

BLACK PLAIN 813

Chapter 813 Priority (*)

"Vivian and the one other person who accompanied her here will soon finish the one-year period that they had to stay on the Black Plain." So, Minos said to the people there in that office.

"Then, we should be nearing the time of their departure and the arrival of the next two individuals who will be here for the next year."

Minos' agreement with that family from the Cromwell Kingdom foresaw that House Hayes could send five people to the Black Plain over three years. Those people sent here would have to stay at least 12 months in Dry City while learning Silver-grade techniques and fighting for this place.

As such, Minos was considering this shift exchange of his allies, planning to make the best use of it.

At first, he would have to do something similar with the members of the Miller family. Still, due to the war, the situation of his agreement with his girlfriend's noble house had changed.

But the situation was different for House Hayes.

After all, House Hayes was an organization of the Cromwell Kingdom, which had not yet become directly involved in the conflict on the Black Plain.

That is, some noble families of that state were already acting independently. Still, the royal family itself had not yet joined the battles nor ordered confrontations of its vassals against Minos.

So, the Hayes family had not needed to act as an internal spy, as in the case of House Miller.

Therefore, Vivian's family did not have to pretend to be an enemy of Minos and have 'their dead' sent to Dry City. PANDA-NOVEL.COM

Anyway, that difference between these two powers made Minos' original contract with them preserved.

"Let's ask the Hayes to send powerful fighters this time," Minos said as he highlighted this most critical point in this matter. "Since things are developing dangerously, let's increase power on the Black Plain before the royal forces from the other states arrive!"

The Counter-Revolutionary Statute had already been activated, and reinforcements for the Brown family were already on their way to the Black Plain. Considering this, Minos already wanted to prepare for the next 2 to 4 months, when his enemies would finish arriving in his territory.

At that time, it would be best if he had maximum power on the Black Plain!

"So, that's it..." Dillian understood Minos' motives, feeling that there was a need to emphasize such a thing to the Hayes family.

Joey then nodded and said. "All right, young master, I'll take care of it."

After that, Dillian and Joey said goodbye to Minos and Abby, going their separate ways. One went to the local government mansion, and the other went back to the headquarters administrative area.

As for Minos and Abby, they continued in that same place as before.

"Sigh... It's a pity that things are so tumultuous lately..." Abby said to Minos right after sitting on her boyfriend's lap. "We barely have time to ourselves recently." PANDA NOVEL

"Hmm, it's frustrating..." Minos said as he smelled the sweet scent of that young woman's blue hair.

These two still maintained their couple activities whenever they were in Dry City. But with all the war problems, the two of them had to leave this place, going to fight on battlefields around the Black Plain.

One of them was a monster who could very well improve the army's results significantly just by his presence on the battlefields. But, on the other hand, the other was a powerful defense for the army's low-level Spiritual Kings.

With that, they were spending less time together. Even when they were in Dry City, it was becoming difficult to maintain their previous routine.

There was no way they could take more of their time to have fun in bed...

As such, the couple's routine of having sex two or three times a day had been broken for months!

And the fact that Ruth had left a few weeks ago did nothing to help their situation.

This young woman had left the Black Plain right after reaching level 53, something that had happened just over two weeks ago.

They had gotten used to practicing their activities together, having Ruth's presence at other times in their daily lives. So, it was undeniable that they now missed her. And even though the sex was as remarkable or even more impressive than before, this absence did not help their unusual situation. ~~~~~

With that, they could not help but lament.

Anyway, Minos then used one of his hands to feel his girlfriend's stunning body, feeling his younger brother grow a few inches in his pants. "Why don't we enjoy this moment?" He whispered into one of Abby's ears.

"Are you sure?"

"What about Dry City?"

"Eda, Mirya, Viola, Eduard, Ernest, Grace, Elena, and many other Spiritual Kings are here to solve any minor problem..." He said as he named some of the experts in this city at present.

Mirya and Ernest had not increased their level in this period. Still, both were very strong, level 53 and 52, respectively, and were close to their long-awaited breakthrough. On the other hand, Grace and Elena had achieved such a thing in recent months, both having reached level 52.

And in addition to these Spiritual Kings with Silver-grade techniques, there were a few dozen experts in this city, either allies or subordinates of Minos.

Because of all this strength, that young man could not help but rely on these people so that he could have a few minutes with his girlfriend.

"Come on... It won't take long, and if anything urgent happens, someone will come to get in our way..." He said this as his hands quickly unbuttoned Abby's clothes.

Gulp!

Feeling the warmth of her companion, Abby swallowed her saliva in anticipation, sensing an unusual warmth emerge from the depths of her being.

Then, her pupils dilated, and her respiratory rate began to increase as her hands moved without her noticing, going toward Minos' lower parts.

"I think it's okay for us to be oblivious to our responsibilities just for a few minutes..." She said as her breathing became more noticeable to young Stuart.

"Of course!" Minos commented in a soft tone. "We can even consider it as training!"

"After all, resting, relaxing, that is, ensuring the best physical and mental conditions for the sake of war is also our responsibility!" He said as he justified his actions.

"You're right!"

After that, Abby sat on Minos' lap facing him, feeling the extraordinary volume pressing against her lower parts, when justly the two started kissing like animals in heat.

"Mmmmm~"

As the two tasted each other's love, lost in the momentary sensation they were experiencing, Minos' hands were already massaging two soft peaks.

'Ah, the twins... My favorites!' A funny expression formed on Minos' face as he felt the arousal of his girlfriend, who was restraining herself from moaning on account of his touches.

"Mmmmm~"

As they parted their lips, Minos finally began to suck one of the two peaks with pleasure, feeling that the two days he had gone without touching those little beauties had been too much.

'I have to deal with these damn enemies as soon as possible! Those bastards are getting in my way!' He thought in good humor, feeling that he should work on his 'priority.'

PANDA-NOVEL "Ahhh~"

After a while, the couple had finally finished their previous action, having enjoyed the intense 40 minutes they had spent together.

And upon finishing that, they went their separate ways, as they both had other responsibilities to fulfill at the moment.

With that, the couple that had just been on fire parted with smiles on their faces, refreshed to continue their stressful routines.

And as he headed to his mansion, Minos was thinking about how he should get revenge on the people who got in the way of his peaceful life.

'Those damned Reids will pay heavily for standing in my way without any justification!'

'I can be reasonable with the enemies I created myself, but with crazy people, there is no forgiveness!'
