

"Actually Jean ... as you heard in the kitchen earlier that Jean is currently pregnant," said Soo Yin while stammering. She was nervous because Dae Hyun would definitely ask who had impregnated her.

"Hmmm, so that's why when I visited her house, she immediately threw up, she said she didn't like the smell of the perfume I was wearing," said Dae Hyun.

"Is that true?"

"Is the man willing to take responsibility?" Dae Hyun was still considering which man Jean was close to. Because he only knew Chang Yuan who was close to her.

Soo Yin shook her head slowly. She was sad to think about Jean who was always suffering.

"What a coward man!" Dae Hyun cursed.

"Who is that man? Let me take care of everything. If he still doesn't want to take responsibility, I will cut off his head," Dae Hyun said with a fiery tone.

Soo Yin shuddered to hear how Dae Hyun's words sounded so angry.

"Dae Hyun, don't be too emotional," said Soo Yin.

"I'm just annoyed, in this world there are men who are not responsible for what has been done. Tell me who it is? Let me come to see him tomorrow," Dae Hyun urged. As a man he shared the shame that such a man existed.

Soo Yin bit her lower lip. It was certain that if she said it, Dae Hyun would be furious.

"Honey, why are you silent? Did Chang Yuan do it? If it's true then I will visit his apartment right now," said Dae Hyun.

"No. I will say it, but can you calm down? Jean didn't really want you to know." Soo Yin sighed heavily before stating everything.

"Why can't I know?" Dae Hyun knitted his brows.

"Because you know the man very well. Jean doesn't want your relationship to be strained," said Soo Yin.

Dae Hyun was increasingly guessing who the man who had harassed Jean was.

"Say it quickly, don't make me more curious," urged Dae Hyun who was impatient.

"That man is actually Park Soo Hyun," Soo Yin said softly as she looked at Dae Hyun's face which immediately stiffened and darkened.

Dae Hyun felt a rock hit his chest very hard. It was as if he couldn't believe what he was hearing.

"So he did it? I can't let him go. Right now I'm going home and taking him to Jean's home." Dae Hyun had already stood up with angry eyes.

"Honey, calm down. Don't make a fuss at night like this. Besides, I've already met and talked to him. I hope he wants to listen what I said." Soo Yin held Dae Hyun's wrist as he was about to walk away.

"I can't. I have to beat him up because he's embarrassed the family for not being responsible for what he's done." Dae Hyun's hands clenched tighter, ready to throw his fist at Park Soo Hyun's face if they met.

Soo Yin immediately stood up and hugged Dae Hyun's waist from behind very tightly. She didn't want a commotion in the house at a time like this, especially Mrs. Park will definitely be in shock.

"Soo Yin, let me go. Let me beat him tonight," said Dae Hyun.

"I regretted saying that if I knew you would be angry like this. Can't you think calmly without emotion?" Soo Yin said as she loosened her grip.

"Go if you want your family to get into a commotion," added Soo Yin. Then climbed into bed and buried her face under the blanket. It was useless to persuade Dae Hyun who was very stubborn.

Dae Hyun's anger immediately faded after realizing his wife was sulking. It was hard for him to be angry when Soo Yin was acting like that.

Dae Hyun then climbed onto the bed following Soo Yin. He opened the blanket that covered his wife's entire body.

"Don't be angry anymore. I was just too emotional because I have an irresponsible brother. I'll obey you to leave tomorrow morning," Dae Hyun said while resting his chin on Soo Yin's arm who was lying on her side with her back to him.

"It's good that you realized that," said Soo Yin without turning her body.

Dae Hyun snorted, if his wife had behaved like this it would be very difficult to persuade. It should have been him who was angry now, but now it was the opposite.

"Let's eat. Weren't you hungry?" Dae Hyun invited to make the atmosphere comfortable again.

"I'm not hungry. My appetite is gone," said Soo Yin in a flat tone.

"If you're not hungry then I'd love to eat you tonight." Dae Hyun hid his head in Soo Yin's neck until she shuddered with amusement.

"Dae Hyun, don't bother me," Soo Yin said as she turned around and pushed Dae Hyun's body.

"That's the result of being indifferent." Dae Hyun sniffed Soo Yin's neck.

"It's also all your fault. I asked nicely but you're still emotional. Who wouldn't be upset," Soo Yin grumbled. She turned her body so that her position was supine.

"Okay, I'm sorry," Dae Hyun said sincerely. Then rubbed Soo Yin's stomach which was still flat. There was a desire to have a child again soon.

"When do we have it again?" Dae Hyun let out a long sigh, still regretting what happened a few months ago. Regretted for arriving late so that they had to lose their future baby.

"Hmmm, do you want to have another son already?" It didn't take long now that Soo Yin wasn't angry anymore. She gently stroked the top of Dae Hyun's head gently.

"Of course." Dae Hyun put his ear on Soo Yin's stomach until he heard a rumbling sound.

"Are you hungry?" Dae Hyun asked with a frown.

Soo Yin grimaced as she nodded her head.

"Let's have dinner first." Dae Hyun lowered his feet from the bed. Then lifted Soo Yin's body who was still lying down.

"What are you doing? I'm so hungry right now. Do you want me to starve to death?" Soo Yin said. She had thought badly that Dae Hyun would want to do what he wanted.

"Shut up, if you don't want to fall," said Dae Hyun who had carried Soo Yin's body out.

"Where are we going?" Soo Yin looked suspiciously at Dae Hyun.

"Of course eat. What are you thinking?" Dae Hyun smiled pervertedly realizing that Soo Yin must have been thinking about something else.

"Nothing," said Soo Yin with a face that was starting to turn red.

"I wonder what Park Soo Hyun said to you?" Dae Hyun wanted to make sure that his brother didn't go too far.

"He said he missed me," said Soo Yin honestly.

"He dared to say that to you?" Dae Hyun asked.

"Hmm, he also wondered why I suddenly wanted to meet him. I immediately said that he must be responsible for what he had done."

"Why didn't you invite me. If he dares to refuse then I could have beaten him," said Dae Hyun.

"I just don't want a commotion. Actually I'm very annoyed with Park Soo Hyun's answer who asked Jean to abort the baby."

"I'll make sure tomorrow he bends down in front of Jean to take responsibility," said Dae Hyun.