

Lin Yuzhen was put in spot.

It wasn't her first time experiencing this, and most of the employees in the company could deal with it.

Lin Group had to have its own rules in order to develop further, and everything had to go by the rules. That was one of the first things Jiang Ning said.

Nothing could be accomplished without rules.

If there were no rules and regulations, then Lin Group's development was just empty talk.

"Okay, then I'll come by the office in a moment," said Lin Yuzhen as she sighed. She picked up her chopsticks and continued eating, but she had no appetite.

"Mum, did you see that? Your daughter-in-law works hard as well."

Lin Yuzhen couldn't help ridiculing herself.

"What happened?" asked Su Mei as she gave Lin Yuzhen one pork rib. "I'll let you have just one piece."

"Just something at work," said Lin Yuzhen. She was already numb. Jiang Ning was Su Mei's true favorite, and she was her obsolete daughter.

Despite that, she found the pork ribs tasty.

“Lin Group does a lot of charity in the areas of culture, sports, and education. We want to help those who need help, but someone thinks that Lin Group is his ATM.”

This was Lin Group’s greatest difference from the other companies.

Lin Group was a money-spinner now, but as the owners of Lin Group, their family didn’t have much money.

Most of their profit was invested in charity, as well as market and company development.

Putting it simply, Lin Yuzhen wasn’t working hard for the money at all.

Money was just a material object.

Jiang Ning, the billionaire, said so.

“Did someone put you in a spot?” asked Jiang Ning. He placed the bowl of pork ribs in front of Lin Yuzhen and smiled as he said, “It’s the first time I’m hearing someone dare to make things hard for my wife.”

“It would have been easier if he were a scoundrel,” said Lin Yuzhen as she twitched her lips, “Would any of them dare to break Lin Group or Donghai’s rules? But he happens to be an elderly professor who used to teach me.”

“Lin Group doesn’t do backdoor deals,” said Su Mei.

Lin Yuzhen already made this clear. Many of their relatives wanted to get their children into Lin Group through her, but Su Mei rejected them all. They could only work in Lin Group on their own merit.

Lin Yuzhen didn't want an exception to be made.

"Mum, Yuzhen isn't like that. There must be a reason why she is put on the spot," said Jiang Ning as he smiled. "Tell me, see if your hubby can help solve it."

"This old professor specializes in archaeology. Recently, he has a project involving the excavation of precious historical relics, but he can't get the funding, so he came to Lin Group..." said Lin Yuzhen, "But our company evaluated the project and decided it wasn't within our scope."

If it wasn't meaningful enough, Lin Group wouldn't support it. After all, money wasn't easy to come by.

Lin Group was a huge company with thousands of diligent employees. She didn't build it for her selfish desires.

After Lin Yuzhen finished most of the pork ribs in her bowl, she burped and wiped her mouth with a tissue.

"I'm going back to the office. The professor keeps asking for me."

Lin Yuzhen knew that if she didn't go, the professor would keep waiting.

“I’ll send you there,” said Jiang Ning as he stood up and followed behind her.

Lin Group was different from other companies. Profit wasn’t its sole objective nor its priority.

They earned money in the hope that Lin Group could shoulder more social responsibility and help those that truly needed it.

To most other people, this was completely unimaginable and rather unbelievable.

But to Lin Yuzhen, this was her dream, and now, it was the dream of everyone who worked for Lin Group.

Jiang Ning drove Lin Yuzhen towards Lin Group's office.

"It's not the first time I'm running into something like this," said Lin Yuzhen. "But this professor is really admirable."

"Hubby, honestly speaking, I really want to help him. But we can't make an exception to the rules of the company, otherwise it will make things complicated in the future."

Rules, rules, rules. Lin Yuzhen always reminded herself of this word.

Rules formed the basis of Lin Group and was the foundation of Lin Group's expansion, so it could not be shaken just like that.

"Yup, I know." Jiang Ning smiled. "You're beginning to look the part now."

No matter what happened, Jiang Ning was always able to find the best part of Lin Yuzhen to compliment her and help her to build her confidence.

Lin Yuzhen held onto Jiang Ning's right hand. "Hubby, did you reap any rewards when you went overseas this time?”

“Yup. I’m more or less done with checking out the markets overseas, so Xiang Gao can prepare to make a move.” Jiang Ning had one hand on the steering wheel and held Lin Yuzhen’s hand tightly with the other. “Ceyranka is taking the initiative to cooperate with us, and we can agree to it. But we have to bite a piece of flesh off them. No need to be polite, go ahead and negotiate whatever terms you want.”

“Should I ask for a lot?” Lin Yuzhen couldn’t help but start laughing. “I keep feeling bad about it. I’m afraid that Amelia has other ulterior motives and her target isn’t Lin Group at all.”

Her eyes looked at Jiang Ning teasingly and it was clear what she was hinting at.

“Then you just have to stamp a seal on my body and announce to the whole world that I belong to you. Won’t that do?”

“How do I do that? Where?” Lin Yuzhen was stunned.

“I’ll teach you tonight when we get home.

Lin Yuzhen immediately understood what he meant. Her face turned red and she tugged at Jiang Ning’s hand. She wished she could bite his hand now!

This irritating fellow never missed a chance to tease her!

“I’m driving!” said Jiang Ning immediately.

Lin Yuzhen scoffed, but continued holding his hand anyway.

Even though she and Jiang Ning had already gone past that stage long ago, but she felt that every time they did it, Jiang Ning gave her a different feeling. That sensation...

Lin Yuzhen really couldn’t put a finger on it, and couldn’t tell anyone about it either. Even though the Legend of Shengcheng had tried to interrogate her on it, Lin Yuzhen didn’t say a single word about it.

When it came to this sort of thing, nothing else mattered as long as she enjoyed it.

By the time the two of them reached the office, most of the employees had already knocked off.

Jiang Ning parked the car and went upstairs with Lin Yuzhen in hand.

In the meeting room upstairs, an older man who was nearing 60 years old was seated with his back straight.

“Professor Lu, please have some water.”

Xiaozhao hadn’t knocked off yet. This professor refused to leave, so she couldn’t knock off either.

“Thank you, but I don’t need any. I’ll wait for CEO Lin.”

Lu Jing was very stubborn and stood his ground like a rock. He didn't even touch the glass and pursed his lips with a conflicted look on his face. If he hadn't reached a dead end, he didn't want to be like this either.

He had lived for so long and he had his pride too. But there were times where he had to choose money over pride!

Xiaozhao had no choice and wanted to persuade him otherwise. But when she looked at his stern face, she didn't say anything in the end.

DADADA!

A familiar set of high heels were clicking across the floor outside. Xiaozhao immediately ran out.

"CEO Lin!" She pointed at the meeting room.
"The stubborn old man is still inside!"

"Alright, you can knock off now." Lin Yuzhen nodded. "I'll talk to him."
