

BLACK PLAIN 60

Chapter 60: Attacking the Yellow City 2

In a busy part of Yellow City, there was a large building with three floors and several people entering and leaving it. This was a trendy place among the bandits and some men in this city.

This was an establishment specializing in providing 'services' to men... In addition, these individuals could still order food and drink in this place while watching a beautiful 'presentation.'

Because of these characteristics, this nightclub was widely accepted among the gang members. This was a way for them to release their day-to-day stress and continue to focus on their goals.

At that moment, while a young girl 'acted' on the main stage of the nightclub, a group of three men was comfortably seated in the seats closest to the performance while enjoying a lot of food and drink.

When one of them took the initiative and said. "Brother Dane, you should try beautiful Lynn. She has a way of moving, which can make you go 'crazy'!"

One of the three men, with long red hair, who was called Dane, smiled and said. "Haha, maybe I will do that today. With chief Gul out of town, I'm off duty until he comes back. So, I will make the most of this time to try new 'flavors'..." He said with a perverted smile on his face.

"Haha, Brother Dane is really rich. Even if I had free time, I couldn't pay for more than one girl!" The other man, who was with the group, said with an envious expression on his face.

...

At the same time, the third attack group was properly mixed around that nightclub. They were ready to start at any time.

"We have already counted the enemies. They are about 40 criminals, who are between levels 40 and 41. Take care during this attack. There are many innocent people in this place!" One of the Sergeants in this group passed the information on to those below the 5th stage in a low voice.

They subdivided this group into smaller groups, which soldiers led from the Sergeant's hierarchy. They had decided that using a murder strategy would be more effective, as there would be many problems if they started an open fight here.

The enemies were also in a more vulnerable situation in this type of environment. They naturally let their guard down more. Not to mention that many of them were on drugs and/or having fun with some girl.

In this way, the group planned to 'neutralize' each of the bandits little by little, trying to get as little attention as possible.

"Come on, pretend to be having fun in that place, but observe your targets. Remember, all these thugs have a tattoo of a human skull with horns on their hands." One of the soldiers, who was at level 40, said seriously.

They did not want to make any improper impression on the citizens of Yellow City. If that happened, the plan to lure them to the Dry City could fail, and the whole operation would be wasted.

But not only that, but they would also end up exposing themselves to people who would have no intention of helping them and might even try to harm them.

In this way, absolutely no one, but the criminals, could be killed for the actions of Minos' soldiers.

As for the bandits, they have worsened the quality of life of the ordinary inhabitants of this city to a great extent. Not only that, because of the plundering of these individuals against merchants, the supply of imported items had declined significantly within the Yellow City.

And even some items of basic necessity, such as food, were in short supply within the city, which increased the prices of these products considerably.

That way, if someone came and exterminated this group of parasites, no one in the city would be bothered to seek justice. And not only that, the inhabitants of the Yellow City would certainly be very grateful for this good deed.

...

Anyway, it didn't take long and all the soldiers of the Black Plain Army, who were in the third group, entered the nightclub in question. Each small group entered separately, giving a certain interval between the next.

By doing this for a few minutes, finally, all the smaller teams managed to enter the building without attracting the attention of curious eyes.

Upon entering the place, they soon realized how 'different' this place was. There was a strange smell in the air, which could cause the animalistic instincts of many men to emerge.

The decor was also extravagant, giving an air of eroticism and lust. But that was not all. The waitresses of this place wore only underwear, which was extremely short, to the point that someone who paid attention could see certain 'details' of these beauties.

This was also a strategy of this place to incite customers!

'Fuck! In our Dry City, there is nothing like this...' One of the soldiers sighed inwardly. Many of them were single and young, so...

Time passed, and each group was divided into different parts of the nightclub, taking into account, of course, the strength of the people present in this place.

From there, they would begin to identify and observe their targets. As for when to act, it would depend on the vulnerability shown by each bandit and whether the soldiers in question could maintain the privacy of what they were doing.

"I'm saying, Grace, is so tight that you are going to come in a few minutes! Believe me. She is the best in this club..."

"Astrid, let's go to a room..."

"Mmmm ~"

While one of the groups observed one of the targets, several comments could occasionally be heard from different customers in that place. The sounds of kisses and fast breathing could also be heard among them.

"Jake! Pay attention now. Let's start following this guy who's taking this red-haired woman." The team leader said while he watched the young Corporal, who seemed much more interested in this place than he should do...

"I'm sorry, Sergeant. I lost my attention for a minute, but I won't make this mistake again!" Jake said, with a completely red face.

"Come on."

Then the group followed from a safe distance, the bandit accompanied by a red-haired woman. It was not long before the couple arrived in one of the rooms available on the second floor of the building.

After that, the couple quickly started their activity, while Minos' soldiers approached the place smoothly, paying attention to each action of those two.

"Ohh ~"

Slurp!

Finally, after a few minutes, when the thug was getting a blowjob from the redhead woman, the group decided to act!

At that point, the criminal was lying in bed while the beautiful ginger was kneeling beside him, doing her job.

When the man was almost 'there,' three men appeared out of nowhere on the spot. One pulled the red-haired woman off the bed, while the other two acted decisively.

One of the strongest soldiers used a dagger that was about 15 centimeters long directly on the bandit's chin, which was also intended to prevent him from screaming. And another soldier, the weaker one, used another dagger of the same type as the other to hit the criminal's heart.

'What?'

The bandit exclaimed when a jet of sperm came out of his rod and, at the same time, he felt the attack approaching him!

But it was too late for him to do anything. He just realized that he would be killed a split second after having his orgasm...

At that moment, a strange image could be seen in the room. A jet of white liquid flew upward while two daggers impaled the bandit.

Upon realizing what was happening, the beautiful young ginger wanted to scream in fright, but her mouth was being sealed by the soldier who had previously removed her. 'Oh! Shit, I hope I'm not involved...' She thought as she started to get red eyes.

After all, witnessing a murder like this was not a good thing anywhere!

The rule for this type of action was precisely to kill all the witnesses! There was no perfect murder, so the best way to kill was not to act cautiously but to act decisively!

It didn't take long, and the criminal lying in bed stopped breathing. "He is dead. Take this guy's items, and let's get on with our mission." The sergeant in the group said in a low voice.

He then looked at the beautiful woman who was completely naked and said. "Young lady, don't worry, we won't do anything wrong with you, as this murder won't be a secret anytime soon."

"But we will have to lock you up in this room until we finish our mission. All right?" He said while avoiding looking at the young ginger's beautiful pink nipples.

"Mm, I understand." She said while handing a pair of keys to the soldier who had spoken to her.

After that, the group locked the beautiful redhead in that room and looked for new targets.

...

Almost an hour had passed since the group of soldiers had started the attack on this nightclub. Most of the groups had faced situations like the previous one, in which they killed their enemies in a very discreet way.

However, specific bandits have managed to defend themselves from the surprise attack in some cases. Because of this, some small battles broke out in different parts of the club.

But that was all. None of the 40 criminals managed to escape since being able to defend themselves from the surprise attack was already an outstanding achievement for them.

After that, even the strongest of these bandits failed to defend themselves from more than five attacks by the soldiers of the Black Plain Army.