

BLACK PLAIN 365

Chapter 365: I Would Even Sleep With Her (18+)

"So, Minos Stuart, tell me what you want!" Abby said this with a resolute look on her face.

She honestly didn't have another point to bring up, to try to stop Minos from doing something, so she had used herself. She already knew him, and given his personality, trying to force him not to do what makes him happy would not be the answer for both of them.

On the other hand, Abby wanted to know what was on this young man's mind. Unlike other women Minos had interacted with, this young woman did not take relationships casually.

And seeing and hearing this, Minos was also serious at this point. Given the way Abby had spoken to him, it was clear that she thinks he saw her as replaceable, that if something better came along, she could be left behind.

And for almost anyone, that was an insult!

"I would never do something like leave the person I'm with to be with someone else, Abby. Do you think that if I get your approval, I'll walk out that door right away and go to Elena's room? Of course not!"

"I can fully respect your space. As long as you are with me, these private moments of ours will still exist, and I will not neglect you." He said as he approached the young woman with her shirt half-open in front of him.

Abby then asked, a little shaken as she followed the direction of Minos' eyes. "Will you truly do it?"

"Sure! I don't promise that I won't be interested in others, but in those particular moments, I won't think of others, and it will be just you and me." He said as he hugged Abby's waist and brought her to his chest.

"You better not break this promise!" She said, just before kissing him passionately, letting herself be carried away by the moment.

Now Abby felt warm, feeling secure about this strange relationship she had been having with Minos. And that feeling had filled the mind of this young maiden, making her even more attracted to the figure of the young Stuart.

"Mmm~"

And quickly, they were both naked, with him kneeling at the foot of the bed as he fervently licked Abby's little sister. This young woman was on all fours on the bed while she felt the majestic tongue of Minos explore her intimate part, making her feel intense pleasure.

"Ahhh~"

Gradually the two are satisfied, with Minos first taking proper care of his partner and then Abby doing the same to him. After that, the two of them lay on that bed, hugging and completely sweating, as they looked at each other.

She then said while having a dirty look in her eyes. "You can sleep with Elena. I won't mind as long as it doesn't interfere with our time together."

"Really?"

"Hmm, but..." Abby was saying when she suddenly stopped to gather courage, feeling her breath rise, when she finally continued. "But first, I want you to make love with me."

"Do you want..." Minos was talking, feeling stunned by his young friend's decision. 'Is she trying to mark territory with me?' He thought. "Abby, you don't need to do this if you're not sure. Just because Elena is here doesn't mean you need to move things ahead."

She then moved her head in denial. "No, I want you. I feel like I'm ready to take this step with you. I think I am..."

"I'm more than ready." She blushed deeply, feeling incredibly embarrassed now.

After that, Abby sat on top of the young Stuart, already holding his stick with one of her hands, trying to fit Minos' part into her body. However, upon realizing this, the young man only laughed when he stopped her from doing such a thing.

"That way, it would be more difficult for you. So, let me go on top of you."

After saying that, Minos quickly shifted position with Abby, leaving her lying on the bed, when he finally began his movement. He kissed her, first, and then he continued to lick the young woman's body, from her ears to her little sister.

"Mmmmm~"

Minos had stimulated Abby's pink nipples while continuing to massage the erogenous zones of her body with his skillful hands until he had adequately prepared the 'ground.'

"Mmmm~"

In doing so, he finally pressed his rod against Abby's slit when he stopped for a moment and looked into her eyes. "You're ready? Maybe it hurts a little."

"Hmm."

And when young Stuart began to penetrate his friend's body, Abby hadn't felt any pain. In fact, all she had felt was an immense pleasure, far greater than the times she had played with him.

This young woman's innate ability was preventing her from feeling any discomfort as if she internally wanted to make the most of this moment.

"Ahh~"

Quickly, the hip movements became more intense as the sounds of slapping flesh had finally begun to echo through that place.

Abby's celestial moans were also present, forming a unique symphony, which was gradually elevating the excitement of Minos.

Simultaneously to that, a bluish and almost imperceptible energy enveloped the private parts of the two while the piston movements became more and more intense.

"Abby~ You're amazing~ I've never felt like this~" He praised, feeling the effects of this young woman's body during their sex session.

"Mmm~"

Even though they were doing it intensely, it couldn't be said that the two of them acted like animals in heat. However, if someone looked closely, one would see two lovers experiencing their best moment, with expressions of happiness impossible to hide...

'I wish this moment never ended...!' Abby thought to herself as she felt her connection to Minos grow more and more intense.

"Mmm~"

After that, the two kissed and switched positions, making love for a few hours, until finally, the two had fallen asleep.

The two had wholly exhausted themselves that night as they took an essential step in their relationship.

...

At dawn in the Dry City, the pair of lovers had woken up even happier than the day before, feeling much closer to each other.

Abby was delighted with her decision to give herself to Minos. She seemed to have left the subject of this young man wanting to get involved with other women entirely behind in the past.

As long as she didn't have her time with him sacrificed or was forced to share him in bed, Abby would be fine. And because of that, even after the breakfast, where Elena was present, nothing had disturbed this young woman's good mood.

She had a slight smile on her face and looked as if all the weights on her shoulders had been removed.

Finally, the other women present in that room had noticed the difference in Abby, especially Eda. This experienced woman had noticed this the moment she had seen the expression on her young lady's face. However, nothing had been said. They would only talk about it at another time.

As for the others, only Dillian hadn't noticed. He was naturally not interested in his young master's sex life, nor was he thoughtful enough to see some signs...

Anyway, breakfast went well when finally the group divided, with most of them have left for their chores and Minos and Elena heading together to the public part of the mansion.

"I guess I can assume she doesn't have a problem with you dating others, right?" The young blonde asked with a smile on her face. She couldn't help but notice the dense female scent on Minos' body. It was amusing for her!

'Did she want to bother me with it? That would be cute. Little does she know that I would even sleep with her if she weren't so restricted...!' Elena thought to herself, with a naughty look on her face.

"Hmm, there will be no problems..." Minos commented, feeling quite fulfilled, for the night before. He hadn't thought he would have such a fantastic experience with Abby. At least not after what he had talked to her.

'Ahh, I don't understand the female mind...'

After that, he put that subject aside and went back to his business. He had arranged to go out with Elena at another time since now, Minos wanted to resolve the final matters of the military exercise, which would be held tomorrow!

"After midday, I'll stop by your apartment. Until later." Minos told her.

"Hehe, I'll be waiting for you..."