

"Honey, think carefully," said Aeri.

"If there's nothing else to talk about, I'd better go because I have business," said Dae Hyun as he stood up.

"Dae Hyun, why are you in such a hurry?" said Aeri.

"I have to go." Dae Hyun then stepped out of the house.

"Dae Hyun," called Aeri who was about to chase Dae Hyun.

"Aeri, just let your husband put his mind at ease first. He might still not accept that the girl lied to him." Mrs. Park prevented Aeri from chasing Dae Hyun.

"Okay, Mom," said Aeri who obeyed her mother-in-law's words. It didn't matter Dae Hyun wanted to go away for a while, the important thing was that Dae Hyun was now separated from Soo Yin. Now her toughest rival was no longer there.

oooooooo

Dae Hyun was driving his car, he just arrived in front of the campus to wait for Soo Yin. Today he will surprise her.

Dae Hyun's gaze accidentally saw Gong Yoo who was on the side of the road, leaning against his car.

"What is he here for?" Dae Hyun muttered. Slowly drove the car then parked on the side of the road right in front of Gong Yoo's car.

Dae Hyun then got out of his car. Walked over to Gong Yoo who was folding his arms across his chest. He wanted to teach him a lesson for saying something stupid yesterday about his relationship with Soo Yin.

"Hmm, what are you doing here?" Dae Hyun said without further ado when he was one meter away.

Gong Yoo turned to Dae Hyun but was silent because he thought Dae Hyun was asking someone else. They only met once when Dae Hyun picked up Soo Yin at his apartment. After that, Gong Yoo didn't remember anymore.

"Don't you hear me asking you a question?" said Dae Hyun who was getting annoyed with Gong Yoo.

"You're asking me? I thought you didn't," said Gong Yoo casually.

"Is there anyone else around here?" Dae Hyun started to get annoyed with Gong Yoo's attitude.

Gong Yoo remained indifferent and didn't care at all even though Dae Hyun had cursed incoherently. Until suddenly the man remembered something about Soo Yin. He then looked at Dae Hyun, wanting to remind him of something.

"If you don't have a relationship with her, it's best not to make the public assume something bad," said Gong Yoo flatly.

Dae Hyun frowned, not understanding what Gong Yoo was saying.

"What do you mean?" he immediately wanted to know.

"From now on, stay away from a girl named Soo Yin. She doesn't match up with a grown man your age," said Gong Yoo frankly. However, if you look at their age, they were not too far apart. Only 3-4 years away.

"What do you mean if she doesn't match with a grown man like me? Do you think she matches you better?" Dae Hyun said while clenching his fists because Gong Yoo's words were quite offensive to him.

"You should be self-aware. Because you are close to her, everyone is talking about her. You should clarify if the relationship between you is not true. Soo Yin has gotten into a lot of trouble because of that," explained Gong Yoo at length. Finally he had a chance to meet Dae Hyun.

"That's none of your business. Then why do you have to admit that you have a special relationship? You shouldn't say that because it will get Soo Yin into trouble," said Dae Hyun in a cold tone.

"I'm just trying to help her get out of trouble. She's too good to get hurt," said Gong Yoo as he put one hand in his pants pocket.

"Who the hell are you? So you dare to interfere too much." Dae Hyun glanced at Gong Yoo's face while chuckling.

"As you know I'm her boyfriend," said Gong Yoo lightly with the side of his lips pulled up to form a lopsided smile.

Dae Hyun clenched his fists with increasingly ragged breaths. His jaw seemed to tighten with eyes that were already fiery.

Bugh....

Without thinking, Dae Hyun then threw his fist at Gong Yoo's face with a fairly hard hand force.

"What do you mean?" Gong Yoo said while wiping his nose which was bleeding fresh blood.

"That's the result because you've made it up," said Dae Hyun while squinting his eyes.

Gong Yoo didn't accept it so he also retaliated by throwing his fist at Dae Hyun's face until the corners of his lips bleed.

"God damn it!" Dae Hyun cursed.

The two men eventually got into a fistfight in front of the campus because neither of them wanted to give in to each other.

The students who had left were now gathering as if they were getting a free show.

Soo Yin was still in class arranging her books into her bag. Lessons had just ended so she wanted to just relax after everyone was out. Although some students were still talking about her, it was not as loud as it was at the beginning. There were also those who sneered at her, while others didn't care anymore with a reason if that wasn't their business.

Now what made Soo Yin feel lonely was only one, Jae-hwa stayed away from her. Even though his attitude was still normal, Jae-hwa only talked as needed about lessons. There was no other talk other than that.

"Soo Yin!" exclaimed Hyo Rin who had just entered the classroom with a gasping breath.

"What's wrong with you?" Soo Yin said with a frown. Didn't understand why Hyo Rin was like being chased by demons.

"Soo Yin, let's go out now," said Hyo Rin, holding her chest so she could breathe calmly.

"What is going on?" Soo Yin said.

"Dae Hyun... I mean Mr. Dae Hyun is now outside," said Hyo Rin, who was still stuttering.

"Oh, let him be. He will definitely be patiently waiting for me outside," Soo Yin said casually. She thought something had happened so Hyo Rin followed her right.
