

Scared - 18

Ava's POV

I sat like a statue listening to everything he had to say. I never meant to be like this ever, in my life all I've been through is pain.

đ

I lost my parents, I lost my job and now I'm getting kicked out of Carter's job and house. I'm not upset of that though... all that happened when I came to this house was unlucky for me.

"If you are not going to answer me then get out!" I kept all the pain for myself but suddenly without noticing what I was doing I let out a tear. Carter stopped and stared at me while I still kept my gaze at the wall in front of me.

I then let out a sob making him confused. I can feel myself shaking so I wrapped my arms around myself trying to protect me. He knelt in front of me coming nearer and nearer to me, I was terrified of him now. He moved my hair of my face on the left side which was covered all day slowly uncovering my face of bruises. I was shaking uncontrollably as to what he was going to do now to me.

When he got a glimpse of my face he gasped. I started crying in front of him. I let my emotions spill that have been within me since midnight. I really was petrified on what Carter was thinking, is he mad at me?

He raised his hand I flinched and closed my eyes waiting for the force to come but it never did. I kept my eyes shut for a few seconds and then opened them to meet with green eyes which held pity and sadness...

đ

"What happened to you?" He whispered. I didn't say anything. He sighed and spoke so ly. "Ava what happened?"

đ

I got up from my seat and walked to the bathroom but soon to be stopped and spun around by a hand on my arm, I cried when Carter caged me with his hands wrapped around my arms. "You need to tell me what happened Ava..."

All the memories from midnight rushed into me and I screamed, loud and with all my strength I pushed him off making him stumble a little. I started throwing stuff at him, like a lamp which he dodged and other stuff.

đ

I went into the bathroom slamming the door shut behind me and locking it, in a second banging was heard along with Carter telling me to open the door. But I was too lost in looking at my reflection in the mirror.

My hair was a mess, my whole body hurt. It broke my heart knowing that the person in the mirror was me. I got angry at looking at my face so I grabbed a curling iron that was left on the counter from yesterday and smashed the mirror with it hoping my disgusting reflection would go away, but it shattered everywhere and fell on me.

đ

I fell back on the bathroom floor and pulled my legs to my chest and cried loudly. Then the door flew open, revealing a worried Carter and Bina following behind. "Ava oh my god! What have you done to yourself?" Bina said running to me crouching down beside me and exclaimed my body.

"The glass cut your foot!" she gasped examining at my foot but I still never answered. I hugged Bina tightly, at the moment I wanted Noah with me. He is the only one that can calm me down now.

"I want Noah, please take me away from this hell!" with that I fell down to the ground closing my eyes shut but not before seeing Bina crying at me and Carter rushing towards me.

Then I fell into the darkness....

đ

Carter's POV

I rushed to her as she fell unconscious onto the ground. "Ava? Ava?" Bina shook her but no response. "Ava wake up." she tried again but it didn't work. I panicked and pushed Bina away, I shook Ava's shoulders. "Ava please wake up" her face all bruised up and her body as well. It pained to see her like this, something happened yesterday and I'm gonna find out what happened.

đ

After many tries of me and Bina trying to wake her up, Bina said. "Mr. Nicholson we need to get her to the doctors, her body is all damaged" I nodded. "Okay I'll carry her to her bed and you call the doctor, inform them about this." I explained and she ran out the bathroom to call the doctors.

I carried Ava to her bed. I placed her carefully on the bed covering her with the blankets,

I sat at the edge and stared at her. I wondered what had happened, she was fine this morning, however she was limping. She wouldn't speak at all to me, her attire was strange so I think whatever happened to her took place before that. The last place she had been to was that dinner with Asher, which ringed a bell in my brain.

Asher must have done this, didn't he? how dare he hurt her..... I'm going to investigate on this when Ava wakes up, all I care about now is Ava.

My thoughts got cut off by a voice. "Avee?" I looked at where the noise was coming from and immediately stood up shocked. "Carter where's Avee?" Noah came up to me and hugged my legs.

đ

Oh no...
