loved blindly the most. Whatever you do gets to me easily,” Amy almost cried.

Broderick felt pitiful for her and said,” and I love you too.”

“It’s easier said than being acted. I can only know you love me by your actions. You wouldn’t even do the single thing I want the most,” she said.

“Which is?”

“Don’t pretend like you don’t know it. I want Elva out of your life,” she said.

“You would never stop talking about her, would you?” Broderick asked.

“I will never stop talking about her until she leaves. I want to start working as your secretary, are you going to say No?” Amy asked.

“You are literally telling me to fire her,” Broderick said.

“And so what?”

“Can’t I have a female friend?” Broderick questioned.

“You can but not Elva.” Amy said.

Broderick thought quietly for a while and said, “I’ll divorce her but after a month.” He added,” reason is so that she would be mentally prepared that she would stop working for me.”

Amy wanted to object at first but then she gave it a second thought, one month isn’t really such a long time. It’s only four weeks. She just have to keep eyes on Broderick always to be certain she didn’t get into whatever Elva had set up for him.

“Is that a promise?” Amy asked.

“Yes, it’s a promise. You have my words,” Broderick said and Amy nodded.

“But still, before then, you need to be very careful around her. I know you trust her but I don’t. Remember you once trusted Martha but she turned out to be evil...don’t always think that all that glitters are gold,” Amy said.

“Alright,” Broderick said. “Will you come back to my house now? We can’t be living separately?” Broderick asked.

“No. I’ll come back after you have sacked her. Whenever you want to see me, you can always come here to,” Amy said.

“Please come home,” Broderick pleaded. It will be too stressful for him to be coming here often.

“No.” Amy insisted and then stood, “are you hungry?”

“Not really. I already ate apple at Elva’s house,” Broderick responded.

“Oh!” Amy exclaimed. She didn’t like the fact that he ate in that bitch’s place but there was nothing that she could do.

Broderick’s phone rang and seeing that the caller ID was Irvin, he answered the call,” what’s up?”

“Boss, I have dropped Lord Douglas and Nell in a new country but Lord Douglas is pleading that...”

“Ignore him and come home soon,” Broderick said.

“I mean he’s pleading that he wants to speak with you,” Irvin said.

Broderick had thought that the Lord Douglas was pleading to be brought back to North Hill.

“I guess he wants to plead on,” Broderick said.

“Or he probably want to say some last words, sir since he wouldn’t be able to reach you anymore after today,” Irvin said.

“Okay, hand the phone over to him.”

“Broderick!” Lord Douglas’s voice came through a few seconds later.

“Speak?” Broderick demanded. No matter how emotional the man sounds, he would never yield to his request.

Lord Douglas suddenly laughed and that made Broderick to be very stunned,” are you drunk?” Broderick asked the man.

After Lord Douglas had stopped laughing, he said, "Michael would come to save Nell and I from here and bring us back to North Hill. I guess he must have killed you before then."

"Michael?" Broderick called wondering if the man knows what he was saying.

"Did you think Michael is dead?" Lord Douglas laughed. "Bye for now, Broderick. See you soon."

Broderick was utterly confused. "Boss!" Irvin's voice came through

"Come home quick, it's not safe for you over there," Broderick said and once Irvin confirmed he got his message, he hung the call up.

"I heard you mention Michael, what about him?" Amy asked.

"Michael is alive," Broderick declared and Amy's heart jumped repeatedly.

Amy walked closer to him and said, "are you serious? Did n't you say he fell off a cliff?"

"That's right. But he might have survived one way or the other," Broderick said. "How come he had been hiding him self. Even during the intense battles between North Hill and other countries, he was no where to be found. He even watched as Irvin took Lord Douglas and Nell away yet he was quiet." Broderick thought deeply.

Amy sat on the bed and asked, "what do we do now? We need to find his whereabouts?"

"We need to increase the measure of our safety first," Broderick said and stood, "I'll check on you tomorrow evening." He then began to walk out.

Amy ran after him and asked, "Broderick, where are you heading to?"

He turned to her and kissed her on her forehead, "don't worry, Amy. I'll be fine." He then got inside his car quickly and drove away.

Actually, he was far from being fine. His mind was unset tled. He parked by a road side and called a soldier in the un derworld to go over to Amy's house with some soldiers and ensure the safety of her and the kids then he continued driv ing.

Whereas, as Broderick left, the man who was assigned to kill Amy by Elva immediately walked towards the door of Amy's house. Luckily for him, the door wasn't locked. He walked inside and locked the door from behind then brought out his gun and began to carefully approach the master bed room.

Amy walked to the kitchen as soon as Broderick left to cook food, she has to ensure that the food is ready before her children comes back from school. In a few minutes times, she was sure the children would be back home.

After ensuring that the food was on gas, she casually walked outside of the kitchen then saw the back image of a man entering her room. The cloth the man was wearing was n't like that of Broderick plus this person wasn't as tall as Broderick

She hide behind the door of the kitchen and watched carefully, her phone wasn't with her so there was no way she could reach out to Broderick for help.

About A few seconds later, she saw the man turned and look around as if searching for someone or something but what scared her to the gut was the gun she sighted in his hand.

Amy's heart skipped and she ran quickly to the table of the kitchen and got a knife. She walked back to where she was and as if the man heard some steps in the kitchen, he started walking towards the kitchen carefully. His gun pointed straight to the door as if he would pull the trigger as soon as he sighted anyone.

Eventhough there was a dead silence in the room, he kept walking towards the kitchen nonetheless. His assassin instinct made him guess that there could be someone hiding in the kitchen. Afterall, he was sure that Amy was inside since she saw her when she walked back inside the house after Broder ick drove away.

As soon as the man stepped inside the kitchen, he felt something sharp hit him on the shoulder and before he could react, whatever penetrated him pulled out forcefully. The man screamed in pain and almost fell to the floor.

Amy had stabbed him hard with the knife and pulled it out. She immediately ran out of the kitchen and soon escaped the house. While running, she saw some cars driving inside her compound so she hid by a tree and watched as the men. inside the cars stepped down.

She recognized the men at once to be soldiers from the underworld. She immediately ran towards them and said, "someone is inside trying to assassinate me, please get him quick."

"Okay, ma." The head of the soldiers said and about ten of the soldiers ran inside the house and searched the house. They easily found the assassin at the backyard of the house by tracing the blood that had been falling off his shoulder.

In a jiffy, he was brought outside. Amy immediately walked up to him and asked, "who sent you to me?"

The man held his shoulder that was gushing out blood with pressure and said, "you are lucky you aren't dead by now."

A hard slap immediately landed on the man's face, he had been slapped by one of the soldiers standing behind him. Instantly, his mouth was filled with blood and he could barely see.

"Can we deal with him?" One of the soldiers asked Amy.

"Hold on," Amy said and walked inside. She came outside a few minutes later with her phone and then called Broderick.

Once he answered the call, Amy explained how someone attempted to kill him.

"Don't worry, I'll find out who sent him. Give the phone to one of the soldiers," Broderick said and Amy did as told.

Broderick commanded the head of the soldiers to send the assassin over to where he was.

About a few minutes later, the man was tied to the chair at Broderick's warehouse, the wound on his shoulder was still left open and unattended too.

"If you tell me who sent you to kill Amy, I'll spare you."

The man was indeed going through so much pain but the reason why he didn't want to expose who sent him was because either he expose the person or not, he would not be spared. A man like Broderick Alessandro won't think twice no matter what.

"Don't waste your time, kill me already," the man said.

"I'm merciful too. I don't have much problem with you. I'm more concerned about the person who sent you. Tell me and I'll be merciful to you," Broderick demanded.

“I’m not a kid, use a better trick,” the assassin said and spat a mouthful of blood on the floor.

Broderick walked out without saying a word then came back a few minutes later with a laptop, he showed the laptop to him and the man saw his mother sitting between two soldiers with guns pointed to her head.

“Just a single command and they will kill your mother.

Who sent you?” Broderick asked.

The man’s heart skipped fearfully. If his mother die because of him, there was no way he will live peacefully.

“Nelson Franklin and Felix Marshall,” he lied.

Broderick knew both families, he had seen their young masters at Amy’s office on the day he came to deal with her at her office for causing Martha a miscarriage. It was these two young masters that convinced Amy to betray North Hill. Broderick wondered why these two families wanted Amy dead.

Broderick closed the laptop and said, “ you will be here until I confirm what you said.”

Once Broderick walked out, he called Brett to investigate Nelson Franklin and Felix Marshall after which he went home.

As soon as he parked at his underground garage, he noticed a car drove in too. He watched carefully but when he saw Elva stepped down, he sighed and also stepped down.

“Elva, what are you doing here?” He asked as he approached her.

Elva also began to cat-walked towards him, Elva had found out that the assassin has been caught and is in Broderick’s custody. If the assassin confesses that she sent him, then she’s dead. Her mission would become impossible to accomplish.

“I miss you, sir. Plus I’m very bored at home. Hope you don’t mind?” She smiled.

Broderick smirked, “ I don’t.” Broderick was kind of stressed and needed someone to talk to.

He gestured for her to follow him inside and in a jiffy, they were both inside. Elva sat in the living room while Broderick walked inside the master bedroom to change into an home wear.

While he was away, Elva was thinking of a way to get rid of the assassin. She needs to know where Broderick kept him.

Her phone then rang and seeing that the caller ID was the one who gave her the mission to infect Broderick with HIV, she answered the call immediately and whispered, "I'm in Broderick's house."

"Who cares? How can you let the assassin get caught? Anyways, my men are dealing with it. You don't have to worry about it. You have less than twenty days left. Make him fuck en have sex with you?"

"I'm working hard. I'll try harder, I assure you." Elva said and the person on the other end hung the call up.

Broderick walked back to the living room a couple of minutes later and sat before Elva, "So how are you doing?"

"I have not been fine, sir. I don't know why I have been missing you greatly this days. I just always wish for you to be around me," she said.

Broderick smiled, he sighed and spoke after a few seconds, "I have a bad news for you."

Elva's face fell immediately, she could only open her mouth but didn't utter a word. She thought quickly about what bad news Broderick wanted to announce to her.

"Amy is the mother of my kids. Not only that, she's the woman I love. Though sometimes we have issues and I'm forced to believe different false things about her but I can't deny the fact that I love her. However, the closeness of the both of us is really affecting the relationship between Amy and I," Broderick said in all sincerity.

"I'll have to relieve you off your job as my secretary..." Broderick said and watched her reaction. She saw how sad and gloomy she immediately became. He continued nonetheless, "but that will be in a month time. You still have thirty days from today to look for a new job. I'm really sorry."

Tears steamed down her face gently, then she lowered her head while tears kept dropping from her face right to her skirt.

Broderick felt pathetic for her and then stood and went to sit beside her, "I'm sorry. But if you ever need my help, I promise that I'll be willing to help you."

Broderick even cuddled her gently and she rested her head on his shoulder. After many seconds of sobbing, she spoke, "I understand."

Broderick felt even more pitiful for her but didn't know what to say.

"Tomorrow is my birthday," she said and sat upright, now looking at his face with a gentle look.

"Really? Happy birthday in advance to you," Broderick said.

"I want you to come over to my birthday party, please." Elva demanded.

"Where is it taking place?"

"At my house."

"What kind of people are coming?" Broderick asked.

"Just my friends. Don't worry, it won't be too crowded," Elva said.

"I should come then," Broderick said and Elva's mood immediately brightened up. "Thank you so much, sir."

"You are welcome," Broderick said.

After some moment of silence, Broderick said to her, "I need to take some rest now. Do you want to stay or go home? I might wake up late."

"I'll wait, sir. Though if you indeed sleep for a long time then I would have to leave," she said.

"Alright, you can keep yourself busy with the television or something," Broderick smiled and walked inside his room.

As soon as he laid on the bed, his mind trailed back to Michael. How can Michael be alive and where exactly is he? He was yet to hear back from Brett but he hoped that Brett would be able to come up with something tangible about him.

He slept off in a jiffy.

About half an hour later, Elva left the living room and walked up to the room that Broderick was. On getting there, she saw that Broderick had already asleep.

She brought out the injection in her handbag and approached him slowly, she was scared to death as she approached him. What if he opened his eyes all of a sudden? Nonetheless, this was a risk worth taking.

Once she got close to him, she injected his arm, Broderick only groaned but didn't wake. His groan actually made her heart almost fly off her throat.

She sighed after removing the injection, she then tucked it gently inside her handbag. She watched as the bulge in his trouser became very visible. It was the work of the injection to ensure he was horny and at the same time unconscious.

She smiled to herself and squatted on him then he unzipped his trouser and brought out his dick.

"Oh my!" She exclaimed to herself happily and immediately wrapped her mouth around it and began to suck it. She sucked it passionately for many minutes.

After removing her mouth, she immediately removed her skirt but when she was about removing her pant, Broderick's phone rang.

She stretched her hand to pick the phone from where Broderick had placed it and seeing that the caller ID was Amy, she wanted to hang the call up but an idea came to her head.

She answered the call and then Amy's voice came through, "Broderick, how are you?"

"Amy, Broderick and I fucking, don't disturb us," Elva said.

"Who the fuck are you?" Amy asked and quickly guessed, "Elva?"

"Why don't we do a video call so you can see how Broderick and I are fucking right in his house?" Elva asked.

Amy was shocked. Didn't Broderick sound like some one who was ready to change in their last conversation. How could he be having sex with Elva?

Her heart throbbed and she immediately hung the call up.

‘She should put a video call across, Elva thought and waited for the video call.

When she saw that two minutes had passed yet Amy’s video call didn’t come through, she removed her pant slowly and then stroke Broderick’s hard dick. Whenever Amy decides to call, she would pick it and let her see how she’s fucking him.

She stroked his long dick even more and then began to crawl up towards him. Riding him was the only option so she pushed her ass up and when she was about setting her pussy right on his dick, the door pushed open and a heavy force pulled her off from Broderick.

Elva collapsed on Broderick’s body and immediately turned, seeing Amy’s angry gaze, she stood immediately and eye searched for a short that she could wear as her waist down to her feet was naked.

Amy noticed that Broderick was asleep, how could they be fucking yet he would be sleeping? “You drugged him?” She asked Elva.

Elva had immediately got her pant, she wore it immediately and answered, “and so what?”

“You bitch,” Amy walked quickly to her and she tried to run away but Amy caught up with her and grabbed her hair tightly then pushed her to the wall.

She crashed to the wall and cried.

Amy immediately left her and walked over to Broderick.

Elva was angry, she immediately went to wear her skirt and then carried the small wardrobe beside the bed and threw it at Amy.

Amy guided it instinctively and it went to crash on the wall. If the wardrobe had hit Amy, two things would have hap pened, either she goes into coma or die.

Amy looked at her furiously, she was already done tucking Broderick's dick back inside his trouser and helping him zip up.

She jumped away from the bed and ran towards Elva but she quickly sped out.

Amy ran after her, she assured herself that she wouldn't let her go easily. She caught up with her when she always almost opening the door. Amy kicked her in the leg and she fell then she beat her until she turned blue black after which she threw her outside of the house.

But Amy wasn't done with her, she went to the kitchen and got a bucket of water then walked out, seeing that she was still struggling to stand, she poured the bucket of water on her and said, "listen, I don't know what your mission is but Broderick is mine and I won't let any bitch seduce him away from me." Amy kicked her hard in the belly.

Elva cried in pain, she held onto her belly that was paining her and rolled on the floor.

Whereas, there was someone standing afar, watching the incident calmly. He had a cigarette between his thin pink lips but his noble face showed indifference.

"Sir, should we interrupt?" One of his men asked.

"No. Let her suffer. Afterall, we are paying her for it," he said.

"Boss, isn't this an opportunity to take Amy away?" The man by his left asked. He was the closest to him amidst all his men.

"I have tried that many times in the past, it didn't work. I need to get rid of Broderick first then getting Amy will be as easy as eating a pap," he said.

"Hummm..."

Amy squatted beside Elva and tore her shirt then slapped her wet cheek hard, "stay the fuck away from Broderick, understood?"

"Yes, yes ..." Elva didn't know that Amy was this strong.

Amy then stood, "I'll let you go now but next time I see you with Broderick, I may just kill you." She kicked her once more before walking inside.

Once Amy got inside, she saw that Broderick was still sleeping but the bulge on his trouser was still very hard. Amy hoped that whatever Elva injected in him would not have a negative effect on him.

She then laid gently beside him and covered herself with a duvet too. It took about three hours before Broderick woke up. He was stunned to see Amy beside her.

“Amy! What are you doing here?” He questioned, the last thing he remembered was that he was sleeping. The bulge on his trouser had already subsided.

“I came to protect you,” just as Amy finished saying this, Broderick’s phone chirped briefly.

He picked up the phone and saw that there was a text message sent by an anonymous number, he opened it and he saw a video of how Amy was beating Elva mercilessly.

Broderick immediately placed a call across to Elva and once she answered it, Broderick asked, “where are you?”

“Almost dieing at B hospital,” she cried weakly.

“What did you do to Amy that made her beat you?” Broderick asked Elva.

“Nothing, absolutely nothing.” Elva cried. I was only seated in the living room when the door suddenly opened, immediately she saw me, she started beating me saying why did I have to come to her man’s house. She said she was going to kill me cause I’m trying to snatch her man from her.

Broderick hung the call up and rewatched the video. The sight was too horrible. He had never seen that side of Amy before. Amy was beating and kicking Elva in a very ruthless manner.

He looked at Amy angrily and asked, “how can you do this to Elva?”

“Let me guess? The text message you received was a video of me beating Elva, right? I am right here with you but you didn’t ask me why I beat her but you immediately went ahead to call Elva and ask why she was beaten?” Amy asked.

Broderick stepped down from the bed angrily and said, “you couldn’t even answer my question. You beat the poor girl cause you find her in my house, right? Why are you so obsessed with me? Cause this isn’t just love, this is obsession. Are you going to kill every woman you see around me? Can’t I have a female friend anymore? I even gave you my word that I was going to fire her in a month time and as a matter of fact, I have told her she will be fired in thirty days time so what exactly is your problem?” Broderick asked.

'Did this idiot realized that I saved him?' Amy wondered and stood angrily, "you don't deserve what I did for you to day. I should have let her take advantage of you."

"What nonsense are you talking about?" Broderick was enraged and then said to her, "next time you lay a finger on Elva..."

"You will beat me back, right?" Amy interrupted but Brod erick didn't say a word again.

"Why are you quiet? I completed the statement for you. Next time you see or hear of me beat Elva, you will revenge for her, right? You are a dummy and I hate you with passion. Fuck off!" Amy stormed out of the room and when she got to the door, she slapped the door painfully before eventually walking out.

She soon got inside her car and drove away.

Broderick sat slowly on the bed after Amy had left. If he was told that Amy beat Elva, he would probably have doubt ed it but he saw it for himself. But Amy left angrily just be cause he tried to rebuke her.

Broderick received a call and once he picked up his phone, he saw that the caller ID was Elva. He answered it at once and Elva's words came through," hey Elva."

"Sir, I thought you had a plan of coming to check up on me?" Elva asked.

"I'll be with you soon," Broderick said and walked out.

After a few minutes, he arrived at the hospital and walked straight inside Elva's ward. As if Amy had known that he was going to come here, she clenched her fist hardly when he saw him entering Elva's ward.

Amy walked out and once she got inside her car, she called Joan and once she answered her, she said to her," | won't come home this night, please ensure the children are fine, okay?"

"Is anything wrong Amy?" She asked.

"Not at all, I'm very cool. I just need to fix some things," she said and quickly hung the call up so that Joan wouldn't ask her any more question.

Amy drove over to the club and soon walked inside. This was what she had always stopped herself from doing but she couldn't help it today. She had had enough of Broderick. She considers the love she had for him to be very stupid.

After ordering for a drink, she sat alone and began to drink. She knew that sooner or later, a man will approach her. She was prepared for that.

A few minutes after she had been drinking all alone, she heard a male voice call, "hi."

"Hey," Amy said without bothering to raise her head up to see the man. She was so engrossed in drinking.

"Can I sit?"

"No," Amy didn't think twice before answering. She drank more and more until her body became heavy.

The man standing beside her simply watched without saying any word neither did he make a move. Amy continued drinking until her vision became very blurry.

She began to stagger on her sit and when she was about falling, the man beside her helped her. Seeing that she was almost not herself, she helped her up and lead her outside.

"Where are we...going?" Amy asked like a drunkard.

"You will soon find out," once they got before his car, he opened the door to the backseat and made her sit gently.

Afterwards, he drove to his house. About a few hours later, Amy woke up and fluttered her eyes opened repeatedly. Seeing that she was in a strange room, she immediately jerked up from the bed and while trying to stand from the bed, she saw a man seated calmly on a couch.

She almost fainted on seeing him, "what! Michael?"

"God said it's not yet time for me to die," Michael said calmly. He was dressed in a grey suit and looked fresh and calm. He was neither smiling nor frowning and his aura was very strong and noble.

"Did you...touch me?" Amy asked.

"Forget it! I can't have sex with you without your consent," he said, maintaining his straight gaze.

Amy didn't know why she believed what he said but she sighed and sat well on the bed, she was now facing him squarely,"

"How did I get here?" Amy asked.

"You got drunk and I helped you here," he answered casually.

"Thank you."

"You are welcome," Michael said simply.

A moment of an awkward silence happened between the duo, "erm...I think I should go home now."

"Didn't you left home cause of the consistent pain that Broderick is causing you?" Michael asked.

Amy was stunned at how he knew, he wanted to ask him how he finds out but he swallowed it. He was close in power to Broderick so he could probably find out anything he wants to.

"Kind of but..." She sighed, "I still have to go home to meet my kids plus Broderick and I are not staying together again."

"I know that. Are you sure you don't want to spend some time with me?" Michael asked.

Amy looked at her and almost scoffed," spend some time with you?" She utter the words as if they were some strange words," why would I want to spend some time with you?"

"Well. Broderick is hurting you and the easiest way to heal is to rebound with another man, don't you think?" Michael asked.

"And you think the man I will love to rebound with is you?" She asked.

"An enemy well known is better than a stranger just known. Think about it, a handsome cute stranger could be worse than me," he said.

Amy stood," I want to go home, I hope you won't stop me?"

"The door is opened," Michael said without even standing. Amy walked up to the door and walked out of the room. Soon, she was approaching the door that leads outside, Amy turned back and was surprised that Michael wasn't even trying to get her.

She opened the main door and walked out, as she approached her car, she kept on remembering how Broderick had been hurting her lately. He had hurt her in the past cause he trusted Martha over her, now same thing is happening with Elva. What if Elva leaves, what's the probability that an other woman won't come around and he will end up trusting that woman over her again." She thought and eventually entered her car.

If she goes home now, it's more like going to meet her sorrow and pain. Only her children were her source of happiness at the moment. She turned towards the door of Michael's house and saw Michael standing tall and handsome before the house.

She started the ignition of the car with a heavy heart, she looked at Michael again and then, turned off the car.

She suddenly stepped down and ran towards him with tears rushing down her cheek, Michael opened his arms wide and welcomed her in his embrace.

She collapsed on his body and sobbed while Michael pet her gently, "It's okay. Your pain will come to an end soon. You deserve all the affection in the world, Amy."
