

The Hidden Billionaire Heiress (Lyra Melvin) Chapter 96

For the thing happened in the Freeman Manor last time, Sheila was still haunted.

Originally, she didn't think she would lose, which was why she was so arrogant in the bet.

Now that she really lost, she was just starting to get scared.

Because last time, they were at the Freeman Manor after all, the disgrace was only known by the servants who had signed a gag agreement.

If she was unhappy, she can just take it out on the servants. Who dared to discuss her disgrace?

But this time, if she had to kneel and kowtow to the bitch in front of so many outsiders, how would she be able to present in upper circles in the future?

It was impossible to kneel!

She hid behind Fiona and argued reluctantly, "It's just a joke. Why are you so serious!?"

Cody had his arms crossed and said sarcastically, "When you lose a bet, you make a scene. I didn't think the Freeman family is a bunch of cheeky things."

Fiona was puzzled.

After asking Sheila about what happened, she learned about the bet with Lyra and tried to muddle through with kind words.

"Lyra, be merciful. She is still young. How can a child's joke be valid? Besides, in front of so many people, how will others see her in the future?"

Lyra smiled and asked, "If I lose, will you let go the opportunity to humiliate me?"

Of course they would not!

Since this bitch got divorced and didn't take her seriously as her former mother-in-law, Fiona was desperate of fixing her!

But Fiona couldn't say that frankly.

She smiled gently and just opened her mouth, but was stopped by Sheila.

"How can this be the same? I'm the daughter of the Freeman family! Of course my reputation is more important than yours!"

After these words, Lyra completely turned grim.

"If you dare to make a bet, you have to be willing to admit defeat. Mrs. Fiona, you always talk about her being a child. Are you forgetting that Ms. Sheila is an adult and she is responsible for what she says!?"

Jackie said so and came down from the stage.

She stepped forward and continued to help Lyra, "If Ms. Sheila doesn't keep her bet and tries to make a scene, I'm afraid her reputation in upper circles will not be any better in the future."

of your

Fiona's arm and

come up and help her out,

a

and both of them looked like strangers to

looked the two back and forth

Sheila, however, blew up.

just now is not valid! I won't to push Cody away from the venue no matter what she

flashed in Lyra's eyes,

Lyra said so, Sheila had a bad feeling, when

"Oops!"

that she couldn't stand up but lunged forward, throwing herself on the ground in front

laughed out loud

was

sense to kneel and kowtow on her feet from above, and smiled, "Good girl, so obedient."

so much that she couldn't put any effort into them, and when her hands

smile cramp on

the participants were almost gone,

not offend the Freeman family, they

and annoyed, "Bitch! How dare you back-stab

she rushed to help to do so. By Sheila whose feet slipped, she also fell kind of you. Although I can accept it, no need resounded with Cody's

exploded and she glared up at say, "I advise you not to go too far! Stop

blinked, and her eyes

"Too far?"

cold, "But I don't think it's too far. After all, Miss Sheila hasn't knocked her head

she could react with that, something else

not endure the force. Then her head was lowered to

She hissed softly.

sound was so loud that it

head again, her forehead was comically red with a large

"Ahhhhhh!"

to go back

angry