

BLACK PLAIN 90

Chapter 90: Going to the Peak of the Fog

Time passed, and it was already dawned in the City of Flowers when Minos and Ruth were still sleeping in their room. Daylight could be seen entering the hotel room where they were standing, illuminating that environment.

If someone entered this place at the present moment, they would have a reaction of surprise. Although the two had been sleeping for some time, the dense smell characteristic of sex could still be felt in the air. But not only that, there were clothes scattered around the place, sheets and pillows away from the bed, and several sweat marks on the furniture.

There was clearly a wet stain on the sofa in the bedroom and a few blood stains on the bedsheet. The place was very untidy and contaminated with the fluids of Minos and Ruth.

The two of them had lost in lust and had done everything last night. It is no exaggeration to say that they used all possible positions while doing this at different points in this room.

But after more than seven straight hours of pure fun, Minos and Ruth were completely satisfied. They couldn't take it anymore before finally collapsing in bed, sleeping until the present moment.

They didn't even bother to cultivate last night. After all, in the past few days, both Minos and Ruth had leveled up, so they had no intention of ignoring their wishes because of a cultivation session!

Finally, as the sun's rays entered the room, the naked bodies of Minos and Ruth were hugging each other tightly while the two slept with smiles on their faces.

Ruth had her beautiful breasts firmly against Minos's chest while her legs intertwined with his. She rested her head comfortably on his shoulder, sleeping as if she were having the best dreams possible.

At the same time, young Stuart was sleeping on his back, with his head facing Ruth's face. He could smell the pleasant fragrance of the young woman's hair while he slept peacefully.

Time passed slowly, and it was not long before the two woke up. They looked at each other for a moment and smiled.

"Good morning Ruth." He said as he kissed her forehead.

"Hmm, good morning."

Minos then smiled and said. "And then? How was the night for you?"

Ruth smiled sweetly and then answered while she looked Minos in the eye. "It was the best night of my life! I thought I was going to lose my mind with such pleasure..."

She really felt like she was in heaven right now. For Ruth, who was a pure maiden until recently, this night with Minos had revealed a new world for her. It was as if a black and white world had suddenly gained color!

"And all this because of you..." She said softly as she looked at Minos. She had a strange feeling in her heart, which she still didn't quite understand. But she knew that she would never be able to forget that moment and Minos...

"Hmm, it was also fantastic for me..." He said as he approached to kiss the seductive woman who was in his arms.

"Really? Better even than that woman?" Ruth said with a provocative smile on her face.

"Hmm, it was very different from what I had with her, but I can still say that."

'Hehe, perfect...' She thought with a satisfied smile.

After that, the two took a shower together while exchanging caresses. But they didn't get too deep into it. The two of them had already had a long sex session, to the point where their private parts needed to rest a little longer...

...

A few minutes later, Minos and Ruth left the hotel where they had spent the night, heading towards the east exit of the City of Flowers.

They were going to the Peak of the Fog, a place that was east of the city where they were. Minos wanted to take the opportunity to try to harvest the Warrior-grade spiritual medicine that had been grown in that place.

However, if someone had already harvested it, it would not hinder Minos' plans. He already had to pass through this region to continue his trip to the capital of the Cromwell Kingdom, so that was already on his and Ruth's travel schedule.

It didn't take long, and Ruth and Minos were already riding the great white-feathered eagle when they took off towards the Peak of the Fog.

For this trip, they would take about an entire day to cover the distance between this city and that place. As for after that, the two would need to travel for another three days until they reached the next town, where they would rest.

...

While Minos and Ruth traveled through the Cromwell Kingdom, products from the Black Plain had already arrived in the Old Stone, on the Stone Island.

At this moment, Elen Nash was in her residence, next to her friend and business partner, Elena, when someone entered through the door of the room in which they were. This was a middle-aged woman who took care of Elen's business in the Old Stone town.

"Miss Elen, all items from the Black Plain have already arrived in the city and have been distributed in the family markets. They are already being sold in the 6 locations chosen by you." The woman said with a serious look on her face.

"Oh? That's nice. I want to see how things go. Hehe." Elen said as she had a dazzling smile on her face. She was pleased to start her operation with Minos and also very anxious to see what would happen in the future.

"In fact, didn't you tell me about your trip with the group of Minos? Didn't you have any forbidden adventures with him? Haha." Elena said teasingly to Elen.

"Hmph, you really don't have a way... But about that..."

After complaining to her friend, Elen began to report the things she had been through with Minos in the Black Plain and Yellow City, including the unusual beast she had met in this place.

When she heard about it, Elena was very disappointed that she didn't go on this trip with them. She was very interested in that 5-tailed fox that Elen had spoken to. After all, she had never heard of a fox like that!

...

While Elena and Elen talked about the experiences on the Black Plain, Minos' items were already being sold at the Nash family markets in the Old Stone town.

At a certain point in the capital of Stone Island, a decent-looking young woman walked along the south side of the Old Stone city, heading towards a nearby market.

She was a young housewife who had married and had children early, and today, she was going to buy the ingredients for the coming week.

She did this weekly, as it was not good to buy in large quantities. At times, some traders would put the lower quality grains or cereals in the bottom of the containers, causing some unlucky people to have to throw away much of what they had bought.

Therefore, this young woman was cautious with what she bought, avoiding buying large reserves. But she even had a good financial condition since her husband was a guard of the royal family on Stone Island. He was already in the 5th stage of cultivation.

Passing in front of the Nash family market, the young woman in question entered this place as she always did. Although she did not lack crystals to feed her family, she still did her research work to get the best food for her family.

It did not take long, and she arrived in front of a place where they had great fruits, with excellent appearances, grains of rice so white that they almost glistened, grapes, leaves of various types, etc. All of these items gave the impression that it was of the best quality.

And even though the young woman was not yet at level 40, it was only by the appearance of these items that she knew that it was rich in spiritual energy.

But there was something strange, the price charged for each kilo was equal to the same price as the average quality items sold there.

She then approached a teenager, who was weighing some beans for another customer, and asked. "Boy, are these prices really right?"

"Hmm, I've been asked that today more than once. The store manager said it was that price, indeed."
The young attendant said when doing business with the customer that he was previously serving.

"Okay, so get it..." The young woman started to place her order, indicating the quantities of each 'item' she wanted to buy.

...

After doing her weekly shopping at the Nash family market, the young woman returned to her home and went to make her daily lunch.

She immediately decided to use these items that she had purchased since she usually did not find things as good as what she had achieved today.

And it wasn't long before her husband came home talking out loud. "My love, I'm here! Is the food ready yet?"

"Hmm, come to the kitchen. Luna and Mark are already eating." The young woman shouted at her husband.

As he sat down to lunch, the moment he saw the appearance of the dishes, the man exclaimed in surprise. "Olivia, why did you buy foods rich in spiritual concentration? Don't you know that we can't have these extravagances?"

"Huh? Rich in spiritual concentration? I paid the same price as always on its." She said, not caring about her husband's irritation.

"What?"