

BLACK PLAIN 860

Chapter 860 Minor Manipulation (*)

After an hour of intense pleasure, Minos and Kara were completely sweaty, with this woman on top of him, both still connected.

She had some parts of her beautiful body reddened, with some spanking marks, something she had asked Minos for. In addition, her hips were still moving frantically, as if she were a love machine.

As for the young Stuart, he was still feeling his younger brother being continually pressured by Kara's little sister while sucking one of her breasts, satisfied with her proportions.

While doing this, he had one of the fingers of one of his hands stimulating Kara's second hole, which this woman particularly liked immensely.

"Ahhhhh~"

"Ahhhh~"

Amidst the action of the two, Kara moaned heavenly, feeling like she was on cloud nine as she reached her eighth orgasm with Minos.

Minos was quite experienced in bed, something he had achieved after sleeping with several different women over a long period, several times a day. Combined with his natural physical strength and the intelligence to use context to his advantage, he had once again managed to make a great impression on a new sexual partner.

It would be hard to tell how much Kara had enjoyed this. Still, from her reaction, gestures, and looks, this young man knew that she was feeling things beyond the ordinary, perhaps even new sensations.

With that, he was also pleased, not only because the experience was more enjoyable this way, but because he knew he would get Kara's attention in the future.

Obviously, human beings were rational and partly able to control their instincts. But for this to happen, the differences between certain situations, or decisions, would have to be significant. Otherwise, one would hardly make the less pleasant decision in the short term for something not so better in the long term.
.pANDA-NOVEL.COM

If the differences were not significant, many would instead take the risk of losing a small fraction of what they had, as long as it had an immediate benefit than wait for a long time to get something slightly better.

And it was something of the sort that Minos thought he could get with Kara.

For her, it would definitely be more pleasurable to be able to maintain good relations with him, and for that, she would only need to convince her family to take momentary losses.

And as bad as that sounded, a terrible choice to make, perhaps even a betrayal, that was not the case when considering that her family would surely face worse outcomes by not following that path.

Her family could withdraw from the war and accept some punishments, which would hurt, but which would be overcome in a few decades or centuries. But they could choose the reverse of that, continue in the war, and undoubtedly many of their members or vassals would die.

After all, even if they didn't know about the future, the might of the Black Plain was already known to all, and it was virtually sure that the end of this conflict in the Brown Kingdom would not come cheaply.

Minos had told her that, but he did not even need to.

Kara knew it, the regional kings knew it, everyone knew it.

The results were there for anyone to analyze!

So, even if the action of acting in favor of Minos for something so trivial would perhaps be considered treason in other circumstances, that was not the case here. PANDA NOVEL

Minos was, yes, manipulating Kara's intentions to make her take a more favorable view of him and the Black Plain. But this was not to the point where he could make this woman betray her family just for sex.

The current circumstances had made the process easier, and the pleasure she was feeling from riding young Stuart's rod was just one positive that tipped the scales in his favor.

As for Kara's having libertine behavior, that was something else that made everything more manageable, but not the main point.

Minos understood that human behavior depended on many variables, and with that in mind, he used what was at his disposal to achieve his goals.

If this could be done by lying down with a beautiful woman, he would do it with a smile on his face.

So, Minos was satisfied at that moment when he finally filled Kara's womb once again.

"Ohh~"

As young Stuart made a distinct sound, Kara also reached her limit when her body shook vigorously, and her eyes moved in a way unforgettable for him.

"Ahhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh~" A long, celestial moan came from that woman's throat as she felt the weakness suddenly appear in her body, causing her to fall on top of Minos slowly.

"Hah... Hah... Hah... That was... Impressive... Hah..." She said while having her eyes closed, whispering to him. ρ??∫??????

"Haha, it truly was..." Minos agreed, feeling his little brother coming out of Kara's wet cave.

Pa!

He slapped her lightly.

"Ahhh~"

"You're pretty sensitive, huh?"

Hearing this, she just ignored him as she settled into his arms.

'I think this is one of the best experiences I've ever had...' She thought about that as she looked over to the side of that room where the cell from before was.

As she did so, a feeling of guilt grew in Kara's heart. 'Oh, god...'

'Was that so good because of how wrong it was?' She wondered, thinking about her forbidden relationship with her brother.

But thinking about it, Kara felt that what she had done with Minos was much worse.

Although intimate relationships between people of the same family were uncommon and even taboo in certain parts of the Spiritual World, cases like these happened here and there.

There were some tens of billions of humans in this vast world. And with so many people, so many cultures, habits, circumstances, it would be hard not to have any such cases, even if they were unusual.

But to lie with an enemy, well, that was on another level, and the numbers of people known to have done this were even smaller than the siblings who play with each other!

To make matters worse, Minos had said all those things before, but still, Kara had succumbed.

'My family will treat me like a traitor when I defend the deal with Minos.'

'But...'

'But I genuinely believe that this is the best choice!'

'I don't feel that Minos will lose!' She thought about it, feeling confident and less guilty for having enjoyed so much being with him.

PANDA-NOVEL After that, a few minutes passed, and the two were physically ready to leave that place and head toward their destinations.

"I wish you could stay a few days in my city to have a chance to understand what the fate of this region will be once I ascend. But I'm afraid we don't have time for that now." He said just after he finished dressing.

Upon hearing that, Kara, who was already so well that no one who saw her now would assume that she was having an intense time with Minos just a few moments ago, then said. "I would also like to stay for a few days here."

"But unfortunately, there isn't much time..."

Noticing Kara's look, Minos smiled but did not pursue the subject. "By the way, if you want to find your relatives more quickly, we have the location of the most likely spots for them to be."

"I am sure that, unlike my forces, you will be able to find them without any problems."

Minos' group knew of some locations that were more likely to have the presence of the enemy leaders. But since they always moved when he left Dry City, it did not make much difference to them to have such information.

But for Kara, it could quickly lead her to the correct locations, where she could begin to act on his behalf. As such, he had shared such information with her.

"Is that so?"

"Then I thank you."

After saying that, Kara approached Minos and kissed him on his left cheek before finally taking the information and leaving that place.

Her family had less than a year to make up their minds, and considering the regional distances, she could not delay starting her journey.

With that in mind, it did not take long for her to mount her flying beast and take off towards the northeast of the Black Plain!