

BO LOVE LIFE 4

Chapter 4: Being Reborn As A 17-Year-Old

“It’s warm... it’s so warm...”

Luo Zheng continued to huddle up on the bed while moaning and groaning in pain.

During the dream, she felt like her body had been set on fire and she began boiling.

At the same time, several images popped up in her head.

“Luo Zheng, you want me to love you? Over my dead body!”

First, it was Xi Mubai’s cruel answer which made her ten-year crush on him seem like a joke.

Later on, Bo Hancheng slowly walked towards her and stared at her with an ambiguous expression and eyes that were like the starry night skies.

He said in a clear voice, “I’m Missy’s bodyguard, so of course I’d want you to live well.”

Next, her matrimonial home exploded and he ended up in flames.

“Ah!”

Luo Zheng screamed coldly and opened her eyes while breaking out into a cold sweat.

She began breathing and panting heavily while she scanned her surroundings in bewilderment.

What happened? Why didn’t I die!?!

Did I get resuscitated after the accident? No, it can’t be, that’s impossible!

She rubbed her forehead in a bid to alleviate her headache. Next, she began to feel sensitive, warm, aroused, empty, and a desperate need to be filled up.

She knew that those were the effects of aphrodisiacs!

Wait a minute.

She scanned the surroundings in the room which seemed to be familiar and was bringing back memories that she refused to touch.

Seemingly having guessed something, Luo Zheng stared wide-eyed in disbelief.

She could no longer think about anything else. She hurriedly got up and got out of bed, only to hear the sounds of liquid moving.

It was a water bed!

Luo Zheng shivered uncontrollably, for she had a phobia of water beds.

In her memory, she had only slept on a water bed once at the age of seventeen. It was in a quirky room of a hotel where her nightmare began!

Luo Zheng's mind was sent into a state of frenzy and she scurried into the bathroom.

She was greeted with a mirror which contained the reflection of a young girl.

She seemed to be about 16 or 17 years old, and still looked rather puerile... However, she had a face full of heavy, smoky makeup and teased hair. She looked a little rebellious.

She was dressed in a transparent dress that was made out of cheap material and was barely enough to cover her pubescent body.

In all, her makeup and outfit were ridiculous and made her look like a prostitute.

"It's me... it's me..."

Luo Zheng looked at herself in the mirror in utter shock and bewilderment.

It was her 17 year-old self who was still attending high school.

Back then, she was hopelessly in love with Xi Mubai and actively collected information about him like a madwoman... On top of that, she even began neglecting her studies and would play truant, just so she could wait outside the university that he was attending, and give him some flowers and love letters. She even proclaimed her love for him by yelling into a loudspeaker.

She resorted to every means to woo him, and even ended up embarrassing herself in front of everyone.

Unfortunately, Xi Mubai had never taken another glance at her before.

Later on, Xi Mubai was about to graduate from university and she panicked, for she was afraid that she might not get to see him again after he graduated.

Hence after much persuasion from her best friend, Jiang Xinlei she decided to give him her precious virginity before he graduated.

Jiang Xinlei continuously tried to brainwash her by telling her that she would first have to conquer a man's body before she could conquer his heart... As long as she sleeps with Xi Mubai, he would have to take responsibility for her and would forever belong to her!

She even said that men preferred mature women to underaged girls like Luo Zheng whose features had yet to develop.

In order to entice Xi Mubai, she changed into the sexy night gown that Jiang Xinlei had gifted her with, and even allowed the later to put on some smoky makeup for her... Then, she especially visited the hotel and asked for a couples room where she waited for Xi Mubai's arrival.

Her memories stopped playing and Luo Zheng stared at herself in the mirror. "Luo Zheng, you're such a fool. You deserved what you got in the end!"