

BLACK PLAIN 857

Chapter 857 Kara's Visit

After some time, Minos and Abby had finished the previous activity, both happy as never before, with smiles hard to disappear from their faces.

Especially the blue-haired woman, who now had one of her hands holding one of Minos' while the other was gently massaging her own belly...

But soon after finishing that, the two did not take long to put their clothes back on, as they could not afford to stay around, enjoying the moment.

They both had their responsibilities to thousands of people. As such, right after they finished their things in that training room of the headquarters of the Black Plain Army, they headed towards the exit, towards the administrative part of that complex.

However, as they walked side by side out of that room, still smiling, upon opening the door, they both came across a soldier, who was politely waiting for them.

"Young master, we have a situation in the outer surroundings of the defensive dome." That individual said this just after making a gesture greeting both Minos and Abby.

The news he was bringing was important but not urgent. Precisely because of this, he had patiently waited in this place for almost an hour so as not to disturb the 'training' of these two...

Obviously, young Stuart and his girlfriend were discreet, even though they did their activities almost anywhere with minimal conditions... So, almost no one in this organization knew about these things.

Hence, that soldier was only waiting so as not to interrupt the training of his leader, the strongest individual in this organization.

If other things had happened inside that room, there was no way that people outside could find out about it due to the arrays present in that place.

Anyway, upon hearing such words right after opening the door of that room, Minos frowned his eyebrows and looked intently at that individual. "What happened?"

While Abby was also paying attention to that soldier, he answered Minos' question. "Young master, about an hour ago, a redheaded woman, level 51, who called herself Kara Carline and claimed to come from the Flaming Empire, was stopped in the vicinity of the dome."PANDA-NOVEL.COM

"She asked to meet with the young master."

Upon hearing this, Minos and Abby's eyes lit up, both understanding that this must be Ruth's doing.

After all, even if Minos had had a good relationship with Kara before, that would not be enough for her or her brother to ignore the fact that he was now fighting the Carline family.

Therefore, there was no reason for Kara to come to Dry City alone.

House Carline had just begun to fight against Minos. So, they definitely would not have asked this woman to come to this place to negotiate with young Stuart.

That would not make sense!

That way, she could only have come here on her own, most likely following some advice from Ruth!

"So, that's it..." Minos smiled, remembering his girlfriend, who was now in the Flaming Empire. "Where is she now?"

"After being approached by one of our groups, she did not agree to have her spiritual cultivation sealed. But, she agreed to wait for the young master in one of the cells at the south exit of the wall."

Like the local prison, the wall, with the only difference being the numbers, had cells that prevented the use of spiritual energy within them.

Such cells were somewhat different from the necklaces usually used to seal cultivators' spiritual cultivation. PANDA NOVEL

Instead of sucking the target's energies and preventing him from cultivating, as happened with the necklaces, the cells only interfered with the use of spiritual energy.

Such cells were more practical when trapping many people without having to suck out their energies, as was the case with those more individual arrays.

But the cells also separated the inside from the outside, creating an effect that whoever was inside could not act, but whoever was outside could not send spiritual attacks into it.

In other words, it was a safer method for the detention of individuals that did not have to be weakened and temporarily exposed to the other side's wishes.

That was why Kara had accepted such a thing instead of the typical necklaces used to seal off the cultivation of its targets.

"All right. I'll go over there." He said just before saying goodbye to his girlfriend and accompanying that soldier back to the southern exit of this city.

After some time, Minos finally arrived at the place where Kara was waiting for him.

There was a large cell with totally black bars in that place where she was.

PANDA-NOVEL Someone who looked at it carefully would see small streams of colored energy interconnecting each point of the bars as if they were a kind of microscopic net.

But because the luminosity was considered good, provided by some windows on the side facing the interior of the defensive dome, it would not be easy to notice such a thing. PANDA NOVEL

On the other hand, because this was not a dark place, upon arriving at that place, Minos effortlessly saw the beauty of the woman sitting in a lotus position inside that great cell.

'It seems that she has become even more beautiful...' Minos thought about this as he looked closely at Kara's face and then at her body.

As Minos stared at her, Kara soon sensed his presence, immediately leaving her previous state to observe him intently.

"Minos?"

'Wow!'

'What a big change!' She thought about it as she looked up, still sitting the same way as before. 'He looks much stronger physically...'

'His vitality seems to have increased much more than it should, and I can see his maturity is on another level!'

She then clasped one of her hands and took a deep breath, soon after stood up while running one of her hands through her hair. "Looks like your decision not to go to the Flaming Empire was premeditated, huh?" She complimented him, looking directly into Minos' brown eyes.

Hearing this, Minos smiled. "It's good to see you, Kara."

"How are you doing? Are things going well for you in the empire?"

"Not as well as they are for you here in the northern region, I suppose..." She commented as she smiled back at him. "It seems you have a lot of plans..."

"Some of them are quite ambitious!"

"So, that's it?" Minos asked. "You came all this way to talk about my plans?"

Kara's eyes sparkled as she felt her heart leaping in her chest. "Originally, that was not my goal..."

"But the stunning news I read changed my goals slightly."

"Is that so?" He asked while already opening that cell to allow that woman to leave that place.

After that, she moved a little closer to him, finally feeling the extent of Minos' level, which was now very close to level 53.

'It's true...'

'He's completely overcome our differences!' So, she thought, remembering that she was four levels above this young man at that time.

She then listened. "I would prefer you to be here just to visit a friend..."

"Sigh..."

"What will you do if you don't accomplish your goals here?" He asked, slowly walking over to Kara and then holding her shoulders.

Sensing this, Kara immediately realized that it was no match for Minos, just as she had inferred from reading the regionally published news reports.

Gulp!

'So strong!'

'I can't even move...!' She thought about this, feeling even more attracted to the young Stuart.

As she felt her body temperature rise, this woman used one of her hands to pinch herself and not get carried away by her own volatile personality.

Kara was a young woman who knew what she liked. And besides her brother, what turned her on the most in a man was strength, personal power, how impressive such an individual was.

And Minos perfectly fulfilled those parameters she liked so much in her sexual partners.

'Breathe!'

She tried to think calmly, looking at the problem to be solved, rather than the person right in front of her, who she wanted to lie down with.

Gulp!

"I obviously won't do anything."

"We're friends, and besides your war against the Brown family, I'm a member of the Gray Cloud Sect right now."

"But that doesn't impede us from trying to solve this problem peacefully, without my family and your organization losing any more than they already have." She said, feeling Minos' hands decrease in strength.
