

BLACK PLAIN 634

Chapter 634: Reasons

"We will ask some of the soldiers from that post on the wall to come over here and get these people." Terry said as he looked to the side, where there was a structure surrounded by steel bars, where several people were.

"Hmm, I'll do that as soon as possible." One of them said, just before walking away from those other two Sergeants.

Meanwhile, those two people continued talking and observing the people incarcerated in that temporary camp.

"Sergeant Terry, what do you think of this Brown family group? Will this create even bigger problems for the army?"

Terry then shook his head in disagreement. "No. After all, this group coming here means that we are still in a scenario where the Brown family will not send troops to take this place any time soon."

"Oh?"

"As the young master has planned, it is much better the royal family finds out about this place only after we request independence..." The two then continued to talk about this while waiting for their next shift, when they would have to circulate in that area again.

What they were talking about had to do with why Minos had sent his request for independence to the Brown family before this organization could even come knocking on their door.

Minos had decided to do this because he believed that the consequences of the Brown family finding out about the changes in the Black Plain through them would be much better for Dry City.

As long as he could ask for independence before the Silva family contacted that family about the threat in this young man's region, the situation could be less harmful to Minos' side.

For this ruler, if the Brown family knew what was happening in the Black Plain through the Silva family, this royal organization would come all out against him, already with the excuse of a rebellion or something like that. And this would be terrible for Minos since from then on, there would be no more alternatives or plans that could delay a conflict of his against such power!

On the other hand, if he communicated to the royal family that he was interested in aiming for the independence of the Black Plain, there were two possibilities for him.

One option would be for the king to simply grant the Black Plain independence, after which they would most likely have a lot of trouble claiming that Minos had cheated them. After all, when a state became independent, one of the first things that happened was alliances with other royal families and large organizations.

At the very least, there would be external recognition of such a state as an independent one.

And once this was done, it would be much more challenging to go back and try to justify a war against a rebel...

That is, royal families would need a minimum of justification to act, or terrible things could happen... So, this first option would be perfect for Minos!

But this young man knew that this would be extremely unlikely. Hence, he expected that the second alternative was the one that would actually happen.

The second one was that the Brown family would send a group to investigate the reasons for the request for independence.

In such a scenario, he could buy some time before being called a rebel by the local royal family, something that would undoubtedly be beneficial to him.

Not only that, if the royal family found out about the local changes because of him, then the chances that this power would try to negotiate before declaring him a rebel would be great!

House Brown would probably try to get this young man to pay a large share of his earnings in taxes and be guaranteed to continue being the ruler of these lands. With that, Minos could negotiate with them for a while until finally, the other side would lose patience and do what they had to do.

And in this option, even if the Silva family communicated to them about the strangeness in Dry City, it wouldn't change the situation much. That's because if Minos were negotiating with them, then the Browns would probably try to achieve their interests in a less costly way than a war against a rebel.

For that, Minos had sent that earlier letter, something that he hoped would have more positive results than negative ones!

Anyway, soon those two soldiers finished talking about it and headed towards the quiet lands of that part of the Black Plain.

'Time to get back to work!'

Quickly two days passed...

At this moment, the sun was at its peak in the Dry City, while Minos took advantage of the break he had from work at this time of day to enjoy a few minutes with one of his sexual partners...

This young man had become much more 'energetic' after reaching the 6th stage of cultivation, making him more able to satisfy all those women daily.

Hence, he had understood a little more how some individuals could have so many women, despite the limited number of hours in a single day.

Time was relative, and with more power, one could more efficiently use every passing second...

So, he had become much better at this management of his time and could satisfy himself and his partners in less time than he would usually have needed before.

But don't get it wrong, less time doesn't mean worse. That was nothing more than an increase in quality, which could decrease the time needed to achieve remarkable experiences for all partners...

But of course, if he wanted to spend the whole day doing this, all he had to do was to decrease the intensity a little, and anything would be possible, even considering that some of his partners didn't have bodies as resilient as his.

And as such, this young man was finishing doing that at this very moment while drilling Mendy's wet cave!

"Ahhhh~"

"Ahhh~ That way, you're going to break me~"

"Ahh~ I'm cumming~"

Moans of pleasure resounded through that room that Minos and Mendy were in at the moment, as this woman stood still, her legs trembling, and he did all the work...

"Mmmm~"

Finally, Minos kissed her in heat, at the same time, as the two of them reached there once again, while she was below and he was on top, facing each other.

Squirt!

At that instant, Mendy's flower could no longer stand the intense sensation in its inner and outer walls when suddenly a remarkable amount of nectar flowed from it.

"Ohh~"

Meanwhile, Minos filled the womb of that woman below him while his rod trembled still inside that moist cave.

Then, after looking at Minos' face for a few seconds, Mendy said something, still feeling pleasure from the previous act. "Hah... Hah... You turned into a beast after reaching level 50!"

Upon hearing that, Minos saw the naughty smile on Mendy's face and grinned.

It was always great to know that his sex partner enjoyed the experience as much as he did. So, he couldn't help but smile back at her as he slowly pulled his rod out of her.

Soon he stood upright next to Mendy, leaving the woman in a prime position for her to see his younger brother, which was contaminated with the fluids of both of them.

She then moved from that spot and said quickly. "Hmm, let me clean it..."

Upon hearing this, Minos just closed his eyes and let that woman do this service, satisfying him even more.

He then used one of his hands to hold Mendy's beautiful hair while he began to think about some serious matters.

'Earlier tomorrow, I will have to go to the City of Waters to sign those agreements with Mendy's father and the supreme elder of House Hayes... But before that, I think I'd better examine on this matter of the royal guards that comes from the capital.'

'What is the Silva family doing?'

'Ahh, it's a pity that my army has such small numbers... Otherwise, I could already have some spies watching each of these local noble families...'

'But since I can't do that, I'm forced to stay acting in the dark. That is truly a problem...'

'There's nothing to do... I will see with the Miller family what is going on and then decide what to do about this matter later on.'

"Ohh~"

"Hehe, you like it, huh?" Mendy took the big 'lollipop' out of her mouth and said that as she looked at Minos.

"Sure... Who wouldn't want to be in my place?"

"Hehe."

"But anyway, since we're done here, I won't see you until tomorrow morning. But don't delay. I want to be back here before dark."

"Fine."
