Barren Mother Give Birth To Sextuplets To The Hot Ceo Chapter 256

Brett find a private place and then placed a call across to Broderick, once he answered, Brett immediately explained what Amy said to him.

Broderick thought that what Brett said was reasonable, he had not been able to think of a reason why Amy would suddenly leave her kids behind. He knew of how much Amy love her kids.

“Nevertheless, Amy had hurt me greatly, Let her remain with her man while I take care of my kids and think of way to conquer the world,” he said.

“But sir, Amy isn’t happy at all. Didn’t you love her?”

“I do but sometimes, it’s best you let people go. The last time Amy and I met she literally walked out from me and went to meet Nolan. That’s an insult, let her stay unhappy. Let’s focus on how to take the world back, understood?”

“But sir?”

“Why are you concerned about Amy? I said let her be,” Broderick’s voice became a little loud but Brett wasn’t ready to give up.

“She’s the mother of your kids, sir”

Broderick paused his anger and remained quiet for a while, “true!”

Though he had told the kids that their mother went to visit her family, at the long run, they will start demanding to see their mother.

“I’ll give her the last chance. Whenever you are able to get to her, let me speak to her,” Broderick said.

“Okay, sir.” Brett said and they both discussed on how to strategically infiltrate a lot of countries that were against Broderick and break their structure.

Once the call was over, Brett immediately walked over to Amy’s room. When he saw a maid walking out, she walked over to the maid and said, “Her lady has sent for me but I want to be sure she’s not with the king.”

"No, she's alone," the maid answered and walked away.

He then quickly walked through the door and soon appeared before Amy who had her head buried in her palms.

"Amy!"

Amy raised her head up and once she saw the stranger, she spoke, "I already know you are Brett, don't bother to remove your mask, it's too risky. Any news?"

Brett wanted to close the door so that someone will not barge on them but Amy stopped him, "if Nolan walks in and sees you again, he would start suspecting. Leave the door open."

"Okay," Brett then told Amy everything that Broderick accused Amy off.

"I was truly wrong, I don't know what was wrong with me," Amy said guiltily.

"Can you apologize to him?" Brett asked and Amy nodded.

Brett then placed a call across to Broderick and it was answered immediately after which he handed over the phone to Amy.

"Broderick!" Amy cried.

"Why are you crying? I thought you have fallen in love with Ray, otherwise, you wouldn't have walked out of me and go to him."

"I was very stupid, I'm sorry. Please forgive me," she cried.

"Did you have sex with him?"

"I didn't." She cried weakly, "I swear, I never had sex with him. That day you saw us hugging, he had come over to my office to tell me why the sales of my company were dropping. When he was about going, he told me to give him a hug. I agreed to give him a hug because of how concerned he was about my company. But I never did anything else with him."

"Should I trust you?" Broderick asked.

"Please do. I'm speaking the truth."

"And as for the kiss on the cheek?" Broderick asked.

“He suddenly appeared in my house and said he branched to my house to check on me, he noticed I’m off and then pecked me swiftly on the cheek, please understand.” Amy pleaded.

“Why can’t you tell him you don’t like those acts. Even if you guys don’t have sex, I will feel hurt seeing you hug and get pecked by a man who is clearly interested in you. You already know about my feelings for you yet you treat my heart as if it meant nothing to you,” Broderick said.

“I am sorry, please forgive me, Broderick. I promise not to do such again. I have learnt my lesson,” Amy cried even more.

Broderick remained quiet and then spoke, “in the future, when I tell you what I don’t like, you should listen.”

“I will, I promise.” Amy said.

Broderick thought of how Amy had proven to be a good woman and how sweet she was to him in the past, these few wrongdoings should not be capitalized on by him, afterall, everyone makes mistake.

“Stop crying,” when Broderick said this, instead of Amy to stop crying, she felt goose bump and bursted into a loud cry.

Broderick felt bad hearing her cry and then spoke, “I love you, Amy.”

Amy suddenly paused crying and quickly cleaned her face, she stood from the bed and pressed the phone to her ears, “what did you say?”

“I said I love you,” Amy felt goose bump all over her body. This was what she had always wished to hear him say. Happiness quickly spread across his heart and a different kind of tears fell from her eyes.

“I love you too,” she said in between her tears.

“I know Nolan won’t let you go but if I have to fight the world to save you, then I’ll do that,” Broderick said.

“I have missed you already and as a matter of fact, missed my kids so much.” Amy said sadly, “I heard that about ten countries are against you and that even as the president of North Hill, your power is limited as you don’t have control over the security system of North Hill.”

“That’s right. But, I, Broderick Alessandro, will defeat them all. Don’t worry, but I need you to promise me something,” Broderick said.

“What’s that?” Amy immediately asked.

“Don’t let him get intimate with you at all. Avoid hugs, kisses, sex or any form of intimacy. Let him understand that you are not pleased with being there. I know he will try to make you happy but no matter how he tries to, always maintain a cold face,” Broderick said.

“I’ll do all that, I promise you,” Amy said.

Broderick was busy browsing the internet activities of all the countries that were against him one after the other, he was working very hard on identifying their weakness. He had also contacted Irvin to visit him the following day as he was now ready to take on the position of the god of war from him.

A knock landed on his door during this process, he frowned and looked towards the door, he asked with a loud voice, “who is that?”

Broderick frowned deeply, “what is this bitch doing here?”

Considering the condition at which Lucifer place Martha here, he knew he needed to be good to her so he stood and went to open the door.

“Broderick, I have waited an entire day for you but you didn’t show up, I’m missing you so much,” Martha said with a pathetic face.

“Your love for me ended you up in the hottest mountain where you spent seven days and seven nights, you almost lived the rest of your life as a paralyzed woman. You said God gave you another chance to live, right? But you are repeating the same thing. Is it hard for you to stop falling in love with me?”

“It’s impossible,” she said with tears streaming down her face, “please let me in.”

Broderick opened the door wide for her to walk in. After she had walked in, she went to sit.

Broderick went back to sit on the seat he stood from, after a moment of silence, he asked, “so what now?”

“Broderick, please don’t be harsh on me.”

Martha sighed, “can you let me sleep with you this night?”

“What are you talking about?”

“I mean sleep on the same bed with you.” Martha explained.

“Why? Why can’t you remain in your quarters, we aren’t married, yet, so?” He asked.

“Broderick, please,” she pleaded.

“Okay,” Broderick agreed, “can I get back to work now?*

“Broderick, I don’t think you should be stressing yourself too much. It’s already late this night, why don’t you go to sleep?” Martha asked.

Broderick smirked, “you are acting like you care for me.”

“I really do.”

Broderick was frustrated with the woman before him and then carried his laptop and walked inside his room.

Martha went to the kitchen and prepared a coffee then brought it over to him, “have this and I won’t disturb you anymore.”

Broderick collected the coffee from her and placed it on the small table beside him, “I’ll take it later, can you stop disturbing me now?”

“Okay,” Martha said and watched as Broderick got busy with his laptop in no time.

She clenched her fist hard as she wondered if Amy’s love was still in his heart. Didn’t they set a woman up to disguise as Amy and act like she was in support of his enemies yet he still didn’t show her love.”

Martha then went to the bathroom and showered then came back with only a towel, she laid beside him after pulling off the towel but she covered herself with the duvet.

She hoped that her naked body would be able to attract Broderick but he acted like he didn’t even see her until she faded off to sleep.

After Broderick had ensured the children went to school the following day, he resumed to his office and placed a call across to Brett. Once he answered, he asked, "Can you find a way of giving the phone to Amy?"

"Nolan has been in her room for the past one hour, I have no idea why he isn't out yet," Brett said.

"Confirm what he's doing inside there and also let me speak to Amy once she's free."

"Got it, sir," Brett said.

A few minutes later, Broderick's secretary told him that a visitor with the name 'Irvin' was here to see him.

"Let him in and please excuse us," Broderick said to the secretary as his secretary's desk was in the same large office as his.

"Alright, sir," the secretary walked and almost immediately, Irvin walked in.

"Boss," Irvin said.

Broderick stood and went to hug him, after he had disengaged, he said, "I have acted bad to you during the time that I had a loss of memory."

"I'm just glad that you've got your memory back, boss," Irvin said with a polite smile.

"Please sit," he gestured and Irvin sat after which Broderick went to sit.

Broderick examined everything that had occurred in the past forty eight hours to Irvin and then said, "I need to take back my position as the god of war now."

"Sure, boss. The entire underground world had been waiting for you to take over," Irvin said. "So my sister is currently with that bastard Nolan?" Irvin was very angry.

"We must not act irrationally and we must not let our anger control us,"

Irvin was actually very angry and wish he can storm EastHill to save Amy from Nolan but as Broderick said, if their anger controls them, it will lead to Jeopardy. They need to strategize wisely.

"I need to visit the underworld," Broderick said.

"The portal to the underworld opens by 12PM, and you have to come without anyone knowing. Since you don't know where the portal is, I'll be waiting for you at B junction to pick you up," he said.

"Alright. Stay safe," Broderick said.

"Sure boss," Irvin said and stood, he then walked away.

Broderick can't wait to take over his position back, once he resumed his position as the god of war, he would know how to multiply the soldiers there and see how they can defeat the world.

A call came through to Broderick's phone twenty minutes later, seeing that Brett was the caller ID, he answered and the voice on the other end spoke, "Nalan is a bastard, he came to me early this morning telling me he slept horny yesterday and woke horny this morning and was demanding for sex. He's a beast, I hate him." Broderick heard Amy's frustrated voice on the other end.

"So what happened?"

"I kept pushing him away and kept telling him to stay away. He kept begging me and at some point, he even brought out his dick and started masturbating before me. I didn't know that he is someone like that," Amy said, disgust glaring on her look.

"You don't get to know whom people really are until you get stuck with them. I'm working hard on getting you out of there but can you do something for me?"

"Please tell me," Amy demanded.

"I need you to poison him. It will work since he trust you."

When Nolan came in the night to Amy, he realized how moody she was and then asked, "I'm so sorry for how I reacted in the morning. I just don't want to have sex with someone else."

"I don't care if you have sex with anyone else," she said and sighed.

"I'm sorry, please forgive me," Nolan apologized.

"I prepared a coffee for you though," she said and looked away.

“Are you for real?” Nolan was surprised that Amy could do that. “Where is it?”

Amy stood and picked up the cup of the warm coffee then handed it over to him.

While Nolan was holding it, she asked, “why did you give me this?”

“Just felt like I was too harsh on you,” Amy said.

Nolan stood and said, “I’ll be back.”

“I’ll be back, I assure you,” Nolan smiled and walked out.

Once he got out, he immediately ordered for a physician to be brought over and once the man arrived, he ordered him to test if the drink was okay to drink.

After the physician had examined the drink, he said it was poisoned.

Nolan guessed as much. He gritted his teeth angrily and walked back to meet Amy but she didn’t find her inside the room. He searched every hooks and crannies to be sure but still didn’t find her.

Where could she go? Or did she realized that he had found out about the poison? He immediately sent forth for the maid that attends to her and then asked about Amy but the maid said she had no idea where Amy went to.

In anger mixed with fury, he commanded for Amy to be searched and brought to him but he added that he she shouldn’t be hurt.

Whereas, as soon as Nolan left Amy’s room, Brett trailed him secretly and seeing that he sent for the physician, he already guessed that the physician would confirm that the drink was poisoned so he stormed Amy’s room and told her she needed to leave cause he was worried that she would be hurt.

Amy immediately covered her head in a veil and escaped secretly with Brett but she was still around the palace.

“There is no way we can get out cause of the numeous guards at the entrance but just hide here until I figure a way out,” Brett said and Amy nodded.

She was so scared, she didn’t expect for Nolan to even suspect that she can poison her drink since she thinks he trusted her so much.

Brett left Amy in that dark and private place and while dialing Broderick's number to inform him, he noticed that there was a chaos in the palace. On asking a guard, he was told that the king had ordered for Amy to be searched and brought to him.

Brett's heart skipped, when Broderick eventually answered the call, he narrated what was going on in the palace for him.

"Can you make her disguise like one of the country women and get her out of the palace then we can find another woman to disguise as Amy?" Broderick suggested.

"Won't the woman who will disguise as Amy be punished severely by Nolan for an offence she doesn't even know about? Also, even if Nolan didn't want to punish her for food poisoning, he would find out in no time that she's not Amy and then punish her for deceiving him," Brett said.

"True, we can't let an innocent woman suffer," Broderick said and thought for a couple of seconds.

"Let then find Amy."

"Sir?" Brett assumed he didn't hear what he said well.

"Since he loves her, he may not punish her." Broderick said.

"Is there something else that we can do?"

"None for now," Broderick said and hung up.

Brett's heart became troubled, he find his way back to where Amy was but didn't find her there anymore. His heart sunk out of fear that she may have been found.

About five guards ran towards where he was and one of them asked him, "what are you doing here?"

"Finding the woman that the king told us to search," Brett answered.

The guards searched the place but didn't see anyone then Brett left with them.

After hours of searching, the head of the palace guards went to report to Nolan that they couldn't Amy.

Nolan was angry and frustrated, he then sent a news with Amy's picture all over EastHill that if anyone dares to accomodate Amy, such family will face his wrath and that if anyone ever finds Amy, they should report her.

Unbeknownst to Nolan that Amy was still inside the palace but was dressed like a maid. During the night time, Amy walked towards the gate of the palace and when the guards asked her where she was going, she told them that she wanted to go and give her family the money she promised them.

The guards didn't suspect anything since they thought that the person the king was searching for was outside of the palace.

As soon as she got outside of the palace, she immediately made her way to the seashore where she would take a boat to East Hill.

Because of the way she was dressed, those at the seashore had no idea that she was the one that the king was searching for.

Even though Amy didn't have money for transport, she still hopped inside the boat that would take her to North Hill.

Eventually, the boat left East Hill and after a six hours journey, the boat eventually stopped at the seashore of North Hill.

Once Amy stepped out, the captains of the boat asked her for the transport fare but she immediately took off and began to run away.

The captains thought she was a thief and then began to run after her.

Eventually, they caught up with her and grabbed her. Since they had no reason to respect her anymore, they removed the veil on her face and when they saw her face, one of the men said, "isn't she the one that the king has been searching for?"

| The second man immediately checked his phone and then compare the picture of the woman the king was finding to hers. Seeing that she was truly the one he affirmed, "oh my days! She's the one. The king will reward us greatly if we take her to the king."

"Please don't take me back, he will hurt me," Amy immediately began to apologize. These men were way stronger than her and it's impossible for her to fight them.

"Please!" She pleaded even more.

The men grabbed her and began to drag her back, "my husband can give you any amount you ask for."

When she said this, the men paused the dragging and the one by her left asked, "who is your husband?"

"He's actually the president of NorthHill."

"Wait! Broderick Alessandro?" One of the men asked and Amy nodded. The men exchanged surprising glances.

"Can you pay us ten thousand dollar each?" The men asked. As long as they are paid, they are ready to keep their mouth shut. There is no probability that Nolan will reward them monetarily anyways.

"Sure," Amy answered confidently and freed herself from those men. She can already tell with the look on their face that they are men who coveted money so much.

"So how do we get paid?" The man by the right asked.

"Let me have your phone so I can call him," she requested and one of the men handed over his phone to her. Since she already knows Broderick's mobile number offhand, she dialed it and put a call across.

Broderick took a while before he answered, he was quiet at first but when he heard the familiar voice on the other end called, "Broderick!"

He furrowed his brow and said, "Amy, is that you?"

"Yes. I made my way to NorthHill but nobody knows except the captain that brought me here but they are demanding for ten thousand dollar each before they can let me go," she said.

"Tell them to send their account details. Where are you?" He asked.

Amy told him where she was and then hung the call up. "You can send your account number to the number I just called."

The man immediately forwarded his account details and then said to Amy, "we are sorry but we would not let you go until we get credited."

"Okay," Amy knew that Broderick wouldn't take time before he sends the money.

They waited for about fifteen minutes then one of the men spoke, "this is taking time. We will be forced to take you back if we did not get credited in the next ten minutes."

“Just hold on,” Just as Amy finished saying this, a car drove towards them and parked. Broderick stepped out of the car and Amy immediately ran to hug him.

She knew someone was going to come and pick her but she didn't expect that it would be Broderick himself.

Broderick handed over the money in cash to the men and warned them to keep their mouth shut otherwise, he would find them and kill them. The captain of the boats immediately disappeared from his presence.

“Get inside,” Broderick said and Amy immediately got inside. He drove her over to a familiar but deserted street.

After he had parked before a bungalow, he stepped down. Amy stepped down too and asked, “why are we here?”

“Actually, there are many eyes on me. I had to sneak out carefully cause if I send someone to come and pick you up, they may inform Nolan and Lucifer since these people are practically the real leaders over North Hill. I'm more like a figure-head.”

“So will I be staying here?” Amy asked.

“Yes, to be on the safer side. You will be staying here. Don't go out unless you call me. As for food and everything you need, I'll supply them every Friday.” Broderick said.

“How about my children? I have missed them so much,” Amy said.

“I'll bring them over here to stay with you permanently,” Broderick said and Amy nodded.

“I wish we all can just live together happily,” Amy said, almost crying.

“About ten countries are against me at the moment, and I, Broderick Alessandro can never run away. I'll fight them all and defeat them. Just have faith in me, okay?” He placed his hand on her cheek.

“I have faith in you,” tears streamed down her face gently and then, she collapsed on his body and hugged him tight.

After a moment of being in his hug, Broderick led her inside. “How about my brother? Did you hear from him?”

“Yes, we are working together on how to defeat the world,” he said and sat on the couch. Amy sat beside him and rested her hand on his shoulder.

“Broderick, not that I’m doubting your capacity but can you really 3/5 fight over ten countries at a time and defeat them? The soldiers of those ten countries will be more than a million, that I’m sure of.” Amy said.

Broderick looked at her and asked, “didn’t I tell you to have faith in me?”

“I’m just trying to think logically but anyways,” she shrugged.

“How do you feel now?” Broderick asked as he caressed her hair.

“I feel so much better and safer seeing you. When I see my kids, I’ll be much happier,” she said.

“You will see them soon,” Broderick smiled and kissed her lips unexpectedly but he did it gently.

She had missed him so much that she didn’t let him go when he wanted to withdraw his lips, she kissed him back and the kissing went on for another two minutes. The two adults were licking on each other lips passionately.

As the passionate moment grew intense between the two, she helped him pull off his shirt and he also helped her pull off her shirt. In a jiffy, he had made her lay on the long couch that they were.

He unhooked her bra swiftly and sucked on her breast quickly making her moan out loud, he pulled back and took her skirt and pant away at the same time. He took off his belt quickly and she helped him unzip his belt and bring out his dick.

He laid on her and let his dick find it’s way to the entrance of her pussy, he placed his mouth on hers and as he kissed her, he thrust in slowly and he moved in deep inside of her.

She couldn’t help but moan even as they kissed, he pulled out slowly and thrust in again, all of a sudden, he began to move in and out of her in an hard way, his lips has parted away from hers but was close to hers.

As he fucked her, she kept moaning out in pleasure.

“Did you...like it?” He asked as he fucked her.

“So much,” she even laughed and suddenly dugged her nails into his back when the pleasure she was feeling suddenly increased. He kissed her briefly but intensely again and took his mouth away but he didn't stop fucking her hard.

After they had finished finished having sex, both adults felt very relaxed and refreshed. Broderick had released all the sexual longings in his body into her. He had been struggling so hard with trying not to have sex with his secretary and he was glad he didn't until Amy came.

Amy breathed out deeply, Broderick could tell that she was tired so he carried her to the bathroom and bath for her then went to place her down gently on the bed like a baby.

“Due to the nature of my work and the fact that I have many eyes watching me, I may not come here often but any free chance, I'll come here, okay?” He asked.

Amy nodded and said, “so you are abiut leaving?”

“Yes, I need to leave now before anyone in the presidential lodge will suspect my dissapearance,” he said.

“Alright, tell my children I miss them,” she said.

“Sure, I will.” Broderick said and remain seated while Amy shut her eyes tiredly. The journey from EastHill to NorthHill was already tiring coupled with the fact that she had just finished having a hot and hard sex. Amy felt asleep in no time.

Broderick kissed her forehead and covered her well with the duvet. He didn't know that a day would come when he will fall in love with her. He assured himself that as soon as he was done fighting and defeating the world, he will dote on her and spoil her with every good things in this world. He would make the rest of her life filled with peace and joy only.

“My woman,” he smiled to himself as he looked at her beautiful and cute sleeping face

He then turned and walked out. Once he got to his car, he drove over to the portal that leads to the underworld. Once one of the soldiers in there confirmed his presence, they immediately went to open the portal for him and he stepped down.

The soldiers stood at alert immediately they sighted him and bowed in his honor, he had now taken his position back as the god of war.

“god of war! You are welcome,” Irvin made a signal and everyone said this words immediately with a bow.

“Like I said the last time, everyone needs to be prepared for the final battle. It’s going to be a world war. They won’t expect it. We would infiltrate these countries at their weakest point and strike them hard. Those in the gun department, ensure that you become more skilled in accuracy cause a miss in battle can lead to your death.” He said in the deadly silence room.

“And those in the swords department, ensure you train more to acquire more accuracy and more defending skill, those using knives, work harder. Irvin and I are working hard to recruit about ten thousand more soldiers but we would be testing their loyalty before bringing them here. Whenever they come, welcome them and train them quickly. Understood?” Broderick asked.

“Yes boss,” their voice resounded like thunder, echoing across the entire underworld.

He then signalled for them all to be ‘at ease’ after which he walked inside his underground office with Irvin.

He sat and crossed his legs and asked,” Any news about the spy you sent to West Hill?”

“Yes, Lucifer will be celebrating his grandmother’s birthday party at their city central hall on the fifth of next month, we can strike them | unexpectedly,” he said.

27

There will be securities around, that may not be so easy.” | Broderick said.

“But they wouldn’t expect it. Right now, Lucifer thought he’s ruling the world and that anyone would be scared to strike him. Eventhough there will be many guards around the central hall, none of them will be expecting such attack. All members of the royal family will be there, if we destroy them all, WestHill will fall.” Irvin said.

Broderick thought about it and said, “do it.”

“Okay, boss,” Irvin said, still standing as there is only one seat in the underground office and that was where Broderick was seating.

“I’ve found your sister and she’s safe,” Broderick said.

“Sir! Really? Amy?” Irvin was shocked and Broderick nodded.

“Oh my God! I thought we would only find her only after we have defeated the world. I’m so happy right now. Is she at NorthHill?”

“Yes, safe and sound,” Broderick said.

“Oh my! I can’t wait to see her. I’ve missed her so much and thank you, boss,” Irvin said.

Broderick nodded then his phone rang.

Seeing that the number was an unknown number, he thought of whether to answer the call or not.

“Boss, you can answer it. It’s impossible for anyone to track this place,” Irvin said confidently.

“It’s a video call, that’s why I’m thinking about it,” Broderick said.

“There is no harm in answerina, boss.” Irvin said.

Broderick answered the call and placed it on loudspeaker, he was stunned to see Nolan.

“Broderick! Did you get Amy out of here?” Nolan asked with an angry look.

Broderick smirked, “did you think it’s possible?”

“I know how smart you are so yeah, it’s possible. If you did not send Amy back to me, then I’ll kill your personal assistant,” Nolan said and Broderick’s heart skipped. Nolan directed the camera to Brett who was made to kneel with both of his hands handcuffed to the back.

“Bro, I don’t have Amy with me. Don’t hurt an innocent man,” Broderick said to Nolan.

Nolan smirked, “innocent? You think I didn’t know that you told Brett to remain here so he can help Amy escape. It’s impossible f Amy to escape without the help of Brett. So basically, Amy’s escape was planned by you. I’ll give you seventy two hours to ser my woman back to NorthHill otherwise, I will kill Brett,” Nolan placed knife on Brett’s neck and let Broderick see it through the camera then he hung the call up.

“Nolan has Brett in custody, oh my!” Irvin gritted his teeth.

“Getting him out will be as hard as breaking a rock,” Irvin added.

“But rock is breakable, right? We’ll get him out,” Broderick assured though logically speaking, it will be impossible cause Nolan would so much tighten the security around Brett.
