

Check...

Dae Hyun immediately followed Soo Yin after he calmed down enough by pouring his head under the shower. He was just wearing a towel so she can see his body.

"What took you so long?" Soo Yin said as she narrowed her eyes.

"I take a shower as well," said Dae Hyun who immediately rushed into the dressing room. The cold weather outside made his body feel cold.

Soo Yin stayed in a position by holding Jo Yeon Ho in her arms even when Dae Hyun had come out of changing his clothes.

"Has he been asleep since earlier?" Dae Hyun asked while buttoning his pajamas.

"No, it turns out that Yeon Ho was afraid to hear the sound of lightning because he was in the room alone," explained Soo Yin, explaining a little of what happened.

"He's really afraid of thunder," said Dae Hyun while rubbing the top of Yeon Ho's head. Then went up to the bed and sat near Soo Yin until now Soo Yin was in the middle.

"Honey, we'll continue what was delayed later," Dae Hyun coaxed, he pressed his body to Soo Yin's even more because he had confirmed that his son had fallen asleep.

Soo Yin rolled her eyes because she was annoyed that her husband was still thinking about his wishes. Without thinking about his son at all.

"Shut your mouth, don't disturb Yeon Ho's sleep," said Soo Yin.

"Okay, I'll wait until he really sleeps. I'll wait for you in the room earlier," said Dae Hyun. If he was there he was worried about making Yeon Ho wake up again.

"Go away," Soo Yin said while pursing her lips.

Dae Hyun immediately left the room, waiting for Soo Yin to come meet him in the next room.

Dae Hyun had been waiting for half an hour but Soo Yin hadn't come yet. So he was curious and came back to see her.

Dae Hyun's body immediately went limp when he saw Soo Yin who was already fast asleep while hugging Yeon Ho. Not wanting to disturb, Dae Hyun finally chose to sleep on the sofa.

=====

One week later,

Dae Hyun didn't think that Yeon Ho was still at home and didn't even seem to want to go back to the UN Village even though he had repeatedly persuaded him. There were both positives and negatives with Yeon Ho being in the villa with them.

Indeed, Dae Hyun admitted that he was now closer to his son. But his time to be with Soo Yin was almost non-existent. It was impossible to even hold her hand tightly.

Soo Yin always refused to be approached if Yeon Ho was with them. All of this made Dae Hyun even more annoyed and very jealous.

"Yeon Ho, don't you miss grandma and grandpa?" Dae Hyun persuaded him again. The question that Dae Hyun asked his son almost every day because Mrs. Park had repeatedly asked him to take Yeon Ho home.

"Of course I miss them," said Yeon Ho nonchalantly while helping Soo Yin water the plants in the greenhouse that were already thriving.

"Then why don't you want to go home?" Dae Hyun said. He chose to sit in a chair while observing his wife and children who were busy doing their respective activities.

"I prefer it here because I can play as I please without anyone forbidding it," said Jo Yeon Ho honestly without diverting his gaze from the lush Lavender flower plant.

When he was in the UN Village, Jo Yeon Ho felt that his movements were very limited and he couldn't go anywhere. Moreover, if Aeri was at home, he will not be allowed to leave his room. It made Yeon Ho feel very bored.

"Don't you miss your mother too?" Dae Hyun asked just out of curiosity. He also did not want to be accused of being a father who kept his child away from his biological mother.

"Aren't I here with my mother too? Father said I have two mothers and I prefer to be with Mother Soo Yin because she never scolds me," said Jo Yeon Ho with an innocent and honest face. He looked at Dae Hyun's face with moving eyelids.

'Ughh, why is it so hard for him to come home now?' Dae Hyun grumbled in his heart as his face getting darker. After the night where he was about to make love to Soo Yin. Dae Hyun didn't have the chance to sleep with his wife anymore because Jo Yeon Ho always wanted to be with Soo Yin before going to bed.

Soo Yin just smiled watching how her husband persuaded his son to leave the villa.

"Dae Hyun, when are we going to the restaurant? I can't wait to see it," said Soo Yin, who was a bit far away, to divert the conversation so her husband wouldn't bend his face.

"When Chang Yuan is done, I will definitely take you." Dae Hyun got up from his seat and walked over to Soo Yin who was busy moving flower pots.

"Honey, help me get Jo Yeon Ho back to UN Village," Dae Hyun whispered hopefully because Soo Yin didn't want to help him at all.

"So what? He still feels at home here so let him be," said Soo Yin casually. She didn't mind with Yeon Ho staying there at all.

"Be prepared, maybe you will become a young widow," Dae Hyun said while putting on a sour and frustrated face because he had run out of ideas on how to get Yeon Ho to give time for him to be with Soo Yin.

"What do you mean?" Soo Yin narrowed her eyes as her husband suddenly said such unnatural things.

"If I hold back my desire for too long, I can die," said Dae Hyun with a flat face.

"You're exaggerating. Just be patient a little longer," sneered Soo Yin as she glanced at her husband with pouting lips.

"You'd better go outside so you don't think about weird things.. You can also help Assistant Chang at the restaurant," Soo Yin shooed Dae Hyun to forget about his perverted thoughts.

