends with you is indeed much more fun than Li Sa," said Hyo Rin honestly.

"Ah, I really didn't think that Dae Hyun would go that far." Soo Yin chuckled in amusement even though she had already expected this to happen.

"Soo Yin, I also want to have a husband like that," said Mi Na. But the last time she wanted to go on a date, Je Ha almost tricked her. Luckily Soo Yin helped her so nothing happened.

"Are you sure you want to have a husband like Dae Hyun?" Soo Yin said with a crisp laugh. Made her two friends feel curious until they looked so seriously at her.

"So what?" Hyo Rin and Mi Na asked at the same time..

"Just so you know, maybe I'm the only one who can live it. It's not as beautiful as imagined because everything requires sacrifice," said Soo Yin while chuckling.

"What's your husband like?" Hyo Rin insisted.

"Never mind, it's a secret that I can't tell anyone else. You should just look for a man the same age. If the age difference is too big it's not too good. You have to be able to balance with their nature and thoughts," Soo Yin explained casually.

"Really? But you don't look like that. Your nature also looks like a child," said Hyo Rin while narrowing her eyes.

"It's because he loves me too much that I want to be myself. If he doesn't like my character, it's up to him," Soo Yin said casually, making her two friends shake their heads.

"I'm sure he's stressed enough to have a wife like you," Hyo Rin said with a crisp laugh followed by Mi Na.

Soo Yin just grimaced in response.

Beep...

Soo Yin could hear a message coming into her cell phone so she reached for it from her bag.

[Honey, where are you? Isn't it time to go home? Why don't you come out?]
Honey.

Soo Yin bit her lower lip because she forgot that Dae Hyun was waiting for her outside.

"What is it?" Hyo Rin asked when she saw the worried expression on Soo Yin's face.

"I'd better go now. I forgot that my husband is currently waiting in his car since morning," said Soo Yin, who got up.

"Oh my, how come you forgot about that? You also have the heart to let him wait outside for almost half a day," Mi Na grumbled.

"He is the one who wanted to take me and wanted to wait," said Soo Yin.

"Never mind, I should go first before he gets angry and follows to come in," said Soo Yin to her two friends.

Soo Yin quickly left the cafeteria. Walked down the corridor of the classroom. Soo Yin was relieved that there were only a few students and didn't pay much attention to her. She can be freed from the scorn of people about her.

Soo Yin immediately walked out of the gate with hasty steps. Her eyes looked around the pavement and then at each of the cars neatly lined by the streets. But Soo Yin did not find the silver Maybach car in all her sights.

Soo Yin had to turn inside to look for it in the parking lot. Of the many cars caught in her sight. None of the cars were similar to her husband's.

Soo Yin decided to get out and walked down the sidewalk for a few meters. Then sat on a chair made of wood under a tree because the sunlight was quite stinging on her skin.

Soo Yin wiped the sweat that dripped from her forehead from running in the hot weather, her sweat came out so profusely. She took the cell phone that was in the bag. She checked if there was an incoming call but it wasn't there.

"So you're here?" A male voice that was quite firm sounded in her ears.

Soo Yin was suddenly surprised because she was focusing on her cellphone screen. Her finger was just about to touch the call button.

"Where have you been?" Soo Yin held her chest which was heaving up and down from gasping for air.

Dae Hyun didn't answer right away, but immediately threw his butt on the chair right next to Soo Yin. Then handed Soo Yin chocolate ice cream.

Soo Yin frowned, because this was Dae Hyun's first time buying ice cream for her.

"Why are you silent? Hurry up and eat, it'll melt." Dae Hyun snatched it back from Soo Yin's hand then started peeling it for her.

Soo Yin accepted it then started to enjoy the chocolate ice cream with her tongue. The chocolate that melted on her tongue made her mood feel happy.

Dae Hyun also enjoyed ice cream while observing people passing by. They were both silent, occasionally Soo Yin glanced at Dae Hyun which she thought was a little strange this time.

"What is it?" Dae Hyun asked as Soo Yin kept looking at him without batting an eye.

"No," Soo Yin stuttered. She quickly turned her face the other way.

Several passersby looked at Dae Hyun with amazement at this time. Especially when several teenage children were passing by. They seemed to whisper to each other and chuckled at Dae Hyun.

Soo Yin was so curious as to why they had been looking at Dae Hyun, not looking at her at all. Then Soo Yin finally got up the courage to look at her husband.

'No wonder they laughed at him,' Soo Yin muttered to herself.

Soo Yin then took a tissue from her bag. Then stood in front of Dae Hyun, began to wipe the slightly thick lips using a tissue.

"If you eat ice cream, don't be too messy like this," said Soo Yin, she was gently rubbing the corner of Dae Hyun's lips.

"It turns out that eating ice cream is fun," said Dae Hyun.

"Did you not like it all this time?"

"No, for me, ice cream is only children's food," said Dae Hyun briefly. He looked at Soo Yin's bright eyes who were busy cleaning his lips.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 484 - 483 - Are You Nervous?

Dae Hyun never got tired of looking at him. Even though she sometimes irritated him, Soo Yin always made him want to do anything for her.

"Then why are you eating it now?" Soo Yin said. She sat down next to Dae Hyun again because she was done.

"Because I want to compensate for what you do. I want to do what a man your age does. I don't want to walk with you and make you feel embarrassed," said Dae Hyun. The man was afraid that his little wife was embarrassed and then slowly left him.

"Who said I'm embarrassed? You're exaggerating. From now on don't think too much, just be yourself." Soo Yin chuckled at the reason of why Dae Hyun changed.

"Ughh, even though I've changed my hairstyle. I thought I'd get a compliment," Dae Hyun grumbled. Indeed, he had just left the salon to change his haircut to make it look more youthful.

"I love you very much and will love you forever. You don't have to be someone else because I love everything about you." Soo Yin looked at the two eagle eyes of the man who was able to melt her once petrified heart.

Their eyes locked with each other for a moment. Dae Hyun tried to find a lie on Soo Yeon's statement in those bright eyes. But he could not find it, those beautiful eyes said it honestly.

Soo Yin immediately turned her gaze in another direction, remembering that they were currently not far from the campus area.

"Honey, didn't you say you are going to see Yeon Ho?" Soo Yin reminded him of their plan.

Dae Hyun let out a long sigh.

"I already called Eun Hee. I asked of how Yeon Jo is doing right now. She said that he has a fever. Would you like to accompany me to visit him at UN Village?" Dae Hyun said. Actually he could have come alone but Dae Hyun wanted to tell his whole family that he was really serious about Soo Yin.

"I... I'm not ready yet." Soo Yin's face bowed down with a feeling of nervousness and restlessness that slowly engulfed her heart. She was not ready to meet her husband's extended family. Afraid if there'll be chaos and commotion.

"Honey, I want them to know that we are serious. I don't want them to always think that you are the one at fault here. I beg you to come with me. You don't have to worry, I promise I won't be far from you," Dae Hyun said seriously.

"But what if he doesn't accept my arrival?" Soo Yin still had doubts.

"Actually, father called me to come to the house with you if you want to visit Yeon Ho."

"Father?" Soo Yin knitted her brows.

"He contacted me, after that I contacted Eun Hee to confirm what father said of Yeon Ho who was sick," Dae Hyun explained to explain a little. He grabbed Soo Yin's hand and squeezed it gently to reduce the worry in Soo Yin's heart.

"Okay, but if it's too crowded I'd better just stay in the car," Soo Yin said with a wry smile.

Dae Hyun then took Soo Yin's hand towards the car parked not far from where they were sitting. Before getting into the car, Dae Hyun ruffled his hair to make it back to normal. It was not too difficult to change it into a medium taper-cut hairstyle because Dae Hyun only asked for the hair style to tidy it up, not cut it.

His hair was left in bangs with a french-crop hairstyle. Honestly, it made him look much younger but it looked weird because Dae Hyun had a firm facial contour.

Soo Yin just watched her husband from inside the car.

"Honey, hurry up," Soo Yin called. Worried that Jo Yeon Ho was already waiting for his arrival.

"Okay." Dae Hyun immediately got in and sat behind the wheel.

"Why are you ruffling your hair?" Soo Yin said.

"I just wanted to be myself like what you said. Why be someone else if my wife loves me to death," Dae Hyun teased while smiling.

"Hurry up, don't let us be too late," Soo Yin said so that Dae Hyun wouldn't continue to tease her.

"Okay."

UN Village.

Soo Yin looked at the modern-style mansion in front of her with a pounding heart. She felt very nervous even though she had come to that place many times before. The situation was no longer how it used to be.

Perhaps the attitude of everyone in the house was very different this time. Even when she last saw Mrs. Park, Soo Yin felt the difference was already obvious.

"Are you nervous?" Dae Hyun asked as he watched his little wife clasped her hands in her lap.

They were still in the car because Dae Hyun had just stopped his car in the front yard.

"A little," Soo Yin said with a bitter smile. She inhaled the air from her nose and then let it out from her mouth several times and managed to reduce her nervousness.

"Believe me, everything will be fine." Dae Hyun took Soo Yin's hand and kissed it for a while. Wanted to make sure everything would be okay.

Soo Yin nodded her head while thinking of something beautiful so as not to be too stressed. They also didn't know what will happen in the future.

Dert ...

A voice came from Dae Hyun's cell phone which was located on the dashboard. Dae Hyun immediately checked it, it was Park Ji Hoon who contacted him.

"What?" Dae Hyun asked after pressing the answer button on his cellphone screen.

"Are you guys going to be in the car all the time? Yeon Ho has been wanting to see you for a long time." Park Ji Hoon's tone now sounded annoyed.

"We just arrived and we'll be down in a minute," said Dae Hyun with a snort.

"Then hurry up," said the impatient Park Ji Hoon.

Dae Hyun immediately ended the call and put his phone back on the dashboard.

"What's wrong?" Soo Yin asked with increasing anxiety.

"It's okay, father asked us to go inside soon because Yeon Ho is waiting." Dae Hyun immediately carved a smile so that Soo Yin wouldn't feel scared.

"Get out first. Let me catch up later," Soo Yin said with her lower lip bitten so hard that it unconsciously caused it to swell slightly.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 485 - 484 - I Want To Be With You

Dae Hyun was furious that Soo Yin was so stubborn. He cupped Soo Yin's tiny face with his big palms. Then he crushed the ripe lips that were so sweet for a while.

Soo Yin was wide-eyed at what Dae Hyun did, so she pushed the burly body away.

"Are you out of your mind?" Soo Yin's voice rose slightly with sharp eyes fixed on her husband. She felt that her husband was out of his mind, kissing her even though they were currently in the UN Village. What if his family found out what they were doing?

"Haven't I told you many times not to hurt your own lips. That's the result of not being obedient," said Dae Hyun casually. Not feeling guilty and scared at all by what he did.

"I can't break my habit when I'm nervous," Soo Yin explained with a frown.

"Let's go out before my father calls again," said Dae Hyun.

"I will always be by your side," continued Dae Hyun. First he got out of the car then opened the door for his little wife.

In the end Soo Yin agreed to come into the house even though her heart was pounding because she was so scared.

Aeri who was standing on the balcony upstairs clenched her fists tightly. When she saw how sweet Dae Hyun treated Soo Yin. As long as they were married Dae Hyun never once opened the door for her. Let alone holding her hand. They only did it in public places.

Now Dae Hyun seemed to have been hypnotized and so obedient to Soo Yin. Aeri became suspicious of what potion Soo Yin actually used so Dae Hyun was so submissive to her.

"You bitch!" Aeri cursed while gnashing her teeth hard to hold back the anger that was already on the tip of her head.

It was useless to have Yeon Ho and his family if Dae Hyun still chose Soo Yin. If this continued, Aeri was not sure she will last much longer.

Aery immediately went inside. Then She looked at her face in the mirror. Applying some make-up to make her eyes look puffy as if she was feeling deep sadness.

Not to forget Aeri also made her eyes glaze over to welcome their arrival. Her hair was a little disheveled to make it more convincing if she was under a lot of stress after Dae Hyun's departure.

Dae Hyun immediately took Soo Yin to enter the large house. Guided her without letting go of the tight grip on Soo Yin's hand which was now sweating coldly in his grip.

"Where are mother and father?" Dae Hyun asked one of the waiters who worked there.

"Master and madam are in Yeon Ho's room, sir," said the maid with her head bowed. Even though she was so curious about Soo Yin's face. She'd love to see it, even if it was only for a moment.

Dae Hyun continued his steps followed by Soo Yin. To Soo Yin the mansion had felt very foreign since the last time she had visited. There was no feeling of comfort like before at all.

Now they were in front of Yeon Ho's door. Dae Hyun knocked on the door several times before finally hearing the sound of approaching footsteps.

Soo Yin released her hand from Dae Hyun's grip. Felt bad and also not worthy of what they have done.

Soo Yin stood uneasily erratically. Suddenly can't stand the urge to pee.

"Honey, I'm going downstairs first. I can't stand to pee," said Soo Yin, releasing her hand from Dae Hyun's grip.

Before Dae Hyun said anything, Soo Yin had already jogged down the stairs because she couldn't take it anymore.

Dae Hyun just sighed heavily then grabbed the doorknob to open it. At the same time Mrs. Park also wanted to open it. They stared at each other for a moment but Mrs. Park looked away.

"I thought you didn't remember about your son anymore," said Mrs. Park with a flat face.

Dae Hyun stepped inside without responding to his mother's statement. Even though her sarcasm was quite piercing, Dae Hyun chose to remain silent so as not to hurt Mrs. Park.

Dae Hyun walked quickly to the bed when he saw Jo Yeon Ho lying on the bed wrapped in a sheet with a superhero image motif.

There was a cloth stuck to Jo Yeon Ho's forehead. Beside him was Park Ji Hoon who was rubbing Jo Yeon Ho's hand.

"Since when has Yeon Ho been sick? Why hasn't anyone contacted me?" Dae Hyun sat next to Jo Yeon Ho and held his hand tightly.

"Honey, wake up," Dae Hyun said with a very worried and sad feeling to see his only son lying down.

"Just last night he had a fever because a few nights ago he couldn't sleep. He's always whining to see you," said Park Ji Hoon with a complicated expression.

"You shouldn't leave this house. Don't you have a conscience anymore so you leave your wife and children? If you really don't love Aeri, at least you can survive for Yeon Ho," said Mrs. Park with a feeling of tightness at having to see her son's household destroyed.

"I can't do it, Mom," Dae Hyun said softly while looking at Yeon Ho's pale face.

"Father, I want to be with you," Yeon Ho said with trembling lips and closed eyes.

"Honey, father is here. Now wake up," Dae Hyun said while rubbing Yeon Ho's forehead. He kissed him repeatedly and squeezed his hand.

Yeon Ho slowly opened his eyes when he heard the voice of someone he missed so much.

"Father," said the slanted-eyed child weakly.

"Yeon Ho, father is here." Dae Hyun looked sadly at his son.

Yeon Ho then tried to get up to hug his father tightly with sobs that started to escape his lips.

Park Ji Hoon and his wife chose to leave the room to give the two of them a chance to release the longing for each other. They also wanted Dae Hyun to change his mind.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 486 - 485 - Slap

Aeri was about to follow Dae Hyun to Yeon Ho's room but stopped when she saw Soo Yin coming down the stairs.

"Where's that bitch going?" Aeri mumbled curiously. So she looked down at the floor to see Soo Yin who was walking quickly towards the back.

With slow steps, Aeri followed Soo Yin's footsteps behind her which was several meters away. Perhaps this was the right time to make the calculations to her. Dae Hyun must be focusing on Yeon Ho right now so he won't know about this.

With quick steps, Soo Yin looked for the toilet at the back. It was not far from the kitchen. Soo Yin wasn't too confused and didn't need to ask anymore because she already knew about it.

Several maids looked at her with puzzled looks. Felt very strange with Soo Yin but they chose to remain silent when Aeri walked behind her and glared at them..

Soo Yin felt very relieved after being in the bathroom. She looked at herself in the mirror before deciding to leave. She turned the doorknob slowly as nervousness began to creep back into her body.

Slap!

Just as soon as Soo Yin managed to open the door, a hard slap landed on her cheek. So she almost staggered because she was not in a ready position. Her cheeks felt hot and red.

Aeri couldn't hold her anger anymore since a few days ago. It didn't matter if Dae Hyun got angrier, the most important thing was that her anger can be channeled.

"How dare you come you this house!" Aeri rebuked with a sharp gaze and fiery eyes.

Soo Yin was still holding her hot cheeks. It was quite painful and sore but Soo Yin tried her best to hold it in. Maybe this was what she will face sooner or later.

Soo Yin lifted her chin straight up to make it look like she wasn't a weak girl even though her heart was now very fragile.

"You shameless girl!" Aeri cursed without caring if at this time there were already several servants who saw the chaos that was happening.

"Sorry, I just came here to accompany my husband," Soo Yin replied with a flat face.

"Husband? How dare you say that Dae Hyun is your husband!"

Aeri was about to raise her hand again which was aimed at Soo Yin's cheek but Soo Yin managed to hold it in before it landed on her cheek again.

"You'd better accept the fact that we're married," Soo Yin said boldly. Everything had been discovered so to refute was something that was impossible.

"You guys married secretly so that I'm the only legal wife here," Aeri said, gritting her teeth tightly as she felt the turmoil of anger that was already in the crown. She thought that Soo Yin would be silent but unexpectedly she dared to answer anything she said.

"It doesn't matter at all because we do love each other. Get out of the way, Dae Hyun must be looking for me right now." Soo Yin didn't know why she was so brave to say everything when at first she was very afraid to come to the house.

Aeri firmly pushed Soo Yin's body so that she completely fell on the bathroom floor in a sitting position.

"What's all this fuss about?" Park Ji Hoon who heard the commotion from a waiter immediately rushed over to them.

His eyes widened when he saw Soo Yin who was already sitting on the floor.

"Soo Yin?" muttered Park Ji Hoon then reached out his hand to help Soo Yin up. No matter how bad their treatment, Soo Yin was still one of his daughter-in-law.

"Are you okay?" said the middle-aged man. His feelings were mixed now.

"I'm fine, Sir," said Soo Yin with her head down and nervous.

"Father, why did you help her? Should you not get too close to a bitch like her?" said Aeri with increasing anger because Park Ji Hoon actually helped her up.

"Aeri, can you not be too emotional?" said Park Ji Hoon who didn't like it when there was chaos in his house.

Park Ji Hoon let Soo Yin to walk past Aeri. Then took her to the family room. With tightly clenched fist, Aeri followed their footsteps with a fairly strong stomping of the feet on the floor.

Mrs. Park froze in place when she saw Soo Yin was with Park Ji Hoon. She didn't know that Dae Hyun was coming with Soo Yin.

"You still dare to set foot in this house, huh," said Mrs. Park while looking at her with complicated feelings.

Soo Yin's lips were locked, unable to answer it, it was very different when she was with Aeri, which was very brave

"Sun Wo, enough. There's no need to argue," said Park Ji Hoon to his wife.

"Why are you defending her? Is it because you used to do the same as your son?" accused Mrs. Park while chuckling.

"No need to bring it up again because this has nothing to do with the past," said Park Ji Hoon.

"Of course there is a connection. If you don't throw a tantrum, maybe Dae Hyun won't do the same thing," said Mrs. Park in a sarcastic tone.

"Sir, here are the clothes," interrupted one of the maids who had been asked to find a change of clothes for Soo Yin.

"Soo Yin, change your clothes first because your clothes are wet," said Park Ji Hoon with a flat face.

Soo Yin nodded her head to reach for the clothes the maid had given her. But before she could hold it, Aeri had already grabbed it.

With a strong enough force, Aeri finally tore it. Then forcibly placed the dress in Soo Yin's hands. No words left her lips. Aeri just carved a lopsided smile and looked at Soo Yin with a disgusted look.

"Aeri, what did you do?" said Park Ji Hoon while staring intently at one of his daughters-in-law.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 487 - 486

"Father, a bitch like her doesn't deserve to wear nice clothes that's why I ripped them off," Aeri said with a little satisfaction.

"I should just go home. Sorry, if I've made a mess in this house," Soo Yin said quietly.

"There's no need to rush. Didn't you come here to make a fuss?" quipped Mrs. Park with a flat face. There was a deep feeling of disappointment that Mrs. Park felt.

Soo Yin's legs suddenly felt heavy when she was about to walk away. She could only lower her head. Her eyes started to heat up but she did her best to keep the tears from falling.

Soo Yin felt very sad because a woman who used to be so loving and warm to her now seemed to hate her so much.

Dae Hyun was still in his son's room. Was listening to Yeon Ho who talked about his school. Until finally he realized that Soo Yin had not returned even though it had been a long time she was saying goodbye to go to the toilet.

"Honey, father wants to go out for a bit," Dae Hyun said goodbye to find Soo Yin. Afraid that his family would say something to rebuke her.

"Where to?" Yeon Ho whined with a sullen and sad face because it had only been a few minutes, but Dae Hyun was now about to leave.

"Father will be back soon so you don't have to worry," Dae Hyun said with a warm smile. Then he put the back of his hand on Yeon Ho's forehead. Turned out that the heat was starting to drop.

Yeon Ho was used to having a high fever if he missed one of his parents. If the cure had been found, his condition will get better.

"You really won't go, right?" Yeon Ho worried that the man he admired so much won't see him again.

"Father promised." Dae Hyun smiled reassuringly as he rubbed the top of his son's head.

"Okay, then hurry back," said Jo Yeon Ho with an unenthusiastic face.

Dae Hyun immediately left his son. His feelings were now very anxious because he wanted to immediately know the whereabouts of his wife. With fast steps Dae Hyun immediately descended the stairs.

His blood immediately rippled up after hearing the commotion in the living room. His eyes widened when he saw Soo Yin's left cheek was red.

Dae Hyun got even more emotional when he saw Aeri snatched and tore the dress in Soo Yin's hand.

"What are you doing?" said Dae Hyun in a cold tone. He stepped over to Soo Yin and stood next to her.

"Dae Hyun?" Aeri immediately felt awkward when she saw the look of anger in his eyes.

"Why did you bring her here? Did you purposely want to let Yeon Ho know what his father really did?" Aeri immediately put on a sad face and did not feel guilty at all.

"Soo Yin, who did it?" Dae Hyun said while looking gently at Soo Yin but his words were so firm.

Soo Yin shook her head slowly. It was not that she didn't dare to say it, it was just that she didn't want a more serious commotion in the house.

"Your clothes are wet too." Dae Hyun accidentally saw the back of Soo Yin's wet skirt. He had guessed who had done it. So that his eyes immediately fixed on Aeri sharply.

"So are you accusing me of doing it? Am I always at fault here?" said Aeri with a pitiful face.

"Apologize to her right now!" snapped Dae Hyun who was impatient and not affected at all by Aeri's acting.

"Dae Hyun, don't overdo it like that. It's only natural that Aeri would do it. Which wife wouldn't be hurt to see her husband bringing another woman to his house?" said Mrs. Park who defended Aeri. Although she felt that Aeri was too much to do something like that.

"Sun Wo, I asked Dae Hyun to bring Soo to this house. After all, Soo Yin is Dae Hyun's wife so we should accept her," explained Park Ji Hoon with a very complicated expression. This time he might also be accused of being involved.

"It turns out that you and Dae Hyun are the same," said Mrs. Park sarcastically.

"Aeri, right now you should apologize for what you did to Soo Yin." Dae Hyun was already furious because Aeri was good at playing victim.

"I won't do it," Aeri refused with a high tone of voice.

Soo Yin immediately grabbed Dae Hyun's arm when the man was about to walk towards Aeri.

"Honey, don't make a fuss in this house," said Soo Yin, tightening her embrace.

"I agree with Aeri because it was Soo Yin's fault that she made her angry," said Mrs. Park.

"Sun Woo, now we also have to learn to accept Soo Yin. Didn't you want her as a daughter-in-law? Then why did you forget her too soon." Park Ji Hoon as much as possible wanted to be a fair arbiter for his family. Although his wife may be very angry with what he had said at this time.

"I did want her to be my daughter-in-law but this is not the way. She has secretly seduced a man who is already married. It makes me feel disgusted," said Mrs. Park frankly without thinking about Soo Yin's feelings. The incident in the past that happened to Park Ji Hoon traumatized her about a woman who liked to seduce other men.

"Mother, enough. Didn't I tell you from the start, if I forced her to marry me. Soo Yin here is just a victim of my selfishness," said Dae Hyun in a rising voice.

Soo Yin squeezed Dae Hyun's hand, trying to calm her husband down so he wouldn't get too emotional. She didn't want to let his mother to hate her even more.

"No need to argue because a man will do the same thing to protect his woman even though she is guilty," said Mrs. Park in a much higher pitch. Her eyes looked at Soo Yin with a deep hatred.

"Sun Wo, enough. No need to compare myself to Dae Hyun because we are definitely different," said Park Ji Hoon to his wife.

"We should get out of here," said Dae Hyun while holding Soo Yin's hand. He couldn't bear it if Soo Yin had to listen to words that might hurt her feelings.

"Aeri, you'll see later. I'll make sure you regret it because you dared to hurt my wife with your hands," said Dae Hyun when he was in front of Aeri. He was not a man who was abusive towards women because he realized that his mother was a woman who deserved respect.

"Dae Hyun, it turns out that your brain has been poisoned by a girl like her," said Mrs. Park with a panting breath.

"Dae Hyun, one day you will definitely regret choosing that bitch," shouted Aeri angrily.

Dae Hyun didn't care anymore about what they said because even if he explained it a thousand times, they will still blame Soo Yin.

Soo Yin was silent, obediently following Dae Hyun's footsteps. Even though her heart was in deep pain. But Soo Yin felt touched because Dae Hyun had defended her in front of his family.

Dae Hyun then opened the door for Soo without a word spoken on his lips. His heart was still pounding with anger because he couldn't protect Soo.

Dae Hyun immediately drove his car through the street while calming himself down so as not to speak harshly because sometimes Dae Hyun was still carried away by the tense atmosphere that had occurred.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 488 - 487 - Promise

Dae Hyun forgot his promise to Yeon Ho to meet him again.

"Dae Hyun, how is Yeon Ho doing right now? Is he okay?" asked Soo Yin to break the silence that made her very uncomfortable. She knew that her husband was holding back his anger.

Dae Hyun took a deep breath and then drove his car into the area of a fairly large boutique.

"He's much better and hopefully not looking for me because I promised I'd be back." Dae Hyun looked at Soo Yin with sad eyes. His hand then reached out to cup Soo Yin's cheek which was still red. Even the palm prints were clearly visible on her cheeks.

"I'm fine." Soo Yin tried to carve a faint smile on her lips. Despite the fact that her heart was now very sore..

"Honey, I shouldn't have left you," Dae Hyun said sadly as he rubbed his little wife's cheek so gently. His heart ached again without being able to do anything for Soo Yin.

"Don't feel guilty. It's just a small thing that might be a test of what happened. I've often seen a mistress get run over by an old wife, it's okay to sacrifice a little." Soo Yin just chuckled to try to restore the comfortable atmosphere.

Dae Hyun held Soo Yin in his arms. He closed his eyes for a moment then rubbed Soo Yin's back gently. Cursed himself for not being able to do anything for Soo Yin in front of his family.

"I promise, one day I will avenge that," said Dae Hyun in Soo Yin's ear softly.

"You have defended me in front of your family. It has made my heart very happy. I hope this all passes quickly. I am only sad when mother hates and is so disappointed when she sees me," said Soo Yin sadly until her eyes were heating up. Remembered how she was so trusting and very concerned about her.

In contrast to the current which was colder and her gaze was so cynical.

Dae Hyun can't say anything to help to calm Soo Yin because there was something that made his mother acting like that.

"Mother is traumatized by what father did in the past. I hope that mother's anger will not last long," said Dae Hyun, he was tightly hugging his wife's tiny body.

Soo Yin was silent hearing Dae Hyun's words about Mrs. Park. It was natural for a woman to act like that because it had happened in her life.

"Now let's look for clothes for you. Don't let you get sick from wearing wet clothes," said Dae Hyun as he let go of his embrace.

Soo Yin nodded her head. Obeyed whatever was ordered by her husband.

Dae Hyun strolled by holding Soo Yin's fingers tightly until he entered the boutique. The maids who saw them looked so envious.

"Finally you guys stop by my boutique," said a man who was none other than Do Jin.

"Do Jin? You own this boutique?" Soo Yin scanned the vast clothing boutique. There were various women's and men's clothes hanging in different places.

There were so many high quality clothes from some famous designers. Soo Yin was amazed at the unquestionable quality of branded clothes.

"Dae Hyun used to come here often before having a bedmate like you," said Do Jin who deliberately sneered at Dae Hyun.

"Is that true?" asked Soo Yin with a gleam on her face. Meeting Do Jin can make her slightly forget about the pain in her chest.

"Don't worry about it. He's always overreacting to things," Dae Hyun said before Soo Yin trusted Do Jin's words too much.

Before meeting Soo Yin, Dae Hyun often came there just to chat because he didn't want to go home to meet Aeri. Said he was busy although they were drinking.

"Now choose your own clothes," said Dae Hyun.

"Okay." Soo Yin was accompanied by a maid to find the clothes she wanted. Her eyes immediately widened with admiration because the clothes there were all good.

Do Jin invited Dae Hyun to sit on the waiting chair.

"Hmmm, I've heard news about the two of you. I hope you can go through everything patiently because true love does require sacrifice," said Do Jin wisely straight to the point.

"Ughh, you're like someone who knows everything right," Dae Hyun grumbled with a snort.

"I did say what I know," said Do Jin.

Dertttttttttttttt...

Dae Hyun reached into the cell phone that was in his shirt pocket. Turned out his mother called him.

"Why didn't you answer? Was your old wife calling?" Do Jin teased with a frown.

"My mother," said Dae Hyun briefly while observing Soo Yin who was choosing some clothes.

"Why don't you answer? Are you tired of living and want to be cursed?" Do Jin said with a chuckle.

"It's all not important. Maybe she just wants tell me about Yeon Ho at this time," Dae Hyun said briefly.

"I heard that now the quality of hotel services has decreased unlike how it used to be. If this continues, the hotel will definitely experience a setback like before. There are also some investors who canceled their cooperation after the scandal you did," said Do Jin to express what he was worried about.

"That has nothing to do with me anymore because I'm no longer the leader there," said Dae Hyun nonchalantly and all of that was a true fact.

"Dae Hyun, come back before your hotel collapses." Do Jin expressed his feelings because he was one of investors in there.

"If you want to give advice, you should talk to Park Soo Hyun and come to the hotel," said Dae Hyun.

The phone rang again, interrupting their conversation. This was the second time his mother had called so Dae Hyun answered.

"What's the matter, mom?" Dae Hyun said with a long sigh.

"Dae Hyun, hurry back home. Your son continues to rage to see you again," said Mrs. Park in a voice that sounded worried.

"I will not come after what you did to my wife," Dae Hyun said firmly. They should have thought before being bad to Soo Yin.

"Dae Hyun, how dare you to Jo Yeon Ho? Does your son mean nothing anymore that you chose that girl over your son?" Mrs. Park's tone of voice sounded higher.

Dae Hyun could faintly hear Yeon

Ho's voice wailing his name and throwing things on the floor.

"I will come if you are kind to my wife. If not, please take care of him yourself," Dae Hyun threatened. Actually, at this time he was very worried, but Dae Hyun was too annoyed with what they did.

No answer on the other end of the phone. Looked like Mrs.. Park was persuading his grandson to calm down. But it didn't seem to work because Yeon Ho was even more roaring.

"Do you still have the heart to let your son go on a rampage like that? The heat is also getting higher now," said Mrs. Park again.

"You should have thought about the risks that will occur. I will still come if you apologize and treat Soo Yin well. If you don't want to, it's up to you," said Dae Hyun once again, staying in his belief because he was sure they would not be able to calm his son's emotions.

"Dae Hyun, hurry back. Yeon Ho wants you to go home," said Aeri who took over Mrs. Park's phone.

"I will come if you treat Soo Yin well and are willing to apologize to her." Dae Hyun's determination was made up, not to come there until they were ready.

"Dae Hyun, now it turns out that you've changed a lot. Just for the sake of that girl makes you forget about your son," said Aeri in a rising voice.

"It's up to me, I don't care," said Dae Hyun, trying to be calm even though he was currently panicking about his son's condition.

Dae Hyun then hung up the phone to scare them. It was their fault, if they had treated Soo Yin well, he would still be there right now.

ooo

Soo Yin walked over to Dae Hyun while carrying a few pieces of clothing in her hand. Her brows knitted when she saw Dae Hyun's face that seemed to be restless.

"Honey, what is wrong with you?" Soo Yin said curiously.

"I'm okay," said Dae Hyun while trying to smile.

"May I buy some?" There was a bad feeling in Soo Yin's heart from asking too much.

"You don't have to worry, choose whatever you want," Dae Hyun said to calm Soo Yin as if it wasn't a problem at all.

Soo Yin then went to the dressing room to put on one. She was wearing a navy blue dress that fitted her body so well.

"How?" Soo Yin twisted her body slightly shyly in front of her husband. Luckily Do Jin wasn't there so Soo Yin wasn't embarrassed.

Dae Hyun approached Soo Yin closer and grabbed Soo Yin's waist.

"You're always beautiful, no matter what you wear," Dae Hyun whispered in Soo Yin's ear. Hugging her like this really made him feel very comfortable.

Soo Yin turned her face slightly backwards until Dae Hyun deliberately pressed their lips.

"Please both of you don't get perverted in my boutique," Do Jin grumbled when he accidentally saw them kissing.

Soo Yin then broke away from Dae Hyun with a red face.

"Soo Yin, I see now you are much more changed than the last time we met. No wonder Dae Hyun wants to stick and always be near you," said Do Jin while chuckling.

"You don't have to take care of us, you better take care of your own life," Dae Hyun pouted while looking at his best friend's face flatly.

"Look at your husband who is very easily offended. Is he very possessive of you? If so, please be patient," said Do Jin with a chuckle.

Soo Yin just smiled at Do Jin's statement because Dae Hyun's face had turned sour. Maybe even for a moment he will go berserk.

"Dae Hyun, don't look at me with that fierce face. You're like a father who doesn't allow his daughter to talk to other men," Do Jin teased to make Dae Hyun even more angry.

"Is Dae Hyun acting like that? I hope you can handle him, which is a little stiff and definitely very annoying," said Do Jin to Soo Yin.

"No, my husband is very kind. How can he act as you say," said Soo Yin to make her husband's mood better.

"Listen to my wife," said Dae Hyun as he grabbed Soo Yin so that they were now closer.

"I don't believe your words at all. Soo Yin said that because you poisoned her mind," Do Jin sneered.

Soo Yin then tiptoed and landed her lips on her husband's cheek shamelessly.

"Enough, don't pollute my eyes with what you're doing," Do Jin grumbled.

"We're just proving that what you're saying isn't true at all," said Dae Hyun with a side lip that pulled up.

"Now go before I throw up seeing it," said Do Jin.

Dae Hyun then took out one of his ATM cards to pay for his wife's clothes.

"No need, I want to give these clothes for free," Do Jin refused when Dae Hyun was about to give the card.

"You don't mean any other plans, do you?" Dae Hyun narrowed his eyes, suspecting something if Do Jin had a plan.

"Too bad you guessed it." Do Jin just grimaced.

"Soo Yin, would you mind being a model for some of my outfits? Your body is perfect for wearing teenage clothes. Your face still looks really cute."

"I don't agree," Dae Hyun said firmly before Di Jin said any further.

"Dae Hyun, I'll borrow your wife in a moment," Di Jin begged hopefully. News about Soo Yin was currently spreading so if he used Soo Yin as a model then people would be curious and it would increase sales.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 490 - 489 - Yeon Ho Is Still Raging

"I will never agree with your rotten mind. After all, Soo Yin is not an item so she is not to be borrowed. One more thing, I don't like if my wife's body becomes public consumption," said Dae Hyun while squinting at Do Jin.

"Then why did you let Aeri become a top model? Even though you don't like it if she becomes a spectacle of many people," Do Jin provoked to look for opportunities.

"That's because she is stubborn. Plus I don't love her at all so it's up to what she will do. It has nothing to do with me," said Dae Hyun.

"You're so annoying. Your wife is so beautiful, it's a shame if you don't use it well." Apparently Do Jin hadn't given up on his efforts yet.

"Soo Yin, you don't have to worry about the payment because I will give you a lot of money if you immediately agree," Do Jin coaxed while looking at Soo Yin even though the man next to him had a face like a lion that was about to pounce..

"I don't want to argue with my husband," Soo Yin said so sweetly that was followed by a crisp laugh from her lips.

"I hope one day you'll change your mind," whispered Do Jin in Soo Yin's ear.

"If you dare to persuade her, I'll cut your head off the jugular vein," Dae Hyun threatened with sharp eyes.

"Look at your husband, he's really scary," said Do Jin while glancing at Dae Hyun with a cynical look.

"Not true, my husband is very loving but only for me," said Soo Yin with a chuckle.

"Quick count because we have to go home soon," said Dae Hyun. Too long there made Dae Hyun angry. Dae Hyun was usually more serious than most other friends who preferred to joke.

"Didn't I tell you I gave it away for free? You don't have to worry about me asking for something in return."

"Just watch out if you lie," Dae Hyun threatened in a cold tone.

"I won't, unless Soo Yin changes her mind." The graceful man winked at Soo Yin.

"Thank you very much, Mr. Do Jin," Soo Yin said politely.

ooooo

Dae Hyun had just driven a few meters down the road when his cell phone rang again. Now Park Ji Hoon contacted him. But Dae Hyun still let it be and chose to focus on driving.

"Why didn't you answer? It could be an important call," said Soo Yin, who was starting to get annoyed by the sound of the cellphone ringing that wouldn't stop.

"Answer it, I wonder what they will say if you answer it," said Dae Hyun casually. His gaze was straight ahead as he thought about Jo Yeon Ho's current state.

Soo Yin took a deep breath and then grabbed the phone that was on the dashboard. There was 'Father' printed on the cellphone screen. Soo Yin let it be for a while until it died on its own and it didn't take long for it to ring again.

Soo Yin finally decided to press the answer button because it seemed useless to persuade Dae Hyun to answer it.

"What's the matter, father?" Soo asked carefully with the feeling of restlessness and nervousness that was starting to creep into her soul. Because this was the first time Soo Yin had called father to her father-in-law after being caught.

"Hey, bitch. How dare you now call Mr. Park Ji Hoon father!" It wasn't Park Ji Hoon's voice that was heard but Aeri's voice that immediately rebuked Soo Yin.

Dae Hyun reached out his hand asking for his cellphone because he wanted to hear what Aeri would say.

"Soo Yin, you better give the phone to Dae Hyun because I want to talk to him," said Aeri sarcastically.

"Can you speak softly and not have to insult other people. Should I tell you who's the real bitch here?" Dae Hyun said with a cold tone that was quite piercing.

"Dae Hyun, I thought she wouldn't want to give you the phone," Aeri stuttered.

"No need small talk. Tell me right now how is Yeon Ho doing?" said the impatient Dae Hyun.

"Dae Hyun, hurry here because Yeon Ho is still raging," said Aeri who immediately issued an act of sadness.

"You should be able to take care of him. Aren't you a mother? You should be able to persuade Yeon Ho more than me," Dae Hyun quipped.

"After all, Yeon Ho has always been closer to you. It's only natural that he always wants to look for you," said Aeri who didn't want to budge.

"I can't right now," Dae Hyun said coldly.

"Dae Hyun, I beg you. Since you left Jo Yeon Ho keeps throwing things on the floor," Aeri coaxed in a sad tone.

"If you want me to come there. Apologize and treat Soo Yin well," said Dae Hyun who still gave conditions that must be done.

"Why am I apologizing because I'm not guilty at all." Aeri remained steadfast in her stance that she wouldn't want to apologize to Soo Yin, let alone treat her well.

"Whatever, if something happens to Jo Yeon Ho don't blame me." Dae Hyun was furious so he immediately hung up the phone.

Dae Hyun threw his phone on the dashboard without caring if it would be damaged.

"Honey, you shouldn't have to act like that. What if Yeon Ho really needs you right now? You don't have to think about my feelings," said Soo Yin who felt bad.

"If they want me to come there then they have to follow what I ask," said Dae Hyun while glancing at Soo Yin's face.

"I'm worried that something will happen to Jo Yeon Ho." Soo Yin bit her lower lip because if that happened she would be blamed even more.

Beep...

Now there was the tone of the incoming message on her husband's cell phone. Soo Yin immediately reached out to grab it.

[Dae Hyun, hurry back if you still want to see Yeon Ho] Father.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 491 - 490 - Yeon Ho Is In Danger

Along with the message, there was a photo of a small child standing on the balcony railing. That child was Yeon Ho.

Soo Yin's eyes immediately went wide as her hands immediately trembled.

"Honey, now let's turn around!" cried Soo Yin hysterically.

"What?" Dae Hyun frowned.

"Look, Yeon Ho is in danger.." With her heart beating fast, Soo Yin immediately showed Dae Hyun the screen of his cellphone.

Dae Hyun only seen the glimpse but could understand what the situation was. He then turned the direction of his car, then drove his car very fast overtaking several vehicles in front of him.

Soo Yin even had to hold her chest because she was scared. This was the first time in a car with Dae Hyun who seemed to be being chased by the police.

Soo Yin didn't dare to forbid or speak because she knew that her husband was in a panic right now. If she talked too much, Soo Yin was afraid to disturb the concentration of her husband who was focused on driving.

It didn't take long, they had now entered the UN Village courtyard.

Dae Hyun immediately got out of the car to immediately find out where his son was at this time.

All the servants in the house came out. They were downstairs setting up a mat on the ground in case something unwanted happened. Meanwhile, Dae Hyun's parents and Aeri were on the balcony, trying to persuade Yeon Ho to get away from the fence because it was very dangerous.

Dae Hyun then rushed into the house to the second floor with very hasty steps. His breath was ragged for fear of something bad happening.

Meanwhile, Soo Yin chose to hang out with the maid outside the house. Right under the balcony of Jo Yeon Ho's room.

"Yeon Ho, come here. It's very dangerous," said Mrs. Park who was frantically afraid that something will happen to her beloved grandson.

"I don't want to, I just want father to come here!" exclaimed Jo Yeon Ho who was already sitting on the iron railing.

"Honey, come here with mother," said Aeri, who had lost her way.

Meanwhile, Park Ji Hoon just stood there without being able to do anything because his grandson was hard to persuade into something he didn't want to do.

"I want to meet father. Earlier he promised to come back but why did he leave?" said Jo Yeon Ho in a sad tone.

"Honey, father is here," said Dae Hyun breathlessly, heading straight for the balcony.

"Why did you leave? Why didn't you keep your promise?" said Jo Yeon Ho in an angry tone.

"Darling, father had some business," Dae Hyun coaxed as he walked closer to his son.

"Come here, don't go too far because it's very dangerous," said Dae Hyun.

After seeing his father Yeon Ho became much calmer and started to lift one of his feet which was outside the fence to enter. But unfortunately Jo Yeon Ho didn't hold on properly so he slipped.

"Yeon Ho!" Everyone screamed at the same time.

Everyone then screamed hysterically to see Yeon Ho was unbalanced on the iron balcony railing so that the handle fell off because Yeon Ho was in too much of a hurry to get close to his father.

Soo Yin who was downstairs immediately ran in the direction where Yeon Ho would fall far from the mat.

Bugh...

Yeon Ho fell right into Soo Yin's arm who was right where he fell. But after she caught him, Soo Yin's small body was unbalanced as she was supporting Jo Yeon Ho's weight in her hands until she fell on her back on the ground.

Soo Yin felt her back and head hurt a lot from hitting the ground hard enough.

"Yeon Ho?" Dae Hyun poked his head down after his son fell to see how he was doing.

While Mrs. Park passed out because she was very panicked and scared if her grandson was harm.

Dae Hyun's eyes widened so that they wanted to come out when he saw Yeon Ho was fine sitting on top of Soo Yin's body. With quick steps he immediately left.

Yeon Ho was immediately shocked by what just happened to him until he was still pensive over Soo Yin's body. Before finally several maids grabbed and carried him.

"Soo Yin." Dae Hyun immediately squatted beside his little wife's body and then lifted her body because she was unconscious.

"Bring Yeon Ho in," Dae Hyun ordered the waiter firmly.

"Yes, sir," said several people in unison.

"Soo Yin, wake up," Dae Hyun mumbled very worriedly and carried her into the house. Lay her in the guest room. There was no injury to her body but maybe she was in shock from the impact on her head.

Dae Hyun immediately called Doctor Kang to check on Soo Yin's current state. Hoped that nothing serious happened to his little wife.

"Dae Hyun, how is Soo Yin doing?" asked Park Ji Hoon who immediately followed his son. While Mrs. Park had been taken care of by Aeri and the maid in her room because she was still unconscious.

"I've asked Doctor Kang to come here. Hopefully there are no serious problems," said Dae Hyun with shaking hands while touching Soo Yin's cheeks.

"Honey, wake up," he said with mixed feelings. Dae Hyun didn't expect Soo Yin to be willing to sacrifice herself to save Jo Yeon Ho.

The man's heart was touched again because it wasn't the first time that Soo Yin sacrificed her life for Yeon Ho.

Soon after, Soo Yin moved her finger and blinked her eyes. Her head was a little dizzy after being hit on the ground.

"Honey, does your head hurt?" Dae Hyun tightly gripped Soo Yin's hand while stroking her hair so gently and slowly. Worries were evident in his eagle's eyes.

Soo Yin tried to digest and remember what happened earlier. Her eyes immediately rounded so perfectly when she remembered Jo Yeon Ho who almost fell from the balcony. Soo Yin tried to sit back against the head of the bed.

"Stay lying down," said Dae Hyun.

"How is Jo Yeon Ho doing right now?" Soo Yin asked as she looked at her husband

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 492 - 491 - Can I Hug You?

"He's fine. How about you? Which hurts?" said Dae Hyun who was still panicking and holding Soo Yin's head.

"Thank God." Soo Yin's face immediately lit up and she could breathe a sigh of relief because her son's condition was fine.

"Soo Yin, tell me which one hurts? We'd better go to the hospital right now." Dae Hyun was ready to lift his little wife's body but Soo Yin held his hand tightly.

Soo Yin shook her head as she looked at her husband's face.

"No need, I'm fine." Soo Yin smiled to comfort her husband even though her head and back hurt. She was just shocked, afraid that something bad would happen to Jo Yeon Ho.

"Father?" Jo Yeon Ho followed into the guest room to find out how Soo Yin was. His body was still in Eun Hee's arms because he was weak to walk alone.

"Honey, come here." Dae Hyun then reached out his hand to carry Jo Yeon Ho into his arms until a few moments later dropped him on the bed next to Soo Yin.

"Eunnie, are you okay?" Yeon Ho's small and tender hand touched Soo Yin's wrist.

Soo Yin's eyes filled with tears when she saw Yeon Ho who had changed his attitude as before. There was no longer a glint of hatred in his eyes.

"Yeon Ho, can I hug you?" Soo Yin reached out her hand to take Jo Yeon Ho into her arms. It had been a long time since she had missed the Yeon Ho she used to know.

Jo Yeon Ho instead looked at his father for consideration. There was fear on his face when he remembered Aeri's message not to allow him to be near Soo Yin.

Dae Hyun smiled as he nodded his head.

"It's okay," he said while rubbing his head gently.

Yeon Ho finally inched closer to Soo Yin. Actually he also missed her but the threats that Aeri always said caused him to be afraid of losing his father.

"Yeon Ho, didn't I tell you not to get too close to her?" said Aeri who was already in the doorway. Her eyes were fixed on them.

Jo Yeon Ho who was already in Soo Yin's arms suddenly turned his head towards Aeri with frightened eyes.

"Aeri, don't exaggerate that. Didn't I tell you on the phone?" Dae Hyun snapped.

"You'd better get out now," said Dae Hyun, who immediately pushed Aeri's body out and closed the door when Aeri was about to step in. He didn't want a commotion after what just happened.

Park Ji Hoon was still inside with mixed feelings. Wanted to defend Aeri but it was impossible, because her daughter-in-law often made a fuss.

"Soo Yin, I'm leaving. Hopefully you're fine," Park Ji Hoon said goodbye because he wanted to check on his wife's condition in his room.

Soo Yin smiled then nodded her head.

"Yeon Ho, I really miss you." Soo Yin hugged Yeon Ho tightly in her arms.

"I miss you too," said Jo Yeon Ho, who hugged Soo Yin back. After all, they used to come to various places together. The boy couldn't just forget the memories that always made him happy. Something that was difficult to get from his mother.

"Yeon Ho, from now on just call Soo Yin mother," said Dae Hyun. After all, sooner or later his son would find out everything. There was nothing wrong with slowly providing understanding.

"Mother? What do you mean, Father? Isn't my mother only one?" said Jo Yeon Ho with an innocent face and didn't understand what he meant.

Soo Yin shook her head as she looked at Dae Hyun. It didn't matter to her that Yeon Ho calls him by whatever names. While he was being nice, Soo Yin was already feeling very happy.

Knock... knock...

There was a knock on the door from outside.

"Come in," Dae Hyun shouted without getting out of bed.

A man entered the room wearing all white clothes with a medical bag in his hand.

"Who is sick?" He said with knitted brows.

"Yeon Ho, come here and let Doctor Kang check on your mother." Dae Hyun wanted Yeon Ho to get used to knowing that Soo Yin was also his mother.

Yeon Ho nodded his head without any further questions, immediately turning to Dae Hyun's lap which was on the edge of the bed.

"How is her condition?" asked Dae Hyun who was impatient.

"She's fine. Her head only had a slight impact on the back. I'll take some painkillers for her," Doctor Kang said after checking and asking a few questions just to make sure that Soo Yin was feeling fine.

"You'd better go out, let Soo Yin rest after taking the medicine," said doctor Kang.

"Honey, get some rest so you can recover quickly." Actually Dae Hyun didn't want to go but he didn't want to disturb Soo Yin's rest.

Soo Yin nodded her head with a warm smile.

Everyone left the room, leaving Soo Yin alone. It turned out that the medicine given by Doctor Kang reacted quickly. Soo Yin's eyes felt heavy until finally Soo Yin chose to close her eyes. She hoped that when she woke up, her back won't hurt anymore.

ooooooo

Mrs. Park had woken up and immediately went downstairs to see her beloved grandson. The tears that welled up in the eyelids were now starting to fall along with feelings of relief and happiness to see Jo Yeon Ho was okay. The middle-aged woman had thought that something bad would happen to her grandson. But unexpectedly God still saved him.

"Yeon Ho, thank goodness you're okay." Mrs. Park then hugged her grandson very tightly.

"Grandma, don't cry because I'm okay," said Yeon Ho.

"Next time don't do that again. What you did was very dangerous. What if something bad happened to you? Grandma can't live without you," said Mrs. Park. Spilled the worry in her chest.

"I promise I won't do it again," Yeon Ho said regretfully. He didn't expect his carelessness would nearly hurt him.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 493 - 492 - Don't Just Focus On One Side

Mrs. Park released Yeon Ho's body from her embrace and then kissed both of his cheeks in turn.

"Now you better go to your room and rest so your body will recover soon." Mrs. Park checked Yeon Ho's temperature with the back of her hand. It turned out that now his body temperature was a little hot, although not as hot as this morning.

"Yeon Ho, let's go to the room and let uncle check your body condition," said Doctor Kang as he lifted the child's body into his arms.

"I want to be with Father," Yeon Ho whined as he looked at Dae Hyun with a sad face. There was a fear that his father would leave him again.

"Father will follow, go first with uncle," Dae Hyun coaxed because there was something he wanted to discuss with his other family members.

Yeon Ho finally nodded his head, obeying what his father said. There was also Eun Hee who followed Yeon Ho to the room, in case Doctor Kang needed something.

"Dae Hyun, how is she?" said Mrs. Park in an even tone. She already knew what happened because Park Ji Hoon had told her everything.

"Hopefully she's fine," said Dae Hyun with a heavy sigh. Although according to the Doctor Kang, Soo Yin was fine, Dae Hyun still felt worried.

"If you didn't go, Yeon Ho definitely won't be so angry that he almost gets hurt." Aeri can no longer contain her anger at Soo Yin.

"Didn't I tell you not to blame her? We left here also because you didn't treat her well. You should have thought before acting," sneered Dae Hyun who was no less annoyed.

"All right, don't fight anymore. Both of you are not right," said Park Ji Hoon who was getting tired of listening to his son and daughter-in-law arguing endlessly.

"Dae Hyun, you should be able to be fair to your two wives and children. Don't just focus on one side," continued Park Ji Hoon.

"Father is right, you should be fair," said Aeri, smiling triumphantly because her father-in-law defended her.

"You too Aeri, you should also start accepting Soo Yin. Didn't you say before that it's okay if Dae Hyun remarries?" Park Ji Hoon reminded Aeri, if he was not mistaken, she had said that.

"Father? W... when did I ever say that?" Aeri stammered.

"Right, you shouldn't have forgotten that? Aren't you ashamed to lick your own spit?" Dae Hyun pouted while looking at Aeri with disapproval.

"I... I did allow you to remarry. But that doesn't mean you can play behind my back," Aeri explained.

"Aeri, enough. Now you have to be able to maintain your attitude," said Mrs. Park who was annoyed that there was always a commotion when Dae Hyun returned.

"We will treat her well but that doesn't mean that we have accepted her. We did it because she had saved Yeon Ho," continued Mrs. Park to make things clear.

"It's up to you, the most important thing is not to make her uncomfortable here," said Dae Hyun in a cold tone. Then got up from his seat to follow Jo Yeon Ho in his room.

"Dae Hyun, can we talk about hotel matters first?" said Park Ji Hoon before his son took another step up the stairs.

"What is wrong?" Dae Hyun said flatly in a standing position.

"I beg you to go back to work at the hotel. When you weren't there, there was a bit of chaos," said Park Ji Hoon with a heavy sigh. He wasn't sure about Park Soo Hyun's ability to lead the hotel.

"Park Soo Hyun is already there. I'm sure he can do well," said Dae Hyun, remaining firm in his stance.

"Dae Hyun, have you forgotten your grandfather's message? Didn't he ask you not to leave the hotel?" said Mrs. Park who was also worried because Dae Hyun's two uncles have interfered with hotel matters. They'll just mess things up like they used to.

"Of course I still remember. I'm just worried that if I stay there it will make the hotel's image worse," said Dae Hyun honestly. It turned out that what was planned did not match what was thought. He hoped that the hotel will advance in the hands of Park Soo Hyun but in fact it had to be the opposite.

"What is clear is that uncle and aunt will not allow me to re-enter the hotel," Dae Hyun continued with complicated feelings.

"But if your uncle is left there forever, the hotel will collapse even more." Park Ji Hoon finally said what he feared of the current condition of the hotel.

"Hmmm, I'm sure Park Soo Hyun can take care of everything properly," Dae Hyun said briefly then stepped up the stairs to Yeon Ho's room.

He turned the knob on his son's bedroom door slowly when he was upstairs.

"How is his condition?" Dae Hyun asked Doctor Kang with a complicated feeling that was currently engulfing his heart. There was a feeling of worry if he had to leave the hotel's responsibility only to Park Soo Hyun. But Dae Hyun also didn't want to let them to give him a hard choice. It was certain that everyone would be against his relationship with Soo Yin.

"I have given him fever-reducing medicine. After he wakes up he will be fine. It's better to talk about your problems slowly because it is not good for Yeon Ho. He is still too young to understand everything," said Doctor Kang just to remind him.

"Hmm, I see." Dae Hyun understood what Doctor Kang was talking about. It must be related to his relationship with Soo Yin.

"I'm leaving because I have to go back to the hospital. If the fever doesn't go down you can call me again," said Doctor Kang with a serious face. Not as usual who preferred to joke. Maybe it was because the atmosphere was complicated in this family that Doctor Kang didn't want to get into trouble.

Dae Hyun nodded his head then ushered him to the front door of the room.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 494 - 493 - I Was Just Dreaming

Dae Hyun had been in Yeon Ho's room for an hour. Sitting beside him who was still asleep with regular breaths. He rubbed his son's forehead, whose temperature had started to drop. His face no longer looked pale.

"Sorry, I haven't been able to be a good father to you." Dae Hyun rubbed the top of his son's head gently. Afraid to wake Yeon Jo from his deep sleep.

Dae Hyun took a deep breath and then stood up and sat down. He wanted to see Soo Yin's current state, hopefully she had woken up from her sleep and was much better.

Dae Hyun stepped down the stairs as he looked ahead. Completely ignored Aeri who was in front of him as she was about to climb the stairs.

"Dae Hyun, where are you going?" Finally Aeri opened her voice because she couldn't stand it.

"Looks like you already know where I'm going," said Dae Hyun without turning his face towards Aeri.

Aeri could only clench her fists tightly without being able to protest when Dae Hyun stepped into the guest room where Soo Yin was currently in.

"How annoying!" Aeri gritted her teeth hard to hold back her annoyance.

If Soo Yin hadn't saved Jo Yeon Ho earlier, maybe she wouldn't have acted like that.

Mrs. Park could see the anger radiating from Aeri's face. Until she slowly approached her.

"Aeri, be patient a little. Just so you know, men don't like being banned. Let Dae Hyun do what he likes for a while. In the end he will also come back to you," suggested Mrs. Park to cool Aeri's heart.

"Hmmm," said Aeri while taking a deep breath. Tried to believe Mrs. Park's words which seemed impossible because Dae Hyun never loved her at all.

Unlike Mrs. Park, who indeed from the beginning had loved by Park Ji Hoon.

"Come on." Mrs. Park patted Aeri's shoulder before finally stepping her feet towards the top floor. If Soo Yin didn't save Jo Yeon Ho, she might still be emotional right now. But remembering that Soo Yin was willing to sacrifice herself made Mrs. Park melted.

As soon as Dae Hyun entered the guest room, it turned out that his wife was still fast asleep with her face covered by her scattered hair. The strands of her hair covered her lips.

Dae Hyun removed the hair from her face so he could see his little wife's face clearly.

Soo Yin slept on her side because her back hurt when she slept on her back.

"Ouch," Soo Yin moaned when Dae Hyun's knee accidentally hit her back.

"Honey, tell me which one hurts?" Dae Hyun immediately panicked when he heard Soo Yin whimpering.

Soo Yin immediately turned around when she realized Dae Hyun was there. She had tried her best to hide the pain in her body.

"Ah, it's okay. I was just dreaming," said Soo Yin while trying to smile. Even though when she was about to lean on her back, she felt more pain that made her wince, but as much as possible she restrained it so as not to make a sound.

Dae Hyun watched Soo Yin's face which was wincing in pain. There was no way if she was fine. Before Soo Yin managed to lean back, Dae Hyun had already unzipped her dress.

It was only then that he could see Soo Yin's back that turned blue from the impact of her body hitting the ground.

"Soo Yin, why did you lie? You should have said if you were sick so Doctor Kang could give you medicine. We have to go to the hospital right now," Dae Hyun said with chest heaving and feeling panicked.

Before Dae Hyun carried her body, Soo Yin first wrapped her arms around her husband's neck tightly. She didn't want to be in the hospital because she didn't like the smell of medicine.

"Honey, I don't want to go to the hospital," Soo Yin whined in a spoiled tone. If visiting other people, it was not a problem. But if she had to lie there, Soo Yin didn't want to.

"Soo Yin, you must be treated to get well soon. I don't want you to be like this," Dae Hyun said in a sad tone. A drop of water dripped from the corner of his eye. Such a deep love made Dae Hyun's heart ache when he saw Soo Yin hurt.

"You can treat it at home. We just need to buy some medicine for bruises at the pharmacy." Soo Yin tightened her arms around Dae Hyun's neck even more while shaking her head.

"Okay, I'll ask Doctor Kang to send the medicine," said Dae Hyun who couldn't bear to force Soo Yin to go to the hospital.

"Thank you," whispered Soo Yin with relief at being able to calm her husband down.

Dae Hyun let go of his embrace and helped Soo Yin to lie down on her side again.

"How is Yeon Ho now? I want to see him," said Soo Yin.

"He's asleep, after he wakes up I'll ask him to come here," Dae Hyun said while typing a message to Doctor Kang to send the best medicine.

Soo Yin felt uncomfortable lying on her side so she tried to get up to sit back up.

"Just lie down," said Dae Hyun.

"The sideways position makes me uncomfortable," said Soo Yin. Until finally Dae Hyun helped her to sit down.

"Lean on my shoulder." Dae Hyun pulled Soo Yin's body slowly to lean on his shoulder then hugged her waist tightly.

"Don't get too close. What if someone sees us later?" Soo Yin said while pushing Dae Hyun gently.

"So what if someone sees us? I actually feel happy if they know that our relationship is serious," said Dae Hyun while kissing the top of Soo Yin's head.

Soo Yin pinched Dae Hyun's waist quite hard because she was irritated with her husband who would talk without thinking about the risks.

"Why did you pinch me?" Dae Hyun asked while grinning.

"That's the result of always talking without thinking," said Soo Yin with pouting lips.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 495 - 494 - It's Not As Bad As Imagined

Even though Soo Yin was afraid, she still pressed her body against Dae Hyun's side. Even when Dae Hyun was about to leave, Soo Yin didn't let him.

It wasn't long before there was a loud knock on the door.

"Who?" Dae Hyun exclaimed without moving.

"I brought medicine for Miss Soo Yin, sir," said a servant's voice from outside.

"Come in," said Dae Hyun.

A maid came in with a small pouch in her hand and handed it to Dae Hyun with her head down. Didn't dare to look at Soo Yin who was still leaning her head on Dae Hyun's shoulder.

Whereas earlier Aeri had ordered her to see what they were doing.

"You can go," said Dae Hyun.

The servant immediately turned around and left the room.

"Do you want to take a shower first since it's now afternoon?" Dae Hyun said while looking at the window. He can't believe the sun had almost set. Leaving only a tinge of orange in the Seoul sky.

"Actually I feel a little hot," said Soo Yin.

"If you don't want to take a shower, it's okay, but you should change your clothes. I'll take it from the car," said Dae Hyun.

"Are we going to stay?" Soo Yin bit her lower lip, feeling hesitant if she had to stay at that house. Because she knew that no one would accept her.

"I don't know yet. We'll see how Yeon Ho is. If he wants to be left behind then we will go home. I don't want to leave him suddenly without asking first," said Dae Hyun. Felt a bit traumatized seeing how Jo Yeon Ho almost got hurt.

"No problem, I can understand," said Soo Yin.

Dae Hyun rushed out after helping Soo Yin rest her head on the edge of the bed. He will take the clothes that Do Jin gave for free to Soo Yin.

Soo Yin felt her body was hot, so she decided to go to the bathroom. Her legs were fine, it was just that her back was overreacting.

oooooooo

Dae Hyun helped to apply the bruise medicine on Soo Yin's back slowly and carefully. Afraid that Soo Yin would feel pain even though what he saw was not as painful as Soo Yin felt.

Soo Yin sat on her knees with her knees bent. Sitting right in front of her husband only wrapped in a thick blanket after cleaning herself.

"Honey, does it hurt?" said Dae Hyun who was worried until he rubbed it so gently.

"No need to touch it too gently. It doesn't hurt at all," said Soo Yin. She didn't want her husband to be too much.

Soo Yin's skin was as white as snow, making the bruises visible on the surface of her skin very clearly. Dae Hyun was horrified to think of how much it hurt.

"It's not as bad as imagined," Soo Yin continued once again.

Check...

There was the sound of the door opening from outside because it wasn't locked, so Dae Hyun and Soo Yin suddenly turned to see who was coming.

Dae Hyun hastily covered Soo Yin's body with the blanket again when he saw Yeon Ho standing in the doorway.

"Yeon Ho, come in," Soo Yin said as she shifted her body more to the edge of the bed.

Yeon Ho finally entered the room with a flat face and knitted eyebrows. He could briefly see when Dae Hyun applied the medicine on Soo Yin's back.

Still in silence, Yeon Ho drew closer to the bed. Then his hand reached out to grab the bruise medicine that Dae Hyun was holding.

"Does it still hurt?" Yeon Ho blinked his eyes. There was a little guilt in Yeon Ho's heart because what he did hurt Soo Yin.

"It's not true, I'm not that weak to feel a little pain," Soo Yin said while chuckling to warm up the atmosphere.

"Can I treat it?" Yeon Ho said hopefully.

Soo Yin smiled then nodded her head. Her eyes were teary, her heart was touched by what Yeon Ho did for her.

Dae Hyun helped his son to get on the bed and sat him behind Soo Yin. Then pulled the blanket slightly so that Soo Yin's upper back could be seen, showing some bruises that were still blue.

"I'm sorry, because I was naughty, you almost got hurt," said Yeon Ho in a sad voice. His hand gently touched Soo Yin's back.

"It's okay. The important thing is that you're okay now," said Soo Yin.

"Do you still hate me?" Soo Yin added cautiously, afraid of making Jo Yeon Ho angry again like when they met at the hotel a few days ago.

"I don't hate Eunnie. I just did what my mother said," Yeon Ho said honestly and too innocently. Children his age were not good at lying too far so he will say what he experienced and heard with honest answers.

Soo Yin had guessed that it must be because Aeri had instigated him. There was no way Jo Yeon Ho would act like that.

"I'm sorry for being rude that time. I was just afraid of losing my father," Yeon Ho said with his head down remembering how he got angry when he met Soo Yin. Currently afraid that the two people who were nearby would be angry.

"What your mother said is not true. I will not leave you." Dae Hyun lifted Yeon Ho's body into his lap and hugged him tightly.

"Mom said that if I got close to Eunnie, I would lose father forever. Mom also didn't allow me to talk to Eunnie. Is that true, Father?" Yeon Ho said while tilting his body slightly to look at his father's face.

"In fact, if you hate Eunnie then you will lose your father. From now on can you call Eunnie as mother?" Dae Hyun said, wanting to teach little by little so that Jo Yeon Ho understood.

"Mother? Why should I call her mother? Eunnie said she didn't like it when I used to call her aunty?" Yeon Ho said with a frown.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 496 - 495 - We Will Stay Here

Dae Hyun massaged the space between his eyebrows. Wondered how to explain everything to his son. But now didn't seem like the right time. Maybe it was better to slowly give him an understanding according to Doctor Kang's advice.

"Hmmm, it's up to you what you wanna call her. From now on don't hate her anymore. If you obey, father will see you every day," explained Dae Hyun to remove Aeri's incitement from his son's mind.

"I promise I won't hate mom," said Jo Yeon Ho with a cheerful face without realizing that he was calling Soo Yin's name with mom.

Jo Yeon Ho always felt comfortable around Dae Hyun and Soo Yin. It was different when he was near Aeri, who preferred to be angry if he didn't do what she said.

"But isn't my mother only one?" added Jo Yeon Ho with too much of curiosity.

"It doesn't matter if you call someone else's mother too. Don't worry about it, you can call her as you please." Dae Hyun didn't want to confuse his son even more because he was too young to digest it all.

Soo Yin shed tears of joy when she heard Jo Yeon Ho calling her mother. At least it can cure the feeling of longing for her baby. If she wasn't experiencing miscarriage, maybe soon the child will be born. Soo Yin subconsciously touched her still flat stomach.

Dae Hyun realized that Soo Yin was sad so he patted her on the shoulder lightly. It was impossible to do any further since Jo Yeon Ho was there.

"Father, don't go tonight. I want to sleep with you," Yeon Ho whined before Dae Hyun left him.

Dae Hyun was silent in thought because it seemed that Soo Yin was not willing to spend the night at the house.

"No problem, we will stay here," said Soo Yin, who had covered her body with a blanket tightly and then turned her body to face her husband and son.

"Yeon Ho, would you like to stay at mom's house someday?" said Soo Yin who wanted to take Yeon Ho to their house.

"Sure," Yeon Ho said excitedly.

Aeri, who had been standing in front of the guest room door, clenched her fists tightly when she heard how Yeon Ho was now obedient to Dae Hyun's words.

"You son of a bitch," Aeri mumbled softly with sharp eyes and passionate breaths, feeling the turmoil of anger that was getting worse.

Aeri was getting redder.

"See, I won't just let it go if Yeon Ho falls into your hands." Aeri was furious that her own son even betrayed her.

"Sister-in-law, what are you doing here?" asked Park Soo Hyun who had just returned from the hotel.

"N...nothing," Aeri said, stuttering.

Park Soo Hyun knitted his brows. Felt strange with his sister-in-law who seemed to be listening to someone inside. Until slowly a crisp laugh sounded in his ears.

Park Soo Hyun's heart skipped a beat. That voice belonged to someone who had not yet disappeared from his memory.

No wonder Aeri stood in front of the door with slightly pressed ears. It was because she was eavesdropping on Dae Hyun's conversation with Soo Yin.

"Is she in there?" asked Park Soo Hyun curiously.

"I forgot that I was going to ask them to dinner because mother and father are already waiting in the dining room," said Aeri, indirectly answering Park Soo Hyun's question.

Park Soo Hyun then walked to his room. Didn't intend to eat because there was Soo Yin. His heart had not accepted everything gracefully because it was not that easy to throw away his feeling of love.

Aeri hadn't even knocked on the door even though Park Soo Hyun had gone upstairs. She was afraid of being caught eavesdropping so she pretended to ask them to dinner. Even though she didn't want to call Soo Yin.

"Aeri, it's a coincidence that you're there. Take Dae Hyun and Yeon Ho to eat now." Aeri was just about to turn away but Mrs. Park had asked her to call them.

"But... Mom." Aeri was about to argue but her mother-in-law had already walked into the dining room.

"Ughhh, why should I?" Aeri grumbled with a very annoyed feeling in her chest. But like it or not, Aeri was forced to knock on the door.

"Yeon Ho, let's have dinner first," Aeri called from outside without opening it. When she saw Soo Yin, she always wanted to slap her.

"I'm not hungry," Jo Yeon Ho exclaimed without moving from Dae Hyun's lap.

Soo Yin felt uneasy because her presence there would definitely cause a commotion if the two people in front of her didn't go out to eat.

"Yeon Ho, go eat first with your father," Soo Yin coaxed with a smile.

"I won't go if you don't come with us," Dae Hyun said firmly.

"Dae Hyun, I beg you to understand. Don't make any more noise. I'll be fine here alone," Soo Yin said with a wistful look. She didn't want to be blamed again because it hurt so much.

Dae Hyun took a deep breath. Although feeling very reluctant, Dae Hyun was forced to nod his head.

"Yeon Ho, we should have dinner first," said Dae Hyun to his son.

"I'm not hungry. Isn't mom coming to eat with us?" said Jo Yeon Ho while looking at Soo Yin with a sullen face.

"My back still hurts so I can't sit for long," Soo Yin said while cupping Yeon Ho's cheeks. Tried to give him explanation as gentle as possible.

"Then later I will bring dinner for mom," said Yeon Ho.

"Before that, eat first with the others." Soo Yin kissed Yeon Ho's cheeks in turn.

Dae Hyun was very touched to see his little son and wife were on good terms again as before. Seeing Soo Yin treated Yeon Ho so gently, it made his heart steadfast that Soo Yin was indeed the right choice.

"Go," said Soo Yin.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 497 - - Who Are You Calling Mom To?

Aeri who was standing in front of the door could hear their voices as they chatted even if only faintly. Her heart heated up hearing Soo Yin's gentleness when she spoke to Jo Yeon Ho.

"Once a bitch, will always going to be like that," Aeri cursed.

Check....

Aeri almost fell down when the door was suddenly opened from the inside. Because the position of her body was leaning against the door.

"What are you doing here?" Dae Hyun said in a cold tone while massaging the space between his eyebrows. His left hand grabbed Jo Yeon Ho's wrist.

"I was just about to open the door because you guys hadn't come out after so long," Aeri said, stuttering, cold sweat was already dripping from her body for fear of being caught if she was eavesdropping on their conversation.

"Is she not coming?" Aeri poked her head in slightly to peek at what Soo Yin was doing.

Dae Hyun then closed the door tightly again. He knew that Aeri would say things that were inappropriate for Soo Yin to hear.

"We'd better go to the dining room now," said Dae Hyun in a flat tone. Then stepped his feet ahead with Yeon Ho.

"Yeon Ho, come here with mom," Aeri asked Yeon Ho to sit next to her.

Yeon Ho shook his head because he wanted to be near his fatdeka.

"Why don't you take Soo Yin ?" said Park Ji Hoon.

"Mom is still sick, Grandpa," said Jo Yeon Ho quickly.

Mrs. Park and Aeri looked at each other with knitted eyebrows because they were very surprised to hear Yeon Ho mention Soo Yin's name with mother. Though he usually called her as eunnie.

"Yeon Ho, who are you calling mom to?" Aeri insisted with a look of displeasure and a sharp look at Yeon Ho.

"There's no need to argue because these are all facts. From now on, don't poison his mind again with bad things," said Dae Hyun so that the debate would not continue.

Park Soo Hyun was too lazy to join the dinner but finally came down because Mrs. Park continued to persuade him. As a mother, Mrs. Park didn't want chaos to happen all the time in the house.

"Eat in peace. I don't want a commotion in this house," said Mrs. Park before one of her two sons and daughter-in-law spoke. Luckily Soo Yin didn't join the dinner so the dining room atmosphere wouldn't feel awkward.

Park Soo Hyun sat without even looking at Dae Hyun. Likewise Dae Hyun who immediately looked away if they accidentally about to look at each other.

Mrs. Park could only sigh deeply as she watched her two sons who didn't get along. But she can understand if things might take some time.

Dae Hyun only ate a little. Likewise, Jo Yeon Ho who didn't even touch his food at all.

"Yeon Ho, why don't you eat?" asked Park Soo Hyun who finally spoke up because he had seen his nephew only looking at the food in front of him.

"I want to eat with Mom Soo Yin," Yeon Ho said honestly. He felt sorry if later Soo Yin had to eat alone.

"Yeon Ho, can you not talk about her? It's always that woman that you care about," Aeri said with a rising voice as she was no longer able to contain her annoyance.

Yeon Ho was so scared until he clung closer to his father. He gripped Dae Hyun's arm tightly.

Dae Hyun put the spoon on the plate because Aeri had made him uncomfortable eating the food. He didn't like it when Jo Yeon Ho was always yelled at. This wasn't the first time that Aeri had done it but it was the umpteenth time that Dae Hyun had known about it.

"Aeri, if you continue like this, not only will your husband leave but your child will also leave you," whispered Mrs. Park who sat close to her.

"Yeon Ho, let's just go." Dae Hyun then carried Yeon Ho's body and left the dining room.

Aeri covered her face with both hands. Really regretted for being a little rude to Jo Yeon Ho.

"Aeri, now chase them before you really lose them," said Mrs. Park.

Actually, Aeri didn't like it when she had to always beg and ask for mercy. But for the sake of her position in this house, Aeri often did it.

Aeri left the dining room to chase Dae Hyun and Yeon Ho.

Dae Hyun then went into the guest room to meet his wife. With Yeon Ho's position already in his arms.

"Why are you guys so fast?" Soo Yin said while frowning. But if she saw the look on Dae Hyun's face, Soo Yin guessed that something bad had happened. Grateful that she didn't come to eat with them.

"We should just go home," Dae Hyun said as he packed Soo Yin's dirty clothes into a paper bag.

"What happened? Didn't you say you are going to stay?" Soo Yin said as she lowered her feet to the floor.

"No, we'd better go home." Dae Hyun walked over to Soo Yin and stroked her hair.

"Yeon Ho, will you come home with us? You don't have to be afraid anymore," Dae Hyun coaxed as he crouched down in front of his son.

Dae Hyun felt very angry knowing that Aeri hadn't changed from the past until now. It turned out that Aeri was only being sweet to Yeon Ho only in front of him. The fact was that Aeri only used Yeon Ho for her personal interests.

"Go home to where?" asked Yeon Ho who really didn't understand.

"Go back to Mother Soo Yin's house. Believe me, we won't scare you. We won't threaten you either," said Dae Hyun.

Yeon Ho was silent, seeming thoughtful. Considered whether to accept or reject his father's offer.

"Did someone threaten you that made you feel scared?" Dae Hyun urged to know Yeon Ho's answer if Aeri often threatened him.

"If you don't want to come with us, that's okay.. Father will come back tomorrow to see you," Dae Hyun said after seeing the doubt in his son's eyes.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 498 - 498 - I Just Want To Be With Father

"I'll just go with Father," said Jo Yeon Ho.

Dae Hyun smiled in relief that he had finally managed to persuade Jo Yeon Ho to come with him. Even so, Dae Hyun also didn't want to badmouth Aeri in front of him. After all, Aeri was the mother who gave birth to him.

"Then we'll go to your room to get some clothes," said Dae Hyun who was already standing and carrying Jo Yeon Ho.

Brake....

Just as Dae Hyun was about to step outside, Aeri pushed the door hard first. Until it opened wide.

Dae Hyun's jaw immediately tensed when he saw Aeri in front of him. Likewise, Yeon Ho immediately put his arm around Dae Hyun's neck and hid his face in his father's neck.

"Yeon Ho, I'm sorry. I didn't mean to scare you. I'm just afraid that you'll leave mom," said Aeri who was trying her best to keep her emotions from exploding.

Dae Hyun put his son down. Let him choose of where he will stay tonight.

"Honey, come here. I promise I won't be angry anymore," Aeri coaxed as she reached out her hand to grab her son's wrist. Hoping that Jo Yeon Ho would obey her.

"I just want to be with father," said Yeon Ho who immediately hugged Dae Hyun's legs.

Aeri tried to hold back her flaming anger. Especially when she saw Soo Yin's innocent face. She really wanted to slap her in the face like this morning.

Actually this was also Aeri's fault, because she said it was okay if Dae Hyun would remarry. Aeri was very sorry for saying it. She thought Dae Hyun wouldn't really do it.

"Dae Hyun, okay, I'll accept Soo Yin as your wife but don't take Yeon Ho away and keep him away from me," said Aeri in a pitiful tone.

"Are you sure?" Dae Hyun smiled lopsidedly because he didn't really believe what Aeri said.

"Of course, no problem at all. Even if the three of us have to share the same bed I don't mind." As much as possible Aeri will convince if she had changed. This was all done so that Jo Yeon Ho wouldn't go any further. In order to get rid of Soo Yin, she would think of a way later.

Dae Hyun shook his head. Who would just believe someone who this morning still hated Soo Yin so much until she slapped her, suddenly in the afternoon she had changed to be kind.

"You'd better think about what you said before you regret it. You don't have to worry because Jo Yeon Ho won't be far from you. He will stay a night or two with us," said Dae Hyun.

"But... can't you guys just stay here tonight?" Aeri persuaded.

"Soo Yin, you should have no problem staying at this house," Aeri continued while looking at Soo Yin with a warm gaze.

"Maybe another time because I also have to go to college tomorrow," said Soo Yin just as an excuse. She knew it was all nonsense. She will not be taken by Aeri's words just like that.

"Isn't your body still aching? You should be able to rest first at home. Don't work too hard," Aeri coaxed.

"I can't," said Soo Yin.

Aeri couldn't help but take a deep breath because it seemed like they couldn't be persuaded.

It just so happened that Eun Hee was passing by so Dae Hyun asked her to bring some clothes for Jo Yeon Ho.

Park Ji Hoon forbade his wife to interfere in Dae Hyun and his wife's matters. They remained in the dining room with Park Soo Hyun who was now felt very complicated.

Dae Hyun held Soo Yin's hand then went to the dining room to say goodbye to his family. He was a grown man who still had manners to his parents. So it was impossible to leave without saying goodbye first.

Dae Hyun slowly led Soo Yin, even though his wife had said that she was fine. Meanwhile, Jo Yeon Ho walked next to him.

"We said goodbye to go home first. I hope you don't mind me bringing Yeon Ho for a while," said Dae Hyun.

Soo Yin just lowered her head. Didn't dare to look at two people who may still hate her until now.

Mrs. Park took a deep breath, because she also had no authority to forbid Yeon Ho from going with his father.

"Go but don't be too long because we will miss him," said Mrs. Park. If Soo Yin hadn't been kind, she probably wouldn't have allowed Yeon Ho to be with them.

"It won't be long. Maybe tomorrow or the day after tomorrow will I bring him home," said Dae Hyun.

Everyone looked at their backs as Dae Hyun and Soo Yin slowly left the house.

Park Soo Hyun still imagined that if he were in Dae Hyun's position, he would be very happy.

Aeri can only clench her fists because she can't do anything to keep Yeon Ho right now.

Pyeongchang-dong villa,

When they arrived at the villa, Yeon Ho was already fast asleep. Before going home, Dae Hyun had invited his wife and son to stop by to eat at a restaurant.

Dae Hyun then laid Yeon Ho's body on the bed. This was the biggest dream in his life to want to make them like a whole family. Life with Soo Yin and Jo Yeon Ho finally materialized even if maybe only for a few days first.

"Honey, now you sleep with Yeon Ho," Dae Hyun said to Soo Yin who was still sitting on the edge of the bed.

"I just woke up, so I'm not sleepy yet," said Soo Yin. Because of the medicine that Doctor Kang gave her during the day, Soo Yin fell asleep very soundly until the afternoon.

Dae Hyun then sat beside Soo Yin. Grasped her waist so they stick to each other.

"Hopefully we will forever be like this," Dae Hyun whispered as he pressed his cheek against Soo Yin's very soft cheek.

"Stay away a bit, what if Yeon Ho wakes up and sees us," Soo Yin said while glancing at her son who was fast asleep.

Chapter 499 - 499 - Romantic Film

"He won't wake up if he's asleep," Dae Hyun whispered again while biting the tip of Soo Yin's ear on purpose.

Soo Yin shuddered and put her shoulders together in amusement.

"Looks like it's going to be cramped if the three of us sleep in here," said Soo Yin. Even though the bed was quite spacious, having Yeon Jo in the middle made their movement limited.

"We'll sleep in another room," whispered Dae Hyun without any intention of loosening his embrace at all.

"My throat feels dry, I want to go to the kitchen first," Soo Yin said as she tried to free Dae Hyun's hand from her waist. She was worried if Yeon Ho suddenly wakes up and sees them. It was not appropriate for a child his age to know that.

"Stay here, let me take it," said Dae Hyun as he let go of his embrace and then stood up to get ready to go to the kitchen.

Soo Yin immediately covered Yeon Ho's body with a thick blanket. Then reached out her hand to stroke the top of his head.

"Thank you, Yeon Ho. You have accepted me back like before," Soo Yin said softly with a feeling of being touched. It was undeniable that she was currently very happy.

Soo Yin turned off the light to avoid the glare before deciding to follow her husband into the kitchen. Her back didn't hurt anymore. Being in the room continued to make her feel bored. Besides, it was not ten o'clock yet. Still too early to sleep.

"Honey, why did you come down? Didn't I tell you that I'd bring you a drink to your room." Dae Hyun was already carrying a tray containing a glass in his hand.

"I'm not sleepy yet. I want to watch a movie first for a while, it's been a long time I didn't have time to watch a movie." Soo Yin took the glass in Dae Hyun's hand. Then took it to the sofa and gulped it down.

Dae Hyun followed Soo Yin's footsteps and sat next to her.

"Sleep, if you're sleepy. I'll watch a movie alone," said Soo Yin as she turned to her husband. She knew that Dae Hyun must be tired from what happened today.

"No, I'll stay with you here." Dae Hyun immediately went to turn off the lights until only dim light remained.

Before Dae Hyun brought Soo Yin to the villa, the man had prepared all the movies that Soo Yin might be able to watch. But after a long time, only this time Soo Yin wanted to watch it.

"Why are there so many romantic film tapes?" Soo Yin knitted her brows. Felt impossible that a Dae Hyun would watch a film like that.

"Don't get me wrong and think bad first. I did prepare it for you for a long time ago but it seems like you don't intend to watch a movie in this house," Dae Hyun explained before Soo Yin thought that he had brought another woman to the house.

Soo Yin was the first woman that Dae Hyun brought into the villa besides Aunt Xia.

"Why don't you say it. Even though I really like watching a movie," said Soo Yin. If she knew there were so many tapes, she will watch it when she was bored.

"You didn't even ask me," Dae Hyun replied flatly.

Soo Yin sifted through to find a movie she thought was good. It was also a great time to spend free time with Dae Hyun. As long as Dae Hyun worked at the hotel they rarely had time together to relax.

Finally, Soo Yin really wanted to watch a western romantic film which was already very legendary. Even the whole world must have known this film. A film that told about the love story of Jack and Rose entitled Titanic.

Soo Yin had watched the film several times but didn't feel bored at all.

Soo Yin sat at the end of the sofa while Dae Hyun also sat at the other end. The movie started to play, Soo Yin was so focused on the big television screen until she didn't realize that Dae Hyun was beside her.

Dae Hyun always can't stand being by Soo Yin's side but just sat around doing nothing. With a slow motion, Dae Hyun managed to wrap his arms around Soo Yin's waist.

Soo Yin who was focused was now surprised enough that she turned her head to the side. Stared at her husband's face in the dim light. Her heart immediately thumped, followed by her rapid breathing. Dae Hyun's breath that hit her face gave her a swish effect.

Dae Hyun then landed a soft kiss on Soo Yin's luscious lips briefly because his wife was still looking at him without blinking. Until Dae Hyun felt the nerve to enjoy the beauty of this night.

"Honey, does your back still hurt?" Dae Hyun whispered after breaking the kiss. He was afraid that he would cross the line.

"No, the medicine that doctor Kang gave is quite effective," said Soo Yin honestly. Hadn't realized that the point of her husband's question was leading to something.

With a swift movement, Dae Hyun had already carried Soo Yin into his lap. Wanted to make sure what his little wife said was true, because she really liked to lie to cover up all of her pain.

Dae Hyun started to unbutton Soo Yin's shirt one by one.

"What would you do?" Soo Yin tightened her hands so Dae Hyun couldn't take off her clothes.

"I just want to make sure you're okay," Dae Hyun said as he removed Soo Yin's hand from her chest.

"Unless you want me to do more," Dae Hyun teased with a chuckle.

Finally Soo Yin obediently loosened her hand and placed it at her side when Dae Hyun removed one of the sleeves from her hand.

Dae Hyun reached into his cell phone to use for lighting. He checked the condition of Soo Yin's back from top to bottom.. His heart was relieved after knowing that the bruises had started to fade.

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 500 - 500 - Killing You With Love

Soo Yin was about to watch quietly but Dae Hyun was always interrupting her. Didn't let her sit alone on the couch. Made her feel even more hot and wanted to distance herself.

"Dae Hyun, go to sleep," said Soo Yin, who was getting more and more uncomfortable when Dae Hyun started sniffing the nape of her neck.

"I don't want to sleep before we go upstairs together. You said you've watched it so many times, then why do you watch it again?" Dae Hyun said, he was deliberately disturbing his little wife. He didn't like it when Soo Yin looked at Jack in the movie so closely. For him, Soo Yin should not look at other men for too long.

"You said you prepared everything for me. But when I just watched it, you've been bothering me," Soo Yin grumbled as she folded her arms across her chest.

Even though the film was in full swing when Rose and Jack hugged each other at the end of the ship.

"Rather than you see it, we better practice it," whispered Dae Hyun, realizing if his wife was now upset.

"Never mind, I better just sleep," said Soo Yin while pursing her lips. She had lost her patience with Dae Hyun since earlier.

"You said you weren't sleepy yet. Now I promise I won't bother you again. You can watch in peace now." Dae Hyun released his embrace, then shifted his body until Soo Yin was no longer in his lap. It seemed that Soo Yin had not yet understood what he wanted.

Dae Hyun chose to lean his head on the back of the sofa slightly away from Soo Yin. He didn't want to make Soo Yin angry anymore.

Not long after, sleepiness overtook him until Dae Hyun slowly closed his eyes. Wanted to treat his drowsiness for a while.

Ten minutes passed, things were getting quieter. There was no commotion after they kept their distance.

"Honey, are you asleep?" Soo Yin shifted her body closer to Dae Hyun. Watching alone without anyone bothering her made her feel bored instead.

"Hmmm," said Dae Hyun with his eyes still closed. Actually, he didn't sleep but he didn't want to disturb and irritate Soo Yin.

"Honey, wake up. I'm tired of being alone," Soo Yin whined as she patted her husband's cheek.

"Didn't you say earlier that I shouldn't bother you?" Dae Hyun said with his hoarse voice.

"Open your eyes quickly. I don't like watching a movie alone," Soo Yin whined with pouting lips.

"Okay but there are conditions," Dae Hyun said while smiling crookedly in the dim light so that Soo Yin wouldn't notice.

"What?" asked Soo Yin with furrowed brows.

"You have to promise not to be angry if I disturb you. You also have to promise not to refuse what I want. I will do whatever I want," said Dae Hyun. His other eye had opened slightly to peek at Soo Yin's current facial expression.

"Okay, I promise," said Soo Yin in a weak voice.

Dae Hyun then woke up with a cracked face. Like a child who just got ice cream from his mother. His ass kept shifting until they were pressed against each other.

Soo Yin was now focused on the television screen again. Now Dae Hyun's hands were wrapped around her stomach so that Soo Yin rested her head on her husband's chest.

Dae Hyun's hands had now started to move mischievously, sneaking into Soo Yin's clothes so that Soo Yin can't focus anymore.

"Can't your hands be still?" Soo Yin grumbled while rolling her eyes.

"You promised not to be angry," Dae Hyun said casually and didn't feel guilty at all.

"Ughhh, you always set me up," Soo Yin cursed because she was so annoyed.

"I'm an expert," Dae Hyun said with a chuckle. Luckily Aunt Xia wasn't home so she didn't listen to what they were doing at the moment.

Soo Yin was about to get up from Dae Hyun's lap. But before she could move, Dae Hyun had hidden his head in Soo Yin's recess, causing strange feelings all over her body.

"Where are you going?" Dae Hyun whispered in Soo Yin's ear then kissed his wife's neck.

"Dae Hyun, stop it. I have to go to college tomorrow, don't make me get into trouble again," said Soo Yin breathlessly, holding back the desire that was becoming unbearable after a long time.

"You don't have to go to college tomorrow," whispered Dae Hyun with his hands already playing with the two springy objects that fit perfectly in his hands. The thing he always wanted to play with.

Soo Yin moaned and sighed as Dae Hyun's hands became more adept at playing on the sensitive areas of her body. Until she squirmed and pulled Dae Hyun's hair tightly. Pulling her husband's hair to channel her passion.

"Let's make a little sibling for Yeon Ho," Dae Hyun teased in between making Soo Yin even more infatuated and wanting more.

Soo Yin was still aware of her husband's words until she pinched his waist.

"Ouch, why are you pinching me again?" Dae Hyun groaned. With a quick movement Dae Hyun turned Soo Yin's body to face him, now they looked at each other. Seeing Soo Yin's lips, which were about to open, Dae Hyun then landed a kiss on her lips first. Not giving her a chance to protest.

Dae Hyun immediately carried Soo Yin's body without breaking the kiss even when climbing the stairs. He had just let go of Soo Yin's lips when he saw her gasping for breath.

"Do you really want to kill me?" Soo Yin accused while holding her tight chest.

"Killing you with love. I want to kill your love for another man," said Dae Hyun while smiling a lopsided smile. In between the desires that were already in the crown.

Dae Hyun took Soo Yin to the room next door to Yeon Ho's. A room that was rarely occupied but was neatly arranged because Aunt Xia always cleaned it.. It had white walls and not much equipment there.
