“That’s right. I’m in charge of everyone here. Punk, do you know what are the consequences of barging into this place?”

PAK!

Immediately after Hayson finished speaking, Jiang Ning slapped him hard across the face and Hayson fell to the floor from the impact.

The cigarette fell to the floor and sparks flew everywhere.

“You...” Hayson flew into a rage as he pointed at Jiang Ning and was about to speak, but Jiang Ning’s gaze instantly grew icy cold!

He felt as though someone had grabbed him by the throat and he was unable to move an inch.

“I just wanted to know if you were the one in charge,” Jiang Ning nodded. “I’m just notifying you now. Professor Luo Lin is coming with me.”

“You can forget about...”

“I said I’m notifying you, not negotiating with you,” said Jiang Ning. “If you have any objections, you can take those fellows into consideration first.”

He pointed at the men sprawled on the floor and Hayson immediately shut his mouth.

He didn’t want his limbs to be broken.

“Professor Luo, have you written your resignation letter?” Jiang Ning ignored Hayson and turned towards Luo Lin. When Luo Lin nodded, Jiang Ning said, "Good that you've written it. Let's go, Mrs Luo has already boarded the plane and she's waiting for you in China."

NH

"Ok! Ok!"

Luo Lin's breathing quickened at the thought of this. He could hardly believe that the man who left him that note at the cake shop that day could enter Tescon's office so easily.

He glanced at Hayson and hesitated for a moment. But he didn't say anything in the end and quickly left with Jiang Ning.

After Jiang Ning left, Hayson immediately stood up and made a call. "Men! MEN! What are all of you doing?! That fellow has taken Professor Luo away already! Hurry up and get them now!!"

At the same time.

Jiang Ning walked out with Luo Lin as if they were in an empty building.

The way out was smooth and nobody came out to block them at all.

Luo Lin could see several men in uniform slumped against the wall. Their heads were tilted and they were all unconscious.

"Those people..."

"They're just sleeping," said Jiang Ning.

NH

He went downstairs with Luo Lin and walked out of the building. A car reached the entrance just as they walked out.

“Big Boss!” Brother Gou wound the window down. “Everything’s been arranged!”

Jiang Ning nodded and opened the car door to push Luo Lin in.

“Professor Luo, whether we get our very own integrated circuit or not will depend on you.”

With that, Jiang Ning closed the car door on Luo Lin and Brother Gou sped off.

“Isn’t he...isn’t he coming along?!”

Luo Lin paled immediately. Jiang Ning didn’t get into the car?! Was he crazy?

Jiang Ning had removed him from Tescon by force, so Hayson would never let Jiang Ning off. Jiang Ning was practically sending himself to die!

“There are more things he needs to settle.” Brother Gou looked at the bespectacled and scholarly looking Professor Luo in the rear mirror and said very respectfully, “Professor Luo, I’ll send you to the airport first. Your flight has been arranged and it will fly straight to the capital. Someone will pick you up from there.”

“Then...then what about him?”

Luo Lin was still concerned about Jiang Ning. He didn’t want Jiang Ning to die just so he could escape from here.

“There are still a few more people we want to bring back with us,” said Brother Gou. “Big Boss has gone to look for them.”

There were some more people?

Luo Lin was stunned for a moment. He knew that there were several other experts in the field within Silicon Valley, but this place was a much darker place than it seemed, and it wouldn't be easy to poach anyone from here.

He was a good example of this. Jiang Ning had to practically kidnap him out of Tescon!

And Luo Lin was still having trouble understanding what just happened.

Meanwhile.

Jiang Ning was already surrounded by a few dozen people at Tescon's entrance.

A bright red palm imprint was still clearly visible on Hayson's face, and he was so angry that his teeth chattered.

“I don't care who you are, but you can forget about stepping out of this place alive!”

Hayson was like a lion that had gone mad.

He had never been so embarrassed before in all his years in Silicon Valley.

They were in Tescon, his own territory. But Jiang Ning had hit him in this building and even took Luo Lin away.

If word of this went out, he would lose all his reputation.

“Kill him!” Hayson flew into a rage and he was filled with murder.

All the men immediately took out their guns once Hayson gave these orders.

All the barrels of the guns were aimed at Jiang Ning and they were all about to pull the trigger!

But the expression on Jiang Ning’s face didn’t flinch.

He suddenly moved and he was as fast as the wind. He was too fast for anyone to react.

Before the armed men could pull the trigger, they felt a gust of wind hit them violently and their arms immediately felt a terrible pain before losing all feeling in their arms.

“AHH!!”

There were bloodcurdling screams all around!

BAM! BAM! BAM!

NH

Everything happened too quickly!

Hayson couldn't even see what just happened clearly and only saw that his men had been sent flying with a kick from Jiang Ning.

He was about to shout for more people when he felt something against the side of his head.

That icy metal feeling made Hayson's heart sink immediately.

KA!

That was the sound of the safety catch of the gun being released!

Hayson's face paled and he raised both arms.
"Don't move!"

He gulped and stood there like a wooden pole. He didn't dare to move at all.

"Don't...don't try anything funny!" said Hayson. "If you kill me, then there's no way you can leave this place!"

"Do you really think that these useless sacks of rice can do anything about me?" said Jiang Ning calmly. "Are you looking down on me? Or are you thinking too highly of yourself?"

Hayson didn't dare to speak.

He could feel his entire body soaking in perspiration.

NH

All the bodyguards who worked for Tescon were the among the best and they had all gone through very strict and rigorous training.

But in front of Jiang Ning, they were all like helpless children who couldn't even defend themselves!

"Who on earth are you?" Hayson took a deep breath and forced himself to calm down. "You're in Silicon Valley and you're in foreign territory! If you dare to make any trouble here, you will have to face very severe consequences."

Jiang Ning didn't seem to have heard Hayson's warning.

He was in foreign territory?

Nobody in a foreign country ever dared to make him stay when he was out on a mission, and everyone couldn't wait for him to leave.

If those big shots from the Third World heard what Hayson said, they would probably bite Hayson to death even if Jiang Ning didn't say anything!

"I just want to know about a few people."

Jiang Ning ignored Hayson's words and exerted a little strength in his fingers. The slight sound of the trigger being pulled back almost made Hayson stop breathing.

"Go ahead and ask!" he replied quickly.

NH

“Liu Zhiheng, Wang Ruikai, Wu Hongwei. Where are these three men?” asked Jiang Ning.

Hayson’s expression changed a little upon hearing these names. These men were all experts in integrated circuits and were all from China. And they were also forced to remain in Silicon Valley like Luo Lin was!

“I...I don’t...”

KA!

That crisp sound was the best form of warning!

Hayson paled even more and he felt like a hole was going to appear in his temples anytime now.

“You only get one chance,” said Jiang Ning. “If I’m not happy with your answer, then you won’t get a chance to ever speak again.”

Jiang Ning glanced coldly at all the men surrounding him and exuded a terrible and intense murderous aura.

In that instant, it looked like a sea of blood had risen from behind Jiang Ning.

The pressure this aura created made everyone feel like they were being suffocated.

Nobody knew how many massacres this man must have gone through in order to gather such a horrifyingly bloodthirsty aura!
